Ex. Ss. Sarnia.

Our first direct fall importation comes to us over the above fast sailing steamer of the the Dominion line, and will be to hand this week. R. FAIR.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is in town for a few days. Orders may be left at Mr. Thos. Menzies' bookstore, or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's drugstore.

A Baby Grand.

Through the kindness of Mr. E. J. Hartley Mis Delaney has been so fortunate as to secure a Heintsman Baby Grand piano, which will add materially to the success of the concert.

No Crooks.

The police force are determined to hunt down all crooks appearing here during the race days. Those fancy men already in town will do well to take warning and not get themselves into trouble.

Woman: Her Rights and Duties.

Mr. Arnold Haultain's lecture this evening at St. John's Church School House will no doubt be well attended, both on account of the well-known ability of the lecturer and the interest of his subject. The proceeds being for mission work should also be an inducement.

READ R. FAIR'S advertisement in first column.

Mrs. Sawyers' Condition.

Mrs. Sawers' condition continues to be quite hopeful and favorable. On Wednesday night at nine o'clock a consultation was held, and a thorough examination of the wounds and fractures was made. The attending physicians speak sanguinely as to Mrs. Sawers' recovery in due time. She slept quietly on Wednesday night and this this morning appears quite cheerful.

A Lady Preacher.

The Rev. I. Tovell, pastor of the George Street Methodist Church, writes from Hamilton to Mr. D. W. Dumble to say that it is quite likely that on next Sunday the pulpit of the George Street Methodist Church will be occupied by Miss Templeton Armstrong. Mr. Tovell adds, "My friends say that Miss Templeton Armstrong is the finest and most common sense like and most finished speaker they have ever heard, of all lady speakers."

Personal.

Mr. H. A. Hazley and wife Toronto, are in town on a visit, the guests of Mr. R. J. Lee.

Messrs. W. F. Kingan and Harry Roper left town this morning on a two week's trip to Uncle Sam's domains.

Mr. C. W. Sawers arrived home yesterday from New York. He has recovered health considerably, but will not be able to attend to professional duties for some time.

At the Driving Park.

To-morrow (Friday) will be a day of pleasure for all lovers of true sports. The free for all open trots will be something well worth seeing, as there are no less than one dozen entries for the race alone, and the horses are the best that Canada can produce. There are also two flyers here from Rochester N. Y., to take part in the races to say nothing of our local horses and those from other part of the Province. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance, and furnish choice music. Don't fail to witness these races.

Prof. Dorenwend's Visit.

The well known Hair Goods Manufacturer, Prof. Dorenwend, of Toronto, will visit Peterborough. He will be at Phelan's Hotel on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28. On this occasion he will have with him an unusually large stock of his magnificent goods. Articles to suit everyone, old or young, rich or poor, for to make persons look young and handsome. He is well known in Peterborough, and little need be said of him and his goods. This is the chance for those who need anything in his line, as he will not make another trip for quite a while. Remember, for two days only, Aug. 27 and 28, at Phelan's Hotel.

We are offering extra good value in every line of General Groceries. Call and inspect. MORROW, TIERNEY & Co.

WHITBY WINS BY TWO

IN THE GAME OF BASEBALL PLAYED ON WEDNESDAY.

The Peterboroughs Lead Till the Last Innings—The Score Nine to Seven Against Them.

On Wednesday afternoon a game of baseball was played in the P. A. A. A. grounds between the Whitbys and Peterboroughs. The Whitby Cornet Band was in attendance.

The Whitbys appeared on the field in neat suits—red stockings, navy blue knickerbockers and white shirts. The Peterboroughs wore their customary grey. Mr. J. Brown, of Weitby, umpired the game.

The Whitbys went to bat first sending Paxton the plate. He hit to Johnston on third base, who sent it into first. Brien was caught out by Galley and Sullivan (the Peterborough Sullivan) went out on strikes. The Peterboroughs got one run in. Metheral made a safe hit to left field, Johnston followed with another carrying Metheral around to third, and home was stolen. Tighe and Galley went out on strikes.

In the second innings Palmer and Carson batted out safe balls, and when Billings hit both came in. Barnes came next, was captured at 1st, but this let Billings around. Snow and Campbell were both called in from first bag. Peterborough's next was a round 0. Galley, Sherin and Wood were the three that tried to hit the balls.

A nought was awarded to the Whitbys in the third innings. Paxton got to 1st on a safe hit, but when Ryan knocked it out it found its way to Metheral, who tossed it over to 2nd in time to put Paxton out. Sullivan again went out on strikes. In the second half Landy sent out a liner to the pitcher, who put it in to 1st. McAuliffe went out on a fly catch, and Tighe stepped back from the plate with three strikes to his credit. Metheral, who went to bases on balls, scored a run, and Johnston was on 1st base.

The fourth innings gave Whitby one and Peterborough none. Palmer went to 1st on a pass ball and travelled the diamond while Carson, Billings and Barnes were being put out. For Peterborough, Fligg was overtaken at first and Galley and Wood were victimised at the plate.

Campbell batted to short stop in the fifth innings and was promptly put out at first. Paxton retired similarly, and Bryan batted a ball into Johnston's hands. In the second half Sherin was caught by Paxton and Landy went out on strikes. Metheral and McAuliffe both made pretty hits, and both floated in home on Johnston's batting. Tighe retired on strikes.

Both sides took seats alternately this time and said "Oh!" Sullivan and Billings went out at first and Carson waved his club three times in vain. Sherin struck out, Woods was caught at second and Landy again didn't hit the ball.

The sixth innings was another blank for Whitby, and Peterborough got one only. Metheral made a two bagger and went around the other two sides safely.

Palmer and Sullivan took advantage of some loose fielding by getting to bases and coming home. Carson was released with strikes. Woods caught a pretty ball putting out Billings and Snow struck out. Sherin went to the first on balls. The catcher made a bad error here. Woods came next and was struck out. The catcher got the ball and instead of sending it to first, where he had a sure out, he tried to give it to second. This failed and both Sherin and Woods had their bases. Sherin was the only one in when the side retired.

Up till now the umpire had given very fair decisions, but it was apparent to every one who knew anything about baseball that he went grossly out of the mark to favor Whitby, and this is how he did it: Campbell went to the bat and made a clean base hit. He stole second. Metheral ran form 1st and very cleverly caught a foul from Paxton's bat. In the meantime Campbell had stolen 3rd and came in on a pass ball. Bryan made a safe hit and Sullivan got as far as first on an error by the pitcher. Then Palmer was caught out by McAuliffe. Here is where the biased decision came in. Carson hit and Sullivan who was on third base ran in. The ball was returned to Landy, the catcher, before Sullivan got there, but that worthy deliberately ran over Landy to the plate. Sullivan should certainly have been given out. Carson now stood on third base. He did not know that the ball had been thrown to Johnston and amid the discussion stepped off his base. Johnston touched him and called for the decision but the umpire proclaimed that he did not see the play (though hundreds of others saw it) and taking this as an excuse he gave Carson safe on third. Carson got in and the side retired on a foul and caught out by Billings. Three strikes and out was the order for the Peterborough side in the last innings. Neither Johnston nor Tighe nor Fligg struck at a ball before they were called out on strikes. The score is as follows, as taken from the score book:—

NOTES.

The Peterborough nine was not by any means the strongest that could have been put into the field. A couple of outsiders were taken on to make up the nine.

Galley, left field for Peterborough, took the pitchers box, a place he never took before. Landy, 2nd base, caught.

Moore's heavy hitting and Billings behind the bat were both missed.

There was an attendance of about 400 people on the grounds.

A DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.

Mr. Thomas Menzies Tells How to Detect It.

There is a very deceptive counterfeit of the Canadian Bank of Commerce ten dollar bill in circulation. The merchants of St. Catherines have suffered severely lately by taking this bad money and a drover from Port Hope has had no less than $500 of the useless paper palmed off on him at Buffalo. It seems that the counterfeits have been working the Niagara district chiefly. But the bad money is in circulation. "Do you know," said Mr. T. Menzies, "I had two of them presented to me last night. I never saw the like of this counterfeit. Its the best I ever saw—Its most dangerous I can tell you"

Mr. Menzies, who is, from his long experience in brokerage business, well up in detecting bad money, says that the bill, though a marvel of accuracy, can be easily detected, The large X in the lower corners were not put on by lathe work, but were painted on after. The bill while lying on a flat surface shows the X's quite plainly, but if it is held up to daylight the figures vanish and no X's can be discerned. In the good bill the X's show at all times. Another defect in it is the butterfly scroll work over the head of the vignette on the back. The butterfly is also invisible when held up to the light, while in the good bill it can be seen quite plainly. The lathe work, coloring, ink, paper and everything about it, except these two weak points, are perfect.

Another counterfeit that is in circulation now is that of the Dominion 2's. This is not so easy to circulate. The paper and coloring are not good. At the bottom, too, the I's in "British American Bank Note Co." are not dotted, while in the good bills the I's are noticed.

A Sadly Sudden Death.

The body of the late Mrs. J. D. Baptie was brought home on Wednesday evening by the Grand Junction Railway, and conveyed to her recent home. The sudden death of Mrs. Baptie was a great shock to her many friends here. Mr. Baptie received a card from her just day before yesterday stating that she was at Picton, in good health, and expected to go to "The Banks" at once. She took ill and the first instructions Mr. Baptie receiped was to meet her in Belleville. He went to Belleville only to find that his wife had died the same afternoon, Mrs. Baptie was the only daughter of Mr. Chas. Braley. The funeral took place as 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The Concert.

The Boston Beacon says of one of the participants in the coming concert of Sept. 2nd:—"The vocal recital for graduation given June 15th at N. E. Conservatory by Miss M. H. O'Reilly attracted the largest audience of the season. Keeper Hall was literally packed, and many turned away unable to find even standing room. Miss O'Reilly was in her best voice, and her selections gave good opportunity for the display of those qualities in which she excels: smoothness, purity and flexibility. Her cadenzas and chromatics were executed with perfect distinctness. Her portamentos were smooth and artistic. Her numbers were, "Rejoice Greatly," from Messiah; ancient Irish ballad, "Go Where Glory Waits thee"; variations by Proch, and Swiss echo song by Echart." Through the kindness of Mr. E. J. Hartley, Miss Delaney has been so fortunate as to secure a Heintzman Baby Grand piano, which will add materially to the success of the concert.

POLICE COURT.

MALICIOUS INJURY TO PROPERTY.

THURSDAY, Aug 26.—Wm. Slade, a fine looking, middle aged man from Asphodel, was charged by Capt. Cooper with having on Sunday committed malicious injury to the property of Wm. John Stewart, of Otonabee.

The defendant pleaded not guilty.

A young man who slept in the house that night was called. He said that on Sunday morning at about one o'clock this man came to the door and, after violently kicking it, threatened to murder Mrs. Stewart. After a while two other men came and took him away. His uncle, Mr. Stewart, was not there at the time.

The defendant was called on to explain. He admitted that he was not on the most friendly terms with Mr. Stewart, but at the same time there was no grudge between them. He was a little the worse of liquor on Saturday night.

The MAGISTRATE held that although no very bitter ill feeling existed between them they did not look on each other with amity. In order to prevent future circumstances of such a nature he would bind the defendant over to keep the peace at sureties of, himself $1,000 and two sureties of $500 each. He would also fine him $5 for the offence committed, and assess him 50 cents for the damage committed on the house.

The fine was paid and the sureties were given.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

A Lively Scene in the House of Commons Between Irish Members.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The debate on the address in the reply to the Queen's speech was continued this evening in the House of Commons. Mr. Redmond (Nationalist) Mr. Balfour, Secretary for Scotland and Mr. Steward (Radical) taking part in it.

Major Sanderson (Conservative) said he would speak as a landlord to refute the Parnellite charge that the Irish landlords—or blood-suckers, as they were pleased to call the landlords—(Parnelite cheers)—were afraid to make their voices heard in the House of Commons: The Irish landlords, were not afraid to accept a Parnelite challenge on this or any other point. (Conservative cheers and Parnelite laughter.) Major Sanderson quoted an extract from a speech made in October, 1880, by Mathew Harris, member for East Galway, in which the latter said that if the farmers shot the landlords like partridges he would not blame them. At this point Mr. Harris entered the House, and immediately asked Major Sanderson to repeat the quotation. Major Sanderson replied, "With the greatest pleasure," and again read the extract from Mr. Harris' speech.

Mr. Harris—Will Major Sanderson read what I said leading up to the extract?

Major Sanderson—This is the only portion of the speech worth repeating. (Conservative laughter, and loud Parnellite cries of "Order.")

After an excited discussion the speaker allowed Mr. Harris to make an explanation. Mr. Harris commenced a discursive statement to the effect that in 1884 he went into the Ribbon lodge in Westmeath and elsewhere in an endeavor to put down agrarian crime.

Major Sanderson, resuming, said—Mr. Harris does not deny the accuracy of the extract.

Mr. Harris, excitedly—I do, read the context.

Major Saunderson—Mr. Harris has informed the House of an interesting fact that I was unaware of before, namely, that he belongs to the Ribbon Order. (Conservative laughter and Parnellite shouts).

Mr. Harris excitedly rose and made a remark that was inaudible owing to the cries of the Parnellites.

Mr. Dillon rose to a point of order. He asked whether one member was entitled to accuse another of belonging to the Ribbon Order. (Parnellite cheers.)

The Speaker—It is a statement the truth of which Mr. Harris had admitted. The House must judge.

Mr. Dillon denied that Mr. Harris had admitted anything of the kind. (Shouts of "Order" and Parnellite cheers).

The Speaker—The honorable members have heard the statements; doubtless Major Saunderson will accept a denial.

Mr. Harris—I repudiate it as an infamous falsehood. (Cries of "Order!")

The Speaker—Mr. Harris will withdraw that expression unreservedly.

Mr. Harris obeyed, but further bickering ensued.

The Speaker, rebuking the disorderly members, hoped personal allusions would cease. (Cheers.)

Major Saunderson, resuming his speech, said that Mr. Parnell had formulated a new canon—"Thou shalt ask no rent." All classes and trades in Ireland were in a more or less depressed condition except the professional Irish politician. (Laughter.) That occupation was never in a more flourishing condition. The Parnellites were trying to exterminate the landlords by terrorism. He instanced cases at Gweedore, where tenants paid each other as much as £100 for tenant rights, but refused to pay the landlords fifteen shillings yearly rent because the parish priest, who was president of the local branch of the National League, had quarrelled with the landlords. Concerning threats and outrages during the winter, Mr. Parnell was like an engineer, who could turn on or shut off the steam at will. Mr. Parnell held the throttle valve of crime in Ireland; he had opened the valve before and could do so again if he pleased. (Conservative cheers and Parnellite cries of "Order.")

Mr. Redmond rose to a point of order, and after some discussion Major Sanderson said he would withdraw the objectionable expression, but at the same time would maintain his private opinion. In conclusion Major Sanderson said the Parnellites would find before long that they were not dealing with a craven Government, and that the Government would not let the control of Ireland fall into the hands of the League.

The debate was adjourned on motion of Mr. Chamberlain.

AFRAID TO LISTEN.

ONE noteworthy characteristic of the electoral campaign now proceeding in the Province of Quebec is the dread manifested by the Rielites of free discussion. At meeting after meeting the reports show that the Rielite speakers are allowed a fair hearing, but that as soon as any supporter of the Government opens his mouth his utterances are drowned by insulting cries uttered by the advocates of crime, who have more than once proceeded even to personal violence. It is evident that this ruffianism is sanctioned, if not procured, by the Rielite leaders, for they make no attempt to check it and to obtain a fair hearing for their opponents. Indeed they seem to glory in it, and even some of the Ontario journals in alliance with them, triumph as they describe the rowdyism of their friends and claim it to be a proof of the unpopularity of the Administration.

To any fair mind this hooting down of the Government speakers with the connivance of the Rielites is a proof rather of the weakness of the cause. It looks not only as if the Rielites feared that any fair discussion would prove the hollowness of the pretences of the so-called National Party, but it also gives ground for a suspicion that the people of Quebec are by no means so largely in accord with the Rielites as is claimed, so that they have to disguise by clamour and brute violence the fact that there are many dissidents.

One remarkable instance of this system of the substitution of bullying for argument was given when, in reply to claims of the Quebec Ministers to have had a surplus, the Rielite leaders challenged them to make their boast good on the platform. At the very next opportunity a leading member of the Quebec Cabinet began the explanation thus tauntingly demanded. Yet to an opponent thus answering their own invitation the Rielite leaders could not show fair play, but allowed, without a protest, their organized ruffians to silence the speaker by clamor and foul insults.

Such tactics show weakness even on the chosen battleground of the advocates of crime, and it is not surprising that honest Reformers in Ontario spurn the leaders who would lead them into a political alliance with a traitorous and cowardly crew.

AGAIN the Globe is reviving the slanders uttered against ladies in the Civil Service at Ottawa by a Rielite candidate. It makes the impudent pretence that because these ladies have been so foully insulted by this new ally of the Globe and Mr. Blake, it is due to them that there should be an enquiry. These cowards take care not to mention names, so that they might be punished for defamation, and till some respectable person can be found even to repeat such slanders, they can only be treated with contempt. The Globe certainly comes under no such category, for its custom is to insult women. It will be remembered how it made a wholesale charge of immorality against female operatives in the factories, when it was raging against the National Policy.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

The First Vote — Sir R. Buller—Mr. Chamberlain's Position.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—In the House of Commons there was a debate on the motion to adjourn the House, as a mark of disapprobation of the appointment of Sir R. Buller in Kerry. Sir M. Hicks-Beach closed it by highly praising Sir R. Buller, whose appointment, he said, was civil, not military.

Mr. Russell's motion was finally rejected by a vote of 241 to 146.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S POSITION.

Mr. Chamberlain, resuming the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech, said his only objection to the first part of Mr. Parnell's amendment was that it was needless to add it to the address, unless the House was prepared to act upon it. In regard to the second part, it implied censure of the Government, and he would do nothing to expel the present Government while that which would replace it was committed to the policy of separation. He did not believe the Government was foolish enough to propose to tax England for the benefit of Irish tenants. If it did make that proposal, he would feel it his duty to strenuously oppose it. He argued that the supporters of this amendment practically censured the late Government. (Cries of "No.") After denying that he had proposed an enormous scheme of state purchase, he repeated his objections to Mr. Gladstone's scheme and then proceeded to discuss the Commissions of Inquiry. He was cautioned several times to keep within the amendment, and finally the Speaker interfered. Mr. Chamberlain appealed for the same indulgence as was granted to other members. (Cries of "No.")

The Speaker repeated that Mr. Chamberlain must confine himself to the amendment.

Mr. Chamberlain upon resuming asked Mr. Parnell how an Irish parliament would enable tenants to pay their taxes. If Mr. Parnell looked with confidence to another appeal to the country, so did he; for he believed the result would be worse for the Parnellites than was the result of the last appeal. There were two sides to the rent question, willingness and ability. They wanted to know whether tenants would be permitted to pay if they were willing, and also whether the Parnellites supported Mr. Parnell's attitude, when he said at Chicago that it was their duty to make English Government in Ireland impossible. (Cheers.) If the Parnellites repudiated that speech they must also repudiate the American donations. He admitted that if the present depression was to be permanent the judicial rents were unfair and that the matter demanded investigation. In the meantime it was the duty of the Government to maintain the law. In conclusion he contrasted the views of the Separatists and the Unionists, adding that because he believed the policy of the Government tended to maintain the unity of the Empire—(laughter and cheers)—he was prepared to wait until it was fully developed and give it fair and favourable consideration. (Cheers.)

ADJOURNMENT OF THE DEBATE.

Mr. Sexton moved to adjourn the debate.

Lord Randolph Churchill asked for a promise that the debate should terminate to-morrow, otherwise he said he would oppose an adjournment.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Sexton agreed to the suggestion, and the debate was accordingly adjourned.

MR. SEXTON'S AMENDMENT.

Mr. Thomas Sexton, Parnellite, gave notice of his intention to move the following amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech: "We humbly represent to you Majesty that circumstances accountable for the recent riots in Belfast dictate the necessity for special measures to maintain order there, the most urgent of these measures being the re-establishment of your Majesty's authority in the district, whence from the police have been expelled, by the increase of the local constabulary to such strength as will enable it to deal with any probable contingency."

SECURING OPERATORS.

The C. P. R. Steals a March on the Great North Western.

The Canadian Pacific Telegraph appears as if it meant business, as it has secured the services of some of the ablest and most efficient employees of the Great North Western. Mr. J. K. Kent, who for some years has been wire chief of the Great North Western, has been appointed chief operator and circuit manager of the C. P. R. Mr. John Walsh, who is known to every telegraph customer in Montreal as the most courteous and obliging of men, has been secured to take charge of the receiving and delivering department. Amongst the operators who have changed their allegiance, are Messrs. Jennings, Graham, Robinson, Murphy, Twohey, Richardson, Benny, and Miss Rodgers. The service will be opened to the public within a few days, with a staff here of fourteen operators. At the opposition office one of the high officials expressed his gratification at the change, and that so many old employees of the company had bettered themselves.

"Are the Canadian Pacific then paying higher salaries than you are?"

"Certainly they are, or otherwise they would not have got the men. It will give me a chance of advancing some of my younger hands."

"Will there be any difference in rates when the C.P.R. opens?"

"Not that I know of. The rates in Canada are the lowest in the world, and the service is the best."

"Is there room for the two companies?"

"No; not in my opinion. Look at how many companies have already gone to the wall here, the British North American, the Grand Trunk, the Dominion and the People's, and look how competition has fared across the border."—Montreal Star.

The Discoyal Regiment.

SOFIA, Aug. 26.—A single regiment, with the assistance of a number of military cadets, accomplished the work of deposing Prince Alexander. Before proceeding against the Prince the Revolutionists arrested the commander of Prince Alexander's regiment, which was at Slivnitza The provisional Government, seeing that the populace were violently loyal to the deposed Prince, resigned office, and liberated the commander, who at once brought his regiment from Slivnitza and disarmed the regiment which had assisted in deposing the Prince. After this the commander placed under arrest the political leaders who had managed the coup d'etat.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

A GERMAN EXPELLED.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—A German named Kitschendorff has been expelled from France on the ground that he co-operated with Drought, the English clergyman, in raising a protest against the expulsion of the Due d'Aumale.

NOT KILLED.

DURBAN, Aug. 26.—Lieut. Bethell and a trooper of the British police in Bechuanaland, who were reported killed by Kafirs, are alive.

TO WORRY THE GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Radicals intend to worry the Government as much as possible during Mr. Gladstone's absence.

REDUCTION IN WAGES.

LONDON, August 26.—The Master Cotton Spinners' Association of Bolton, representing five million spindles, have unanimously resolved to make a five per cent. reduction in wages, providing three-quarters of the spinners of Ashton and Oldham agree to do likewise. The reduction, if made, will affect 60,000 operatives. The operatives threaten to strike if their wages are reduced.

ASKED TO PAY UP.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—In consequence of the refusal of the Count de Paris, while in exile, to pay donations which he promised to the church at Eu and to the town of Treport for the improvement of the harbor, the Council at Ruen has resolved to call upon the prefect to take legal proceedings to compel the Count to fulfil his engagements.

BELFAST QUIET.

BELFAST, Aug. 26.—Everything is now quiet. Huge paving stones and broken glass mark the scene of last night's riot. The Rev. Dr. Kane, Protestant clergyman, who declared that unless the police disarm 200,000 Orangemen would relieve them of their weapons, is again out with a declaration charging the magistrates of Belfast with "criminal parleying with lawlessness."

FEAR OF RENEWED RIOTS.

BELFAST, Aug. 26.—Rev. Hugh Hanna, D.D., St. Enoch's Church, has published a letter in reference to the rioting yesterday evening in Shankhill road. Dr. Hanna requested all respectable residents of Belfast to remain at their homes as closely as possible for some days to come. He says he fears that the Belfast disorders are to be revived in a worse form than ever, and that the future loss of life in riots throughout the city will be much more dreadful than it has been hitherto. Soldiers, he says, will be obliged to fire upon the citizens.

RIOTERS SENTENCED.

BELFAST, Aug. 26.—Thirty men who had been convicted of taking an active part in the recent riots, were sentenced to-day to various terms of imprisonment, one of them to thirteen months. A number of other men arrested on the same charge were committed for trial.

IRISH EVICTIONS.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach replying to the questions asked by Mr. William Redmond, Parnellite, concering the eviction of 60 tenants from the Marquis of Ely's estates in Wexford on the 23rd inst.' said the persons evicted were labourers and artisans and not farmers; that they had obtained houses in the town, but that the local league compelled them to leave and go to the work house. (Conservative cheers.) Mr. Harrington said the league that did that was a local league and not the Irish National League.

PURCHASING THEIR HOLDINGS.

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—Four tenants on Mr. Keating's estate at Kilrush have purchased their holdings for £1,230 under the Ashbourne Act of 1885. The time of payment extends over 19 years. Cork merchants are signing a petition to Lord Salisbury for legislation to prevent unjust evictions on account of the depression in the agricultural industry.

EVICTIONS IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—Five hundred policemen and troops have left Birr to assist at the evictions on the estates of the Marquis of Clanricarde in Galway. The Birr branch of the National League has given notice to tradesmen not to supply the evicting party with provisions or means of conveyance.

RUSSIAN PERFIDY.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Sir J. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, replying to questions in regard to the Government's attitude on the closing of Batoum by Russia, said the Government did not intend to carry the case beyond the position taken by the Earl Roseberry, ex-Foreign Minister, in his despatch to M. DeGiers, Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs.

THE LOYALIST DELEGATES.

DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—Rev. R. Kane and Mr. Geo. Hill Smith, of Armagh, will sail to-morrow on the Samaritan, as delegates of the Irish Loyalist Protective Union, for the purpose of educating the people of Canada and the United States against the fallacious policy of Home Rule, advocated by Mr. Gladstone, and will point out the dangers to which the Protestant minority would be subjected in the event of the Parnellites securing legislative power in Ireland.

THE DISASTER IN BURMAH.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—In the Commons to-day Sir J. Gorst, Under-Secretary for India, stated that the loss of life caused by the breaking of the Irrawady River's embankment in Mandalay, Burmah, was only twenty-five. The under-secretary announced that 163 miles of the projecting railway between Rangoon, India and Mandalay had already been constructed. The whole length of the road will be 416 miles.

AIDING EMIGRATION.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—In the House of Commons to-day Edward Stanhope, Colonial Secretary, announced that the Government hoped to open an emigration bureau next October. They did not, he said, intend to promote emigration, but simply to circulate information of the kind most desirable for poor people thinking of going abroad to know.

A Veteran Indian Chief Dead.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 26.—Chief John Smoke Johnson died at his residence on the reserve last evening. Deceased was 94 years of age, the oldest Indian of the Mohawk tribe. He fought in the American war of 1812 and knew the great warrior chief, Joseph Brant.

A Northwest Murder.

CALGARY, Aug. 25.—Clinker Scott was found murdered near Shaganappi Point today. The murder was supposed to be done by the Edmonton stage robbers, as he had considerable money about him.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 27, 1886.

THE MIDSUMMER MEET.

FAST TIME MADE IN THE DRIVING PARK—FINE WEATHER.

That Notable "Three Minute" Trot—The Three Minute Horses Make Better Time Than the .35 Class—The Half Mile Dash.

On Thursday afternoon the two days' turf meet in the Driving Park was opened. Omnibusses, cabs and carriages plied between town and the Park, and at two o'clock there was a fair attendance on the grounds. The weather was fine and warm, and the track never in a better condition. Fast time was predicted and those who augured augured well on this occasion. The preliminaries consisted in the bright uniformed jockeys giving their sleek, glossy runners trial spins around the track, and the usual rubbing and sponging and strapping and harnessing and unharnessing of the trotters. At two o'clock, or a little after, the drivers of the three minute horses were weighed and approved.

The judges ascended the stand at half past two o'clock. They were Messrs. H. Corby, Belleville; Chas. Brown, Toronto, and H. C. Winch, Peterborough. Messrs. R. W. Muncaster and A. Elliott kept the time.

THREE MINUTE TROT—FIRST HEAT.

The three minute trot, best three in five, mile heats, was the first race. The purse was $120; $65 for the first horse, $35 for second, and $20 for third. The entries were: Billy Parker, owned by J. Hall, Oshawa, Louis D., owned by Peake & Gillespie, Campbellford, and Corkfoot Tom, owned by Chas. Wannan, Toronto. J. Flemming drove Corkfoot Tom, J. Allis ton, Louis D., and Bob Reid, Billy Parker. After the usual preliminery scores the word "go" was given. Corkfoot Tom, next the pole, had the advantage. Louis D., who had outside place, was next, while Billy Parker had a bad start. Corkfoot Tom held his lead from the start leaving the other two considerably. He passed the judge's stand for the first time doing the track in 1.16½. After going out they all closed up together but Billy Parker breaking badly fell behind leaving the first place to be contested between the other two. At the three quarter pole Louis D. pulled up till both came up the home stretch neck and neck. Louis D. broke just before coming under the wire and when pulled in was a neck behind. Corkfoot Tom won. Time, 2.33¼.

HALF MILE RUNNING RACE—FIRST HEAT—came next. The purse was $100, divided as follows:—1st, $60; 2nd, $25; 3rd, $15. The conditions were best three in five. Horses and owners were: General Spike, owned by John Noble, of Meaford; Scott Act, owned by J. H. O'Neil, Cobourg; Duke of Wellington, owned by John Nixon, Toronto, and Maggie Roach, owned by Alex. Elliott, Peterborough. R. Hill rode General Spike, Sammy Snyder, Scott Act; John Tomlin, Duke of Wellington, and Irving Simpson, Maggie Roach. The horses mounted by the jockeys, all in flashing silk jackets and caps, and attended by grooms appeared on the track at the sound of the gong. They were given a standing start. The owner of Scott Act shouted "go!" and the horses dashed away. The starter pulled the gong and after the horses had gone around informed the would be starter that all the starting would be done in the stand. O'Neil apologized by stating that the rider asked him to shout when the flag dropped. A good start was made Maggie Roach leading. She held first for the first quarter when Scott Act gradually drew ahead. General Spike next gave Maggie Roach the go-by. Scott Act and the General came up the course in fine style, Scott Act winning by two lengths. Time .54¼. The Duke of Wellington was distanced.

THREE MINUTE TROT—SECOND HEAT.

The horses came down the track and got away on the first score. Cork Foot Tom led off again, with Louis D. second and Billy Parker third. Cork Foot Tom trotted easily and steadily along without a break. The first lap was made in 1.17. Cork Foot Tom held his place till the turn at the homestretch, when Louis D. pushed his nose ahead. Then Cork Foot Tom broke and Louis D. won as he pleased. Time, 2.37.

HALF MILE RUNNING RACE—SECOND HEAT.

Maggie Roach, though having the outside place, made a brilliant dash and took the lead. She was a length ahead at the first quarter. The General and Scott Act then commenced to crowd her. The General went by and at the three quarter Scott Act went by. Hill rode his horse confidently, holding his lead of two lengths on Scott Act. Coming up the home-stretch the boy with the big boots put the silk to Scott Act and gained up till only less than a length behind at the finish. Time, 53½.

THREE MINUTE TROT—THIRD HEAT.

Billy Parker led for the first quarter. Corkfoot Tom, trotting with a fine, steady, swinging gait, went ahead and held first place to the finish. The first half was done in 1.17½, and the time for the mile was 2.36.

HALF MILE RUNNING RACE—THIRD HEAT.

General Spike lead, shadowed by Scott Act, with Maggie Roach away behind. The General came in with flying colors, with Scott Act a length and a half behind. Time, 55 seconds. Maggie was shut out altogether.

THREE MINUTE TROT—FOURTH HEAT.

Corkfoot Tom went out first, with Louis D. at the wheel and Billy Parker in the rear. Corkfoot won by a length, Douis D. second. Time, 2.35. The half mile was done in 1.17. This closed the three minute trot.

HALF MILE RUNNING RACE—FOURTH HEAT.

General Spike and Scott Act were the only two to compete in his heat. The General had it all his own way. From the quarter to the three-quarters he cantered lightly along and won by a length and a half. Time, 55¾.

2.35 TROT—FIRST HEAT.

The two thirty-five trot was called. The purse was $200, divided as follows:—1st, $110; 2nd, $55; 3rd, $35. The entries were: Little Ned, owned by A. P. Morgan, Peterborough; Marquis, owned by Alf. Brown, Toronto; Laura C., owned by J. C. Sandford, Brighton, and Ben Morrel, owned by R. Croft, Cobourg. Geo. Robinson drove Marquis; T. McEwen, Little Ned; J. Alliston, Laura C.; and Alf. Brown, Ben Morrel. At the start Marquis, taking the pole, went to the front, with the rest following in a procession. Little Ned trotted nicely toward the front and disputed the first place with Marquis. The half mile was done in 1.19½, and the mile in 2.40, Marquis winning by a length, with Little Ned second and Laura C. third.

2.35 TROT—SECOND HEAT.

Marquis travelled the track the same this heat as he did the last. He came in first, Little Ned two lengths behind, with Laura C. third and Ben Morrel a good fourth. The first ⅛ was trotted in 1.18 and the mile in 2.37.

2.35 TROT—THIRD HEAT.

Marquis had a poor start, but before the quarter pole was passed he was leading by a length. The other tree went around alternately leading. At the finish of the first lap Ben Morrel had second place, but on the next round he fell in the rear again, giving Little Ned second place and Laura C third. Time 2.38.

TURF GOSSIP.

Judge Brown started the horses. He did his business like on that knew how, and everybody was satisfied. He is a heavy man. He wore a soft white hat, and a black suit, except the vest. He watched the races keenly, but between heats, when he had leisure, the smoke from a fragrant cigar curled and wreathed mildly around his florrid face and flowing white moustache.

All of the judges were impartial and straightforward in their decisions.

No one could understand how it was that a three minute horses trotted down to 34—but they did.

All were satisfied with the track and the way it was kept clear during the afternoon.

Reid says that this was an "off" day for Billy Parker. It must be so, Billy never came nigh a win.

WEDDING THE WATERS.

Connection Made Between Lake Ontario and the Bay of Quinte.

BRIGHTON Aug. 26.—Amid the blowing of whistles and the rejoicing of spectators the waters of Presqu' Isle and Quinte were brought together yesterday at 3.30 p.m. The contractors, Messrs. Lee and Dunbar on the west end have finished their work and Messrs. Silcock and Mowry on the east have completed their first cut through, and several gentlemen sailed from Brighton harbor to Trenton by way of celebrating this important event. Active operations will be continued from this date forward until the whole great work is completed.

HASTINGS.

STEAM YATCH.—The Star says.—

A neat little steam yacht came up by rail from Belleville on the 9th and was launched here. She is called the "Dot," and is owned by Mr. John Miller, of Peterborough.

PROGRESS.—Work in the carpenter line is in such demand just now that cabinet and wagon makers have vacated their shops for the time being and the sound of the hammer and saw is heard on all sides.

Murray Canal Opening

BRIGHTON, Aug. 25—Amid the blowing of whistles and the rejoicing of spectators the waters of Presqu' Isle and Quinte were brought together to-day at 3:30 p. m. The contractors, Messrs. Lee & Dunbar on the west end and Messrs. Silcox & Murray on the east, have completed their first cut through, and several gentlemen sailed from Brighton harbor to Trenton by way of celebrating the event. Active operations will be continued until the work is completed.

SCOTLAND.

The James Watt Dock at Greenock, the construction of which was commenced about eight years ago, at an estimated cost of £550,000, was formerly opened for traffic on August 5, by Provost Shankland.

In the experimental trials on the Gareloch of the new Russian torpedo vessel, recently launched from Messrs. Thomson's yard at Clydebank, the astonishing speed of 22 knots of over 25 miles an hour has been obtained.

A collision occurred on August 2nd about thirty miles east of the May Island between the schooner "Mary Elizabeth," of Perth, and the vessel "Ora and Labora," of Stavanger. The former sank, while the latter was considerably damaged.

The "Flying Dragon," the latest addition to the Clyde Shipping Company's fleet of tug steamer, made her trial trip recently. The tug is 135 feet long, 24 broad, and 13 1-2 in depth, and will be able to tow vessels to and from the Continent without re coaling.

Captain Bain, a Glasgow shipmaster, has been presented with a silver medal—the gift of the King of Norway—in recognition of services rendered in rescuing ten men of the crew of the Norwegian vessel Himalaya, driven ashore near Nairn in August last year.

A spurt is presently being experienced in the Fife and Clarkmannan coal trade, and at most of the collieries there are signs of greater activity than has been witnessed during the present shipping season. The improvement does not come a moment too soon, for many of the pits are all but stocked out—the aggregate stock being estimated at 22,000 tons, a total unprecedented in the history of the coal trade in the Fife and Clackmannan.

A sharp encounter took place late one night lately, at the mouth of the Applecross River, Ross-shire, between Lord Middleton's keepers and a gang of saloon poachers The latter had cast a considerable extent of splash net acrosse the mouth of the river when the keepers surprised them, and a desperate struggle ensued. The poachers, however, who are believed to be crofters from the neighboring parish of Lockalsh, effected their escape.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

It is popularly admitted everywhere that McGregor's Speedy Cure is the safest, most reliable and by far the cheapest remedy for Constipation, Liver Comalaint, Indigestion, Impure Blood, Loss of Appetite, and all similar troubles. It is not necessary to take a great quantity before any result is produced. A few doses will convince you of its merits. Trial bottle given free at John McKee's Drug Store.

Backache.

What does that spell? Why, "backache," of course, though you would not suspect it at the first glance. It spells what hundreds and thousands of women are suffering from every day of their lives, but what they need not suffer from, if they knew the virtues of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Perscription." All those "dragging down" pains and sensations of nausea and weakness, peculiar to women, can be cured by this same boon to womankind. It is almost magical in its results.

Cholera Preventative.

In order to withstand Cholera and such like epidemics a perfect purity of Blood, and the proper action of the stomach are required. To insure that end, in the cheapest, most available and complete manner, use McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dysyepsia and Impure Blood. There is no purer, safer or more reliable remedy in existence for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, etc. Ask your neighors or any person who has used it. Sold by John McKee. Trial bottles given free.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

Over Cox & Co's Wires.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Private cables state that the situation is growing most serious and it is believed war cannot be averted. Think it is decidedly dangerous to be short on wheat.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—To-day's noon cash quotations are as follows:—Wheat, 77⅛; corn, 41⅛; oats, 26; pork, 9.50; lard, 7.30.

The visible supply of grain in America, according to the Chicago estimate, is as follows:—

	This week.	Last week.
Wheat	39,830,412	37,683,508
Corn	10,982,009	8,033,985
Oats	3,116,648	2,379,338

Butter and Cheese.

Over Cox & Co's Wires.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Butter firm; cheese steady; state of factory 6¾ to 9.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The cable quotation for cheese to-day is 43s.

Montreal Gazette.

The Montreal Gazette discusses the situation as follows:—

"It appears to be a waiting market in which a very quiet tone is uppermost pending further developments that will determine the course of affairs in the immediate future. Judging by the action of importers there is evidence of strength in Liverpool at present, but even a slight upward movement over there would be quickly—perhaps too quickly—responded to here. Little has been done in August goods so far, and their value has not been authentically established, as factorymen, having satisfactorily disposed of the July make, are not anxious to sell for a little.

NICHOLLS' HOSPITAL.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—I believe there are not five in a hundred of our citizens that have any real knowledge of our hospital or what it is doing. Kindly grant me space for a few lines. Having suffered from an inflamed and ulcerated eye, I entered as an inpatient, and at the end of two weeks I was cured, only regretting I had not entered six weeks sooner, for I am convinced that the doctor that attended me would have set me right with the aid of the hospital in a short time.

I found it a large handsome building on one of the best sites in the neighbourhood, commanding a view of the whole city, with fine grounds well shaped, cool, neatly furnished, well ventilated wards, where the attending physician bestoys the same skill and attention he would in his private practice. The uniform kindness and attention day or night from the lady superintendant and the trained nurses, the varied and wholesome diet, the good conduct of patients, the order and precision, the family prayers offered in the hearing of all the patients, the visits of Christian ladies, its isolation from the screech of locomotives or noisy traffic, and last but not least the bouquets sent weekly by the W. C. T. U., making this a model institution. It must be a power for good in our midst. Everything appears to be done to make up for the loss of the home circle, and to effect a speedy cure. I am sure if farmers and others, at a distance from medical help, knew they could avail themselves of this boon at the small cost of 50c. per day. I would not mislead any that would expect no restraint; for there is. I was compelled to keep in a dark room for twelve days. This was the very thing needed before any cure could be effected. There is all the restraint a case requires. The only thing I saw that lacked organization was the ministerial duties, which are left principally to the Rev. Mr Beck to conduct. All the patients that I spoke to speak in this strain. The young man who lost his arm seven weeks ago is nearly well. Lest any City Fathers should expect an extended bill for any they send, I may say that they need not fear this, as the doctor soon starts a patient that is well. I have heard a fever patient complain of short allowance, but he is healthy and strong to-day. The man that lost his arm said he got little to eat the first week, but now he is well and gets all he wants. A patient is fed or stinted as the case requires; they will not kill through (mistaken) kindness.

Please excuse so long a letter; an abler pen would have said the same in half the words, but I feel it my duty to write.

Yours respectfully,
E. COURTNEY.

Peterborough, Aug. 26, 1886.

A Wedding at Lindsay.

Rev. E. H. Koyle, Methodist clergyman of Paris, and Miss Bigelow were married at Lindsay on Wednesday by Dr. Burwash, Dean of Divinity College, Victoria University. Miss Bigelow, who is very popular among the young people of Lindsay, is a niece of Mr. N. G. Bigelow of Toronto. The Bigelows were numerous, in fact it was the largest family gathering they have had for thirty years.

Salisbury Busy.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Government has received news confirming the report that Prince Alexander landed at Reni, but nothing has been heard of him since. The Earl of Iddesleigh worked in his office until late last night. He exchanged telegrams with the Marquis of Salisbury, who was in his laboratory, at Hatfield House, experimenting with an electric invention of his own for driving agricultural machinery. Lord Salisbury returned to London at 7 p.m., and was met at the station by messengers with bundles of despatches, which the Premier read forthwith.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

Charles H. Waterous, of Brantford, has been appointed Vice-Consul for the Republic of Chili, and has received the approval of his appointment from Her Majesty the Queen. Don. Chas. H. Waterous is to be congratulated upon his high elevation.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

WONDERFUL is the effect of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment in rheumatism, sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. It stands without a rival. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. TULLY, druggist.

A new synagogue, costing $60,000, will shortly be opened in Montreal by the English members of the Hebrew faith. The Portuguese congregation are also preparing plans for a new synagogue to cost $75,000.

WEST'S PAIN KING acts promptly, cures quickly. Never fails to cure bowel complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera. Costs but 25 cents and is always ready. Enquire regarding its merits of J. D. TULLY, druggist.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

The United States Secretary of the Treasury has decided that Canadian steamers can legally carry passengers from one United States port to another, on certain conditions, without payment of the charge of two dollars for every passenger.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

Michael Ryan attempted to cross from Point St. Charles to St. Henri on the Grand Trunk Railway bridge over the canal. As foot passengers are strictly prohibited from crossing this bridge, the switchman refused to let the man cross. He became angry and replied that he would get across no matter what the orders were. He then plunged into the canal, swam a short distance, sank, and was drowned.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

Rev. J. G. Fallis Datton certifies: "For some years my wife has been troubled with Dyspepsia, and has tried one thing after another recommended with but little or no effect till advised to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial. Since taking the first bottle I have noticed a decided improvement and can with confidence recommend it to be one of, if not the best medicine extant for Dyspepsia." This invaluable medicine for Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Kidney Complaint is purely vegetable. Sold at John Mckee's Drug Store. Trial bottles given free.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. Gumpricht is in town for a few days. Orders may be left at Mr. Thos. Menzies' bookstore, or Messrs. Taylor & McDonald's drugstore.

The Riversides.

The Riverside Lacrosse Club are arranging return matches, to be played in the Park here, with Norwood and Millbrook. After these matches they will likely invite the Checkers, of Beaverton, to play an exhibition match in the Park here.

Grain Buyers.

Mr. Doherty, market clerk, wishes to state for the benefit of all concerned that the grain buyers, who have been by virtue of necessity doing nothing all summer, will be out in full force on Saturday. They, and the school teachers, will commence business at about the same time.

The Separate Schools.

The pupils and teachers of the Separate Schools will be interested to learn that the schools re-open for the fall and winter term on Monday. By the moral measurement, not lineal, of distance, it is likely that from home to school will be to the pupil about four times as far as from school to home.

Committee on Appointments.

The Committee on Appointments held a meeting on Tuesday night to consider the question of engaging a lady teacher for the Collegiate Institute staff. A number of applications were laid before the committee. It was decided after the question was duly discussed that a lady teacher be not engaged at present.

Personal.

Major McLean, Port Hope, of the Durham Field Battery, was in town to-day.

The Rev. F. McAmmond, of Fenelon Falls, is in town to-day.

Mr. J. W. Sheridan, of New York, and his two sons, are in town, the guests of Mr. T. Henry. Mr. Sheridan was the first Peterborough merchant to introduce plate glass windows. He comes back to see a plate glass city.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox left town this morning to meet Mrs. Cox and family, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis, at Quebec. The party are expected to arrive home on Monday morning.

Mr. G. S. Bean, recently engaged by the Board of Education as Mathematical and Science Master, has, with Mrs. Bean, taken up his residence in Peterborough.

An Actor-In real life.

Many of the members of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows who were present at the Lodge on Decoration day will remember the fun created by a Lakefield brother who got up and after gravely leading the assembled company to believe that he had some terrible secret to unload from his heart solemnly declared that he had found an umbrella. A few days after he took off a man in the most humorous style though not at all intending offence in the slightest degree. The story is told in his own words as follows:—"Some time after that memorable day whilst walking on George street I was touched on the shoulder and the question was asked. 'Did I not see you in the Oddfellow's hall the other day—Decoration Day?' I told him I was there. 'I thought I was right' he replied, 'I recollect about the umbrella.' Now tell me, 'he went on smilingly,' 'were you ever on the stage?' I said I had been on the stage but it was some time since. 'I thought so; indeed I said to one or two of my friends that it was quite my impression that you had been and if you won't consider it a rude question I would like to ask you whether English or Canadian, what part or position you generally took.' I told him that it was the Burleigh stage and when I could get it I preferred the front seat next the driv— I think my friend must have suddenly remembered some very important business as the happy smile left his countenance and he walked off very rapidly, in the direction of Hamilton's foundry without giving me time to finish my sentence.

The End is Nearly Come.

By reference to an advertisement it will be seen that Chairman Stevenson heralds the approach of school duties again. Only four more days and the teachers and pupils will greet each other after the long summer holidays.

Mr. Haultain's Lecture.

A lecture was delivered in St. John's Church school room last evening by Mr. T. Arnold Haultain, M. A. The subject was: "Woman: Her Rights and Duties." A report of the lecture will appear in to-morrow's REVIEW.

Jubilant Whitby.

The Whitby baseball team defeated Lindsay by 19 to 21 on Thursday. When they got home they were met by the whole town (nearly) and a brass band. The enthusiasm of the people produced a torchlight procession, fireworks and bonfires in honor of the ballists.

Holiday and Sculling Race.

On Wednesday, Sept. 1st, a sculling race will be held on the waters north of Lakefield, for the championship of the waters and a medal. Messrs. Winsted and Hartley, Toronto; Ryan, champion of the Amateur Association of America, and A. Strickland, of Lakefield, have entered. Sept. 1st has been proclaimed the civic holiday in Lakefield, and no doubt many will take advantage of that to see the race.

Arrived at Phelan's Hotel.

There is nothing more becoming and adorning than a fine head of hair. Go and and see Prof. Dorenwend's fine styles in ladies' bangs, waves, long fine switches, gents' toupees, wigs, &c., at Phelan's Hotel to-day and to-morrow. All who have thin hair especially should make a note of this and call on him at his show room at the hotel. At this will be his last visit to Peterborough, this season, he will have his show room open to-day and to-morrow until 10 p. m. for all those who cannot conveniently see him in the day time.

MARCHING ON SOFIA.

Bulgarian Troops Leaving the Servian Frontier—Various Rumours.

LONDON, August 26.—It is stated that 10,000 Bulgarian troops, who have been stationed on the Servian frontier, are hastening onward Sofia to support Prince Alexander.

Conflicts have taken place in the streets to Sofia between the Loyalists and supporters of Zankoff. Prince Alexander's adherents are still in prison.

Prince Bismarck is said to be surprised at the anti-Russianism displayed by the Austrian and Hungarian press.

CONFLICTING RUMOURS.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 26.—A rumour is current that Prince Alexander is being conveyed to St. Petersburg.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—The statement that Prince Alexander has been released is little credited here.

The Russian captain in command of Prince Alexander's yacht has telegraphed to Bucharest that Prince Alexander was handed over to the Russian authorities.

The Standard says that Prince Alexander is travelling from Lemburg, Galicia, by railway to Darmstadt.

RUSSIAN VIEWS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 26.—M. Nelidoff, Russian Ambassador, informed his colleagues that in event of serious disorders in Bulgaria, Russia would, with the other Powers, consider the necessary measures for interfering.

LOYAL TROOPS ENTER SOFIA.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Sir J. Fergusson, Under Foreign Secretary, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that the loyal troops had entered Sofia on Tuesday with the consent of the Powers. The exact whereabouts of Prince Alexander, the Under Secretary said, was unknown to the British Government, but telegrams had been forwarded to him inviting him to return and resume his rule in Bulgaria.

TREATED WITH INDIGNITY.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Russians at Reni treated Prince Alexander and his brother with indignity. They refused to allow even a servant to accompany Prince Alexander, saying "your brother will wait on you."

EMPEROR AND CZAR.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says:—"Emperor William, on hearing of the seizure and kidnapping of Prince Alexander, wrote a sharp letter to the Czar expressing amazement and indignation." When the king of Servia heard of the events at Sofia he said, "It is the greatest piece of infamy ever perpetrated in Europe. If I knew where Prince Alexander was I would sacrifice all I possess to afford him assistance." The report of the arrival of Prince Alexander at Darmstadt is now denied.

A STARTLING DISCOVERY.

Wholesale Robbery of Letters from Winnipeg Post Office.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 26.—A discovery was made in a deserted building in Fort Rouge about 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, which to all all appearances indicates that pilfering of letters to a serious extent has been going on at the Winnipeg post office. A bulky satchel on being opened was found to contain between four and five hundred letters, addressed to as many different parties. They had all been opened, and many were subsequently found to contain cheques, money orders, etc. The stamps on a great number were not cancelled, showing that they must have been dropped into some post office and abstracted before being cancelled, whilst other letters were from other places all over the world. The matter has been placed in the hands of the police, and further developments are expected.

FACTS
Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

☞ Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

THE MIDSUMMER MEET.

SECOND DAYS SPORT AT THE DRIVING PARK.

Louis D. Makes a Half Mile in 1.14 and a half and Wins the 2.45 Trot—Scott Act Beaten—Lady M. Wins the Open Trot.

SECOND DAY.

The weather was bright and clear on Thursday and the track was as fast as it was yesterday. The attendance was considerably larger.

2.45 TROT—FIRST HEAT.

The 2.45 trot was the first race called. The purse was $150; $85 to first horse, $40 for second, and $25 for 3rd. Stanton Jr., owned by A. R. Johnston, Brantford; Louis D., who trotted yesterday; Cork Foot Tom, another of yesterday's horses, and Fanny B., owned by F. J. Daly, Peterborough, composed the field. J. Johnston drove Stanton Jr.; J. Alliston, Louis D.; J. Flemming, Cork Foot Tom, and Bob Ried, Fanny B. Stanton Jr. had the pole. At the usual signal for getting off Cork Foot Tom swung to the front, with the other three all in a bunch a few yards behind. Cork Foot Tom trotted fine, and so did the rest. Not one of them went off their feet till the first half was trotted. Coming in for the first time Fanny B made a disastrous break, so bad that all chances of this heat was lost. Cork Foot Tom trotted in his own honest style till he came under the wire at the finish, just a neck ahead of Louis D. The first half mile was done in 1.18, and the mile in 2.36½.

OPEN TROT—FIRST HEAT.

The open trot, best three in five, was next on the programme. The purse was $300; $175 for 1st horse, $75 for 2nd, and $50 for 3rd. There were three entries—Deadwood, owned and driven by John Noble, Meaford; Geraldine, owned and driven by George Robertson, St. Catharines, and Lady M., owned by E. Horan, Picton, and driven by Bob Reid. When Judge Brown said the word the handsome Geraldine went prettily to the front, and the uninitiated at once leaned over in her favor. Lady M. gradually, but surely lessened the gap between herself and her fair opponent, till coming in on the first lap they were eye to eye. Geraldine lost her spirit and broke. She could not recover, giving Lady M. the heat by a couple of lengths. The half was done in 1.15¼, and the mile in 2.32½. Deadwood was a good third.

2.45 TROT—SECOND HEAT.

There was no interest in this heat but to see what record Louis D. would make. After what was seen of this horse yesterday he was a positive surprise to everybody. He shot out from the rest, Cork Foot Tom included, and took almost an ¼ of a mile lead by the time he struck the home stretch. Cork Foot trotted well but it was no use—he could hardly sight Louis. Fanny and Stanton jr., were behind contesting for third place. The place was gained by Stanton. The first half was done in the fastest time of the meet—1.14. The mile was done in 2.33¼.

OPEN TROT—SECOND HEAT.

At the start Deadwood's driver was reprimanded by Judge Brown for not scoring with the pole horse. Several scores were made but Deadwood was shoved so far ahead as to spoil them. Lady M. got a three yard start on Geraldine and the three strode along in a "procesh" for the first half, making it in 15½. Turning the home stretch corner Lady M left her feet slightly, which "error" Geraldine siezed on with advantage. The two came up the springy turf together amid wild cheering. Inch by inch lady M resumed her lead coming under the wire about a foot ahead. Time, 2.30¾—the fastest mile.

2.45 TROT—THIRD HEAT.

The half was closely contested between Corkfoot and Louis D., but leaving the stand Corkfoot broke and gave Lous D a long lead. Corkfoot recovered some but not enough. Louis D won, Corkfoot second, Stantonjr., third and Fannie B was shut out altogether. E. Brown drove Fannie B the second and third heats. He came to the conclusion that the company was a little too rapid for Fannie.

OPEN TROT—THIRD HEAT.

Lady M. had a good start of the other two. At a little way up the track she broke. The driver tried to pull her down but she acted ugly for a few seconds, Geraldine had glided by and was leading by twenty yards. Lady M., now trotted steadily, gained up and up till at the first half she had all her lost ground. From this point she continued to lead coming in an easy first. Time 2.31¼. The first half was done in 1.17. This finished the race in favor of Lady M.

MILE RUNNING RACE—FIRST HEAT.

The mile running race, purse, $150; $85 for 1st, $40 for 2nd, and $25 for 3rd, came next. Grey Johnnie, owned by James Bradley, Port Hope; Blanton, owned by John Nixon, Toronto, and Scott Act, second in yesterday's half mile dash, were the entries. Scott Act had the pole. Blanton took a standing start, and the other two being under speed left him. At the ¼ they were all together. At the first ½ Blanton and Grey Johnnie were in the same position, while Scott Act lagged behind. Blanton increased his lead, and both of the leaders continued to go away from Scott Act. At the finish Blanton won with comparative ease, with Grey Johnnie 2nd. Scott Act was shut out.

2.45 TROT—FOURTH HEAT.

There was a little difficulty in the scoring. Corkfoot and Louis D. scored ahead of Stanton jr. every time. The starter threatened to fine the drivers $5 if they scored ahead of Stanton again. Nevertheless Flemming did score Corkfoot ahead while Louis D. was behind all. Corkfoot held his long lead till the 3¼ when he broke slightly. Louis D drew in and there was an exciting race up the homestretch. Corkfoot Tom won by a neck. Time 2.31½.

MILE RUNNING RACE—LAST HEAT.

Grey Johnnie broke away at a terrific pace, leaving Blanton away behind. Blanton skipped lightly over the turf, lessening the lead at every jump. He overtook the grey at the mile and a quarter and came in fifty yards ahead. Time, 1.53.

2.45 TROT—LAST HEAT.

Corkfoot had a half length of a start. Louis D. closed with him at the first curve. Corkfoot "rattled," breaking into a canter, which the driver stopped only when Louis was careering away in advance. Corkfoot broke again and Louis increased his lead, winning by about 70 yards; Stanton 2nd, and Corkfoot 3rd. Time, 2.32.

CARTERS' RACE.

A half mile go-as you-please carters' race finished the programme. There was lots of fun over it. D. Hilliar's Brown Dick won, with W. Croft's Bay Rat 2nd, and H. Will's Fred R. 3rd. 1st got $15, 2nd $10, and 3rd $5.

Fortune of War.

It seems very hard that a gallant Guardsman, having been through both Egyptian campaigns untouched, should be wounded on Pangbourne Bridge. Colonel Fludyer, of the Scotch Guards, was walking across Pangbourne bridge with a lady on the afternoon of Saturday, the 24th ult., when they were startled by the report of a pistol. The Colonel exclaimed "I'm hit" and he was. The bullet had lodged in his side fortunately striking one of the ribs, and penetrating about half an inch. Some campers-out on the bank had discharged a pistol casually in the air.

MEETING OF ORANGEMEN.

BELFAST, August 27.—A meeting of Orangemen was held last night, at which it was decided to again offer the Mayor their assistance in restoring order. The meeting condemned the misconduct of the police, but repudiated and deprecated the action of those who had defied the military and police. They also protested against the charges that the Orangemen were responsible for the riots, and declared them to be utterly untrue.

BULGARIA.

The Deposed Prince in Russia—Address to his Escort—Council of Regency.

PESTH, Aug. 27.—It is positively stated that Prince Alexander, on learning of the loyalist movement, resolved to return to Bulgaria. He is expected to arrive to-morrow at Rustchuk, whence the army will conduct him in to Sophia.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The cafes were crowded to-night with people desirous of hearing the latest news of Prince Alexander. Oceans of beer were drunk to the Prince's health.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—President Grevy has summoned a cabinet meeting for Saturday to consider the Bulgarian crisis. He will preside over the council himself.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—There is still extreme doubt as to the whereabouts of Prince Alexander. A despatch from Bucharest to the Times says, Prince Alexander's father telegraphed to the Russian Foreign Office at St. Petersburg for news of his son. The Russian authorities replied that he had arrived at Reni, whence he proposes to start on a foreign tour.

It is stated that Prince Alexander has replied to the enquiries of the Queen and other personages concerning his condition.

THE PRINCE SPEAKS.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Prince Alexander landed at Reni, in the Russian province of Bessarabia, on Wednesday. On leaving his yacht he made a brief farewell address to the commander and escort. He expressed regret at leaving Bulgaria, and declared he would never cease to take a profound interest in Bulgaria's future. He had no deeper desire than that for Bulgaria's happiness and prosperity. Toward this end he had ever labored with his whole heart. His earnest wish in the present juncture was that Bulgaria should choose another prince to rule over her, who should be devoted to the welfare of the conntry. Prince Alexander expected to arrive at Lemberg yesterday evening, where delegates sent from the army and people to represent to him the situation in Bulgaria and to invite him back to resume the reins of Government, were awaiting him. The Bulgarians are practically unanimous in their demand for Prince Alexander's return to Rustchuk. As the result of an understanding reached by adherents of Prince Alexander at Sofia and Pirnova, a council of regency has been formed, consisting of Messrs. Stambuloff, Glavescoff and Natchovics. Colonel Montkouroff has been appointed commander-in-chief as long as the state of siege lasts.

THE PRINCE'S PROGRESS.

LEMBERG, Austrian Galicia, Aug. 27.—Prince Alexander arrived here at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was received at the railway depot by Court Marshal Riedesel and Court-Chaplain Kerch. The Prince, on appearing at the window of the railway carriage, was given an ovation by thousands of Germans and Poles. On alighting the Prince was presented with a boquet by a little girl. The Prince kissed the child amid enthusiastic cheering. The crowd escorted the Prince to a carriage, when a journalist delivered a short address of welcome, concluding with the words, "Perish the traitors!" Then the crowd escorted him to his hotel. The town is brilliantly illuminated to-night. Alexander will visit Breslau to-morrow.

REPLY OF THE POWERS.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The Porte has received replies from the various powers to its circular announcing Prince Alexander's deposition. With the exception of Italy, the different governments merely note the contents of the circular, reserving all ulterior communications. The reply of Italy in addition recognizes the Porte's right to protest against the illegality of Prince Alexander's dethronement.

COLLAPSED.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The revolution has ludicrously collapsed. The Prince was pressed by fourteen disaffected officers to sign an abdication, and was promised that if he signed it he would be allowed to leave the country unmolested. Neither that nor the threats which followed could induce the hero of Slivnitza to put his name to the abdication. The Prince never hesitated one moment, but daring his aggressors to do their worst, cast from him the document that was to have secured his freedom. He was taken to Rahova, where a small yacht was in waiting. This craft was manned by a crew not exclusively composed of Bulgarians. There seems to be some doubt as to the nationality of the yacht, but the riverside population declare it sped along with greater rapidity than any Danube steamer. A detachment of Bulgarian troops with fixed bayonets were seen on board. When the yacht passed Rutschuk and Silistria, deputations had already arrived there from the Karaveloff Government to hail the vessel and to receive the Prince when he should land. No notice was taken of the signals.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 28, 1886.

MR. BLAKE'S NEW ALLIES.

THE Rielite papers are pretending that Conservatives are inconsistent for approving of Quebec while that Province gave a Conservative majority, and condemning it now that it threatens opposition. This is a very transparent misrepresentation of the situation.

For many years the Province of Quebec, though divided between the two great political parties, has sent a majority to support the Macdonald Administration, because the great majority of its people wished to aid in building up the Dominion. They believed in the National Policy, in the construction of a great transcontinental road, the opening up of the Northwest, and generally, in the statesmanlike and progressive policy of the Conservative party.

Now the case is widely different. The cry is raised that there shall be no more party in Quebec, but that the whole of the French portion of the population of Canada shall band themselves together in the name of "race and creed," to punish the constitutional authorities of the Dominion for daring to allow equal justice to be meted out to a criminal with some of their blood and sometimes of their faith. It is no change of party allegiance, but the formation of an organization to rule Canada at the mere whim of Quebec, and to secure immunity for criminals of French origin.

Of course the Quebec Rielites know that, being in the minority in the Dominion, they could have no hope of success by themselves in this attack upon the great majority of the people of Canada. But there are shrewd men among this criminal combination, shrewd enough to be judges of men, and to divine the venality and diseased ambition which would enable them to purchase the assistance in this traitorous conspiracy of some who are sworn to oppose such treason. Their plot has had some success, for, with Mr. Blake's political lackey, the member of his pocket constituency, as a go-between and pimp, they actually succeeded in buying the mercenary alliance of the leader of the Reform party. The bargain was made; Mr. Blake and those of his supporters who were base and disloyal enough to follow him were to vote with the criminal party for vengeance on those who had fearlessly done even-handed justice; Mr. Blake's consideration, on the other hand, for thus selling the best interests of his country being the votes of these advocates of rebellion and murder to aid in replacing him in office, from which he had been dismissed by the people of Canada.

Their success, however, was only partial. The more honest desposed leader of the Reform party, and other loyal Reform members, spurned such degradation. And tens of thousands of the rank and file of the Reformers, finding the party dragged by its official leaders into complicity with crime, have cut themselves adrift from such contamination. They are not prepared, like their leaders, to ally themselves with rebellion in Quebec, with secession in Nova Scotia, for political and personal advantages to the detriment of their country.

The Conservatives who welcomed the support of the people of Quebec in aiding in building up the Dominion do not now censure them for changing their party allegiance on some question of policy. What Conservatives and loyal Reformers alike denounce is the attempted organization of a Province to set itself above law and justice, and to dictate to the Dominion of Canada as to the immunity of criminals of any particular race and creed.

That Mr. Blake and some of his followers conspire with such an organization on the ground of mutual aid and support only disgraces Mr. Blake and his friends, without justifying his "new allies."

An Indian residing near Eganville taught his dog, a well bred and well behaved setter, to chew tobacco, and now it is declared that the dog comes into the house by the back door, never scrapes his feet on the mat, never goes to church, disregards etiquette at his meals, gets burs on his tail, keeps low company, and is even showing signs of forsaking his allegiance to the Scott Act.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES.

MR. T. ARNOLD HAULTAIN, M. A., SPEAKS OF THOSE OF WOMEN

He Says Woman is a Lawless Incomprehensible and Subtle Creature—Spinsters and Flirts.

On Tuesday evening Mr T. Arnold Haultain, editor of the Educational Weekly, delivered a lecture in the St. John's church school room taking for his subject, Woman: Her Rights and Duties.

The lecturer took his seat on the platform with the Rector, the Rev. J. W. R. Beck. The room was about half filled, the audience being composed mostly of ladies. The Rector, on rising said, that the lecturer needed no introduction as he was a resident in Peterborough for a number of years. His friends here watched his progress in the literery world with a considerable amount of interest. He was sure the lecture to which they were to listen would be in accordance with the daily growing reputation of Mr. Haultain. (Applause).

Mr. HAULTAIN in commencing referred to the time when he delivered his lecture on "Decoration," in the same place in which he now was. The subject of his lecture on that evening was no trivial or useless topic. On that occasion he had apologised for attacking so intricate and complicated a theme aimed only with a small amount of study. But if the subject of decoration was intricate what must he say of woman—the subtlest, most incomprehensible creature upon the face of the habitable globe! One thought only gave him ecurage. He need not ask to-night, as he did at his former lecture, for the sympathy and interest of the audience—his subject compelled the sympathy of the fairer, and the intensest interest of the sterner portion of his audience.

"The proper study of mankind," said Pope, "is man;" and he was a wise man who said it; for he had yet to meet the individual who thought the proper study of mankind is woman. She, of all known created things, was, perhaps, the most unstudiable. And quite naturally so. Only such things can be studied which obey laws, which act according to certain methods. The only exception to obeying the fundamental canon upon which all study is based was woman. She alone was absolutely lawless. She knew no order, and obeyed no rule—except, perhaps, that of her own sweet impulse. "Changeable as the wind," an old Iranian proverb calls her, and this gave us simply no conception of the changeableness of this fair creature. The actions of the wind, indeed, were prognosticated for us every twenty-four hours, but he would defy any one to prognosticate the actions of any given woman in any given circumstance in any twenty-four consecutive minutes. Sometimes gentle as the orphaned fawn; then fierce as the deserted tigress; now blazing like the lightning flash; then again tender as the April shower.

She is an enigma, is woman; a sphinx to man, a mystery to herself. Altogether outside the sphere of logic; fugitive, interminable, irrational, contradictory. Often misunderstood; never wholly known. What she is she cannot tell us; she knows not herself. Whether from shyness, or precaution, or artifice, a woman never speaks out her whole thought. And, moreover, what she herself knows of it is but a part of what it really is. Complete frankness seems to be impossible to her, and complete self-knowledge seems to be forbidden her.

And yet, he said, beneath all this, hidden far below the superficial gaze, there is a stability, a constancy, which no other thing in nature shows; an undisturbed calm unfathomable in the mind of man. He compared woman to the sea: rarely placid; disturbed by the slightest action of the breeze; not seldom raging furiously; heaving, ungovernable; unsealing often depths of hideous foulness; beating ever widely against its rocky bonds; cold, cruel. Yet withal reposing secure on the bosom of its lord, the earth; obedient to his will; containing somewhere, unseen by us, serene and silent depths; the only thing on earth which reflects the heavens above.

He then went on to consider the rights and duties of this fairest of all creatures. There was no end to her rights. At the present day it was almost possible for a wife to say to her husband: "What's yours is mine and what's mine's my own." And only recently a well known judge remarked that a woman could now all but eject a man from her property and then sue him for alimony on the ground of desertion. The lecturer believed that it was high time for men to clamour for their rights, and clamour pretty loudly too. His audience might gather from this that he did not advocate woman's rights in the narrow and restricted sense in which the phrase was now so often used. In these little thinking days the phrase had come to be synonymous with "Woman's Suffrage;" with the theory that whatever man could do woman might do, either physically or intellectually. He would no go out of his way to contravert these assertions. If any woman thought she was of more use on the hustings then at home by all means let her take to making stump speeches; or if she thinks she is more fitted to guide the affairs of the state than the affairs of the household by all means give her a vote. BUT, if he had the ordering of this matter, he should be inclined to make such a woman first pass a stiff examination in political economy and the science of civil government. He would ask her, for example—not at what intervals, in her opinion, the baby should be fed, but at what intervals, in her opinion, the Presidental election should be held. Not what were the relative advantages and disadvantages of giving said baby paregoric; but what were the relative advantages and disadvantages of direct and indirect taxation. But there was a grave and radical evil underlying this idea of woman's rights. The barest sophisms and the crudest theories have been bruted abroad about it. Mr. Ruskin laid his finger on the cause of all the misunderstanding when he said: "We hear of the mission of the rights of woman as if these could ever be separate from the mission and the rights of man; as if she and her lord were creatures of independent kind and irreconcilable claim." To the lecturer all this talk about woman's rights tended not to the glory, but to the degradation of woman. The rights of the lower animals, or anything which man used for his service or his pleasure might be spoken of, but the rights of women, as distinct from and antagonistic to the rights of man, could not be spoken of. An old Greek writer propounded the theory to the effect that each of us—men and women alike—were created with but half a soul, as it were, and these half souls wandered about the earth and were never happy till they found the other half. If they got the wrong half everything went wrong; but if they got the right half then indeed a perfect soul resulted, and with it perfect happiness, and yet this old Greek was not far wrong. Truly we did seem like half souls beautifully and perfectly rounded off on one direction—man with his strength, his vigor, his determination: woman with her grace, her loviliness, her keen insight—yet each wanting what the other only can give. It was the amiable union of one thing with another that throughout all nature we found perfection. If this be granted there could be seen clearly how man and woman have no rights apart or distinct from one another.

The lecturer went on to consider another side of the question—that of a woman whose lot it was to go through life unmarried. No other cause need be but that one half soul failed to discover its companion. If this was the case were there not other half souls all around in a similar plight. One goal of woman certainly is marriage. But if she chooses not to enter this state she need not necessarily, therefore, lead the life of a spinisterhood unenlivened by any other excitement than that of unhealthy and quickly waning social gaiety, or it intellectual or religious, to pass her days in so-called acts of charity, or equally trivial orresultless educational amusements. He held that if one goal was closed many more opened. He emphasised practical usefulness. No healthy work could be demeaning, and it was the true lady who was the first to recognize this. He cuttingly gave examples of mock gentility. But there were, nevertheless, many beautiful exceptions to this. That usefulness is compatible with the highest refinement was proved on every side. Who could not point to highly refined and delicately sensitive girls upon whom almost the whole household duties devolved, and yet upon whom we could shower praise without stint on the subject of intellectual capabilities and culture?

He encouraged those gentle women who chose the goal of spinster usefulness in preference to any other and who might perhaps through fear shrink from undertaking employment such as he had hinted at. Why should there not be instutiuted a Ladies Co-operative Associations? There was a dearth of maid servants; would it be a very great hardship for the members of each association to offer (for emolument of course) to help for a few hours daily those who houses to keep but of no means of doing so? It was right and enobling for the mother to wash and iron and dress the children—would it not be so for them Up till now he had viewed what woman's respects are not; now he would proceed to consider what they are. The whole of woman's sphere might, he thought, be narrowed, or rather widened to a twofold proposition: Her duties are to love, her rights to be loved. Give this proposition the widest signification which it is capable of bearing and we undoubtedly possess an "open sesame" to the whole labyrinthine question of the relationship of man to woman and of both to the community. What love was he could not define. It was an emanation from the Divine mind, a mirror of all religion. It effected a perfect transfiguration of any object it came in contact with. The inspiring object need not be a veritable goddes; but it needs that she bear in her person the concrete embodiment of divinity; that she "shew us the Father"; that she be the godlike made visible. And did they remember the effect of the transfiguration upon Peter? "He wist not what to say." He wist not what to say. Always in the presence of the Infinite, the Divine, we wist not what to say. Language falls; even thought is baffled. So is it with love. Was not every lover speechless in the presence of his loved one? These limitations of language hedge him in on every side. He cannot give outward expression to his inmost thought. This is what love ever attempts to to do. And not until this is done are the two half souls made one: look into each other's eyes; see into each other's hearts; know and are known for evermore. And yet this is not accomplished on this earth. The true ME you know not; the real YOU I know not. That outward lovliness is not the real YOU; it is but a reflection. It was sad indeed to think of this great gulf. Was not the whole life an incessant attempt to break through this impenetrable lovliness; to leap beyond those barriers into the arms—into the very heart and soul of that other ME. It cannot be done. Yet there were some who could imagine in the mysterousness of their own souls somewhat dimly a world in which we shall be able to merge the YOU and the ME in some wonderous union.

Flirting was touched upon. He distinguished between the thoughtless, pink-checked damsel—a butterfly flitting unthinkingly from flower to flower, and the real flirt, whom he compared to a person who owns a priceless treasure and yet was ignorant of its true worth; to one who had gold of the purest quality, but thought nothing of debasing it with alloy.

The mights of woman were dealt with. It was no ephemeral thing, this of woman's might and influence. George Stevenson was once asked by a lady, who perhaps wished to lead him to talk on his favorite subject—steam, what he considered the most powerful thing on earth. "A woman's eyes," he said, "for they will bring a man from one end of the earth to another." Women had not yet learned their own worth. They led men upward. They had absolute power, without her history would be a blank and Poetry could not as much as be; who could tell where her influence ended or began. Max Muller had inverted a delightful phrase "incipient preceptions of the unfortunate," and this phrase "he said" I would use when speaking of the influence of the woman—form She herself leads us above and beyond herself; teaches us that there does exist purity, holiness—beautiful, attainable; that there is somewhere something eternal, godlike. She is the type of all that is good; the strongest argument for the existence of a God; a proof of the reality of a hereafter; the only thing we have on earth that reflects heaven above."

The Rev. V. Clementi moved a vote of thanks, highly eulogising the lecture to which they had just listened. The motion was carried amid applause.

The Rector presented the thanks of the audience to the lecturer and Mr. Haultain briefly replied.

The lecture was given in aid of the Woman's Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society in connection with St. John's Church.

Bac-kac-he.

What does that spell? Why, "backache," of course, though you would not suspect it at the first glance. It spells what hundreds and thousands of women are suffering from every day of their lives, but what they need not suffer from, if they knew the virtues of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Perscription." All those "dragging down" pains and sensations of nausea and weakness, peculiar to women, can be cured by this same boon to womankind. It is almost magical in its results.

Consumption can be Cured.

Not by any secret remedy, but by proper, healthful exercise and the judicious use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, containing the healing and strength-giving virtues of these two valuable specifics to their fullest form. Prescribed universally by Physicians. Take no other.

OMEMEE.

DYPHTHERIA IN LINDSAY.—We are informed that this dread disease is very prevalent in Lindsay. We regret to learn that Mr. M. Powers, formely of Omemee, has lost two of his children and that his other children are in a dangerous condition. Mr. Powers has the sympathy of his many friends in his affliction.—Herald.

LINDSAY.

AMPUTATION.—During the past fortnight Mr. W. Logan, who has been suffering from an injured leg, has become no better. In fact the circumstances of the case had become so serious that it was found necessary to amputate the limb below the knee. The operation was performed on Wednesday afternoon by Dr. McAlpine, Dr. Burrows, Dr. Poole, and Dr. Graham of Fenelon Falls assisting. Although weak after the operation Mr. Logan was reported to be cheerful and altogether more favorable on Thursday morning. Post.

COBOURG.

HURRAH FOR THE FIREMEN!—At the Firemen's New York State Convention held at Buffalo last week, in which about three hundred companies, Canadian and American, took part, Fountain Hose Company of this town was awarded first prize for being the best uniformed Canadian company. The news reached town early on Saturday, and on arrival home in the evening they were accorded a grand reception, a torchlight procession being formed, and as they marched through the different streets, headed by the Citizens' band, they presented a fine appearance.

ACCIDENT.—George Clancy, of this town, who has been engaged braking on the Ontario and Quebec division of the Canada Pacific Railway, met with a serious accident on Tuesday night of last week near Tweed. When near there a sudden lurch of the train threw him off, and he was not missed until the station was reached, a run of several miles. A party was sent back to search for him; he was found unconscious, and terribly cut about the head and face, besides having sustained other injuries. He was conveyed to the hospital at Toronto, where he now lies. We believe his condition is improving, but it is thought he will lose the use of his right eye.—Sentinel-Star.

BOBCAYGEON.

CURIOUS.—Early in the week, Mr. Chas. Pococke, had a crab apple tree that apparently got out of its reckoning, for on several limbs already laden with fruit, it was throwing out a new lot of blossoms.

FIRE.—At about one o'clock on Friday afternoon, the dread alarm of fire was sounded, and it was at once seen that Wm. Bick's saw, shingle and carding mills were doomed to destruction. The men had re[illegible] [illegible] that he smelt something burning. He hurried into the engine room, and seeing nothing, went up stairs to the carding mill, which he found in a blaze. Almost immediately the flames burst through the windows and roof. In a moment the mills were enveloped, and past control. Every effort was made to save the contents of the store house, a dwelling, stable and other buildings that were in the line of fire. Mr. Bick's new residence and large stables were a trifle to the west of the line of fire, but those who protected these buildings deserve every credit. There were only a few workers as the fire crossed the road, and cut off all approach of them, the heat was intense and the supply of pails insufficient, until the steamer Eva came to the wharf and gave all she had. The Eva also put on her steam pump, and did good service in keeping the fire from spreading. M. Boyd & Co's engine was brought up, and an ineffectual effort was made to save some of the lumber, Mr. John Moore, did good work as branchman, facing the heat, until he was scorched and blistered. The loss, it is estimated, will reach $10,000 on which there is an insurance of $2000.—Independent.

Two Young Men Drowned.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Aug. 27.—Quite a sensation was caused in this city yesterday afternoon when it was learned that two promising young gentlemen had met with a watery grave. It appears that Antoine Normand, son of J. R. Normand, Esq., of this city, and a Mr. Laforce, son of Mr. Laforce of the Montreal firm of Laurent & Laforce, went to bathe in the St. Maurice River, between the wooden bridge and the mills. One of the gentlemen, getting out of his depth in the channel, gave the alarm, when his comrade attempted to rescue him, and both were drowned. They were aged 17, and neither could swim. The bodies were recovered fifteen minutes after the accident, and attempts were made to revive them, but to no avail, as life was extinct. Mr. Normand buried a son-in-law last Tuesday. He has the sympathies of his many acquaintances.

Pleuro-Pneumonia.

QUEBEC, Aug. 27.—The Government is taking every means to prevent the spreading of pleuro-pneumonia. Among other new measures of precaution adopted, the whole of the country at Levis within a radius of half a mile around the quarantine establishment has been placed under quarantine since, all farmers and other cattle owners within this radius having been notified to keep in their stock under pain of paying a fine of $400, and losing all claim to compensation from the Government for any losses they may sustain. This embargo is to last for three months. It is expected that the slaughtering and cremation of all the suspected and infected cattle in the Levis quarantine, including Mr. Andrew Allan's herd, will be completed to-day or to-morrow.

Man Killed at Portneuf.

PORTNEUF, Que., August 27.—A young man named Gauthier was killed by the Canadian Pacific Railway freight train coming from Quebec. He had been picking black berries with his wife in a field. He said to his wife he would cross to the other side of the track and wait until the train passed by. Instead of doing so, as soon as he spied the train coming, he threw himself flat on the track and was run over by the train and instantly killed. The engineer could not stop the train as it was down grade. His father was killed at the same place some years past. The young man was only two weeks married. Coroner Belleau, of Quebec, will likely hold an inquest.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

SLANDEROUS CHARGES.

We have not a doubt but some of the charges made against Tory politicians are without foundation, and many are greatly exaggerated.—Woodstock Standard (Reform.)

'TWOULD BE A SCRAMBLE.

Won't there be a squabbling for places should the Liberal-Nationalists-Castor-Independent party carry the day.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

A "GLOBE" YARN.

Coffin Macdonald's time has been too fully occupied in the burglary, horse-thieving and confidence game business to allow of his having been employed as a spy by Sir John Macdonald, as the Globe declares. A man against whom fourteen charges of burglary, besides many charges of having worked the confidence game, have been laid, must have had very little spare time upon his hands. Had Sir John Macdonald encouraged him he would probably have gone to Ottawa and swindled him out of a few dollars by means of a specious tale.—Montreal Witness (Reform).

DISGRACING JOURNALISM.

We freely admit that there are a few Reform papers, as there are in every party, that disgrace journalism and bring a blush to the face of every honest man.—Woodstock Standard (Reform).

Sisters of Charity

Charity, attached to St. Mary's Infant Asylum, Dorchester, Mass., certify to the inestimable value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the treatment of sore eyes and skin diseases, among the many unfortunate children under their care. Mrs. S. D. Bodwell, Wilmington, Mass., writes concerning the treatment of her daughter, who was troubled with sore eyes, as follows: "I gave Ayer's Sarsaparilla to and must say that she never took anything that helped her so much. I think her eyes never looked so well, as now, since they were affected, and her general health is improving every day. She has taken but half a bottle." A. J. Simpson, 147 East Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "My weak eyes were made strong by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief, until I commenced using saparilla. I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers."

My Little Girl,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

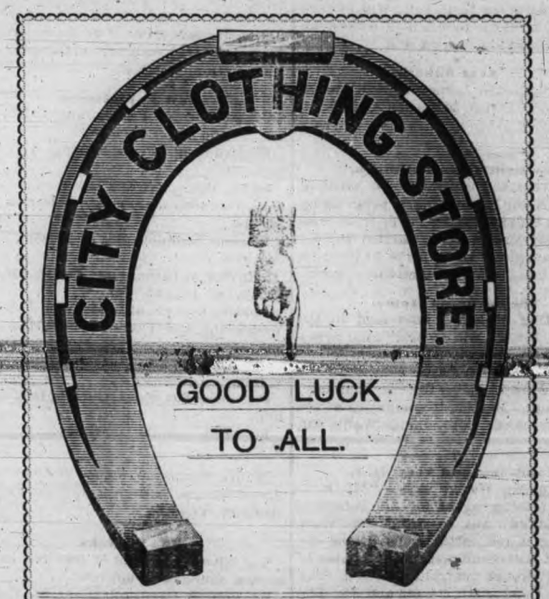
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

For sale by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5.

Charity



may be "fairest and foremost of the train that wait on man's most dignified and happiest state," but the dignity and happiness of man cannot long endure without the health that may be obtained in a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A. W. Parker, lumber dealer, 209 Bleury street, Montreal, Que., writes: "After being troubled with Dyspepsia for a year, and with Salt Rheum

For a Number of Years,

I was cured of both diseases by using six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla." M. G. Traine, Duxbury, Mass., writes: "I have found Ayer's Sarsaparilla an efficacious remedy for bilious troubles and Dyspepsia." Henry Cobb, 41 Russell st., Charlestown, Mass., writes: "I was completely cured of Dyspepsia, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla." Wm. Lee, Joppa, Md., writes: "I have tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it has done me so much good that I shall always regard it as the best of blood purifiers." Eminent physicians prescribe Ayer's Sarin all cases requiring a powerful alterative treatment.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

W. C. T U.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U., will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, August 30th.

Next Sunday.

Miss Templeton Armstrong will preach in the George Street Methodist Church on next Sunday, not to-morrow, as previously announced.

New Exhibition Buildings.

Mr. Lasher, the contractor for erecting the new exhibition building, is progressing well with his undertaking. The front is all up and the work is being carried rapidly on to completion. He expects to have the building finished in less than three weeks.

The Barnardo Home.

A meeting of ladies interested in Dr. Barnardo's work will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, the 2nd Sept. for a Garden Social. Sale of Work at Hazel Brae on Thursday, the 9th Sept. Meeting to commence at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. James Wallis will preside.

Handsome and Very Neat.

The Lindsay Warder says:—"Mr. E. C. Hill, advertising agent for the Peterborough REVIEW, was in town this week 'painting it red' with the handsome and very neat posters announcing the dates of the Peterborough Central Exhibition. The dates are October 5th, 6th, 6th and 8th. The poster is a most skillfully executed piece of workmanship, in six colors, three impressions. It reflects credit on the REVIEW."

Coming to Peterborough.

The Brockville Recorder of a recent date says:—"Citizens generally, especially in musical circles, will regret the removal from town of Mr. J. B. Hutchins, who to-day severs his connection with Messrs. Robt. Wright & Co., to accept a more remunerative position in Peterborough. Mr. Hutchins has won a warm place in the hearts of many of our citizens, whose good wishes will follow him to his new home." Mr. Hutchins comes to Peterborough to take a leading position in Mr. R. Fair's establishments, the "Golden Lion," where he will commence his duties on September 1st. We extend him a cordial welcome to the town. Miss M. M. White, who has been in town for a few days, has returned to the markets to make purchases for the "Golden Lion." This lady will take charge of the millinery department of the establishment. She has had considerable experience, and recently returned from spending ten months in the leading European centres of fashion. Her extensive knowledge and experience will be used to the advantage of Mr. Fair's customers.

MOUNTED Grindstones for Hand or Foot Power. GEORGE STETHEM.

Advice About Wool.

Raisers of wool would do well to pay attention to the advice given in the following paragraph from the Lindsay Post, as it comes from a gentleman who understands the subject. The Post says:—"On Friday the Post was favored with a call from Mr. James Kendry, Managing Director of the Auburn Woollen Mills Company, at Peterborough, while en route to Sturgeon Point. Mr. Kendry was accompanied by a friend from Toronto. In referring to the markets offered for wool by Canadian factories, Mr. Kendry urged that farmers should give attention to raising a better class of sheep—Southdowns being particularly good. The wool from these sheep, it was stated, was worth from 28c. to 30c. per pound, while the ordinary grades of Canadian wool were rated high when sold at from 19c. to 20c. per pound. The fact that the ordinary grade of wool being offered was long had not much weight with the manufacturer, long wool of low grade running too much in the direction of hair. Cape wool (Cape of Good Hope) is almost exclusively used at the Auburn Mills, and the excellent quality of the cloths manufactured have given the goods almost the preference with buyers in the wholesale markets."

HOSE, Couplings, Nozzles, Sprinklers, &c. at reduced prices for rest of 1886. GEORGE STETHEM.

THE IRISH QUESTION

Mr. Parnell's Amendment Negatived —Mr. Sexton's Speech.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Mr. Sexton continued the debate on the address. He said the Government enjoyed great advantages, in regard to Mr. Parnell's amendments, because, besides the power and emoluments of office, they were by the energy of their casual allies relieved of the necessity of framing a policy in the Cabinet and defending it in debate (Cheers.) Mr. Chamberlain had condemned Mr. Parnell's amendment as inconclusive in a speech from which half a dozen conflicting conclusions could be drawn. The amendment was definite and clear. If the second clause were adopted, declaring that the British taxpayer ought not to be plundered for the benefit of the landlords, then the Government must modify its announced policy or resign. If the first clause were adopted, declaring the Irish tenants' case beyond their control, as they were unable to pay their rents, Lord Randolph Churchill must forthwith withdraw his utterances tending to incite the landlords to the adoption of violent measures and adopt remedial measures instead of a policy of force. (Parnellite cheers.) Although the Queen's speech contained no allusion to land purchase, Mr. Sexton challenged Lord Randolph Churchill to deny that land purchase formed a part of the Government's scheme. The British Government being partly answerable for the wrong-doing of the Irish landlords, Mr. Gladstone had made the landlords the most liberal offer they would ever receive. When that offer was spurned and used to bring discredit upon the offerer, there was no obligation in honor to renew it. Mr. Sexton believed the Liberals of the future would not be a party to the plundering of the tenants of Ireland. The appointing of Gen. Buller would not promote union, but would give Ireland the character of a foreign country. The proposed commissions would be productive of no benefit, and would only delay dealing with pressing questions. The policy of Mr. Chamberlain was to oppose any amendment which could act as a vote of censure against the Government, while Lord Randolph Churchill's Irish policy was to draw bills on the future which he did not intend to honour. In conclusion Mr. Sexton said the Parnellites would counsel Irishmen to stand by each other and not be intimidated by any fear of combinations. He would remind Irishmen that Mr. Gladstone's great effort to promote peace between the two countries was supported by a million and a quarter of Britons, and that the majority against it consists of votes only, not of men. They would do everything possible in fairness and justice to promote peace, but they could not make themselves traitors to Ireland by asking the people during the coming winter to pauperize themselves in order to furnish arguments to their own ruin. (Cheers.)

Sir William Vernon Harcourt said if he did not vote for the amendment it was not because he denied the statements it contained. The world would not follow the example of Mr. Chamberlain, who is striking, and Mr. Morley, who is the amendment, intended to vote against it.

PARNELL'S AMENDMENT LOST.

Mr. Parnell's amendment was put and lost by a vote of 304 to 181.

Lord Hartington, Mr. Chamberlain and the Unionists supported the Government. Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt abstained from voting and Mr. Morley voted with the minority.

REVIEW.

METHODIST MAGAZINE.—The September number of the Canadian Methodist Magazine contains four admirably illustrated articles. The second of the series on "India: its cities, its palaces, its people," has a wealth of high class engravings of the unfamiliar scenes of that great dependency of the Empire. "In the German Fatherland" is also copiously illustrated with pen and pencil. "The Seven Churches of Asia" gives engravings of each of those seven famous cities in which they were planted—a very timely article, as this subject is being brought prominently under the study of the Sunday Schools of Christendom. Rev. S. P. Rose contributes a graphic study of "Elizabeth Fry and Prison Reform," with portrait and other sketches. Dr. Elby contributes a stirring paper on "The Missionary Crisis in Japan," a subject of special importance at the present juncture. The Rev. G. Webber contributes also an excellent life-study of the late Archbishop Tait, Primate of all England, a very noteworthy figure in the religious life of the Empire. In "Jan Vedder's Wife" the interest never for a moment flags. The reprint article is one of profound interest by the Rev. Dr. Dallinger, President of Wesleyan College, Sheffield, on "The Origin of the Universe." The editor discusses "Evangelism," one of the great questions of the day; "The General Conference," "Japan," "Summer Vacations," etc.

Burned to Death.

NEWPORT, Ky, Aug. 27.—Sister Eulalie, Superioress of the Immaculate Academy, was about five o'clock this morning trying some medicine, when a mosquito bar took fire, and in a moment the bedroom was a mass of flames. Sister Eulalie tried to get into the hall but found the door locked. By the time the fire had been extinguished by the inmates the unfortunate woman was so badly burned that she died in two hours.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera-Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

GLADSTONE'S PAMPHLET.

His History of the Home Rule Idea the Topic of the Hour.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Mr. Gladstone's pamphlet of course, is the topic of the hour, by far the chief point of interest being its distinct abandonment of the land bills, which, more than anything, lost Mr. Gladstone his election.

The Times says: "It is a contribution to the cause of home rule rationally stated. It is of little value, and contains nothing which can be described as a novel argument. It asserts many things altogether inaccurate."

The Standard says: "If we accept this doctrine, there can be no doubt, whatever, what is our immediate duty. Before anything else, the system of federation to which Mr. Gladstone refers must be approached. The moral injustice by which one nationality is made to suffer from the prejudices of another, will be promptly put an end to. The history of the land purchase bill will weaken his moral influence in the country, and undermine public confidence in his statesmanship. The old faith in his genius has been waning rapidly of late. This renunciation of the policy to which he was solemnly pledged, without a word of sympathy for those whose confidence was betrayed, will deal it a blow from which it can hardly be expected to recover."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "No one, unless he belongs to the baser sort of party politicians, can deny the genuineness of Mr. Gladstone's enthusiasm, or the sincerity of his patriotism, which all stand out in the pages of the pamphlet in conspicuous contrast with the petty personalities, mean ambitions and narrow provincialities of too many of his opponents, and some even of his allies."

CREMATED CATTLE.

Slaughter of Mr. A. Allan's Herd—Precautions to Confine the Disease.

QUEBEC, Aug. 28.—To-day witnessed the completion of the slaughter of Mr. Andrew Allan's herd of cattle. The cattle cremated have been 30 belonging to Mr. Allan and 57 to Mr. McCrae, of Guelph. Although it is still believed there is no danger of the disease spreading, additional precautions have been ordered by the Government, and the country around the station for a distance of 400 yards has been declared quarantine. Farmers in this neighborhood are prohibited from moving their cattle under a penalty of $400 and forfeiture of right to indemnity in case of an outbreak.

Run into by a Steamer.

HALIFAX, N. S., August 28.—The Allan steamship Nova Scotian arrived this morning from Baltimore. As she was entering the harbor a collision occurred which came near being a very serious affair. The schooner Bertha, from Port Medway, with a heavy load of lumber for this port, was ahead of the Nova Scotian just this side of Meager's Beach. The steamer overtook the schooner and ran into her, striking her jibboom, smashing it completely in two, destroying her boat and mainsail and springing her mainmast. On board the little vessel were five lady passengers and a small-sized panic ensued when the big steamer came upon the schooner.

Another Capture.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 28.—The American schooner A. R. Whiteman was seized at Port Hawkesbury by Dominion authorities last night. No particulars yet.

BULGARIA.

Prince Alexander Released on the Intercession of Emperor William.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—A movement is on foot among German students to present to Prince Alexander an address of sympathy. The presentation will be made at Darmstadt. Hundreds of despatches awaited Prince Alexander upon his arrival at Lemborg. During his transit through Russian territory he was subjected to many inconveniences and petty annoyances. His future movements have not been decided upon. The Prince arrived without luggage and did not have even a change of clothing. The statement that the Prince signed a deed of abdication is untrue.—Negotiations are on foot with a view of deciding whether Prince Alexander shall return to Bulgaria or not. The Prince requires better guarantees for the stability of his throne before returning. Prince Bismarck has arrived here.

ANTI-RUSSIAN SENTIMENTS.

BUCHAREST, August 28.—The Russian Consul at Sofia has been compelled to ask M. Pangoff to send a guard to protect his house and person. Every window in his house was broken by a mob, and the crowd threatened to castigate him if he showed himself on the streets. The Metropolitan, Mgr. Clement, has retired to a monastery under the plea of illness. The military cadets in Sofia, who joined in the revolt, were ill-treated by their loyal comrades, and were obliged to flee. The traitor soldier say that each received twenty roubles, and that they were told that Prince Alexander had entered into a plot to sell Bulgaria to the Turks.

RUSSIAN PREPARATIONS.

VIENNA, Aug. 28.—It is rumoured that Russia is making extensive military and naval preparations, and has ordered a movement of the fleet towards the Roumelian coasts. It is also rumoured that the Berlin and Vienna courts are making strenuous efforts, through Prince Alexander's father, to dissuade Prince Alexander from returning to Bulgaria. The Russian press demands the immediate occupation of Bulgaria.

THE PRINCE'S RETURN.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 29.—Prince Alexander arrived here with his brothers Francis and Louis at 9.30 o'clock this morning. He was welcomed at the railway station by Prime Minister Braitaino and the other members of the cabinet, the British Minister to Roumania and a Bulgarian deputation. The deputation presented an address assuring the prince of the devotion of the people and the army of Bulgaria. Prince Alexander was visibly moved [illegible]

A BLOW AT RUSSIA.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Economist treats the Bulgarian incident as a Moscovite blunder, and says an attempt to create revolution without revolutionists is as hopeful as an attempt to drive an engine without steam would be. It taunts the German press with vindicating the honor and prestige of the Fatherland by summoning England to redress the wrong done by Russia to a distinguished citizen.

AGAIN CROWNED.

RUSTCHUK, Aug. 29.—A Bulgarian deputation, a guard of honor and a great concourse of people met Prince Alexander upon his arrival at Giurgivo. All the consuls, including the Russian representatives, were present and tended their congratulations to the Prince. M. Stamuloff formally welcomed Alexander in the name of Bulgaria, and restored him to power. The Prince replied that he had confidence in his people and was prepared to sacrifice his life for their happiness. A body of officers then approached, crowned the Prince and carried him on their shoulders to the palace followed by cheering crowds.

NOTES.

A mass meeting at Slivno, Roumelia, unanimously resolved to support Prince Alexander.

A meeting at Kazanlik, Roulemia, sent a telegram to the Czar begging him to continue to extend his favor to Bulgaria. The Czar, in answering, advised them of his good will toward the Bulgarians if they would maintain order, and in this task Russian agents would support them.

CUSTOMS OFFICER CAPTURED.

A United States Schooner Would not be Seized—Cannot Return.

BARRINGTON, N. S., Aug. 28.—The Gloucester schooner Legal Tender, Captain Oscar Devine, anchored in Barrington Bay yesterday afternoon on the way home from the Western Banks with a full fare of codfish. Captain Devine entered at the Customs House and immediately afterwards cleared in due form, but instead of proceeding on her voyage, the vessel remained in the harbour all night. This morning it transpired that the same schooner, three weeks ago on her outward voyage, had put into Shag Harbor, some twenty miles from Barrington, and the home of Captain Devine, shipping several men without reporting at the Custom House For this offense a tide waiter boarded the vessel this morning, accompanied by another man, and attempted to seize her, but Captain Devine was not ready to receive visitors at that early hour, and besides, had his sails set and his anchor weighed, and had started on his way to Gloucester. Captain Devine emphatically refused to obey the tide waiter's orders to come to anchor or to submit to arrest. He kept on out of the bay, with both officers on board. When a good distant from land the tide waiter came to the conclusion that if he did not want to go to Gloucester or to be pitched overboard he had better take to his boat and row ashore. This he did, while the vessel rounded Cape Sable on her way home but the members of her crew, belonging to Shag Harbor who went ashore last night to visit their friends in the belief that the Legal Tender, will put into that place to-night to get her men will be in a sorry plight. Customs officers have got there to lay in wait for and capture her. Not satisfied with stealing our fish, Yankee skippers now attempt to steal our Customs officers.

Clergy To Visit Vancouver.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., August 28.—Bishop McIntyre, accompanied by Rev. Fathers James Æneas McDonald, Gregory McDonald, Allan McDonald and D. J. Gillis, start on Tuesday on a trip over the Canadian Pacific to Victoria. The party will probably visit San Francisco and Denver on the return trip. Archbishop Lynch, who has been visiting Prince Edward Island, will accompany the party to Toronto. He is greatly improved in health.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

FRIENDLY TO FRANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—Mr. Willoughby, who has just arrived from Madagascar, conferred with M. DeFreycinet yesterday with reference to the new Malagasy loan contracted in Paris. The Temps publishes an interview with Mr. Willoughby in which he declares that the Hovas are friendly toward France.

DEPRECIATION IN CATTLE.

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—At a conference of the cattle dealers of Ireland yesterday, it was stated that the depression has lessened the value of stock £22,000,000.

THE PAPAL NUNCIO QUESTION.

PARIS, August 28.—The dispute between France and the Vatican over the appointment of a Papal Nuncio to Pekin will be settled, the Vatican having made an important concession.

SOCIALIST MEETING.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Fifty thousand Socialists, workmen and idlers met in Trafalgar square this afternoon and adopted resolutions denouncing the tyranny of the police and the action of the authorities in imprisoning the Socialist Williams. The proceedings were orderly. Every precaution against a disturbance had been taken by the police.

RIOTING RENEWED.

BELFAST, Aug. 29.—This evening there was some firing of pistols and throwing of stones, and a few persons were injured.

THE AFGHAN BOUNDARY.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Simla advices state that of the 9,000 miles of disputed boundary, the Afghan Commission has conceded 7,000 to Russia and 2,000 to the Ameer of Afghanistan. It is proposed to submit the Khoja-Saleh question to arbitration.

EVICTIONS RESISTED.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The evictions in Ireland progress with great ruthlessness. At Woodford, in Galway, a small rebellion has resulted from some particularly cruel evictions. Old Conroy, who is 80 years old, and was taken in a sheet from the home he he built, is reported dead. The whole country rose against the dispossessing bailiffs and the police.

IMPORT DUTY ON HOPS.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—It is reported the Government is prepared to concede the demand of the English hop-growers and impose a small import duty on foreign hops.

BULGARIA AND TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 29.—The Porte has expressed its willingness to adopt the view of the Bulgarian Commission in connection with the revision of the organic statute. It is proposed to elaborate a new statue to consist of three parts; the first dealing with the rights of the sultan, the second with internal administration, and the third with finance, railways, passports and customs. The Porte wishes to add a fourth section dealing with the positions of foreigners and with capitulations.

AUTHORITIES ATTACKED.

BELFAST, Aug 29.—The Conservative Association of this city have sent to the Government a copy of the resolution which they adopted, regretting that Lord Randolph Churchill and Lord Salisbury had expressed approval of the conduct of the Belfast constabiary and stating that the resident magistrates were responsible for the disorders. The association demands a reorganization of the police and the magistrates, disapproves of the personel of the commission to inquire into the riots and asks the Government to appoint more loyalists thereon.

CHINESE ADMIRATION.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The Marquis Tseng in a recent interview expressed admiration for Prince Bismarck, and said he hoped the conferences at Kissinger and Berlin would strengthen the relations between China and Germany. China, he said, was trying to get a navy of the European pattern, which would be worthy of China's greatness, and which would prevent infringement of her interests.

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE.

LONDON, August 28.—Discount closed at 1 for three months and 1⅛ for short. The advance in the Bank of England rate, it is believed, will be sufficient to prevent a renewal of the American gold demand for some few weeks. The American grain and cotton shipments, although they have been unusually early, are unlikely to affect trade balances sufficiently to cause bullion remittances. The Bank of England is ill prepared, however, to stand a further gold drain if the stimulus of increased activity in trade in America, which has passed the conjecture stage, reaches, as it is believed it will, to English industries, resulting in an important revival of trade in Europe. On the stock exchange during the past week prices generally were firm, a more favorable view existing concerning the political complications. The fine weather is benefitting the crops. The hop yield is unprecedented and swells railway traffic. American railroad securities were firm during the week, influenced by the early movement of American breadstuffs, which will find a good market this year in Europe, where the harvests on the whole are disappointing. Quotations have stood the pressure of dearer money, and great confidence is felt the future.

Express Robbery

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—Thirty thousand dollars in cash disappeared from a safe of the Adams Express Company two weeks ago, and since that time the police have been endeavoring to unravel the mystery connected with the robbery. Circumstances pointed to Ralph Pratt, clerk in the Philadelphia office of the company, and on Wednesday he was arrested and locked up for a further hearing on Wednesday next. Pratt stoutly protested his innocence.

A Powder Magazine Blown Up.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—At 9, 15 o'clock this morning in the midst of a heavy storm the powder magazine belonging to the Lafin-Rand Powder Company was struck by lightning. An explosion followed which destroyed property running up in the neighborhood of $75,000 besides killing two persons almost instantly, fatally injuring three and inflicting painful injuries on nearly twenty-five others.

A Circus Employee Killed.

PALMERSTON, Ont., August 29.—A. H. Sisson, one of Forepaugh's men, supposed to hail from Sackets Harbor, N.Y., was killed here last night while loading the circus waggons.

The Daily Review.

MONDAY. AUGUST 30, 1886.

OUR FISHERIES.

When the time arrives for a settlement of the fishery question between Canada and the United States, it should be carefully borne in mind that this is by no means a local matter. From being so long established, from the greater number effected, and from the keener competition, it is not unnatural that our Atlantic fisheries should almost monopolize attention. But Canada is a vast country, and its fisheries are far from being limited to one sea; it is rapidly developing its resources, increasing its population and opening up its more remote regions. It is very important, therefore, with a view to the not distant future, that any reciprocal agreement should be framed with reference to all our fisheries, and with due regard to their importance.

Hudson Bay is from every point of view an internal Canadian sea. It is a valuable fishing ground, not only for fish, properly speaking, but also for whales. Yet our neighbors, who refuse us admission to Chesapeake Bay and the Gulf of Mexico, seem to consider that they have a perfect right to fish in Hudson Bay whenever it suits their convenience. So, too, on the Pacific coast we have rich fisheries and sealing grounds. These latter are even more important to the northward, and here, too, the United States seem most unwarrantably to arrogate to themselves an exclusive right even beyond their territorial limits, pushing claims that are strangely in discord with their position as to our Atlantic fisheries. These are points which should be fully considered in arriving at any settlement.

There is another aspect of the fishery question, which should receive attention at the same time. If the two countries agree to give each other reciprocal rights they would have a common interest in preserving the fisheries. Care should be taken to provide the necessary machinery for maintaing the fisheries unimpaired, and for enforcing the regulations. Any rules that may be deemed expedient as to close seasons, size of meshes, machinery to be prohibited, &c., should be strictly observed by the fishermen of both nations, for so alone can they prosper in the long run.

When the New England pirates find that piracy is a losing game, and the politicians desist from their outcries, there is no reason why as good neighbors we should not come to some fair and satisfactory agreement. For this to be lasting the whole subject should be taken into consideration.

According to the chief Rielite organ one thing for which the Macdonald Administration is responsible is "The Gerrymander Act." In one sense Sir John Macdonald is partly responsible for several disgraceful Acts of Mr. Mowat to gerrymander the Ontario constituencies, even cutting townships in half to give his supporters an unfair advantage, and knavishly filching from the Conservative majority of Toronto one of its votes in the Legislature, for Sir John might have advised the disallowance of these bills. But this, though within the letter would have been contrary to the spirit of our constitution, and we can fancy how the Globe would have raved if Sir John had vetoed these measures, which, though flagrantly dishonest, effected only the composition of the Provincial Legislature.

A number of men belonging to the Anarchist sub-division of the Liberals, or Reformers, have been sentenced to death for the fatal results of their peculiar method of waging war in Chicago. Yet it is not suggested that their's was a political crime. The Rielite section of the Liberals, or Reformers, with Mr. Blake among them, argue that their equally guilty deceased chief was murdered because he was hung for a political crime. Loyal Liberals, honest Reformers are indignantly repudiating any sympathy with such crimes, and many are leaving a party whose official leaders degrade themselves by tampering with such iniquity.

Mr. Blake a short time ago won a seat at Chambly, in Quebec, on the sole cry of Riel being a martyr, and Mr. Blake's private and personal representative telegraphed the congratulations of the party at the result. Now there is a contest pending in Haldimand in Ontario, and Mr. Blake does not think that his deceased friend Riel should be even mentioned. Mr. Blake cannot be an ally of murder and rebellion in Quebec and at the same time profit in Ontario by reminiscenses of his former howls for vengeance upon Riel for the murder of Scott.

The Orillia Packet challenges the Review's opinion of its proposed reform of feminine fashions. We propose to leave the control of feminine fashions to the ladies. It is just as well to adopt this policy for the experience of the world's history shows that the ladies will control feminine fashions whatever men may say.

Starvation in Texas.

Dallas, Texas, August 28.—E. L. Walker, county judge of Stevens County, has arrived, seeking aid to avert starvation there. The country, he says, is entirely denuded of grass, without grain, and only post oak and mesquite leavee for stock food. About one third of the population have exhausted all their supplies, and the remainder are mostly without bread or meat, and need outside aid to save them from starvation. Cattle are dying in large numbers, and unless moved to ranges, none can survive the Winter. Shakelford, Young, Palo, Pinto, Throckmorton, Eastland and Baylor counties are but little better off.

OUR FUTURE TOWNS.

Historical and Descriptive Notices of Villages.

THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD.

THE MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES AND BUSINESS PLACES.

Unrivalled Water Privileges for Factories—The Public Buildings, Churches and School's—Facilities for Travelling and Freighting.

To a large majority of the readers of the Review the situation of Lakefield is known—on the Otonabee river near the outlet of Lake Katchewanooka, in the townships of Douro and Smith, Peterborough County. To a vast number of readers in the English-speaking world the name of the village is known on account of it being the home of Col. Strickland, Mrs. Moodie and Mrs. Traill, and referred to in their various publications, "Twenty-seven years in Canada," "Roughing It in the Bush," "Backwoods in Canada," "Plant Life in Canada," etc. The authoress of the last named work, Mrs. Traill, is residing at Lakefield. She is eighty-five years of age and her last work, "Plant Life in Canada," was published last year, demonstrating the unusual clearness and vigor of her intellect for a lady of such advanced years, and the salubrity of her village home. The work received long and very favorable notices from the most influential portion of the press.

THE FIRST SETTLERS

in the township of Smith came in the year 1818, and the first to settle in Douro township were the Hon. Thos. Alex. Stewart and Mr. Robert Reid, in 1822. In 1831 Col. Samuel Strickland removed from Otonabee, where he had resided since 1825, to a lot included in the present bounds of Lakefield, and which is still known as the Strickland Homestead. He thus became the pioneer settler in Lakefield, and his enterprise, and that of his sons, has done much to build up the village.

The site of the present village was early an object of interest to men of capital and enterprise, who appreciated its advantages on account of the water power and the beauty of the locality. A bridge across the river was erected by local and private subscription at an early period, but it was soon carried away by jams of timber. The place was known as Nelson's, and afterwards as Herriott's Falls, and in 1851 it was called Selby, receiving its present name afterwards. The first mill erected fell a prey to the flames, an enemy which has since fought against Lakefield. Mills were also erected by Strickland and Reid, Shaw and Waite, and Mr. D'Arcy. Mr. John Sherin was the first storekeeper in Lakefield, having commenced business there in 1855. He is still a resident, and a most respected one, of the village. In 1853 there was a school in Lakefield, taught by a lady, and in 1855 work was progressing on the first building erected for Divine worship—Christ Church, a Church of England building.

THE LAKEFIELD OF TO-DAY.

Lakefield is now an incorporated village, and is steadily progressing. The population at the present time approaches close to 1,500. The assessor's returns for this year gives the population at about 1,200; but the assessment is taken at a time when the saw mill is not working and the boats not running, and when, consequently, the population is at its lowest. The area of Lakefield is 500 acres, and only two-thirds of an acre is entered as non-resident by the assessor. The value of the land, according to the assessor's roll, is $241,705, and the of the village was placed this year at $274,505. The population of the village in 1883 was 996 and the total assessed value $242,125. For some years it has been steadily progressing in population and value of property. In 1875 the post office revenue collected at Lakefield was $630, and in 1885 it was $1,496, an increase in ten years of 133 per cent. The large mills, busy factories and fine stores are evidences of its progress, and the ideas of the inhabitants regarding comfort are shown by the fact that twice a day the municipal irrigator sprinkles the streets.

MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES.

The list of factories, mills and mechanical shops in Lakefield is an extensive one for a village, and many of the buildings are imposing structures, and are furnished with the best of machinery for turning out good work speedily. A descriptive notice of these establishments, though necessarily condensed, will give a very accurate idea of the position of the village as a manufacturing centre. On Strickland's race there are a flour mill, planing mill, woollen factory and saw mill, all in a line; and near them a second planing mill, while across the river is another splendid flour mill. Other factories and shops are scattered through the village.

STRICKLAND'S SAW MILL.

The saw mill owned by Messrs. R. & G. Strickland is a large and well arranged one. It was rebuilt in 1881, and is furnished with machinery from the works of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Peterborough. The mention of the name of this firm is sufficient regarding the quality of the machinery, as their work is well known. The machinery includes a slabber gang, a stock gang and a circular saw. There are also a shingle mill and a lath mill connected with it, both of which do good work. The capacity of the lumber mill is from 50,000 to 60,000 feet a day, and this season it has turned out about 5,000,000 feet of lumber.

Owing to the sawdust agitation Messrs. Strickland have adopted a novel and effective mode of carrying out and disposing of the mill refuse. A shute immediately under the saws catches the sawdust and any other refuse that falls through and runs into water spouts. The water in these pipes carries it out, and desposits it where the firm are utilizing it to made additional ground. The edgings, etc., are taken out by carriers, all that is of any use for fuel culled out and the remainder burned, the fire consuming this refuse being kept going continually. The lower part of the mill is a network of powerful driving and other machinery, and the water spouts and carriers.

Messrs. Strickland have an excellent yard and splendid facilities for shipping. Three sidings from the Lakefield branch of the Grand Trunk Railway are laid down between the main line and the river, which furnish good accommodation for shipping the lumber, lath, etc.

This saw mill, which is the most important industry in Lakefield, is managed for the Messrs. Strickland by Messrs. Wm. Cox and J. Todd, experienced millwrights. It gives employment to a large number of hands, and a large number of men are employed in the winter getting out logs, &c., for the mill, while it is also a feeder for the railway line.

FIRE PROTECTION.

Messrs. Strickland have lately put in one of the celebrated Northey pumps, water pipes and hydrant for the protection of the saw mill and other mills on the race. The force is furnished by a thirty-five inch wheel, and affords protection for a flour mill, plaining factory and woolen mill, and other buildings in the vicinity, as well as the saw mill. The village might with advantage arrange for the extension of the system of fire protection.

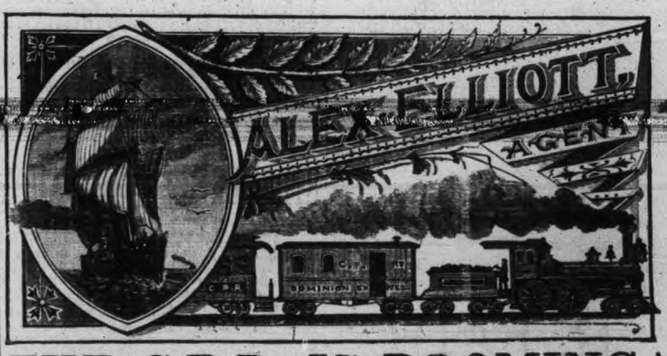
BEWARE
OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS



As there are many inferior goods, corded with jute, hemp, etc., offered and sold as Coraline by some unprincipled merchants trading on the reputation of our genuine Coraline, we warn the ladies against such imposition by drawing their attention to the necessity of seeing that the name
'CROMPTON CORSET CO.'
is stamped on inner side of all Coraline goods,
Without which none are genuine.

AN AWFUL COUNTRY.

Sufferings and Hardships of British Troops at Assouan.

An officer attached to the British camp at Assouan, writing on the 22nd ultimo, gives a dismal account of the sufferings of the troops. He says:—"This is a small mud village on the left bank of the Nile, near the second cataract, but has greatly increased in importance since our occupation. It is merely a green patch, or a small cluster of date, palms and watermelons, in the midst of the desert. All around us is trackless sand, and the black rocky hills, like bronze, dotted here and there on the surface. There is never such a thing as a drop of rain, and all day long the sun blazes forth without even a cloud to protect the earth from its rays. There is nearly always a fiery blast blowing, which carries burning sand in clouds into every possible place, and gets into your ears, mouth, nose and eyes, to the great injury of the latter. The temperature ranges from 110° to 124°, and has gone up several times to 126°. Ten men died one day in June from sunstroke and enteric. I have seen six coffins going down the hospital hill together, and one time there were so many deaths there was no room in the mortuary, and we had to place our dead in rows on the sand and cover them with canvas. The medical staff had frightful work, up all night with men in the mania of fever, who converted the fever wards into a lunatic asylum with their yells and frantic gestures. Nearly all who died were young men between 19 and 20 years: they were generally ill about four days, and then died like raving maniacs. Over 1,200 men have already gone down the river invalided, many of whom died at places on the way and had to be buried without coffins and in the sand. We lost a lot of officers, including two majors, and I hear now Deputy Surgeon General Fox is dead. Also General Butler went home invalided, and lots of other officers had to be sent down to save their lives. Of four doctors who came up three months ago, two are gone down the river invalided and one is in the hospital. All day long nothing used to be heard but the band playing the dead march in 'Saul.' No salutes were fired over the men; I believe it would be too expensive. The people at home seemed so wrapped up in the G. O. M. and Home Rule that they forget their unfortunate countrymen are in a place more like the infernal regions than anywhere else, and that they are so diminished by death and sickness that if the Arabs came down at the present moment they would gain an easy victory. Nothing remains here now of the splendid regiments that came up the river a year or so ago but miserable, incomplete looking squads of men, more suitable for a convalescent home than active service. There are no newspaper correspondents here to let the public know how their fellow-countrymen are suffering, and while even the name of a private who dies in Burmah is deserted in the papers, nothing is said about our chaps here who are going by hundreds. Home must be a delight now. I often think of it, and long for a cold drink or some vegetables besides tinned ones. I would give anything to see grassy fields and flowers and food. Flies are also a great bother; they swarm on everything you go to eat, and you have to sleep in socks and your head in a canvas bag to prevent being eaten alive. Scorpions, lizards, tarantulæ, snakes, etc., also abound to add to the comforts of the place."—St. James Gazette.

A TORONTO BRIDE ABROAD.

Deserted by Her Husband at Kingston —A Peculiar Case.

KINGSTON, Aug. 27.—On Wednesday a couple arrived here and registered at a leading hotel as Jas. S. Otis and wife, Toronto. Shortly afterwards word was sent to the hotel office that a doctor was required. Otis was found quite ill, and claimed to have taken a drug which affected him in the wrong way; his wife had also partaken of the medicine, but was not seriously affected thereby. The following morning Otis was nearly well, and unaccompanied by his wife left the hotel to return in half an hour, since which time nothing has been heard of him. Mrs. Otis says she is a bride, having married Otis on Tuesday, in St. Paul's Church, Toronto. She has a ring but no mariage certificate. She says she is a seamstress. She met Otis at a party, and that they courted for three weeks and that she married him against the wish of her friends. She says Otis told her that he was a detective connected with a Buffalo agency He was a heavy drinker and his nerves were considerably shattered.

The bride was about the streets to-day talking with different parties. She presented at a bank a check for $200 given her by Otis, it was drawn on a firm in Bath, N. Y. No one would cash it. The woman's maiden name was Annie McGowan. She says that the Bishop of Toronto was satisfied before her marriage that Otis was what he represented himself to be. Mrs Otis intended leaving for Toronto this afternoon.

AVOIDING THE THREE-MILE LIMIT.

The Actions of American Fishermen as Reported by a Cruiser Captain.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 28.—In a letter to the Herald, dated Paspebiac, Que., Capt. Smeltzer, commander of the cruiser Conrad, says: "During the two months and a half since we left Halifax, we cruised from the straight of Canso around the coast, principally in Ward Island and in the Bay of Chaleurs. We have seen large numbers of American fishing vessels, but have not seen a single vessel even attempt to throw a sein anywhere near the three-mile limit. I have always found them ready to move off or out when ordered. During the six weeks we have cruised the Bay of Chaleurs we only saw two Americans searching for fish inside of Miscon Island, but met several fleets of Americans off that harbor, and warned them not to enter the Bay. This warning they cheerfully obeyed. I have found American captains, without a single exception, both ready and willing to comply with the orders given them, and often expressing their fear of unwittingly infringing the fishery laws, and thereby laying their vessels open to seizure."

He was Baffled.

The Halifax special correspondent to the Montreal Witness says:—The Gloucester schooner Druid, recently seized at Malpeque, P. E. I., by Capt. Lorway, and subsequently released, proceeded to the Magdalen Islands with her cargo of supplies for Yankee fishermen, but the collector refused to allow her to land there, or to transfer them to skippers within the three mile limit. This greatly annoyed the American skipper, who then cleared for Gloucester, and intimated that he would search for Yankee fishermen and transfer supplies to them wherever he could find them.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

Two Chicago grocers have been held in $1,000 each for trial for not legally stamping packages of oleomargarine.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face and neck. Second given until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

Lord Randolph Churchill gave notice Friday night that the Government would propose the abolition of the Secret Service Fund of £10,000 a year.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

Judgment was given on Friday by the Montreal Police Magistrate in the customs bribery case, the accused, J. V. Walter, being committed for trial.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent prond flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

The quality of the Delaware peach crop is much inferior to that of last year, and it is not as large as predicted. The shipments will cease in about a week

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton, Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

The Government has expelled from France an English clergyman named Drought, a resident of Chantilly, on the ground that he is a partisan of the Orleans Princess.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

Some Miraculous Results

Have followed the use of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic." It has saved many from becoming bald, and has produced good heads of hair on bald heads where the roots are not all gone. It has relieved hundreds of person from dandruff, and restored crops of gray and faded hair to their original color. A. Dorenwend, sole manufacturer. For sale everywhere. J. D. Tully, agent for Peterboough.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes, the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

MONDAY, AUGUST 30, 1886.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

The Temperature.

The following are the readings of the thermometor to-day at the hours mentioned:—8 o'clock, 70; 1 o'clock, 74; 3 o'clock, 75.

Found.

The man who lost his watch in the Driving Park has had it restored to him. The caretaker of the Park found it and at once sent it to the Police Station.

Sculling Race on Clear Lake.

On September 1st the daily trip of the Cruiser will be cancelled. The steamer will leave her wharf on that day at 10 a. m. and 1 p.m., enabling parties to witness the race for the championship of Lake Katchewaanuck.

Growing Steadily.

A correspondent writing from Peterborough to the Belleville Ontario, referring to Peterborough: "The city seems to be growing steadily. There are several handsome residences and beautiful lawns, which are kept green by the abundant supply of water furnished by the Water Works Company."

Sunstroke.

Saturday was a scorching day, and a wonder it was that, with a town full of people hurrying about business affairs, there were not more cases of sunstroke reported. As it was there were two; a young man driving Mitchell's express cart was slightly touched, and a farmer on the market was smitten.

Convention in Peterborough.

The district convention in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in the rooms, Post Office block, on September 23rd and 24th. The Association throughout the Midland district will send delegates, and representatives of the International and Provincial Committees will also be present. Preparations are now being made for shaping the programme etc.

A Loss.

The Driving Park Association, who gave the recent turf meet almost wholly unsupported, have lost considerably by it. The expenses of the meet were about $1,300, the total receipts only about $800, and the deficit, therefore, about $500. The Directors of the Association feel very much discouraged at such fine sport which they provided at large cost being so poorly patronized.

A Letter from the West.

Mr. B. Green has received a letter from his son, W. J. Green, who is still at Revelstope, B. C. Mr. Green's friends he will be glad to learn that he is in good health and prospering. Near the town gold mines are being opened up, and at the time the letter was written a pack train had just come in bringing $400 worth of gold dust, the result of three days' washing for three men. The Peterborough men who went out to work for Ross and McDermot are employed a few miles from Revelstopl.

Sporting Notes.

The Riversides Lacrosse club have received a reply to their communication to the Beavertons. The latter want a $35 guarantee.

The Riversides are thinking of holding a picnic. Arrangements will be made soon.

Another turf meeting at the Driving Park is talked of. Several local sports are interesting themselves in the matter.

The Riversides sent a challenge to the Belleville Lacrosse club. The Ontario says there is no such thing as a lacrosse club in that Bay City.

Three More Gone.

Three more of Bolton's celebrated hot water boilers have gone, one to Messrs. Steben & Barsalow, of Brockville, for Mr. M. K. Everett, broker and commission merchant, Irish Creek; one to Mr. J. W. Harris, of Belleville, for the residence of Mr. S. B. Burdett, L L.D., and one into the new residence of our esteemed townsman Mr. A. W. Brodie. The Wood and Metal Worker says:—"Among other prominent institutions in the United States which have substituted water for steam as a heating medium is the Government at Washington."

JOHN CLARKE & SONS' Celebrated Razors, GEORGE STETHEM.

WELL DONE!

The Peterborough Cricketers Give the Capitals a few Hints on the Game.

On Saturday a cricket match was played in the P. A. A. A. grounds between the Peterboroughs and the Ottaws. The match commenced at shortly after ten in the forenoon, Peterborough going to the bat. There was a good sized crowd who seemed to take a great interest in the game. The match was by all odds the finest played in Peterborough for a long time. The individual scoring was high on both sides. and the bowling and batting excellent.

For Peterborough Rogers played an excellent innings for 60; his defence being good and his hitting well timed and well placed. Logan played a most patient innings for 43, completely mastering all the bowling. These two batsmen put on no fewer than 85 runs during the time they were together. S. Ray played in his usual well known style for 16, while Hamilton compiled 15 in good shape before retiring. Cooper, who does not play in as many matches as he should, showed good form in getting his dozen. Thomson and Little bowled well, but the fielding was rather loose, Little and Bell being notable exceptions.

For Ottawa Bell was by far the largest contributor. His two innings of 40 and 59 were very fine exhibitions of combined defensive and hitting power. During the latter innings he hit two consecutive balls out of the ground. Little played two very careful innings, and Smith got 11 not out in good form, but the rest did not do much. Logan, as usual, was on the spot, and hard to get away, and Hamilton also bowled excellently, especially during the early part of the second innings. Peterborough's fielding was only fair during the first innings, but improved considerably in the second, Long's brilliant backstopping being especially noticeable. The score is as follows:—

Peterborough thus won by 78 runs, they not going in on the second innings on account of time being called.

During the day ample justice was done to an excellent luncheon provided by the ladies, and in the evening the home club entertained the visitors at a dinner in the Grand Central Hotel. A few pleasant hours were spent before the Ottawa club left for home. The Ottawa's showed themselves to be "capital" fellows both on the field and off of it.

SLIPS.

The ball hit the wickets no less than three times during the match without moving the bails.

Mr. Bell got out in an extraordinary way—the ball being thrown swiftly from the field, hit his bat, knocking it out of his hand, and hit his wicket. He being out of his ground at the time was given out.

Messrs. Little and Bell both played in the international match this year against the United States, the former getting top score for the Canadians, and being a magnificent point.

Mr. R. B. Rogers' 60 is the highest individual score that there is any record of made by any member of the Peterborough Cricket Club.

The wicket prepared by Mr. Ray was perfect.

Mr. Bell, who, by the way, is a brother quill, being editor of the Athletic News, said, in his remarks at the dinner, that they generally considered they had to go as far as Toronto to get first class cricket, but they found they could get the same article cheaper, good and lots of it nearer home.

There were three of the "Halifax Wanderers" playing with Ottawa.

The Peterborough captain has won the "toss" every time this year.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

MONDAY, Aug. 30.—Thos. McEwan was charged by Capt. Cooper with having been drunk on the 28th August. The defendant pleaded guilty.

The circumstances of the case were given. On Saturday the Chief noticed a man driving a horse in a sulky. The man was drunk and apparently in danger of falling off. When spoken to the man only cursed at the Cheif. To prevent trouble with the horse he was allowed to pass on and in the afternoon the Cheif took him in charge. Some friends appeared in his behalf at the court, said he was moxified on Saturday, that he was a quiet decent fellow otherwise.

A fine of $2 and costs was all he was called on to pay. A charge of abusive language preferred against him was withdrawn.

ASSAULT.

Jeremiah McCarthy charged James Falls with having committed an assault on him.

The defendant pleaded not guilty,

The complainant went on to tell his story. The defendant had called him a liar and used threatening language.

THE COURT—But you charge this man with assault?

COMPLAINANT—Well, I call it assault when a fellow comes up ann squares off and stumps you to fight like this (and Jeremiah circled his fists around before his Worship to show how the thing was done).

THE COURT—Was he near you at the time?

COMPLAINANT—As near as you are.

THE COURT—But the law defines an assault to be an actual stroke or an attempt to make a stroke within striking distance. Now Mr. McCarthy I couldn't strike you from where I am, COMPLAINANT—Oh! I guess you could if you tried.

THE COURT—Well, there was no bones broken.

THE COMPLAINANT—(Interrupting)—Nor blood spilt either.

THE COURT—It was simply a matter of words, and that won't hurt either of you very much. Perhaps the defendant was moxified.

DEFENDANT—(Energetically and somewhat piqued)—No sir; I was not moxified. I had a right to hit this man. He borrowed a dollar from my wife—

THE COURT—Now, now, we don't want to go into that. I dismiss the case with

Series of Big Auction Sales.

Unheard of low prices for Dry Goods. Where? At the Bon Marche Auction Sale on Saturday, Sept. 4th. Goods are being sold daily and hourly at auction prices, and still the bargains continue. Very cheap and extra good Dry Goods, Ready Made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, and in fact everything you want.

Pencil Points.

—A certain clergyman yesterday treated his congregation to a sermon lasting one hour and six minutes.

—A meeting of the Town Council is called this evening.

—Did the Ottawas expect to get three or four hundred?

—Mr. Bell says that Peterborough can play cricket a litte.

—An auction sale of boats was held on the market on Saturday. The kit belonged to Mr. J. J. Turner. Those who bought got fine bargains.

—One enterprising individual—and a printer at that—bought a boat for $7 and shortly after sold it for $10. He invested the $3 in a gallon of whiskey and a dozen of ale, bought another boat and started for the back lakes.

Personal.

Mr. Paul Eastwood left town this morning for Toronto, where he will prosecute his legal studies for a year's term.

The friends of Mrs. C. W. Sawers will be pleased to learn that she is progressing favorably. The surgeons in attendance have every hope of her recovery and the saving of the right leg, and have now better hopes for saving the left one.

It is officially announced in the Dominion Oddfellow that Mr. E. E. Henderson has been appointed by the Grand Master of the Ontario Lodge to the position of District Deputy Grand Master for Peterborough.

Messrs. E. W. and F. G. Cox, Mrs. Cox, Miss Cox, Master Bert Cox, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis returned home this morning. Mr. Davis met the party in London, after a trip through Ireland and Scotland. The party travelled on the continent through France, Switzerland, Germany, Holland and Belgium. They sailed for home on the Parisian and had a stormy passage, "The roughest August passage," said the captain, "he had in eight years." Fogs and head winds prevented a fast trip.

KITCHEN Grindstones, 3 sizes on hand, cheap. GEORGE STETHEM.

Sad End of a Yankee Skipper.

SOURIS, P. E. I., Aug. 27.—Some time ago the Gloucester schooner Matthew Keaney was seized in Prince Edward Island for buying potatoes, but afterwards released. Unable to procure bait or supplies in Canadian ports the Captain George Dixon, abandoned both his fishing voyage and the vessel. He visited his friends on this island, acted in a very eccentric manner was refused lodgings or shelter at Rolly Bay Harbor a few nights ago, and next morning was found drowned.

DESTRUCTIVE EARTHQUAKES.

Towns Destroyed, Hundreds of People Killed and Large Numbers Injured.

LONDON, August, 29.—The area of the earth disturbance in Greece yesterday was phenomenally wide. At least six towns were entirely destroyed and a score of others were partially destroyed. On the mainland much damage was done, but there was little loss of life. On the islands it is estimated that 600 persons were killed and 1,000 seriously injured. The undulations were curiously regular. The actual shocks averaged twelve seconds in duration. People everywhere are camping out in the fields. The breaking of the telegraph lines delays details. The Creek Cabinet is sitting at Athens almost continuously considering relief measures. A transport with tents, food, doctors, medicine and a company of pomplers started for the stricken districts on Saturday evening.

VESUVIUS IN ERUPTION.

NAPLES, Aug. 29.—Vesuvius is again in a state of eruption. The people of Naples and Bari are fleeing to the country or gathering in the open spaces to pray. At Bari the priests proclaim the earthquakes a visitation of God.

THE SHOCK IN EGYPT.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 29.—Violent shocks of earthquake were experienced here and in other parts of Egypt, causing terror among the natives, but so far as known doing no serious damage.

ITALIAN TOWNS AFFECTED.

ROME, Aug. 29.—Among the towns in Italy where the earthquake was felt were Syracuse, Reggo, Calabria, Peetenza, Pasezuli, Baria and Avellino. The people were panic-stricken and took refuge in the fields and churches.

THE EARTHQUAKE CENTRE.

NAPLES, Aug. 29.—A second earthquake shock has occurred here. The population crowded the streets and many families fled from the city. There have been two eruptions of Vesuvius and the volcano is still very active. An earthquake shock was experience at Athens at midnight. Advices from Zants say excessive heat, dead calms and unusually high tides forewarned the inhabitants. The earthquake centre appears to be in the sea, at a point 30 miles South of Zante. The earthquake is supposed to be of volcanic origin. The cables and telegraph wires are broken, and no news had been received from the interior. The cathedral at Pyrgo was destroyed.

The Finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at ANDREW MCNEIL'S.

Mowat's Gerrymander.

North Ontario before Mowat's Gerrymander Act was passed had a population of 28,378. With the South Ridings had only 20,378. This precious measure equalized the population by giving the South Riding 27,378, and the North but 20,917, but it did what was more to the purpose—it added 44 to the Grit majority in the North Riding, which was held by the slender majority of 20. Looking at these facts and figures, and they are but specimens of the handiwork which characterizes the whole Act, we can but wonder at the colossal impudence and hypocrisy of the Grit party and its organs, who continue to shriek out imprecations upon Sir John Macdonald and his Government for which they call his infamous Gerrymander, instead of hiding their heads in shame at having been the perpetrators of an Act besides which, whatever demerits it may have, Sir John Macdonald's much maligned measure is quixotic in generosity to its opponents. —Whitby Gazette.

Cyclone in Cuba.

HAVANA, Aug. 28.—The damage caused by the cyclone of August 17 and 18 is quite serious. The hurricane entered Cuba near Manzilla, crossed the island and left it near Sagua. Sagua and Santa Clara suffered most heavily. Losses at Sagua are estimated at $100,000. At Santa Clara a Chinaman was killed and several other persons were injured: In Havana the storm did but little damage. The wind attained its greatest velocity here on August 18, when it blew 25 to 30 metres per second. A despatch from Santiago de Cuba reports another cyclone in Jamaica.

Another seizure.

HALIFAX, Aug. 28.—The schooner A. R. Crittenden was siezed last night at Port Mulgrave for violation of the Customs laws and was taken this morning to Port Hawkesbury, where she was released upon a deposit of $400 being made by the captain.

Mexicans Expelled from Texas.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 28.—The citizens of McCulloch county ordered all Mexicans not American citizens to leave the country within five days or be hanged. Each Mexican was served with a notice and left within the prescribed time.

Davitt to Visit Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 29.—At a meeting of the Montreal branch of the Irish National League to-day the President announced that he had invited Michael Davitt to visit Montreal, and that Davitt had accepted the invitation.

THE SCHOOL BOOK TAX.

The Public schools throughout the province will reopen next week, and the children will resume their contributions to the wealth of Mr. Thomas Nelson, who owns stock in the Toronto Globe. The Mowat Goverment allows Mr. Nelson to tax the school children $14,000 a year, and all we get in return is a paper devoted to the abuse of the majority of Canadian public men and to the puffery of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues. Toronto Mail.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

TERRITORIAL RIGHTS.

IT is possible that Mr. Blaine of Maine does not read the PETERBOROUGH REVIEW. We regret this as we would be glad to obtain his views on a subject of some moment at present. It would greatly interest us to learn what distance from the shore he considers the territorial rights of the United States to extend, in the cases for instance of Chesapeake Bay, the Gulf of Mexico, or the waters bounding Alaska. Mr. Blaine is vigorously participating in the electoral campaign now being conducted in the State of Maine, and reports of his speeches seem to convey the idea that as regards Canada in his opinion territorial rights extend only three miles from the actual shore line, following its sinuosities. If Mr. Blaine really holds this view of the law of nations he differs widely from the jurists of his own country in regard to United States territory. Of course we cannot suppose that Mr. Blaine would contend that international law has one rule for his country and another for ours. Unfortunately, as we have said, Mr. Blaine may not read these remarks, and being ignorant as to our own curiosity on this point, may leave us in our present perplexity. If so we will have to exercise patience till Mr. Blaine comes to deal with the question of the right of Canadian or other vessels to fish in the neighborhood of the United States coast.

GOVERNMENT SAVINGS BANKS.

IN its monthly "Banking Review," the Monetary Times says, in reference to Canadian money employed in New York:—

"It is known that the Canadian banks have long had a surplus of available funds, and that they have been willing to lend such funds at low rates, when repayable at call and secured by first-class collateral."

The truth of this well-known fact being now admitted by the Monetary Times, we would much like to know why it has persistently asserted that the high rate of interest paid by the Government to savings bank depositors has deprived the chartered banks of funds required to accommodate the business men of Canada who are their customers? Either the Canadian banks must have had a surplus over Canadian requirements, or they must have employed part of their funds at a loss abroad rather than reduce rates at home. Neither supposition supports the contention of the Monetary Times and of Sir Richard Cartwright that Canada has suffered injury through the Government having adopted the policy of paying to workingmen and other small depositors such a rate of interest as to encourage them to invest their savings and thus prepare for "a rainy day," or facilitate their advancement in life.

Whether or Not

you believe that consumption is an infectious disease, transmitted by tubercular parasites, the fact that Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is capable of restoring a healthy condition of the lungs however affected, is one which does not admit of question. At the very first intimation of consumptive tendencies, whether in the form of a persistent cough, general debility, loss of appetite, night-sweats or frequent and depressing chills, you should secure a bottle of the "Golden Medical Discovery." It will purify the blood, tone up the system, and remove consumptive symptoms by removing their cause.

BULGARIA.

An Anti-Russian Policy to be Followed by Prince Alexander.

LONDON, August 30.—The Morning Post says: "Henceforth, Prince Alexander will pursue an unequivocal anti-Russian policy, and will adopt a severe law, banishing Russians from Bulgaria. Russian money will not be accepted in Government offices in Bulgaria, and even the soldier's uniform which is now similar to the Russian uniform, will be changed.

ROUMELIA ENTHUSIASTIC.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, August 30.—The news of the arrival of Prince Alexander at Rustchuk was received with enthusiasm here. Colonel Mutkuroff, with eleven loyal Roumelian regiments, has started to meet the Prince.

A STATE OF SIEGE.

SOFIA, August 30.—M. Stambuloff has declared Bulgaria in a state of siege. In a recent interview, M. Ttambuloff stated that the reason for the existence of the two Governments was that M. Karaveloff wanted a Russian commissioner to come to Bulgaria, while he (Stamuloff) was desirous of excluding Russian influence altogether. M. Zankoff is still at liberty, but is closely watched by the police.

TO THE END.

DARMSTADT, Aug. 30.—Prince Alexander's father says that Prince Alexander, having accepted the Bulgarian mission, was bound to carry it out to the end. His honor as a soldier and his German name sufficied to guarantee this. Moreover, it was imperative that he should reach Sofia before the arrival of Prince Dolgorouki, who left St. Petersburg on Sunday morning. He believed Lord Salisbury would prove Prince Alexander's friend.

SERVIA AND BULGARIA.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—King Milan, of Servia, has telegraphed to Prince Alexander, congratulating him upon his return to Bulgaria, and expressing the fullest sympathy for him. In reply to King Milan's congratulation, Prince Alexander said he was touched by King Milan's sympathy, and hoped to see a Servian agent at Sofia, and a renewal of the friendship between Servia and Bulgaria.

BEWARE OF ASSASSINATION.

RUSTCHUK, Aug. 30.—Prince Alexander has been warned to take precautions against possible attempts on his life by Pan-Slavist fanatics and followers of the Metropolitan element, whose party has ramifications in the interior of Bulgaria.

RUSSIAN COMPLICITY.

SOFIA, Aug. 30.—It is stated Russia paid the conspirators Bendeneff and Demsstref 400,000 roubles. When the former and Grueff were arrested they had in their possession two coffers belonging to a Russian count. Prince Alexander did not sign a deed of abdication. He simply wrote on a slip of paper "God save Bulgaria," and signed "Alexander." His kidnapers were tipsy and did not notice what he had written. The general opinion is that the pleasure expressed by the rulers of Roumania and Servia at Prince Alexander's triumph points in the direction of increasep unity.

RUSSIAN OCCUPATION.

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—The Vossische Zeitung, the Berlin Tagblatt and the National Zeitung insist that it is impossible for Germany and Austria to tolerate a Russian occupation of Bulgaria. It is stated M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, in an interview with the Grand Vizier, hinted at a Russian occupation of Bulgaria, adding if a hair of one Russian was touched Russia would be compelled to interfere.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

Earl Roseberry Explains His views to Colonial Visitors.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Colonial and Indian Tourists have now got as far as Edinburg in their survey of the British isles, and have visited Earl Rosebery's place at Dalmaney park. The Earl and Countess of Rosebery were at home from 3 to 6. The house and park were thrown open and numerous local celebrities were collected to greet the Colonial. There was the usual corporation banquet in the evening, at which Earl Rosebery reiterated his well-known views in favor of Imperial federation, and announced that he was going to India in furtherance of his idea that British Ministers ought to know something about the British empire. Earl Rosebery's views of federation are of a very practical kind. He desires, he said to pay honour to the immortal principle of the British empire, but looked to the Colonial penny postage and to the Canadian Pacific railway as actual instruments of closer relations between England and the colonies.

PORT HOPE.

RUNAWAY.—On Sunday afternoon about three o'clock, Mr. J. Burnham was waiting at Mrs. Seymour's residence seated behind his father's team of splendid bays, when becoming frightened they dashed out of the gate and in turning onto the road upset the carriage, throwing Mr. Burnham out, but without inflicting any serious injury. The spirited animals raced down Dorset street dragging the carriage with its wheels in the air, behind them. When they reached John street, one of the horses stumbling stopped further locomotion. One of the horses was badly cut, while the wheels and the gearing were all that were left of the carriage.—Times.

Anarchists Threatening Vengeance.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 30.—Two hundred Anarchists met yesterday to denounce the action of the Chicago jury in convicting the bomb-throwers. Saam, leader of the Cleveland group, was the principal speaker. He said if the seven convicted Anarchists were hung seven hundred thousand avengers would arise from their blood. This was cheered, and Saam enlarged upon the fact that the execution of the Chicago murderers would be avenged. A collection was taken up for the Chicago men.

VIENNA, Aug. 30. A collision occurred on the South Austrian Railway, at Modling, yesterday. It is reported that the killed and wounded number forty.

A RASCAL ARRESTED.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—An Englishman has been arrested at Altona, near Hamburg, for defrauding the Bank of Naples of 250,000 francs.

VISIT OF THE KING OF PORTUGAL.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The King of Portugal arrived here on Thursday. Emperor William, Crown Prince Frederick William, and other members of the royal family met the King at the railway station. A state carriage drawn by four horses was awaiting his arrival, and in it he was conveyed to the castle. In the evening a grand banquet was given in honor of the royal visitor. King Luis has been created an honorary colone of Prussian hussars.

ANNEXATION OF BURMAH.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—In the Commons this evening, Sir J. E. Gorst, Under Secretary for India, detended the annexation of Burmah on the ground that it was necessary for the safety of India. He stated that as soon as the cold season sets in the Government intends to mass a force in Burmah to subjugate the country. The Radicals supported two amendments to the address condemning the annexation of Burmah. The amendments were negatived by majorities of 76 and 73 respectively.

ENTERTAINED BY SOCIALISTS.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The delegates who were recently sent to this country by the French Government to study British industries were banquetted by the Social Democrats this evening in the political hall of the Holborn restaurant. Fully a dozen different nations were represented. Henry Hyndman presided and a navvy in working clothes occupied the vice chair.

DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Mr. Clark (Radical) moved that the debate on the address be adjourned. Lord Randolph Churchill opposed the motion, stating it was not conceived with a view to the public advantage and that the Government desired to express its opinion to that effect. Mr. Illingsworth (Liberal) likened Lord Churchill to Satan [illegible] was followed [illegible] House finally divided, with the following result:—For adjourning, 172, against 197. Lord Churchill then agreed to adjourn the debate. It is rumoured the Parnellites intend to oppose the Government in its desire to hasten the closing of the present session. There is likelihood of some all nights' sessions over the estimates. The Speaker ruled out of order Mr. Picton's amendment declaring the result of the recent electoral contest, while it showed the country objected to the land purchase scheme, did not decide the question of a Parliament in Dublin. It has been arranged that Mr. Sexton shall move an amendment on the report stage of the address.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.

GLASGOW, Aug. 30.—The Congregational Baptist and Evangelical Union Association of Glasgow gave a breakfast to-day to Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. Dr. Ferguson presided. Mr. Beecher narrated his early religious struggles and dwelt upon the difficulty he experienced in breaking loose from the old Calvinistic theology.

HUNGARIAN CELEBRATION.

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—Emperor Francis Joseph yesterday opened the new cavalry barracks at Pesth in connection with the bi-centennial celebration. The royal family, notables and all the Hungarian Ministers, except Premier Herr Tiaza, were present. The mayor in his address of welcome laid stress on the necessity of a patriotic entente between the civil and military authorities. The Emperor, replying, said he hoped his brave soldiers would find the new barracks a dear home, from which they would gain fresh strength to fulfil their duties to the throne and to the fatherland. He eulogized the admirable spirit Pesth always displayed.

WOULD IT BE STABLE?

PARIS Aug. 30.—Jules Simon has pulished a letter in which he predicts that France will eventually become a Conservative Republic, which he declares to be the only stable Government for Frenchmen.

RADICALS TO BE REMOVED.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—It is stated to be the purpose of Premier de Freycinet to remove from his Cabinet three Radical members, including Gen. Boulanger, Minister of War, and M. Granet, Minister of Mails and Telegraphs.

A FRENCH CANADIAN REQUEST.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—An influential body of French Canadians in Paris have requested Gen. Boulanger, Minister of War, not to change the name of La France Nouvelle barracks. Gen. Boulanger has acceded to the request.

OUTRAGES IN KERRY.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—A despatch from Castle Island, County Kerry, says a farmer named Broshan was shot by moonlighters last night. The wound is not considered dangerous. The moonlighters, after leaving Broshan, visited the house of farmer Rooney. Entering the dwelling they pulled Rooney out of bed, fired several shots over his head and forced him to swear he would not pay his rent. The police heard shots, but failed to make any arrests. General Buller will investigate these outrages. A gunboat has been placed in the River Shannon to enable Buller to visit the coast quickly.

SIR R. BULLER INTERVIEWED.

DUBLIN, Aug. 30.—Gen. Buller left Dublin this morning for Tralee. In an interview he said:—"I wish to distinctly state I have not accepted a dragooning mission, nor shall I assist in evictions. My task will be simply to repress moonlighters and ensure the safety of life and property. I propose to effect this by means of flying patrols, who shall be able to communicate speedily with a regularly organized system of supports. I do not know whether my plan will prove successful, but I mean to do my duty."

THE BELFAST RIOTS.

BELFAST, Aug. 30.—A number of men who were engaged in the recent riots in Belfast have been senteuced to terms of imprisonment ranging from two to nineteen months. The police of Belfast will resume their ordinary beat duty in the disturbed districts on Wednesday. The Mayor exhorts all peacable citizens to assist the police in the performance of their duties.

THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD.

THE MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES AND BUSINESS PLACES.

Unrivalled Water Privileges for Factories—The Public Buildings, Churches and Schools—Facilities for Travelling and Freighting.

HULL'S FLOUR MILL.

Mr. John Hull is making extensive improvements in his flour mill. Practically, when the improvements are completed, it will be a new mill. An additional story, ten feet high, has been added to the building, and he is putting in new machinery throughout, using the standard roller process. The motive power will be furnished by two new Leffel water wheels, one 72 inches and the other 40 inches, giving ninety horse power. He has purchased seven double sets of standard rolls, and nine No. 1 centrifugal flour dressing machines, and is adding two new No. 1 middling purifiers, besides two formerly used. He will have six 6 x 32 scalping chests, and is putting in an extra bran duster, making two altogether, and adding a brush cleaning machine, in addition to a smutter and a zig-zag separator. The other machinery includes five 2 power packers, one hand packer for low grade and one each for bran and middlings, a double chest of merchant bolts (flour rolls) retained in the mill, and the chop stones. On one line of shafting there will be thirty-two pairs of elevators from the top to the bottom of the mill, besides shorter ones. Two large elevators for grain will be run on an eight inch belt, either one of which will elevate grain as fast as one man can empty it. The 40 inch water wheel will drive the chop stones and the elevators for coarse grain. The upper part of the mill will be driven with belting. The new machinery is manufactured by Mr. Geo. T. Smith, of Stratford, Ont., and Jackson, Mich., and Mr. McAuslan, of Meaford, Ont., is superintending the fitting up of the mill. The capacity of the mill will be 125 barrels per day of 24 hours. Mr. Hull expects to have the work completed and to start the new mill running by October 1st. He will then have, through the expenditure of about $8,000, a fully equipped mill with good machinery—one that the owner and the village in which it is located will have reason to be proud of.

MCLEAN'S FLOUR MILL.

Mr. Donald McLean first started to grind flour in the mill erected by Messrs. Strickland, on April 8th, 1886. The building is four stories high and 40x50 feet. In the lower part are the two Leffel water wheels which furnish the motive power. In the second story, or ground floor, there are six double sets of Allis & Co.'s rolls, a feed stone and a power packer. The third story is occupied by six scalpers each eight feet long, six bolting rolls 16 feet long, three Smith & Co. purifiers, a smut machine, stock hoppers, flour bins and bran and shorts bins. In the fourth there are two centrifugal flour dressing machines, a wheat separator, brush machine, and wheat bins furnishing storage for 5,000 bushels of wheat. The head of the elevator is in the attic, as are also the driving pulleys and gearing. The machinery is driven from this part by a chain belt. The mill is provided with hand packers for all offals. The chop is elevated from and lowered to the ground floor, and it is on this flat that the retail business is done. All the handling is done by machinery, and the mill is most excellently and conveniently equipped throughout. On the ground floor, at the front, there is a neat office, which is connected with the telephone system. Manitoba wheat has been imported and used by Mr. McLean. The mill does first class work, and a good market is being established for its product. Flour has not only been sent to villages and towns in this district, but has also been shipped east into the Province of Quebec. The shipping facilities are excellent, as a spur from the railway lines runs right to the door, and the barrels are placed in the cars from the mill platform without any intermediate handling. Everything about the mill is conveniently arranged with a view to expedite business and avoid unnecessary trouble and labor. Mr. McLean is himself an experienced miller, and he is assisted by a first class hand, Mr. R. Waddell. Mr. McLean proposes dealing in all kinds of grain this fall.

THE WOOLLEN MILL.

Messrs. Gemmell & McKee's woollen mill is on Strickland's race. In it are manufactured tweeds, blankets and all kinds of flannels, and attention is given to custom work. This firm formerly operated the Blythe woollen mill, Peterborough, and commenced business in their present mill last year, when the building was erected. The building is 35x52 feet, and is three and a half stories high, with a dye house 30x40 feet attached. A Leffel water wheel gives the motive power. The first storey is occupied by the fuller mill, washer, press, shears, and duster; and in the dye house attachment, the dye tubs and steam boiler used for coloring and scouring. In the second story there are a broad loom and three narrow looms, a broad warper and a set of custom cards. The manufacturing set, consisting of a first and a second breaker and finisher, are in the third story, as well as a spinning jack, picker, spooler and yarn reel. The top story is used for the drying room. On the ground floor there is a neat office. Eight hands are employed in this factory, and the mill is kept busy in all its departments, Messrs. Gemmell & McKee being now engaged on a large order for a Toronto firm of dry goods dealers.

BAPTIE'S PLANING MILL.

Mr. Peter Baptie's planing mill and sash and door factory is in a three story building, 50 x 30 feet, situated on Strickland's race. A Leffel water wheel, 50 inches, with a 10 feet head of water, drives the machinery. This is the second year in which Mr. Baptie has occupied these premises, though he has carried on the business in Lakefield for fifteen years, being the pioneer in this line in Lakefield. When moving into the building he purchased new machinery, and all the machines in the building, except one, were new last year. The first flat of the building contains the shaper and turning lathe. In the second story there are two planers, a moulding machine, jointer, tenoning machine, blind-slat tenoning machine, power mortising machine, band saw and three circular saws. The upper flat is used as a store room. All the machines are excellent iron ones, from Cowan & Co., of Galt, the jointer being an especially good one. Mr. Baptie sent a complete house to Calgary, Northwest Territories, this year. It was 20 x 24 feet, and was framed and all ready to go together and be set up when it reached its destination.

GRIFFIN'S PLANING MILL.

Mr. Jonathan Griffin is one of the eldest settlers in Lakefield, he having located there in 1855, and many of the buildings there have been erected under his superintendence. In connection with his business as contractor and builder he has a planing mill and sash and door factory. The factory occupies a building three stories high and 30x60 feet. In the first flat are the water wheel and shafting, band saw, turning lathe, dowell machine and power grind stone. The second story contains the planer, moulder, jointer, gig-saw, tenoning machine, shaper, blind-slat tenoning machine, emery wheel, etc., while the third story is used as a store room. Mr. Griffin purchased this property last year, and established in it the factory. He is now in charge of improvements in Mr. Hull's flour mill building and race way, and among the buildings of which he was the contractor were the English Church and Public School.

PLANING MILL AND CABINET FACTORY.

Mr. R. Chapin early this season erected a two-story building in the rear of his furniture store for his cabinet factory and planing mill and put into it new machinery. Although in a village where the water power is unexcelled, he has adopted steam, and this year purchased a 20 horse power engine. Among the machines used in the factory are a planer, matcher, jonter, tenoning machine, shaper, gig-saw, circular and other saws, turning lathe, boring machine, &c. He has done a considerable business this year in carpenter's supplies. The furniture show room is on the main street. Mr. Chapin has also a fine hearse, built by himself, and has as good a stock of coffins as one would look for in a much larger place. He finds his business growing so much that he intends to enlarge his factory by adding twenty feet to the entire length of the present building.

MR. HENDREN'S CABINET FACTORY.

Mr. T. Hendren's furniture store and undertaking establishment is in a two story brick building on the main street. His factory is in the rear of the show room, where the lath, saws, &c., are. He makes all kinds of furniture. The ware room is not only well filled but contains excellent samples of all kinds of household furniture. The stock indeed is an excellent one. Mr. Hendren is doing a lively business in his cabinet factory in filling orders, as well as a good general trade. In connection with his undertaking he has a very good hearse and a fine stock of all things necessary in the business. He also keeps horses for hire, having a well equipped livery stable.

GORDON'S CANOE FACTORY.

Mr. Thomas Gordon's canoe factory is situated in a two story building near the wharf of the steamer Cruiser. Mr. Gordon keeps several men at work turning out canoes and skiffs. The principal kinds of canoes made in the factory are open and close ribbed basswood canoes, cedar canoes, walnut and cedar, and butternut and pine canoes. Mr. Gordon has turned out about seventy boats this season, and has shipped this year over forty canoes to Europe. He is at present making a fine skiff of walnut and cedar for Mr. Tate.

DAVIS' CARRIAGE FACTORY.

Mr. J. H. Davis occupies two buildings with his carriage and waggon factory and blacksmithing shop. An apartment of one building is used for the show room and the other for the wood working and blacksmith shop. The second building is the paint and finishing shop. Mr. Davis also has a livery stable in connection with his business.

MCWILLIAMS' CARRIAGE FACTORY.

Mr. J. H. McWilliams' carriage factory, waggon factory and blacksmith shop occupies a large two story building. A wide board walk leads from the ground to the second story, the show room. In one part of the building the wood work is done and in another the iron work.

SMITH'S BLACKSMITH SHOP.

Mr. D. Smith erected last year a three story building, 35 x 45 feet, for his shop, where he does general blacksmithing, iron work, repairing, &c., and receives orders for carriages and waggons.

ISBESTER'S BLACKSMITH SHOP.

Mr. John Isbester does general blacksmithing, carriage ironing, horse shoeing, repairing, &c., in his commodious shop.

EDWARDS' BLACKSMITH SHOP.

Mr. John Edwards also carries on the business of general blacksmithing, carriage ironing, repairing, horseshoeing, etc.,

KIDD'S BLACKSMITH SHOP.

Mr. A. J. Kidd does a similar business in carriage work, horseshoeing, blacksmithing, repairing, &c.,

COOPER SHOP.

Mr. John English has put up a building on his lot, in which he now carries on his business as a cooper, doing all kinds of work which falls within his line of trade.

LAKEFIELD'S MERCHANTS.

Lakefield possesses a number of enterprising business men, and, consequently, very good stores, some of the mercantile houses being really fine places of business. Most of these stores are on one street, the main street in the village. It was on this street that the first store was established by Mr. Sherin in 1855.

GRAIN MERCHANT.

Mr. Samuel Nelson purchases and exports all kinds of grain. His storehouse is near the river. The elevator is run by water power, an endless chain which crosses over the road from the wheel at the river driving the machinery. The grain is all placed in one hopper and elevated, and by turning a lever on the ground floor it is directed to the bin in which it is desired to store the grain. The capacity of the storehouse is about 10,000 bushels. A railway siding runs close to the storehouse, and the shipping facilities are therefore first-class. Mr. Nelson also deals in salt, plaster and water lime.

OTHER MERCHANTS.

Mr. W. H. CASEMENT keeps a general hardware store, and deals in stoves and tinware. He has a well stocked store, and keeps for sale everything in those lines. He is also post-master and agent for the Great North-Western Telegraph Company. His store is connected with the telephone system.

Mr. J. C. CARVETH'S is a grocery store, and he keeps a full line of goods of this kind. He has also a shoe shop. Mr. Carveth has just erected an exceedingly handsome building for his store. It is three stories high, with the mansard roof, and 23x50 feet. It is constructed of red brick, solid wall, and has a plate glass front, the two large lights used in this store being the first plate glass used in the village. It is finished throughout with ash and pine, of a cherry color, with ebony trimmings. It is a very handseme as well as commodious place of business.

Messrs. R. GRAHAM & SON carry on business as general merchants. The business was established in 1864 by the senior partner, and the present firm has been doing business for five years. They deal in dry goods, millinery, clothing, crockery and groceries, and are agents for organs. They occupy a three story building erected by themselves eight years ago—a commodious and well arranged store, with a large warehouse attached. The store is connected with the telephone system. A novelty in the store is a machine for folding cloth. It will wind 40 or 50 yards on a board in a few seconds, and the number of yards in the piece is registered automatically and correctly to a fraction of a yard.

Messrs. MADILL BROS., general merchants, deal in dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, crockery and glassware, and they have a tailoring department connected with their business. They occupy a fine store, large and neatly arranged, with a good vault, and a large stone warehouse close to the main building. The tailoring department is in the second story. The glass cases and other fittings in the store are excellent. Madill Bros. have arranged to move, on Jan. 1st, into the premises now occupied by Mr. W. J. Wallace. An extension of twenty-five feet will be added to the store previous to their entering it.

Mr. W. J. WALLACE, general merchant, carries a good stock of dry goods, groceries, clothing, boots and shoes, etc. Mr. Wallace is at present selling out his stock, as he intends retiring from business at the end of the year. His many friends regret that he is impelled to take this step owing to ill health, and will wish him a speedy recovery of his wonted physical vigor.

Mr. R. COTTON deals in groceries, provisions, boots and shoes, crockery, glassware and general sundries. He occupies commodious premises and has a well stocked store.

Mr. WM. HARPER manufactures and sells harness and saddlery, and deals in fancy goods of various kinds, besides sewing machines and general hardware. He added the latter branch to his business this year. Mr. Harper is also agent for the Hamilton Agricultural Works, Peterborough.

Misses ENNOS & HUFFMAN deal in millinery and fancy goods and have a mantle making and dress making establishment.

Mr. GEO. P. MARTIN deals in groceries and confectionery, keeping especially a varied stock of the latter goods.

Mr. S. HENDERSON keeps a very neat drug store, and handles oils, mixed paints, glass, toilet and fancy articles, stationery, wall paper, dye stuffs—everything "from a needle to an anchor." His well arranged store is a credit to the proprietor and to the village.

Mr. C. D. CRAWFORD, general merchant, deals in dry goods, groceries, crockery, boots and shoes—in fact has a good stock of staple and fancy articles. Like other Lakefield merchants his stock is well arranged with a view to neatness and to display it to good advantage.

Mr. T. J. BIRD'S drug store is a handsome place of business. He deals in drugs, patent medicines, oils and varnishes, school books and stationery, fancy goods and toilet articles. Mr. Bird is also agent for the Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. B. HUNTER conducts a harness and saddlery shop, and keeps hardware used in such a business, as well as trunks, etc. He has a very nice store and show room, and a good workshop in the rear of the store.

Mr. H. R. PATERSON has a neat jewellery store, and deals in clocks, watches and articles for adornment made of precious metals. Repairing is also a part of the business of the establishment.

Mr. D. ARNOTT sells tinware and stoves, and also deals in hides and furs. He makes his own tinware in a backshop in the rear of the store and show room, so that his, as well as some others mentioned, is a manufacturing as well as a mercantile establishment.

Mr. J. SHERIN has a boot and shoe store, where a full stock of leather goods is kept. Mr. Sherin's son intends embarking in business as a general merchant in the beginning of next year.

Mr. T. J. COX, about six months ago, opened out a stock of groceries, boot and shoes, crockery and glassware, and is establishing a good business in these lines.

Mr. S. REDPATH carries on business as a tailor in a neat little shop on the main street of the village.

Mr. E. SELLENS has a bakery and confectionery store—the only bakery in the village. In addition to cakes and bread some kinds of candy are made on the premises.

Mr. W. A. EASTLAND deals in groceries and provisions, glassware and fancy goods, having a neat store well stocked in these lines of goods.

Mrs. TANNER conducts a grocery business, dealing in groceries, confectionery and kindred articles.

Mr. L. F. STONE occupies a shop in which he carries on business as a tailor.

OTHER BUSINESSES.

Mr. WM. CARTER cultivates both the useful and the beautiful. He has a greenhouse well stocked with plants and flowers, and in the grounds on his premises he cultivates both floral and vegetable plants. Mr. Carter's greenhouse is a pretty place to visit, as the flowers and plants in bloom are a beautiful sight. He is preparing another lot to which he will move his greenhouse and carry on the same business.

Mr. JOHN R. RODGERS keeps a livery stable in which can be hired splendid horses and good vehicles.

Mr. W. MCDONALD, tonsorial artist, occupies a convenient and well fitted up operating room on the main street.

Mr. JOHN COOPER runs a bus line from the station to the hotels and every part of the village. He also has a baggage waggon, and in the summer time does a good business with the stream of both tourists and campers passing through Lakefield.

Mr. JOHN BURGESS, (painter) is proprietor of a photograph gallery, situated on Union Street.

Mr. W. S. CURRY carries on the business of weaver in Lakefield.

Mr. JOHN SUTTON has a boot and shoe shop on the corner of Queen and Burnham streets, upstairs.

Mr. FRED. WALDRON has a butcher shop in the village, and supplies the villagers with fresh meat.

Mr. THOMAS MOFFAT, a dealer in teas and coffees, is located in Lakefield.

There are in Lakefield the following contractors and builders:—Mr. Peter Baptie, who also has a planing mill, Mr. J. Griffin, also a planing mill; Mr. James Moore, Mr. Abel Howden, and Messrs. Chasin & Robinson. Mr. Alex. Richardson is a stone cutter, Mr. John Richardson a mason, Mr. Geo. Nichols a stone mason.

COUNCILLOR MOORE SAYS THAT THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL BOARD

Have no Legal Right to ask the Council for the Money—The Finance Committee Will Look into the Matter—Equipping the Fire Department—More Hydrants.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening. There were present: His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Davidson, Cahill, McNaughton, McClelland, McNeil, Moore, Kendry, Rutherford and Kelly.

The minutes were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read:—

From Edg. Pearse, informing the Council in behalf of the Town Trust that the amount required to pay the current year's interest on the debentures on account of Town debt, together with 1 per cent. sinking fund on the same, and also to pay the interest and form a sinking fund for the payment of the debentures (in 10 years) issued under by-law 497 would amount to $7557.90.

From Richard Hall, chairman of the Nicholls Hospital Trust, and C. McGill, Treasurer, notifying the Council that the estimated amount required from the Town by the Nicholls Hospital Trust from the opening of the hospital till the close of the year, 1886, would be $5,000.—Received.

From J. G. Hall, Secretary of the Protestant Home, in reference to an old woman in the Home.—Charity Committee.

From T. G. Hazlitt and five manufacturing firms on Mill street calling attention to the fact that there was no fire protection on Mill street and suggesting the propriety of extending the water works along London and along Mill street.—Received.

From P. J. McNamara, in reference to the completion of a drain—Street and Bridge Committee.

From Henry Owens, in reference to street improvements on Sherbrooke street.—Granted.

From J. E. McIntyre and others, asking that the inside of the sidewalk on Hunter street, between George and Aylmer, be raised so that the surface water be thrown into the street.—Granted, and referred to the Street Inspector.

From R. C. McGinty, applying for a week's holiday.—Granted.

From A. Elliott, asking the Council to provide a charity ticket to Londonderry.—Received.

From Elias Burnham, with regard to his taxes.—Received.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented:—

Mr Ranney	$ 9 00
Ormond & Walsh, account	2 40
Snowden & Irwin, hack hire	8 00
Alfred McDonald, cedar	42 70
Wm. Cummings	145 75
Special constables, for circus day	11 25
B. M. Tate, copying	5 00

The accounts of B. M. Tate and the special constables were ordered to be paid, and the rest were referred to the Finance Committee.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Councillor RUTHERFORD read the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council:

GENTLEMEN,—The Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend to supply the Fire Department as follows: Hook and ladder waggon, cost not to exceed $250; also to equip the same with ladders, buckets and axes; a hose-salvage waggon, cost not to exceed $150; and one set of swinging harness, cost not to exceed $25. To furnish two bedrooms, with bedroom sets, plain, no carpets; also washing and urinal appliances, cost not to exceed $150; all of the above to be tendered for and approved of by the Committee.

Signed,
A. RUTHERFORD,
Chairman.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved the adoption of the report.

Councillor MOORE objected to the urinal pipe being placed next to the main hall.

Councilor MCNAUGHTON suggested that the tenders be asked for before reporting. The Committee could not tell what these things would cost beforehand.

Councillors RUTHERFORD and MCCLELLAND said that the cost was considered and set down. If it cost more the Committee would have to report again.

Councillor CAHILL asked if another horse was to be purchased to fit the harness.

Councillor RUTHERFORD—That is not the intention.

CHIEF RUTHERFORD was heard, and explained that the benefit of the harness was chiefly when the horses was needed at night. The harness might be dropped on and snapped at once. The advantage of the salvage wagon was pointed out. In all the city departments the firemen slept at the station.

Councillor MCNEIL moved, in amendment, seconded by Councillor MCNAUGHTON—That the Clerk advertise for tenders for the supply of appliances requested by the Fire Department and the said tenders to be opened by the Fire Water and Light Committee to report to this Council.

Councillor RUTHERFORD added "and adopted by the Council" to the report.

Councillor MCNEIL withdrew his motion and the report was adopted.

PROPERTY.

Councillor RUTHERFORD read the report of the Property Committee as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee beg leave to report and recommend to have put down a 12 inch drain from town offices and connect with main sewer on George street, providing that the Mrs. Nicholl's property, on the north side of Limcoe street, between Water and George street, pay the sum of $100 as promised. Your Committee regret to find on examination of cellers under town offices a large accumulation of last year's ashes, and would therefore ask the Clerk to notify the engineer to have the matter at once attended to, also that Mr. Beavis be requested to keep cleaned the passages leading to Firemen's Hall and Band Room.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
A RUTHERFORD,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

POLICE SUPERVISION.

Councillor KENDRY read the following report:—

To the Mayor and Council:

GENTLEMEN,—The Committee on Appointments and Supervision of Police beg leave to report:

That the police force be provided with one suit of clothes each, the same to be tendered for; the lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted. The Clerk to be instructed to ask for tenders, the same to be opened and awarded by this Committee. Tenders to be received up to August 17th, 1886.

The Committee met and awarded the contract for clothing to Thomas Dolan & Co., as under: Three suits, double-breasted tunics, at $27 each; cloth, indigo pilot, same as submitted. For the Chief of Police, one staff patrol jacket, double-breasted, and trousers with maple leaf braid; cloth, double twilled serge, at $32.

JAS. KENDRY,
Chairman.

The report was received.

MR. BURNHAM'S TAXES.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor MCNAUGHTON,—That the assessment of park lots Nos. 4 and 5, the property of E. Burnham, Esq., be referred to C. A. Weller, Esq., County Judge, for his final decision and report thereon, and that such decision and report be accepted by this Council as a settlement of the same, and that any expenses attending such reference be paid by Mr. Burnham.—Lost.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

A discussion arose as to the St. John's Church creek affair. It was agreed to allow the church wardens to have a well dug so as to absorb the water issuing from the motor.

STREETS.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD,—That the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to make such arrangements as they deem best for the gravelling of the west end of McDonnel street, provided parties residing in the adjoining township interested in said street assist in doing the work by labor or otherwise, and that $25 be appropriated to grade cross street.—Carried.

Councillor RUTHERFORD thought that this thing was an outrageous affair. He wanted information about it.

On motion the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Councillor KENDRY moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD—That the Street Inspector be instructed to put down at once a crossing on George street north opposite the residence of Mr. Jas. Dennistoun, to replace the one taken up.—Carried.

NICHOLLS HOSPITAL.

The notification from the Nicholls Hospital Trust, in reference to the provision of $5,000, was considered.

Councillor MOORE was astounded at such a request. He demanded facts and figures as to how this sum was expended before he would vote away any such sum.

The MAYOR explained that the furnishing of the hospital took $2,000, and $1,300 was spent otherwise. The rest would cover the expenditure up to Jan. 1st. It seemed that this Trust Board could demand their expenditure the same as the School Board.

Councillor MOORE read the Act and held that the amount must be proved to be spent. The Board had no right to demand money for future use. Neither did the Act provide for the Council's granting money for anything else than maintenance from month to month. It did not provide for preliminery furnishing.

FIRE PROTECTION.

Mr. HAZLITT was heard in reference to fire protection on Mill street. What we asked by them was either [illegible] provide proper protection or take off the water tax, which was at present collected from the property. It was of no use putting down one hydrant; one would not supply the needs. It was in the interest of the town that all these factories be protected. Their request was only rational and fair.

The petition was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, with request to see the President of the Water Company and ascertain what arrangements can be made for extra hydrants and report.

MR. MANNELL'S ACCOUNT.

Mr. Mannell presented a grievance to the Council. His account sent in as to the recent damage committed on his house had not been paid. The account was ordered to be paid.

The Council then adjourned for a week.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

The harbour dredging at Belleville is to consist of a long channel 250 feet wide from a point a short distance south of the lower bridge, heading a little to the westward, through the gravel bar which fronts the western branch of the river out into the bay until ten feet of water is reached. This channel will be about three thousand feet long.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent proud flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton. Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, the infallible remedy for Cholera, Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

OVER WORKED Women

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sisters of Charity, attached to St. Mary's Infant Asylum, Dorchester, Mass., certify to the inestimable value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the treatment of sore eyes and skin diseases, among the many unfortunate children under their care. Mrs. S. D. Bodwell, Wilmington, Mass., writes concerning the treatment of her daughter, who was troubled with sore eyes, as follows: "I gave Ayer's Sarsaparilla to and must say that she never took anything that helped her so much. I think her eyes never looked so well, as now, since they were affected, and her general health is improving every day. She has taken but half a bottle." A. J. Simpson, 147 East Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "My weak eyes were made strong by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief, until I commenced using saparilla. I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers."

My Little Girl,

Charity may be "fairest and foremost of the train that wait on man's most dignified and happiest state," but the dignity and happiness of man cannot long endure without the health that may be obtained in a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A. W. Parker, lumber dealer, 209 Bleury street, Montreal, Que., writes: "After being troubled with Dyspepsia for a year, and with Salt Rheum

For a Number of Years,

I was cured of both diseases by using six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla." M. G. Traine, Duxbury, Mass., writes: "I have found Ayer's Sarsaparilla an efficacious remedy for bilious troubles and Dyspepsia." Henry Cobb, 41 Russell st., Charlestown, Mass., writes: "I was completely cured of Dyspepsia, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla." Wm. Lee, Joppa, Md., writes: "I have tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it has done me so much good that I shall always regard it as the best of blood purifiers." Eminent physicians prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla in all cases requiring a powerful alterative treatment.

Information Wanted.

The Chief of Police received a letter this morning from Mrs. L. Senecal, 103 St. Margerite street, St. Henri, Montreal, stating that a young man named Denneson, son of Michael Denneson, now dead, was very ill in an hospital there, and was anxious to see his uncle. The uncle's name, the writer thought, was William Denneson, and was thought to be in this vicinity. The Chief of Police will receive and forward any information obtainable.

Personal.

Mr. R. W. Sheridan, so well known and respected when he conducted a book and stationery business here, is now in town with his two sons on a short visit. Mr. Sheridan, after his residence of more than ten years in Brooklyn, N.Y., is much struck with the improvement and progress he notices in Peterborough, and expresses himself as highly gratified by witnessing its advance. His friends will be glad to see him again, and to find that his change of residence has apparently had no unsatisfactory results.

Miss Kate Bertram, accompanied by her father, Mr. John Bertram, leaves by the Grand Trunk Railway this evening at 5.15 for Brantford, to attend the College at that city.

JOHN CLARKE & SONS' Celebrated Razors GEORGE STETHEM.

THE TOWN SCHOOLS.

A Busy Holiday Season—Many Improvements Made.

During the holiday season the town schools have not been empty, as workmen have been busy in making changes and improvements and repairing the buildings and furniture.

According to the requirements of the Government regulations, as stated in the report of Mr. Seath, High School Inspector, the Collegiate Institute accommodation was not sufficient. The Institute has for two years been in the smaller building beside the Central School. Mr. Seath made two suggestions, first, that a new building be erected on a separate site, or, second, that the two upper flats of the Central School building be used for the Institute and accommodation found elsewhere for the public school classes, which would at least have necessitated the building of an addition to one of the present school buildings.

According to the arrangements now completed the Institute will have good accommodation. The four class rooms in the third story and one in the second story of the large Central School building will be used for the Institute. A chemical laboratory has been fitted up in the second story, and has been furnished with a platform fifteen feet long. A counter has been placed on the front of the platform, also fifteen feet long, and fitted up with cupboards under it. A large case has been put in for the chemical apparatus. It has wooden doors on the lower part and glass doors on the upper part. A new floor has been laid, new seats put in, and the desks planed, stained and varnished, and Mr. Bean will have a spacious and well fitted up room in which to drill his class in chemical experiments.

Another room in the same story has been prepared for a library, reception room and assembly room for the teachers. It is in the second story, and the entrance to it is from the tower. A porch has been built at the entrance, so that it is separate from other rooms. A number of reference books have been purchased for the use of the students and teachers, and will be added to the library.

New floors have been laid in eight rooms in the Collegiate Institute and Central School buildings. The old chair seats in the Institute, which were becoming a nuisance, have been removed and have been replaced by one hundred and thirty new double seats. The new seats are comfortable ones and are nice looking. They were furnished by Mr. A. Clegg.

All the desks and seats in these buildings have been planed, stained and varnished, so they now present the appearence of new furniture. Mr. Tighe has tightened the bolts on the seats and done other work about the buildings. The walls have been all washed and calcimined, and the flooring has been repaired in the rooms where new floors have not been laid. Doors, stairs and other woodwork have been repainted, and altogether the Institute and the Central School have now fine rooms and fine buildings in which to resume work after the holidays. The work in the labratory and the porches was done by Messrs. Kincaid & Williams, and the calcimining was done by Mr. T. Billings. Mr. Kribbon laid the new floors and repaired the desks.

The seats and desks in the South Ward school building have also been planed, taking out all the scars and cuts, and painted and grained. The walls have also been calcimined. Mr. Benson did the work in this building.

In the West Ward building the walls have been washed and calcimined.

The schools recommence with tasty furniture and bright rooms, and the improvements will no doubt be acceptible to teachers and students. Mr. W. H. Wrighton, Chairman of the Property Committee, has had charge of the work and has paid close attention to it. The changes and improvements; all the buildings included, will cost about $650.

Dalhousie Street Bridge.

Work is progressing on the bridge across the creek on Dalhousie street. It will have new trusses and other timbers, making it a much more substantial structure, and will be replanked.

Refitting a Store.

This afternoon work was begun on the refitting of the store formerly occupied by the late Isaac Robinson, which has been rented by Mr. Rowse, of Oshawa. New side lights and plate glass doors will be put in, and the store will be refitted with shelving and new furnishings throughout.

Series of Big Auction Sales.

Unheard of low prices for Dry Goods. Where? At the Bon Marche Auction Sale on Saturday, Sept. 4th. Goods are being sold daily and hourly at auction prices, and still the bargains continue. Very cheap and extra good Dry Goods, Ready Made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, and in fact everything you want.

A New Block of Stores.

Work was commenced this morning on a new block of stores on the vacant lot on the corner of George and Charlotte streets, owned by Mr. Geo. A Cox. It will be a large building, facing seventy-five feet on George street and extending back sixty feet on Charlotte street. It will contain one double store and four single ones. The double store will be on the corner and will have three plate glass windows, two on George street and one on Charlotte street. We learn that Mr. Francis Mason will occupy this store with his flower and seed business. The four single stores will face on George street. The building will be constructed of white brick.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

TUESDAY, Aug. 31.—Thomas Bolton was charged by George Boyler with having assaulted him on Aug. 25th. Mr. O'Meara appeared for the defendant and entered a plea of not guilty.

GEORGE BOYLER stated, in giving evidence, that a younger brother of his was driving home geese, when Thomas Bolton took them from him and shut them up in a stable. He (Geo. Boyler) went and let them out. This occurred on Wednesday, on Friday evening he met Bolton, and a dispute took place and Bolton assaulted him, knocking him down and kicking him. He had lost three days on account of the assault and was not all right yet.

WALTER KIDNEY saw Bolton assault and strike Boyler, but did not see a kick given.

GEORGE BOLTON said that Boyler's cattle and geese got into his grain, and he found the geese in on Wednesday and shut them up. The door of the stable was forced open and they were taken out. On Friday evening while talking with him, George Boyler told him he lied. He shook Boyler and gave him a shove, when he fell on some steps. He did not kick him.

The magistrate imposed a fine of $2 and costs and $5 compensation to Boyler.

A Musical Treat.

All who wish to enjoy a musical treat of the first order will not fail to attend the benefit concert of Miss A. Delaney, on Thursday evening, Sept. 2nd, at which two brilliant vocalists will participate from the New England Conservatory, Boston, and many of Peterborough's most talented musicians. The Canoeists Organize.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 31.—The canoeists at Grindstone Island have left for home. They formed a constitution for a central division, with the following officers: Vice-Commodore, R. W. Gibson, Albany; Rear-Commodore, P. Richards, Brockville; Purser, Wm. Black, New York. The executive committee will elect a Commodore and secretary and name the next place of meeting, which will probably be Lake Champlain.

DEBTS COMPARED.

"Enough has been said to prove how abundant and various are the activities of our Canadian brethren. Since Confederation in 1867 the story has been one of steady advance in all directions. Now she has 10,000 miles of railway spread over her broad domain, with projects of sundry branches extending from the main track in all profitable directions. Her debt is something like 42 millions sterling, and it has mostly been expended on useful public works, not much more than the debt of New Zealand, which has only one-tenth of the population. Revenue and expenditure have both grown, and so has trade, with considerable fluctuations, however. The great country westwards is being rapidly taken in; manufactures, as we have seen, are growing with ever increasing rapidity." London (England) Times.

Some Miraculous Results

Have followed the use of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic." It has saved many from becoming bald, and has produced good heads of hair on bald heads where the roots are not all gone. It has relieved hundreds of per son from dandruff, and restored crops of gray and faded hair to their original color. A. Dorenwend, sole manufacturer. For sale everywhere. J. D. Tully, agent for Peterboough.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

☞Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

RIEL AND REFORM.

A FEW days ago the Globe was boasting of the result of Chambly election as a great Liberal triumph, though the only issue debated was whether the execution of the murderous, venal and blasphemous rebel Riel should be avenged by the dismissal of the Macdonald Administration. And now the Globe devotes nearly two editorial columns to the pretence that in the Haldimand election there is no question of Riel's martyrdom, but only the exploded slanders which the Rielite portion of the Reformers invented, but could not in a single instance substantiate.

This pretence is too absurd to impose upon the people of Canada. The official Reform organization cannot pose as the avengers of the murder of Riel in Quebec, in order, as they hope, to sweep that Province, and then be credited in Ontario as having no interest in Riel's death. By its official leaders and its chief organs the Reformers, as a party, have identified themselves with the Riel worshipers, with the advocates of treason and murder. Mr. Blake, their elected chief, and Mr. Laurier, his twin leader as head of the Quebec Reformers, have spoken in favor of Riel in the House, have voted in his favor, and have supported the Rielite candidates. Mr. Mowat, Mr. Fraser and their colleagues, have spoken in the Legislature in praise of Riel, have voted that he was unjustly punished, have suggested a statute for his glorification, and have subsidised and put forward as their candidate a scoundrel named Pacaud, because he canonized Riel and vilified our brave volunteers as thieves, ravishers and murderers. The Globe and its imitators excused and lauded Riel, fostered his rebellion, condemned his execution, and cheered on his disloyal friends and admirers in their plot to avenge his death by punishing the administration that had dared to suffer justice to be done. As an organized party the Reformers are completely implicated in the attempt to punish the chosen statesman of Canada for administering justice with an even hand

We will particularize one instance of this complicity of the Reform organizers with the Riel worshippers, because it is a characteristic and undeniable example. Mr. J. D. Edgar telegraphed in the name of the Toronto Reformers to congratulate Mr. Prefontaine on his success at Chambly as a Reform triumph, though the triumph was that of a candidate whose sole issue was that vengeance must be meeted out in the name of "Race and Creed" upon the Administration for the execution of Riel, rebel and murderer. Neither Mr. Blake, the leader of the Reform party, though a Toronto man, nor the Globe, the chief organ of the Reform party, though a Toronto journal, have uttered a word of repudation of this message sent publicly in their name, and till they do so we and the people of Canada will hold that they authorise the congratulation for this "race and creed" victory, this triumph of the cause of rebellion and murder

It cannot be said either that Mr. Edgar is merely one of the rank and file of the Reform party, who assumes too much in speaking for the organization, for he has several claims to be considered as their representative and mouth piece. He is the personal representative and led captain of the party leader, Mr. Blake, who seated him in his pocket constituency, which in utter violation of the spirit of our constitution, and in imitation of the old Whig boroughmongers, he arranged to have placed at his disposal, that he might foist into Parliament some such creature of his own, masquerading as a representative of the people. Mr. Edgar is also the personal friend and protege of Mr. Mowat, who hired his political services with money filched from an unfortunate son who could not establish his father's marriage, and besides this Mr. Mowat purchased for him out of the Provincial treasury a vacancy in a constituency that he might go to Ottawa as Mr. Blake's lieutenant. Mr. Edgar is also personally interested in and identified with the Globe, the chief organ of the Reform party. And Mr. Edgar has been put prominently forward by the Reform leaders to do their dirty work, to make false declarations on his honor in the House, and to be their go-between in the conspiracy with the friends of the murderer Riel. That Mr. Edgar is duly authorized to speak in the name of the Reform leaders, and of the Reform party, as at present organized, is undeniable in the face of the qualifications we have above enumerated.

We would not, however, even appear to do injustice to any man, and therefore we beg to declare our thorough conviction that Mr. Edgar, while a fitting representative of the official leaders of the Reform party, grossly slandering many Toronto Reformers when he impudently volunteered in their name to express their triumph at the success of disloyalty, and their congratulations at the ephemeral victory of the advocates of crime, of murder and rebellion, crying in the name of "race and creed" for vengence on the administrators of justice. Hundreds of the Reformers of Toronto are too loyal and honest, too true to their country and its laws to be fairly represented by such a mouthpiece or to assent to such a policy.

BULGARIA

Conspirators Flee to Bucharest, but are Expelled—A Series of Ovations.

BUCHAREST, Aug 31.—Three leaders of the conspiracy against Prince Alexander, including the treasurer of the revolutionary fund, took refuge in this city. The Government decided to expel them, and notified the refugees that they must leave. The conspirators thereupon appealed to the Russian legation for protection. Telegrams were passing between the legation and St. Petersburg during the whole of last night. Prince Alexander will arrive at Philippopolis to-morrow.

SERIES OF OVATIONS.

TIRNOVA, August 31.—Prince Alexander's journey here from Sistovia was a series of ovations. The people, headed by the priests, flocked to the different points on the route of the procession and greeted the Prince with joyous shouts of welcome. A large crowd left Tirnova to meet the Prince at a point five miles distant, and escorted him into the town amid great enthusiasm. An address of welcome was presented on behalf of the populace, and in reply Prince Alexander congratulated Tirnova upon having commenced the counter revolution in his favor. It is now said Prince Alexander will probably proceed to Philippopolis to-day.

ALEXANDER'S THANKS.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Prince Alexander, as soon as he arrived at Rustchuk, sent despatches to his father, Queen Victoria, the Emperor Francis Joseph and the King of Roumania, especially thanking the Emperor and King Charles for the kind treatment he received in Austria and Roumania. Prince Louis of Battenberg will return to Bucharest as a guest of Sir William A. White, the British minister there. Zankoff's partisans are crossing in large numbers into Roumania. Bulgarian refugees are returning. The Austrian press attribute Prince Alexander's speedy return to the advice of England.

FORMIDABLE ALLIANCE.

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—A diplomat of this city says if Prince Alexander succeeds in his purpose, which is to establish a triple alliance with Servia and Roumania, the anger of the Czar would be of little avail. Setting aside the 400,000 soldiers of the triple alliance, Turkey would step into the field for Bulgaria and Austria for Servia. In case Russia should be aggressive Germany also would be bound, according to the provisions of the treaty, to assist Austria.

A Princely Present.

WINNIPEG, Man., August 31.—Last night Mr. Egan, the retiring superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was presented with a money testimonial of $10,000, voluntarily contributed by the employes from Port Arthur to Donald. The Board of Trade presented him with an address and the grain merchants gave him a gold watch, valued at $500. He leaves for St. Paul to-morrow. Mr. Van Horne, who is here, says that Mr. Makinnon has not been appointed as Mr. Egan's successor, but that Mr. Whyte, now in England will take hold.

Consolidated Bank Bills.

BAKERSFIELD, California, August 30,—Three well dressed strangers arrived here yesterday, and were detected passing bills on the Consolidated Bank of Montreal, which did not bear the siguatures of the officers of the bank. The bills were of the denomination of ten dollars. A policeman, while attempting to arrest them, was shot through the arm and they escaped. A party of citizens are in pursuit.

LONDON, Aug. 31.— Advices from Corea say that owing to rumours that Russia intended to establish a protectorate in Corea, the Chinese Minister there telegraphed to the Pekin authorities asking that troops be sent to the peninsula, and that the Chinese Government despatched nine men-of-war with troops to Corea and they are now anchored before Chemulpo. The despatches further say that large numbers of Chinese soldiers entered Seooul in the disguise of merchants. Great excitement prevailed in that town. Riotous mobs were parading the streets and conflicts were frequent.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., August 31.—The Government has introduced a bill providing for the celebration of the centenary of New South Wales in January, 1888. It is proposed that the programme shall include a carnival, regatta, universal exhibition, musical festival, review of the colonial forces, and athletic sports. The celebration will be conducted on the grandest scale. The Prince of Wales and other members of the Royal Family and members of the Governments and Parliaments of Canada and other British colonies will be invited.

PRISONERS AT OMDURMAN.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The Daily Telegraph says:—"There are 50,000 Dervishes a short distance south of Wady Halfa on the Nile. The fugitives state that there are two Englishmen prisoners at Omdurman, who strayed from General Stewart's desert column. One is possibly Gordon, a missing special correspondent."

A SEAT FOR MR. HEALEY.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—It is stated that Mr. O'Hanlan will retire from his parliamentary seat for East Cavan, in favor of Mr. Healey.

GEN. BULLER'S MISSION.

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—The Killarney branch of the National League has notified Gen. Sir Redvers Buller of its readiness to give him every possible assistance if the sole object of his mission in Kerry is to suppress crime and outrage. If, however, his mission is to serve the landlords, collect rents and assist at evictions he must depend upon his own resources.

THE CHOLERA RECORD.

ROME, August 31.—The cholera record since the last report shows: Molfella, 6 new cases and 4 deaths, Senmarco in Lamis, 30 new cases and 4 deaths; Rotoundo, 31 new cases and 11 deaths; Bologna, 6 cases and 2 deaths; Ravenna, 11 cases and 2 deaths.

A CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Messrs. Morley, Parnell and Sexton had a conference to-day with reference to the attitude of the Liberal party on Mr. Sexton's amendment to the address relative to the Belfast riots.

AUSTRALIAN EXHIBITION.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—It is expected that Prince Albert Victor will go to Australia to open the Jubilee Exhibition next year.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—In the Commons this afternoon Mr. Michael Hicks-Beach stated that during the riots in Belfast one hundred constable had been killed, five officers and six members of the constabulary had been seriously wounded, and that altogether 322 policemen had been more or less injured.

THE CROFTERS.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Peter Esslemont (Liberal) moved an amendment to the address expressing regret that the Crofters' Act had not removed the grievances of the crofters. The amendment was supported by Messrs. McLaren, Clark and Mason, Gladstonians, and by all the Parnellites. Mr. Mason, in his speech, said Scotland demanded Home Rule.

AN AGGRESSIVE POLICY.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—At a meeting to-day of forty advanced Gladstonian members of Parliament, Mr. Illingworth presiding, it was decided to notify Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. John Morley that the meeting desired that the Home Rule struggle commenced at the recent elections should be strenuously maintained.

AGRARIAN MURDER.

THALEE, Aug. 31.—A farmer named Flashire has been found dead with a bullet through his heart in a field near his home in North Kerry. It is supposed he was murdered because of agrarian troubles.

BEACH WINS A RACE.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The first heat to-day in the international sculling contest was between William Beach, of Australia, and George Bubear, of England. Beach won.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

What $120 Did in a Cottage at the Thousand Islands.

Thirty-one dollars went into the sitting room and never came out; $18 sat down round in the form of a rattan rockers, two painted in cherry and interwoven in the back and arms with pink tissue paper rolled tightly, two in black, with yellow, and two in the original, with blue; $5 lay on the floor in golden brown and seal checked matting; $4 looked very cherry in 49 cent yellow China pongee, hung with small brass rings on a bamboo cane covering a number of sheives, on which were the light novels of the day; 75 cents dropped into the carpenter's hand when the last nail was driven in a tete-a-tete, and $2.60 looked radient in its light flowered, cretonne covered cushions; $1 in two gilded kitchen stools, gaily decorated at the top of each leg with different shades of tissue paper. In the dining room, $8 was metamorphosed into eight pine chairs, varnished with white varnish, which with a cushin, each covered with a different shade of China pongee silk, and tied to the legs with a pretty bow, looked well worth the money; $6 appeared very substantial in a dining table; $1.50 in a leather lambrequin, around a wide shelf, cheapiy does the service of a buffet, and seemed proud of the family silver; $2.60 in 2½ cent cheese cloth and lace, used as sash draperies in all the windows, gave a clean cottage prettiness to the whole house; $16 in an ivory white painted bedroom set, lighted by cherry stained walls and floor of the first bedroom, the opposite room appeared cool and sweet, with its walls of baby blue and a $16 set of same hue. The golden brown and seal matting 31½ cents per yard left $25 to skip into the next room and be changed into an ash stained set and cherry colored matting. When the summer came around the boys of the family shouted with joy. "Hurrah for the Thousand Islands!" The girls danced with glee, and the proud father called from the deck of the boat, as he waved his hand in farewell to his friend on the shore, "Come up and see us now, Robert, in our island home." The friend enviously muttered under his teeth, but he never knew that "island home" only cost $120 to build and furnish.—The Decorato Furnisher.

OUR FUTURE TOWNS.

Historical and Descriptive Notices of Villages.

THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD.

THE MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES AND BUSINESS PLACES.

Unrivalled Water Privileges for Factories—The Public Buildings, Churches and Schools—Facilities for Travelling and Freighting.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS, OFFICES, Etc.

This article being descriptive of Lakefield, the public buildings that should first come under view is the where the Council room is situated. The town hall is a two story building with a basement. The first flat is used as a Council Chamber, and in it, also, the brass band, an institution three months old and including fourteen pieces, hold their practice meetings. The basement is used for the police cells, or lockup. A residence for the caretaker is attached to the Council Chamber. The municipality, took possession of these premises on January 1st last under a five years' lease, with the privilege of purchasing, a privilege that will probably be taken advantage of.

Mr. R. C. Strickland is Reeve of the Municipality, Messrs. Wm. Cox, sr., J. H. McWilliams, John Isbister and James Moore are Councillors, Dr. Alex. Bell is the Village Clerk, and Mr. S. Sherin the Treasurer.

The following are members of the Board of Health:—Mr. W. J. Wallace, Chairman; and Messrs. R. C. Strickland, John Clarin and S. Henderson. Dr. Bell is Medical Health Officer and Secretary and Mr. Geo. Cox acts is Health Inspector.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Mr. Isaac Garbutt is one of the oldest Justices of the Peace in the County, he having been appointed in 1850. In the same year he entered the Smith Council, on its organization, where he served 23 years as Councillor, Deputy-Reeve and Reeve. He was also three years in the Village Council after removing to Lakefield. The other Justices of the Peace are Messrs. John Hull John C. Sherin, John Moore and R. Graham. Mr. Graham is also a License Commissioner. Messrs. J. G. Galvin and Jas. Golborne, J.P.'s, reside near the village.

THE P. C. A. HALL.

The People's Christain Association Hall. erected primarily for religious meetings, and in which Miss Strickland, daughter of Mr. Robert Strickland, frequently gave religious instruction, is still used for that purpose and as a public hall. Its seating capacity is about 600, and it serves the purpose of a hall for general meetings very well. The grounds of the Agricultural Society are on each side of this building, and the hall is used during the exhibitions for displaying the fancy work, ladies' work, etc.

DIVISION COURT OFFICES.

The office of the Clerk of the Division Court, Mr. S. Sherin, is a small but neat brick building. Mr. Sherin is also a conveyancer and commissioner, an issuer of marriage licenses and agent for insurance companies.

POST OFFICE AND TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

The post office and office of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company are in the same building, and are connected with the store of Mr. W. H. Casement, who has been postmaster since 1876, and is agent for the Telegraph Company. The post office and telegraph office are convenient and well arranged for village offices.

TELEPHONE OFFICE.

The office of the Bell Telephone Company and the central office of the village telephone system are in the store of Mr. T. J. Bird. There are eleven instruments in use in the village, a fairly large number. The village is connected with the Trunk line of the telephone system, and is, therefore, within speakable distance of the cities and towns of the Province.

EXPRESS OFFICE.

The office of the Canadian Express Company is at the railway station, and Mr. J. Edwards, Grand Trunk station agent, is also agent for the Express Company.

GENERAL AGENT.

Mr. C. J. Blomfield, general agent, represents several insurance companies, and is agent for the Central Canada Loan and Savings Co., and the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company. He is also a real estate agent, and for the purchase of stocks, bonds, debentures, etc.

THE LEGAL PROFESSION.

Mr. John Crickmore, barrister, etc., represents the legal profession in Lakefield.

MEDICAL PROFESSION.

The members of the medical profession who reside in Lakefield are Dr. Bell (Village Clerk), Dr. Caldwell and Dr. Fraser.

THE SKATING RINK.

There is a very good skating rink building near the station, owned by Messrs. Wright & Eden. It is a frame building, about 200 feet long and 40 wide, and is well patronized during the ice skating season.

RAILWAY AND STEAMBOATS.

Lakefield has good travelling and freighting facilities. It is the terminus of the Lakefield branch of the and trains run to Lakefield twice a day, one arriving in the village at 9.30 o'clock in the forenoon, connecting with the steamers on the lakes, and the other at 7.15 o'clock in the evening. The railway station is a neat and commodious building, and there is considerable traffic on the line, especially in the summer. Mr. J. Edwards is station agent at the village.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY,

THE STEAMER CRUISER.

The steamer Cruiser runs from Lakefield to Stoney Lake and Burleigh Falls, calling at the beautiful islands on the route. She is allowed to carry 72 passengers, but the largest number she has carried at one time this season was 43. The steamer has two cabins, a forward and an aft cabin, and there is a space between the forward cabin and the bow where passengers can enjoy the lake breezes and view the delightful scenery. The engine room is between the two cabins, but there is a walk on each side of the engine room for passengers to pass from one cabin to the other, the engine room being a couple of feet lower than these walks. The captain's cabin and wheel house are on the upper deck. Capt. R. Eden, the master of the vessel, had seventeen years' experience on the salt water and has been three years on the Cruiser. The captain and boat hands are most obliging and are popular with tourists. This received a demonstration last week when, on the return of the boat to the wharf, lady passengers presented the captain with a splendid boquet.

THE STEAMER FAIRY.

The tidy little steamer Fairy also runs between Lakefield, Stoney Lake and Burleigh Falls, and the islands, camping grounds and summer resorts on the route. She is registered to carry forty passengers. There is a pleasant cabin aft of the engine room and an open space forward. The Fairy can cut through the water at a good rate of speed and is a pleasant vessel to take the voyage up Stoney Lake in. Capt. C. Grylls is master of the vessel, and the captain, as well as the other hands on the boat, are obliging and attentive to passengers.

THE STEAMER IRENE.

The steamer Irene, owned by Mr. Geo. Goodwin, contractor for the Trent Valley Canal works at Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn, is used for towing material to the works, which work keeps the steamer pretty busy.

STEAM YACHT UNDINE.

The Undine, a small pleasure yacht, run by steam. She is about thirty feet long, and is owned by Mr. G. Strickland. These waters are well adapted for pleasure sailing and the Undine is a vessel in which much enjoyment can be had.

LAKEFIELD'S HOTELS.

Lakefield is provided with very good hotel accommodation, there being four hotels in the village; yet a large hotel especially adapted for summer tourists ought to do a good business if one were established at this place.

THE MIDLAND HOUSE.

The Midland House is now in the hands of our old friend Mr. Leon Dion, formally captain of the steamer Golden Fye. This hotel is a large three story building, has a sitting room, bar room, etc., on the ground flour, besides two parlours in the second story and comfortable sleeping rooms. A good yard and stabling are connectsd with it.

THE BLAKELY HOUSE.

The proprietor of the Blakely House, Mr. R. Purser, is also well known in Peterborough, as he was proprietor of an hotel in the town for some time. The Blakely House is an old established hotel, with commodious rooms, dining hall, &c., and has a spacious yard room and stabling.

THE PETIT HOUSE.

The Petit House, on the Smithtown side of the river, is also a very good lodging house for travellers. Mr. Thomas Petit is the proprietor of this hotel and has given his name to the house. It furnishes very good accommodation, and has good stabling.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE.

Of the fourth hotel, known as the American House, Mr. Thomas Mason is proprietor. It is singular in being the only hotel in Lakefield that is not painted white. It has fair stabling and yard room.

BUILDINGS FOR DIVINE WORSHIP.

Lakefield is possessed of four churches, all of the Protestant denomination, and a Salvation Army "barracks" besides the People's Christian Association Hall The village is well supplied with church accommodation, as the four edifices belonging to the regular church bodies are large enough to admit the whole population to worship and to listen to the preaching of the Word.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

The first building erected for public worship in Lakefield was Christ Church, by the Church of England. It was built about the year 1855 and was consecrated in 1858. It is now used as a Sunday school room, a larger and handsomer church having been erected by the congregation in 1865. The new edifice is known as St. John the Baptist Church. It is a substantial stone building with limestone facing, and has a seating capacity of about 250. Mr. Jonathan Griffin was the contractor for its construction. A new porch and bell tower were added to it last year being erected in memory of the late Col. S. Strickland by his sons. The interior of the church is handsomely finished. It is colored in terra cotta, with chocolate dado, and scrolls in crimson and gold. There is a large chancel beautifully ornamented with gold fleur de lis with an elegant stained glass window put in in memory of Thomas W. Boker and Miss Kathleen I. S. Strickland, daughter of Mr. Geo. Strickland. An excellent furnace for heating the building was put in last year.

The old church (the present Sunday school room) is a picturesque building. The walls are of solid stone, about two feet and a half thick. The belfry and walls are covered with vines. In the rear of the church is the cemetery formerly used. The average attendance at the Sunday School is about 50, and there are 80 names on the roll.

The first incumbent was the Rev. Percy S. Warren, who was followed by the Rev. Vincent Clementi, the Rev. G. J. Everest, the Rev. E. Horris Mussen, the Rev. C. R. Bell, and the Rev. John Farncomb is the present incumbent. Messrs. H. J. LeFevre and S. Sheldrake are the Church Wardens.

The Church of England parsonage is near the Church. It is a two-story white brick building, with a very nice lawn, the beauty of which is enhanced by a cedar hedge.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The Methodist Church is a frame building, painted white, on Regent street. The church was built in 1862, and has since been twice enlarged—in 1869, when its length was increased, and in 1884, on the occasion of the union of the Methodist and Bible Christain churches, when the walls were extended on each side. The seating capacity of the building is about 500. The first Methodist minister in Lakefield was the Rev. David Hardy, who went there in 1859. The following clergymen have since ministered in the Methodist Church, viz., the Rev. D. A. Johnston, the Rev. E. H. Coyle, the Rev. Wm. Sheridan, the Rev. W. H. Scofield, who died in Lakefield. The Rev. B. Dundas filled the remainder of Mr. Scofield's term, and was followed by the Rev. H. McDowell, the Rev. W. L. Scott, the Rev. Isaac Weldon, the Rev. Geo. Washington, the Rev. Wm. Johnston, and the Rev. James McFarlane, the present pastor. There are about 175 names on the Sunday school roll and the average attendance at the school is about 150. Mr. J. C. Sherin is the superintendent, and has been for many years.

The parsonage, beside the church, is a two story building, constructed of red brick with white brick facings, and there is a neat lawn connected with it.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Presbyterian Church, a stone building faced with cut stone, was built is 1862 and was opened the first Sunday in February, 1863. The Rev. J. M. Roger was the first pastor, and he was followed by the Rev. J. Thom, who remained five years. The Rev. M. Clarke was the next pastor, and was succeeded in October last by the Rev. J. McEwen, the present pastor. The seating capacity of the church are about 350. The affairs of the church are in a prosperous condition. It is comfortably seated, and the walls are tinted a light green color, with a brown dado bordering on a green ground. The average attendance at the Sunday school is about 120, and there are 160 names on the roll. The Rev. Mr. McEwen is the Superintendent. The school contributes each year for missionary purposes about $90.

The manse stands near the church—a good dwelling with very nice grounds.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Baptist Church was built in 1863. It is a neat and substantially built brick building, and its seating capacity is about 200 or 250. The Rev. John Gilmour was the first Baptist clergyman who held services in Lakefield. He was succeeded by the Rev. E. Roberts, the Rev. Mr. Stock, the Rev. Mr. Deyell, the Rev. Mr. Ratcliffe, and the Rev. A. E. de St. Dalmas, the present pastor.

The Baptish Church on the "English line," Smith, was the first church in Smith township. It was built about the year 1845, through the influence and exertions of the Rev. John Gilmour.

The average attendance at the Sunday School of the Baptist Church, Lakefield, is about 40. Mr. Wellington McDonald is the Superintendent of the school.

THE BARRACKS.

The Lakefield branch of the Salvation Army occupies the building—a white frame one—formerly used by the Bible Christian Church. The seating capacity of the building is about 200.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

THE DIFFERENCE.

The Montreal Star professes no love for Riel or his friends, but thinks the Gazette should not list him with the Chicago Anarchists. Certainly not. The latter took the risk of being killed either by the police or by balls of their own making, while Riel put up Dumont to face the visiting team's battery, while securing a seat for self and family in the grand stand.—Toronto World (Indep.)

A GOOD SIGN.

May we be permitted to say that if Mr. Blaine, Mr. Blake and the Hon. Peter Mitchell were pleased with the manner in which our fishing interests are guarded, the Spectator would fear that something was wrong. As the cummies of the government are annoyed and angry, we are strongly tempted to think that things are going on in a fairly satisfactory manner.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE "NATIONAL CONSERVATIVES."

The announcement made in La Presse of yesterday, that it did not think its friends, the "National Conservatives," were receiving that "confidence" from the Liberals which they deserved, and that the Liberals had so arranged it that they alone might profit by the common victory, is deliciously frank and outspoken. It is somewhat out of the common to hear it stated so unreservedly that position and place are what the National Conservatives want.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

MR. BLAINE AND THE FISHERIES.

Mr. Blaine's indignant reference to the fact that this country had to pay Canada $5,500,000 for nothing under the Halifax award hardly seemed to bring out with clearness the other fact that this was done under a Republican administration. When the democracy of the state department has achieved two such blunders as the repeal of the Canadian reciprocity treaty and the Halifax arbitration, then there will be something to talk about.—From the Springfield Republican.

THE MODERATES.

The moderate men of Ontario have made up their minds that the Dominion government shall not be punished, for permitting a felon to be executed—that the race and revenge party shall not establish the principle that a French Canadian may commit crime with impunity—that Quebec shall not pull down and set up governments solely in the interest of the French Canadians.—Hamilton Spectator.

GOOD MEN AND TIME.

Party government we must have, but the exigencies of party must be made to stand aside when our unity, prosperity and absolute existence as a country comes to the front. All good men and true must acknowledge this and should act accordingly. Let the Reformers of Haldimand upset the Dominion Government if they can by all means. We respect their inborn, or afterwards acquired convictions, but we respectfully ask them to weigh well the effect on the future of their country, it will have to send a man to represent them who supports Mr. Blake in saying that "Riel should not be hung because he is a Frenchman," and say it simply to get French support. The French have a right to a "say" in the government of Canada, but not a right to all the "say." The secessionists of Nova Scotia have also a right to be heard, but intelligent Reformers should not back them up in any way in demanding a disruption of the union. Mr. Coulter of Cayuga the other night could not be induced to say he was opposed to French domination or secession, but confined himself to issues—dead or no longer of consequence. This will hurt his cause very materially with the Germans of Rainham and South Cayuga and others.—Port Dover Maple Leaf (Indep.)

FOR THE HERRING POND.

A Grand Scheme for a "Canadian Pacific Trans-Atlantic Steamship Line."

The already published rumor to the effect that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company seriously intend competing for the Atlantic mail service as soon as the present contract expires, was again the topic of conversation in business circles this morning. The Company is now said to be thinking of building on the Clyde eight magnificent steamships, boats that will have every one of the latest improvements, equal to, and if possible in advance of such vessels as the Etruria, City of Rome and Alaska. The Canadian summer terminus—so runs the story—will be Montreal. There will be no delays or transhipment at either Rimouski or Quebec, the new boats being built so fast that no time would be lost by the mail and passengers remaining on board until they reached Montreal. As for the cost, no expense is to be spared, and all the way from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 apiece is mentioned as the price of the vessels.

"But it has already been rumored," remarked a Witness reporter to a gentleman who was expatiating on the grandeur of these coming leviathans, "that the Company would buy up a fleet of steamers, nearly new, that were in the Mexican trade."

"Nonsense. They might for the Pacific, but not for the Atlantic route. The scheme is a grand one, and the Pacific is the Company to push it through. Lots of money can be borrowed at a low rate in England if they want it."

On visiting the company's office, it was learned that Mr. Drinkwater was at Ottawa, but that nothing further than the original rumor had reached the ears of the officials seen. They seemed, however, to think that "there might be something in it, and moreover, whatever the Pacific did, the public might rest assured would be done well."

One of the objects of Mr. Andrew Allan's visit to England, it is said, is the pushing towards completion of their SS. Numidian, of 6,100 tons, advertised as "building" for a long time, so as to be ready for next season when the present mail contract expires.

One or two merchants spoken to on the subject were of the opinion that, if our Canadian line was to hold its own, new vessels equal to those sailing to New York would have to be put on, when Montreal would get her full share of the best of the ocean and transcontinental passenger travel.—Montreal Witness.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

The harbour dredging at Belleville is to consist of a long channel 250 feet wide from a point a short distance south of the lower bridge, heading a little to the westward, through the gravel bar which fronts the western branch of the river out into the bay until ten feet of water is reached. This channel will be about three thousand feet long.

Whether or Not

you believe that consumption is an infectious disease, transmitted by tubercular parasites, the fact that Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is capable of restoring a healthy condition of the lungs however affected, is one which does not admit of question. At the very first intimation of consumptive tendencies, whether in the form of a persistent cough, general debility, loss of appetite, night-sweats or frequent and depressing chills, you should secure a bottle of the "Golden Medical Discovery." It will purify the blood, tone up the system, and remove consumptive symptoms by removing their cause.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites,

Possesses in the fullest degree the tonic and stimulating properties of the Hypophosphites combined with the healing, strengthening and fattening qualities of the Cod Liver Oil in a perfectly agreeable form, of wonderful value in Consumption, Debility and Wasting Diseases.

Some Miraculous Results

Have followed the use of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic." It has saved many from becoming bald, and has produced good heads of hair on bald heads where the roots are not all gone. It has relieved hundreds of per son from dandruff, and restored crops of gray and faded hair to their original color. A. Dorenwend, sole manufacturer. For sale everywhere. J. D. Series of Big Auction Sales.

Unheard of low prices for Dry Goods. Where? At the Bon Marche Auction Sale on Saturday, Sept. 4th. Goods are being sold daily and hourly at auction prices, and still the bargains continue. Very cheap and extra good Dry Goods, Ready Made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, and in fact everything you want.

True Blue Picnic.

McWilliams Lodge of Orange True Blues held a picnic on Tuesday. A number of members and friends, in all making a large attendance, went down the river in the steamer Golden Eye to Campbelltown, where the picnic was held. The principal amusements during the day were dancing, boating, baseball and rifle shooting. The sail down and back was pleasant, and a very enjoyable time was spent by the excursionists.

Norwood Model School.

We are requested to state that the Norwood Model School will re-open on the second Tuesday in September, when it is expected this school will re-commence its duties under still more favorable auspices than the preceding terms deservedly enjoyed. We are glad to learn that this institution is doing remarkably good work, reflecting great credit on its painstaking teacher, Mr. A. Hutchinson, and that the coming term is likely to have its full quota of pupils. Pupils attending the Norwood Model School will have no difficulty in obtaining good board and accommodation in that lively suburban village.

Pop Factory Burned.

Mr. John Trebell's pop and ginger ale factory, on Harvey street, was consumed by fire this forenoon. An alarm was sounded before nine o'clock. The firemen attached the hose to a hydrant on Water street, and ran it about five hundred feet to the fire. The building was surrounded by the lumber piling grounds of Mr. Hazlitt's saw mill, and by other frame buildings, but the work of the firemen and energetic action with a hand fire engine, confined the flames to the pop factory. The building was almost entirely destroyed, but the machinery was got out, though damaged somewhat. With the damage to machinery and with the inconvenience and loss of time which will ensue, Mr. Trebell's loss will be considerable. The machinery was insured for $1,000. The building was owned by Mr. James Fox, and the loss on it will probably be about $400 or $500; insured for $300 in the London, Liverpool and Globe.

Dog Poisoned.

This forenoon a valuable dog belonging to Mr. C. B. Routley expired on George street, opposite the Golden Lion, evidently from the effects of poison. The dog was of the King Charles breed and was highly valued by its owner. It wore the corporation tag. Mr. Routley will give a liberal reward for information that will lead to the conviction of the parties who poisoned the animal.

A Musical Treat.

All who wish to enjoy a musical treat of the first order will not fail to attend the benefit concert of Miss A. Delaney, on Thursday evening, Sept. 2nd, at which two brilliant vocalists will participate from the New England Conservatory, Boston, and many of Peterborough's most talented musicians. The Boston Globe, in a lengthy critical review of Miss M. H. O'Reilly, says: "At the regular quarterly concert of the New England Conservatory, held on the 14th, 'Bel Raggio,' from Semiramide, was given by Miss M. H. O'Reilly in a pure musical soprano of the finest quality, showing a high degree of cultivation and a graceful dramatic style."

Church Improvements.

Tenders are asked for the work of making alterations in the George street Methodist Church. A large new organ has been ordered, and before it is put in the changes will be made in the building. The present organ loft will be removed and the instrument will be placed in the rear of the pulpit, and the choir platform will be level with the pulpit platform. The reading desk will also be moved back, the organ, choir and pulpit to occupy the space now devoted to the vestry. Small galleries will be left in the transepts, on the same level as the side galleries. A peculiar feature of the new organ will be that the key board will project so that the organist will have command of the choir, the members of which will be in front instead of behind him. The changes will give more space in the building for seating purposes, making room for the addition of seventy or eighty first class seats. More seating space is needed in the church, as pews are always in demand, and the additional room will be a satisfactory change. The seats in the trapsepts will also be more desirable pews after the alterations are completed. With the new musical instrument and the alterations in the building the church will be much improved.

Every department in the "Golden Lion" is being rapidly filled with choicest goods to be procured in the English French and German markets. R. FAIR.

REVIEWS.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—Godey for September is a particularly handsome number. The opening illustration is an especially fine process cut entitled "Papa's Pocket-book," showing a chubby little one intent upon putting up dollie's curls with the bank notes found in the book; this is from a French picture, a companion to the one given last month. The fashions in colors and black show all the latest novelties for early autumn. A pretty colored work design, and numerous black ones delight the lovers of needlework. A serial entitled "A Wave o' the Sea," from the pen of the popular and favorite author, Miss Marian Reeves, is commenced in this number and promises to be unusually attractive. Emily Lennox contributes a bright little story called "Jacot." "The Coronet of Thorns," by J. V. Pritchard, is completed; this has proved of thrilling interest to the readers of Godey for the past six months. "Gardeen," by Elizabeth Ingram Hubbard, "Daisy Lovell," by Saidee Betts Smith, "The Great Scamperton Fair," by L. A. Corry, and numerous other stories. Several good poems adorn the number, among which is "A September Sunrise," by George Birdseye. "The Marriage of Cœur de Lion," by Mary Green Young, "When Last I Saw You," by Minnie MacAarthur, and others, the whole completing a number of more than usual excellence.

MIND RULES MATTER.

INSTANCES OF STRANGE CURES HAVING BEEN EFFECTED

By Psycologic Influence, Unaided by Internal Potions or External Liniment—A Doctor's Story.s

"In your long and varied experience in the practice of medicine," asked the REVIEW reporter while speaking with a prominent local physician this morning, "did you ever come across a case in which a chronic disease was cured by the influence of the mind, unaided by the application of medicinal restoratives?"

"Oh yes! I know of numbers of such cases and I have attended them myself."

"Can you give me an instance of such a cure?"

"Well," mused the doctor, thoughtfully stroking his beard, "I remember the case of a young girl who was prostrated with a spinal irritation. She had been disappointed in love and her nervous system had been so violently disturbed that she was rendered bedfast with scarcely a hope of being relieved. Many medical gentlemen were called in attendance. Each went through the customary diagnosis and the customary medicinal treatment: but the girl still lay in her bed. She had been there ten years when I was called to see her. I knew, bearing the history of the case, that it was of no use to try the same old sheep-walk treatment; I abandoned that idea at once. What I resolved to do was to effect some powerful influence on her mind. I commenced my treatment by announcing to her that her case was not a serious one at all—that she would be able to get up during the next week. I emphasized this statement every day. She believed me. To assist her faith I gave her two or three powders made of bread and flour. The day before the appointed one for her resurrection I told her that there was no possible doubt of her being able to get up and walk around on the following day. The day came; I went to her; she arose, dressed and walked around, and soon became strong."

"A similar instance has occurred near Peterborough," followed the reporter. "A man, well known here, has been troubled these last few years with an obstinate stomach trouble. He has lost flesh week by week and month by month till at last he became as gaunt and thin as an afternoon shadow. To make matters worse, he was attacked with heart disease. Every few days the vital pump would flutter and stop up, and threaten never to start again; and on these occasions there would be great flutterings in the family. One day matters seemed to have come to a crisis. The doctor shook his head, looked gloomy and sadly told the wife that her husband would depart this life soon—in twenty-four hours perhaps, but not later than a few days. The lugubrious news was communicated in whispers to the rest of the family, each member of which in due time burst into melancholy expressions of grief. The preacher was called and all of the family, together with friends and relations, were marshalled into the room to take part in prayer. Their orisons were interrupted by an enterprising undertaker, who, scenting a job, came to look after business in person. He dropped on one knee and feasted his eyes on the bed-fast victim. The prayers were said. But the good man's words spread no soothing calm over the soul of the invalid. That individual was not exercising his auricular organs; he was looking steadily on the undertaker and wondering at his brass. Gradually his indignation rose till, to use his own words; "I felt like kicking him out." From that hour the invalid had no intention of dying. His spirits rose with his indignation; the flutterings ceased; the family and friends and relations wiped away their tears, and the undertaker sorrowfully departed. The man is now able to eat a square meal and is on a fair way to robust health.

Schools Re-opened.

The Collegiate Institute and public schools were re-opened this morning after the summer vacations, all except one room in the Central School, in which the new paint was not quite dry. The students belonging to this room were given an additional holiday.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

☞ Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

DUMAIS AND EDGAR.

Mr. R. Prefontaine, M. P., has, says La Presse, received the following letter from Michel Dumais, fils., the ex-lieutenant of Riel and Gabriel Dumont during the Northwest rebellion:—

PEMBINA, CO., DAKOTA,
August 16, 1886.

My Dear Mr. Prefontaine and friend of the good cause:

SIR,—Not knowing you personally, but being well informed by friends in Canada of your honorable reputation, I make it my duty to congratulate you on the great victory which you and your patriot friends have just won in the county of Chambly, for the representation of the said county in the House of Commons at Ottawa.

Very dear sir and friend, it is not without necessity that we should congratulate all those of our friends who will be elected for the Commons.

We have such a want of men to defend on constitutional grounds the poor little Metis people, already ruined by the troubles of 1885. We had already in Parliament men in whom we did repose full confidence, but alas, the love of money, of honor and of power have made them forget the Metis and their dearest interests.

I am Michael Dumais, the same who crossed the lines with Gabriel Dumont after the unfortunate events.

Pardon me if I write you without knowing you, but, all the same, good friends are often made by correspondence.

I hope that if the means permit me I will make a tour and see in person my good friends in Canada who are to me yet unknown.

Adieu, dear sir,
I have the honor, etc.,
MICHAEL DUMAIS, FILS.

For purposes of comparison we append the telegram sent to Mr. Prefontaine in the name of the Liberals of Toronto by Mr. Edgar, the personal representative of Mr. Blake:—

TORONTO, July, 30.

The Liberals of Toronto congratulate you on your splendid victory. Welcome to our colleague.

J. D. EDGAR.

Fatal Accident at Sorel.

SOREL, Que., Sept. 1.—A very sad drowning accident occurred this morning to a young man named Langlad, a cousin of the one who was so horribly mutilated by a train running over him at St. Roch, on the Montreal and Sorel Railway the other day. According to the account gleaned from a boy, it would appear that he was hunting at the Sorel Islands with Mr. W. M. Boivin, contractor of this town, and on seeing a flock of ducks approaching in their direction, Langlad quickly arose in the canoe with his gun in readiness, and in so doing lost his balance, thus causing the canoe to capsize. On Mr. Boivin, who was with him, rising above the surface the unfortunate fellow had disappeared with his gun, ammunition, etc. All efforts to recover the body have thus far failed. He was a joiner by trade, and had been in Mr. Boivin's embloy for some time.

A Canadian in Trouble.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 1.—Frank X. Bryon, a Canadian, here on his wedding tour, was arrested on Saturday, charged with forgery and embezzlement in obtaining money from several Boston business men by pretending to sell them valuable real estate upon forged title deeds. Six weeks ago he married Miss Florence Kane in Topeka, Kas. Since his arrest it has been learned that Byron is wanted in Topeka for forgery and bigamy. His victim, Miss Kane, clung to him, and refused to credit the charges against him until this morning, when he proved to her that he now had a wife and child living in Topeka.

CHARLESTON WRECKED.

Damage by the Earthquake—Over Sixty Persons Killed and Wounded.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 1.—An earthquake such as has never before been known in the history of this city swept over Charleston last night shortly after 10 o'clock, causing more loss and injury to property and far more loss of life than the cyclone of the year before. The city is wrecked. The streets are encumbered with a mass of fallen bricks and tangled telegraph and telephone wires, and up to an early hour it was almost impossible to pass from one part of the city to another. The first shock was the most severe. Most of of the people with their families passed the night in the streets, which even this morning are crowded with people afraid to re enter their homes. More than sixty persons were killed and wounded, chiefly colored. Among the whites killed and fatally injured are M. J. Lynch, Dr. R. Alexander Hammond and Ainsley Robinson. Fires broke out in different parts of the city immediately after the earthquake, and some are still burning, but there is no danger of them spreading. There is no way of leaving the city at present.

THE WRECKED CITY.

Charleston, a port of entry, capital of a county of its own name and the largest city of South Carolina, is situated on a tongue of land between the rivers Ashley and Cooper, which unite immediately below the town, and form a good and spacious harbor, communicating with the ocean at Sullivan's Island, 7 miles below. It is 118 miles N. E. of Savannah, 580 miles S. W. of Baltimore, and 580 miles from Washington. Lat. 32° 46 N. Long., 75° 57' W. Cooper and Ashley rivers are from 30 to 40 feet deep, the former 1,400 and the latter 2,100 yards wide. The ground on which the city is built is elevated some eight or nine feet above the level of the harbor at high tide, which rises about six feet, flowing by the city with a strong current. It has a water front of nine miles. A sand bar extends across the mouth of the harbor, affording, however, two entrances, of which the deepest, near Sullivan's Island, has 18 feet of water at low tide. The harbor is defended by Castle Pickney and Fort Sumter, each on an island, the former two and the latter six miles below the city and also by Fort Moultrie on Sullivan's Island. Charleston is regularly built and extends about three miles in length, and nearly one and a half in breadth. The streets, many which are from 60 to 70 feet broad, and bordered with beautiful shade trees, pass for the most part, parallel to one another, from the Cooper to the Ashley River, and are intersected by others nearly at right angles.

IN CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—A singular effect of last night's earthquake was a very general feeling of dizziness that it caused. Nine people out of ten imagined that they were sick, and many did not know till this morning that the disturbance was in mother earth. About twenty or thirty meetings of lodges and societies were broken up without a motion to adjourn. The most decided shock was felt at Cummingsville, where lights were put ont and bottles broken in drug stores. The shock was general throughout the state, and it occurred almost at the same instaut. At Cattleburg, Ky., and Huntington, W. Va., the shock was very severe, people rushed out of their houses with children screaming. The swaying motion seemed to indicate that the houses were falling.

ELSEWHERE

LYNCHBURG, Va., September 1.—Specials from throughout South-Western Virginia and Eastern Tennessee report severe shocks of earthquake, lasting from three to five minutes, about 10 p. m. last night.

MAGNETIC STORM.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., September 1.—A magnetic storm has been raging all the forenoon, and the swaying of the heavy magnetic needles for the detection of earth currents is very great.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Crofters' Amendment Rejected—Mr. Sexton's Belfast Amendment Comes up.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—In the House of Commons last night Mr. Esslemont's crofters' amendment was finally rejected by a vote of 203 to 121.

MR. SEXTON'S AMENDMENT.

Mr. Parnell asked whether the Government would give an evening sitting for the consideration of Mr. Sexton's amendment relative to the Belfast riots. Lord Randolph Churchill said the Government could not grant an evening, because it would prolong the debate through the week. In the evening Mr. Sexton moved his amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech. In offering his amendment Mr. Sexton denied that he had acted contemptously. He charged that the riots in Belfast had been conceived and prosecuted in the interests of the present Government. Mr. Sexton concluded by asking Lord Randolph Churchill what he intended to do to remedy the frightful consequences of his own acts.

SIR M. HICKS-BEACH'S REPLY.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach denied absolutely that Lord Randolph Churchill's action had in any wise led to the Belfast troubles. He feared that the difficulty of the position would be materially increased by Mr. Sexton's statements, and he earnestly implored the Parnellites to refrain from saying anything that would be likely to provoke the unfortunate feeling which had originated the riots.

Early Frosts.

ST. PAUL, Minn., September 1.—Specials from different parts of Minnesota and Dakota, show that there was a general frost on Monday night and the night before. Garden truck and late corn were damaged.

CHICAGO, September 1.—Signal Service office reports indicate heavy frosts in Michigan and Wisconsin. There was no frost in Iowa, but possibly light frost in Northern Illinois and Indiana for to-day.

Yellow Fever.

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 1.—Rumors of the appearance of yellow fever at the Beloxi, Mississippi, ship island quarantine are prevalent here. It is reported to deaths occurred on Sunday, both children.

Three Negroes Lynched.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 1.—Three negroes were lynched near McNut Lake, Lefore county on Tuesday night, for attempted assault on some young ladies.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

POLICY OF THE DISSIDENTS.

LONDON, September 1.—The dissident Liberals are making arrangements to hold a meeting to discuss their future policy.

DR. WINDTHORST'S OPINION.

LONDON, September 1.— Dr. Windthorst, the German clerical leader, thinks Prince Bismark is doing all in his power to destroy his reputation as a great statesman.

TO RESIST RUSSIAN OCCUPATION.

PARIS, September 1.—The Journal des Debats publishes an interview with Prince Alexander of Hesse, father of Prince Alexander, in which he declares that Bulgaria would resist any attempt on the part of Russia to occupy the country, and that the hostilities which would follow would compromise the relations existing between the three Empires.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED.

BELFAST, September 1.—The police have resumed patrol duty along the Shankhill road. Crowds have assembled in different parts of the city, No disorders has yet taken place, but there is considerable anxiety as to the outcome of the night.

AUSTRO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

VIENNA, September 1.—The Fremdenblatt, commenting on the North German Gazette's apparent insinuation that an understanding exists between Austria and Russia regarding their respective spheres in the Balkans asserts emphatically that such an impression is erroneous.

A BATH BURNED.

LONDON, SEPT. 4.—The great bath at Schevingen, on the North Sea, in Holland, was burned to-day. The Casino was also destroyed. The total loss will not fall short of $800,000. There was panic among the bathing visitors and inhabitants of the Hague. Within two hours the splendid building, including ball-rooms, conversation halls and reading-rooms were completely gutted and all the magnificent furniture was consumed. The walls are now crumbling.

A VOLCANO.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The captain of a steamer just arrived at Malta reports that on August 30th, when his ship was fourteen miles to the north of the island of Galita, off Turin, in the Mediterranean, he noticed the highest peak on the eastern end of the island was in a state of eruption, ejecting smoke from a crater like Mount Etna.

AN EXPLOSIVE.

DUBLIN, Sep. 1.—Mrs. Hays, a widow living near Limerick, was yesterday evicted by her landlady, Mrs. Ryan. Last night an iron tube filled with explosives, connected with a lighted fuse, was thrown into the residence of one of Mrs. Ryan's sons. The fuse was quenched before an explosion could occur.

SOLDIERS ARRESTED.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—A despatch from Birr says some soldiers belonging to Prince Albert's Regiment have been arrested for refusing to assist at evictions.

BEACH WINDS THE DECIDING HEAT.

LONDON, September 1.—In the deciding heat in the international sculling sweepstakes, between Beach and Teemer, Beach won.

TRYING TO REVENGE HIMSELF.

PARIS, September 1.—Le Matin says that Bismarck, having been duped by Russia, is now trying to revenge himself on France.

SIMLA, Aug. 31.—It is believed the Ameer of Afghanistan is meditating an attack upon Kaffirstan.

BULGARIA.

Sofia Awaiting the Prince's Return—Revolutionary Troops Disarmed.

PREPARING A WELCOME.

SOFIA, Sept. 1.—Col. Mulkeroff and his troops arrived here yesterday and received an enthusiastic welcome. The city is calm, but preparations are being made for a joyful welcome to Prince Alexander.

REBEL TROOPS CAPTURED.

Zankoff, the Russian who was the leading spirit in the recent revolution, has been arrested. He has been placed under a strong guard, as it is feared he may commit suicide. The revolutionary troops retreated to the heights of Sofia, which they occupied. The loyalist troops surrounded them, compelled them to surrender and then disarmed them, placing the officers under arrest.

THE PRINCE AT PHILIPPOPOLIS.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Sept. 1.—Prince Alexander arrived here to-day and met with an enthusiastic reception. He will probably reach Sofia on Friday.

RUSSIAN INTERFERENCE.

PARIS, Sept. 1.—The Journal des Debats publishes an interview with Prince Alexander of Hesse, father of Prince Alexander, in which he declares Bulgaria would resist any attempt on the part of Russia to occupy the country, and that the hostilities which would follow would compromise the pacific relations existing between the three empires.

THE EMPEROR AND THE PRINCE.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—It is rumoured that the Emperor William has intimated to Prince Alexander that circumstances compel the striking off of his name from the Prussian army roll.

PRINCE ALEXANDER'S RETURN A MISTAKE.

VIENNA, Sept. 1.—It is reported that the powers replied to Turkey that they accept Prince Alexander's restoration un fait accompli, but add that in the interest of European peace his return was undesirable.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1886.

IRELAND'S GREAT WANT.

THE government of a country is, after all, only a means to an end. It is an organization by which a civilized community manages such of its affairs as cannot be conveniently or profitably left to individual action. The prosperity, happiness and freedom of the people, with a due regard to order and the rights of others, is the end to be attained, and no mere change of the form of government can be satisfactory unless it has such results.

Whatever the future form of the government of Ireland may be, it cannot prosper as it ought, and as we all wish to see it, till a remedy is found for one great evil which lies at the very root of its difficulties, till the greatest wrong ever inflicted upon it is redressed.

To those who have carefully studied the multifarious phases of the complicated Irish question, it is evident that the material troubles, past and present, may be continually traced to agrarian causes, to the almost universal craving to gain a living from the soil, to the competition for it, and the sub-division of it, till distress and poverty seem to be the lot of a large portion of the millions who have no other resources but the produce derived from tilling the land. Though in many instances the rents may be too high, this is evidently not the solution that can apply to all cases. On the one hand we have the startling fact that the tenant's right, the right to pay rent, has even of late been transferred at a price equal to the rental for many years, showing the occupancy to be considered a valuable property in excess of the rental. On the other hand it is certain that the little plot of land would be insufficient in numberless cases to support the family even if held rent free. These two extremes both show that a reduction of the amount of rent would not be an infallible and universal remedy. Both extremes do, however go to show the intensity of the craving for the soil, the willingness to acquire the occupancy at a high price, or tenacity in holding to it in the face of semi-starvation.

This land hunger cannot be explained by any peculiarity of the Irish race. Though among the Irishmen in Canada and the United States there are very many successful farmers, yet it is certain that the tendency to abandon on this continent is at least as strong to settle in the towns as upon farms, which might be acquired with such comparative ease. The real explanation of the land-hunger in Ireland is that the people have no other resources as a general rule, than to till the soil. Many emigrate and establish themselves in other lands, many eke out a living by some months labor in English and Scotch harvest fields, but the great bulk of those who remain in Ireland have no choice of an occupation other than as tillers of the soil.

Is it not, then, obvious that the great practical want is the opportunity of engaging in some other occupation? If there were manufacturing industries in which some of the sons of a small farmer could make a living there would not be the excessive and increasing pressure on the land. Those still farming would also obtain a far more remunerative home market for much of their produce. That there are not such industries, to any extent worth consideration, is clearly not because the Irish people are not adapted for such pursuits, as is proved by their success in such avocations in other countries, and even in their own in the too scanty industries which yet survive. They are survivals from a period when Irish industries were formidable competitors with those of the larger island. We have spoken of the greatest wrong inflicted upon Ireland, and it was inflicted long ago when the manufacturers of England and Scotland procured legislation that crushed out the manufactures of Ireland. The consequences have been most disastrous, far-reaching and of long duration, culminating even to the present day. It is this evil that must in some way be redressed before Ireland can flourish as it should.

The most urgent duty of British statesmen is to devise means for establishing and fostering manufacturing industries in Ireland. Surely it is not a problem impossible to solve. Possibly it might involve the abandonment of some of the fetish worship of free trade, but that should not be allowed to be an unconquerable obstacle.

Whatever form of Government Ireland may have, its great practical want, the necessity for its prosperity, is the establishment or rather the revival of manufacturing industries worthy of the country and of its people.

OUR FUTURE TOWNS.

Historical and Descriptive Notices of Villages.

THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD.

THE MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES AND BUSINESS PLACES.

Unrivalled Water Privileges for Factories—The Public Buildings, Churches and Schools—Facilities for Travelling and Freighting.

EDUCATIONAL.

There are two educational establishments in Lakefield—the public school and the preparatory school for boys.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Public School Board is composed as follows:—Dr. Caldwell, Chairman; Messrs. R. Q. Dench, Thomas Gordon, D. Smith, W. Abbott and W. J. Wallace, and Mr. W. H. Casement, Secretary-Treasurer.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL.

The present public school building was erected in 1873, Mr. Griffin being the contractor. It has a fine situation and presents quite an imposing appearance. There are good grounds around the building, the school lot being two acres in extent. It is two stories high, 58x30 feet, constructed of red brick. There are two wings, at the front and at the rear, each 13x22 feet and carried up the two stories. The front one is used as a porch, and has an entrance on each side; and the other is used for class rooms.

Mr. James D. Graham is the principal of the school and is assisted by Miss Duff, Miss Galvin and Miss Walker. The average attendance during the first half of this year (1886) was 195.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL.

Mr. S. Sheldrake conducts a private preparatory school for gentlemen's sons. It was established in 1878. The school rooms are connected with Mr. Sheldrake's fine residence, which occupies a beautiful and healthy situation on the shore of Lake Katchewanooka. The facilities for bathing, boating and fishing are good, and are an additional attraction for students. Mr. Sheldrake accommodates twenty-one resident students, besides a few day scholars. This school enjoys the reputation of being one of the best in the Dominion. It is attended by pupils from all parts of the Province, and students have come to attend it from as far as Kansas City. Mr. Sheldrake was educated at Cambridge University, and he is assisted by Mr. Heathcote, who was educated at Lansing College.

THE CEMETERIES.

The Lakefield Cemetery is about three miles from the village, in the township of Smith. It contains some fine head stones and monuments, and many of the lots are nicely kept. Flowers bloom on many graves, and many plants from Mr. Carter's greenhouse find their way to the cemetery.

There is a nice cemetery in the rear of the old Church of England building, in which there is a good monument and many fine stones, but it is no longer used.

THE HILLSIDE CEMETERY.

The Hillside Cemetery is situated on rising ground, to the east of the road to Young's Point and Burleigh, about a mile from the post office, and to the rear of the residences of Mr. Attwood and Mrs. Barlee. It is composed of four and a half acres of the Ross estate, formerly the property of Col. Chas. Boulton, now of the North-west. The ground has been drained and all stones removed, and it is now being fenced and laid out under the personal superintendence of Mr. J. P. Strickland, from a plan furnished by Mr. Ranney of Peterborough. The situation is an excellent one, overlooking Katchewanooka Lake, and the soil is most suitable for a burial ground—an important point some, times overlooked. There are a few fine trees in the ground, but it is intended to plant a number this fall, and it is expected that before very long the Hillside Cemetery will present a picturesque appearance. The Hillside Cemetery Company has been duly incorporated. The president is Mr. J. P. Strickland, and the Secretary-Treasurer Mr. C. J. Blomfield, from whom full information can be obtained by those desirous of becoming shareholders or purchasing lots.

SOCIETIES.

There are branches of three societies in Lakefield, besides a lodge of the Grange. They are the Masonic, Orange and Canadian Order of Foresters.

MASONIC.

Clementi Lodge, No. 313, G. R. C., was instituted in 1874, and was so named after the Rev. V. Clementi, Past Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Canada, at that time incumbent of Lakefield. The Masonic Hall is on the corner of Queen and Burnham streets, and is very nicely furnished. The present officers of the lodge are:—W. Bro. W. H. Casement, W. M.; W. Bro. Dr. Bell, I P. M.; Bro. S. Sheldrake, S. W.; Bro. John Clarin, J. W.; W. Bro. R. Graham, Chaplain; W. Bro. Dr. Caldwell, Treasurer; Bro. R. Q. Dench, Secretary: Bro. James Moore, S. D.; Bro. Henry Wynne, J. D.; Bro. S.P. Wigg, S. S.; W. Bro. Geo. Cochrane, J. S.; Bro. T. J. Bird, I. G.: W. Bro. John Dinwoodie, D. of C.; W. Bro. Dr. Fraser, Tyler. The lodge meets on the first Tuesday of each month and on the festivals of St. John the Baptist and St. John the Evangelist.

LOYAL ORANGE ASSOCIATION.

Lakefield Loyal Orange Lodge No. 122 occupies a frame building opposite the Presbyterian Church. The hall is furnished very nicely. The lodge has a membership of about 50. The principal officers this year are:—Bro. Wm. Preston, W. M.; Bro. James Moore, D. M.; Bro. J. Burgess, Secretary; Bro. B. Hunter, Treasurer; Bro. Wm. Edwards, Chaplain, and Bro C. Quinn, 1st Com.

CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Lakefield Lodge No. 43, C. O. F., was established about six years ago. The lodge hall is on the corner of Queen and Burnham streets and is beautifully furnished The membership numbers about sixty-five. The officers of the lodge are:—Bro. W. McDonald, W. C. R., Bro. T. Wallace, V. C. R., Bro. J. C. Balsdon, P. C. R., Bro. H. C. Garbutt, Chaplain, Bro. Dr. Bell, F. S., Bro. Wm. Graham, Treas., Bro. W. A. Eastland, R. S., Bro. John Balsdon, S. W., Bro. J. Isbester. J. W., Bro. R. Cotton, S. B., and Bro. John Northcote, J. B.

THE GRANGE.

The Lakefield Grange was organized about six years ago. It occupies a building on Queen street, erected by it about three years ago. The principal officers are:—Mr. H. J. LeFevre, Master, Mr. James Cullen, Secretary, and Mr. S. C. Garbutt, Treasurer.

RESIDENCES.

Fine residences, good grounds and pretty lawns add greatly to the attractiveness of a city, town or village, and of these Lakefield has many. Surrounding the business part of the village, in the centre of the corporation and in the country near Lakefield there are many superior homes.

Among the most attractive of the residences is, without doubt, that of Mr. R. C. Strickland, the "Strickland Homestead." It overlooks the water, is a good dwelling, and the grounds and lawn are very beautiful. The situation is a desirable one, and its natural advantages have been improved by art. Along the same road are the fine residences of Messrs. John Crickmore, H. J. LeFevre, S. Sheldrake and Attwood, each possessing a pleasant situation, with good grounds.

Mr. Geo. Strickland's residence, on another road, and Mr. A. I. Wright's, near it, are good dwellings, with magnificent grounds.

Mr. Samuel Nelson's residence, on the Smithtown side, occupies a commanding position. It overlooks the Otonabee river, and from it every house in the village can be seen. Messrs. J. P. Strickland, L. Steele, John Hull and others have fine places on that side of the river.

Dr. Caldwell's residence, in the centre of the village, is a beautiful place, and Messrs. R. Graham, J. C. Sherin, S. Henderson and others have very desirable homes.

A drive or walk around the streets to view the residences of Lakefield would repay the trouble taken. Outside the corporation, but near the village, there are also many beautiful residences.

NATURAL ADVANTAGES OF THE VILLAGE.

From the foregoing it will be seen that Lakefield is a large and progressive village—one in which it would be pleasant to reside and advantageous to do business. There would appear to be a brighter future before it, and if the natural advantages of the place should be fully utilized it would soon rank as a prosperous town. Among the most useful of these advantages is the

MAGNIFICENT WATER POWER

the Otonabee river affords at this point. The water privilege owned by Messrs. R. & G. Strickland is one of the best in the province, affording several thousands of horse power. It has about half a mile frontage, and at the Messrs. Strickland's saw mill there are fourteen feet head of water. There are several factories on the race, but there is is room and water power for many more. The Messrs. Strickland are desirous of having new industries established, and are prepared to give every inducement to manufacturers wishing to locate there. Lakefield is also of the Lakefield branch of the Grand Trunk Railway. Two trains each day run to and from the village, giving it close connection with the large cities of the Dominion. It is the terminus, also, of a fine stretch of navigable water, which extends north through several lakes among picturesque scenery and good fishing and hunting grounds. It is on the line of the

THE TERMINUS

TRENT VALLEY CANAL

now being constructed by the Dominion Government, which will shorten the distance between Chicago and Montreal by nearly 500 miles. The works at present being constructed on this canal system will open up a large tract of country, and as these works are being vigorously pushed forward, it is probable that during the next navigation season the steamers from Lakefield will be able to pass through or touch on in the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Ontario, and Lakefield will have water communication with the town of Lindsay and four incorporated villages, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Port Perry and Omemee. The townships are Douro, Smith, Burleigh, Dummer, Harvey, Ennismore, Verulam, Emily, Fenelon, Ops, Manvers, Mariposa, Cartwright, Scugog, Reach, Somerville and Bexley, and the navigable waters will also run close to Methuen and other townships. These include townships famed for rich agricultural land, and also several that are rich in standing timber. The timbered townships will be important feeders for the Lakefield industries, and would give supplies to

SEVENTEEN DIFFERENT TOWNSHIPS

NEW INDUSTRIES.

A tannery, for instance, could easily procure immense supplies of tan bark, and as there is no business of that kind now in the village there is a good opening for one. A pulp mill or paper mill could also easily procure supplies, while the splendid water privilege would give excellent driving power. There is, in fact, a good opportunity for various kinds of industries. The village is also surrounded by a

GOOD AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT,

and that alone makes it an advantageous place for business. A utilization of the natural advantages afforded by the situation of the village is all that is necessary to make Lakefield even more prosperous than it is, and to increase its industries, business and population to such an extent that it will not long rank as a village or below the status of a prosperous town.

EARTHQUAKE IN THE STATES.

Severe Shocks in Many Places Anxiety About Charleston, S. C.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—A very general earthquake shock was felt this evening. The following table shows the time and place at which it was felt and its duration:

Time.	Place.	Duration.
10	New York	10 sec.
10.30	Louisville, Ky	30 sec.
8.30	Cleveland, O	1 min
9	Detroit	15 sec.
9.16	Cincinnati	6 sec.
9.52	Indianapolis	10 sec.
10	Meadville, Pa	15 sec.
9	Chicago	5 sec.
9.53	Philadelphia	30 sec.
10	Albany	10 sec.
9	Lynchburg, Va	1 min
10.15	Charlotte, N. C	1 "
10.35	Chattanooga, Tenn	2 "
9.50	Raleigh, N. C	6 "
8.54	Nashville, Tenn	30 sec.
9.30	Terre Haute, Ind	40 "
10	Washington	20 "
9	Macon, Ga	3 min
9	Selma, Ala	1 "

In many places the shocks created the greatest consternation. In the Western Union telegraph office here the effect was decidedly starting. No shock was felt in the West. At Raleigh, Charlotte and other places in North Carolina the excitement was intense. In some cases the walls rocked and cracked, church and house bells were rung, chimneys fell, lamps were overturned and people ran frightened into the streets. The negroes were terribly scared. No such excitement was ever known here, says a North Raleigh despatch. Throughout Indiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virgina and Kentucky two shocks about ten seconds apart were felt.

At Terre Haute, Ind., the people in the Opera House were panic stricken and rushed for the streets. The same thing occurred at Albaughs Opera House in Washington, D. C. Telegrams received state that at many points public meetings were broken up and people called out of their beds, many rushed into the streets in their night clothes. Women and children screamed and men rushing around frantic. The end of the world was thought to have come.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Since the earth quake there has been no communication with Charleston, S.C., from any point in the country. The telegraph authorities have been unable to get press despatches or other communications from there. This circumstance occasions great concern. That section of country seems to have been the centre of the disturbance. It is known that a bridge in the vicinity of Charleston was shaken from its foundations and the wires all lost, but that is not so serious as the facts that various other points through which there should be a communication with the city are unable to get anything from within a radius of several miles of the place.

HASTINGS.

BUSH FIRES.—Large bush fires are evidently raging northward and eastward the atmosphere being so dense at times as to almost obscure the sun,

A LARGE FEE.—The opposition papers [illegible] $4,000 paid to Mr. McMaster, M. P., in the recent customs-fraud case in Montreal. They claim that the money was intended to make Mr. McMaster influence the Government. In a recent issue of a New York paper we notice that a young Canadian-American barrister, W. J. Byam, obtains a fee of $12,500 for his services since March last. Other leading counsel were retained; but Mr. Byam had the conduct of the case, and charged his fee accordingly. We merely cite the New York suit to illustrate that Mr. McMaster might have been tripled and yet be well within the bounds of propriety. He was right in securing himself in advance. Why, even the patriot (to himself) Edgar does that and the Ontario government helps him right along to do it. Many of our readers will remember Mr. Byam, as he was a former resident of our village, having taught school here for several years, and it always affords us pleasure to record the success of fellow Canadians either at home or abroad.—Star.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

POUND.—Our pound keeper has had a good time of it lately, as stray cows, pigs, &c., usually find their way over the bridge. It is time that these animals were kept off the streets.

STAGE TRANSFERED.—Mr Frost has finally disposed of his stage &c., to Mr. Archie Brice, who will take charge before long.

LACROSSE MATCH.—A lacrosse match came off here on Friday of last week between the juniors of Hastings and the juniors of this place. Our boys played a fine game throughout. Hastings won the match in 3 straight games, in 35, 10, and 25 minutes respectively. A return match is talked of, when our boys expect to have their regular team in the field. Dr. Shaw acted as referee in the match, and the teams were composed as follows:—

HASTINGS.		KEENE.
Oscar Butler	goal	Frank Bolin
W. Anderson	point	R. Armstrong
C. Howard	cover point	R. Dixon
	defence field	M. McIntyre
J. Kennedy	"	R. Bolin

L. McCormack	home field	W. Dickson
J. Tracy	"	J. Kane
L. Parsons	"
R. Morrison	2nd home	P. Robertson
C. Fowlds	1st home	A. Anderson

The Excelsiors have been trying to arrange a match with the Norwood, but so far have failed.

SPORT.—A number went from here to the races on Friday last and report having had a magnificent time.

DUCKS.—The season opened on Wednesday morning last, and from day light until sunset our ears were regaled with the crack and boom of guns. This is a magnificent place, as our local and foreign sportsmen always return well rewarded for their toil.

MASONIC.—Keene lodge 374 G. R. C. will meet on Thursday, Sept. 9th. A very interesting meeting is expected.

ORANGE.—Keene L. O. L. also meets on Thursday of next week, Sept 9th. A full attendance is urgently requested, as important subjects are to be brought up.

STEAMER DOT.—Captain Miller will bring his steam yacht to Keene before long. Bye-the-by, will you please explain the meaning of the term "Commodore?"

Whether or Not

you believe that consumption is an infectious disease, transmitted by tubercular parasites, the fact that Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is capable of restoring a healthy condition of the lungs however affected, is one which does not admit of question. At the very first intimation of consumptive tendencies, whether in the form of a persistent cough, general debility, loss of appetite, night-sweats or frequent and depressing chills, you should secure a bottle of the "Golden Medical Discovery." It will purify the blood, tone up the system, and remove consumptive symptoms by removing their cause.

Committees have been appointed by the citizens of Brantford to make arrangements for a suitable demonstration on the unveiling of the Brant memorial monument.

The best medical authorities acknowledge the value of Ayer's Cathartic Pills, and frequently prescribe their use with the utmost confidence, as the most effectual remedy for diseases caused by derangements of the stomach, liver, and bowels.

The Excelsior geysier, in Yellowstone park, which has been quiet for more than four years, suddenly broke out last Friday afternoon and continued to play for twenty-four hours.

Do you wish a beautiful complexion? Then use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It cleans and purifies the blood, and thereby removes blotches and pimples from the skin, making it smooth and clear, and giving it a bright and healthy appearance.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

WONDERFUL is the effect of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment in rheumatism, sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. It stands without a rival. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. TULLY, druggist.

Three marine monsters of hitherto unknown species were seen a few days ago in Newfoundland. One of them killed, was twenty-[illegible] five feet in diameter.

WEST'S PAIN KING acts promptly, cures quickly. Never fails to cure bowel complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera. Costs but 25 cents and is always ready. Enquire regarding its merits of J. D. TULLY, druggist.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

The corner stone of the new building for the Toronto Young Men's Christian Association was laid on Tuesday by Mr. John Macdonald in presence of a large number of clergymen and citizens.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent prond flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

The Executive Committe of the Toronto City Council decided not to go on with the construction of the new Court House until tenders have been obtained for the whole work, so as to ascertain the aggregate cost.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton. Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

The arrivals of ocean vessels in Montreal harbour from the opening of navigation up to Tuesday were 67 more than for the corresponding period last year. The harbour dues for August show an increase of $18,000 over August, 1885.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

The harbour dredging at Belleville is to consist of a long channel 250 feet wide from a point a short distance south of the lower bridge, heading a little to the westward, through the gravel bar which fronts the western branch of the river out into the bay until ten feet of water is reached. This channel will be about three thousand feet long.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites,

Possesses in the fullest degree the tonic and stimulating properties of the Hypophosphites combined with the healing, strengthening and fattening qualities of the Cod Liver Oil in a perfectly agreeable form, of wonderful value in Consumption, Debility and Wasting Diseases.

Sisters of Charity, attached to St. Mary's Infant Asylum, Dorchester, Mass., certify to the inestimable value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the treatment of sore eyes and skin diseases, among the many unfortunate children under their care. Mrs. S. D. Bodwell, Wilmington, Mass., writes concerning the treatment of her daughter, who was troubled with sore eyes, as follows: "I gave Ayer's Sarsaparilla to and must say that she never took anything that helped her so much. I think her eyes never looked so well, as now, since they were affected, and her general health is improving every day. She has taken but half a bottle." A. J. Simpson, 147 East Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "My weak eyes were made strong by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a humor in my eyes, and was unable to obtain any relief, until I commenced using

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Charity may be "fairest and foremost of the train that wait on man's most dignified and happiest state," but the dignity and happiness of man cannot long endure without the health that may be obtained in a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A. W. Parker, lumber dealer, 209 Bleury street, Montreal, Que., writes: "After being troubled with Dyspepsia for a year, and with Salt Rheum

For a Number of Years,

I was cured of both diseases by using six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla." M. G. Traine, Duxbury, Mass., writes: "I have found Ayer's Sarsaparilla an efficacious remedy for billous troubles and Dyspepsia." Henry Cobb, 41 Russell st., Charlestown, Mass., writes: "I was completely cured of Dyspepsia, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla." Wm. Lee, Joppa, Md., writes: "I have tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and it has done me so much good that I shall always regard it as the best of blood purifiers." Eminent physicians prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla saparilla. I believe it to be the best of blood purifiers."

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Recovered.

The many friends of Mr. Robert McNeil will be pleased to learn that he has almost wholly recovered from his recent illness. He is now visiting his brother here, Mr. Andrew McNeil, Habiliment Hall, George street.

Gone Back to Ireland.

A man and his wife who came here about three months ago have both been in ill health and the husband was unable to work. Funds were raised by private subscription to procure them tickets, as they desired to return to Ireland, and they started for Londonderry on Wednesday.

Peppered with Powder.

Mr. D. Baptie, confectioner, Charlotte street, had a narrow escape from a serious accident on Wednesday afternoon. While down the river shooting, a cartridge in the gun exploded as he was firing, and the powder struck him on the right eye, peppering his face around the organ of vision. His eye escaped serious injury, and, although his face is considerably darkened by the powder, the consequences will not be serious.

Scott Act Again.

Inspector Cochrane has laid informations at the Police Court charging six hotel keepers with violating the Scott Act. One of the charges is for a second offence, but none of them is for a third. The hotel keepers against whom the informations are laid are: John Simpson, J. E. McIntyre, J. Wilson, J. Daly, J. Brault and German. One of them has informed the officers of his intention to plead guilty in order to save the expense of serving papers. The cases come up for trial on Monday.

A Youthful Army.

The junior members of the Salvation Army, or a junior branch of the Army, were out for a parade on Wednesday afternoon. There were about two dozen children in the rank, their years ranging, apparently, from about four to twelve or thirteen years. A boy twelve years of age carried and beat a big drum, several of the children carried flags and the whole company was commanded by an officer of the Army. They marched to the market square at about five o'clock, where they halted and formed a ring. Several of the children, aged from about six to twelve years, gave their "testimony" in the open air and Army songs were sung, and after the officer in command had given an exhortation to the spectators of the scene, the band marched on, singing as they went.

Orange Lecture.

Some time since Mr. J. B. McWilliams, County Master of West Peterborough Loyal Orange Lodge, received word from the Grand Master that a deputation of Orangemen from Ireland were coming to Canada to represent the views of the Ulster Unionists, and that they would probably speak at Peterborough, and requesting him to call a meeting to consider the matter. A large number of local Orangemen met in the True Blues' hall on Wednesday night, in pursuance of public notice, and resolved to extend an invitation to the visiting Orangemen to lecture at Peterborough on the 23rd of September. The following Committee were appointed to carry out the arragements: Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, County Master; Wm. King, District Master; Richard Waram, District Master, Lakefield; Robert Weir, G. W. Hall, Alex. Hamilton, M. Jamieson, E. Mannell, F. W. Weir, J. J. Smith, C. W. Sawers, Jas. Morrison and Wm. Preston. The Unionist delegation from Ireland consists of the Rev. Dr. Kane, Major Saunderson, M.P., and two others.

A SUMMER RESORT SCHEME.

Proposed Plan for a new Park Project near Peterborough.

Mr. Crawford, the present proprietor of the beautiful picnic resort known as Hunter's or Crawford's grove, has given Mr. Ranney instructions to lay out the grounds for a park and public resort. The plans have accordingly been drawn by Mr. Ranney, and they explain the idea of the proprietor in regard to what he believes can be done towards making that grove a popular place as a park and place for sports and a summer resort. The grove, to which the name of Riverdale Park has been given, is about two miles from the centre of the town. The natural facilities for improvement are beyond doubt of a superior kind. It is proposed to erect buildings at the park, including an hotel and cottages, and to prepare grounds for all kinds of sports and amusements, as well as to provide for the public bathing houses, camp grounds, fish ponds and boats.

The whole proposed park contains about forty acres of ground. A small stream of water runs through the park, and a dam 6 feet high will be constructed at the mouth, so as to raise the water and form a trout pond. The pond will be about an acre and a half in extent. There are small trout in the creek, it having been stocked from a hatchery, and some have been caught in the river near the mouth of the creek. On the ground north of this pond it is proposed to erect the hotel, and the plans show that the grove is to remain, and that the hotel will have about three acres of ground, part of which will be devoted to a lawn and flower garden and part to a vegetable garden.

The lawn tennis court is to be immediately south of the pond, with the cricket field next. The lacrosse field will be next to the cricket ground, the cottages next, a camping ground beside it and a grove in the south corner. The lacrosse and cricket fields are each to occupy six acres, the camp ground six acres, and eight acres are to be allotted to the cottages. There is to be a fish pond in the camp ground, which will form a fish reservoir for sportsmen to keep fish in after catching them and before leaving the grounds. It will be furnished with spring water.

Around the Park and between each of the different sporting fields and divisions there are to be driveways, and the drives are to be fringed on each side with trees. In all there is to be one and a half miles of drives. There is to be a walk from the hotel, through the grove and around the trout pond.

[illegible] ram on the shore near the trout pond, so that the whole park may be irrigated and fountains placed in the park and at the cottages, which will be supplied with spring water.

It is to be hoped that the project will be carried out in its entirety, for such a park as is proposed and is shown on the plan prepared by Mr. Ranney, would be a most desirable acquisition for the people of Peterborough. It would afford an excellent breathing place in the hot summer months, and would be an excellent place for lodging, camping or fishing, as well as for sports and amusements.

Lecture.

[illegible] lecture, "John Knox and His Times," in the Opera House on Monday evening, Sept. 6th., of which lecture Rev. J. M. Pearson, Toronto, says:—"It should take Canada by storm." A lady will preside, and the offices of door-keeper, &c., will be filled by ladies. Officers of Union will take seats on the platform. Doors open at 7.30; chair to be taken at 8 o'clock. Tickets 15c.

Lacrosse Notes.

The Norwood and Hastings lacrosse clubs played a match on Wednesday at a picnic held by the Church of England at Warkworth. A silver cup was offered as a prize for the winning club. Mr. Quigley, of Hastings, refereed the match. Play began at about four o'clock and continued until it was stopped by darkness. Hastings took the first game in four minutes and the second in thirty-six minutes. Norwood took the third game in an hour and twenty minutes, and after playing 54 minutes on the fourth game play ceased. The match was a very exciting one and a good exhibition of lacrosse. It will probably be finished at another time, when it will be decided which team is entitled to the trophy.

The following will compose the Riverside team that will meet the Beavertons to-morrow:—

Championship Sculling Race.

The single scull race for the championship of Lake Katchewanooka was rowed on the afternoon of Wednesday. Lakefield's civic holiday. The course was around the curve at Young's Point in Clear Lake. The contestants were Mr. Arthur Strickland, of Lakefield, and Mr. Robert Curran, of Orillia. Mr. Winsted, of Toronto, who had entered, expressed by telegraph his regret at being unable to be present. There was a large number of people present from Lakefield and vicinity to witness the race and a few from Peterborough. The steamers Cruiser, Fairy and Undine took up parties, there were a number in smaller crafts and the shores were lined with people. Mr. D. Smith, of Peterborough, was referee, Mr. John Dinwoodie, of Lakefield, was judge at the winning buoy, and Mr. H. W. Kent, of Peterborough, was starter. The Fairy carried the officials of the race. The start was made at about 5.30 o'clock, the scullers being sent off by a pistol shot. The race was a very close one, and for the whole distance—a mile and a half—was interesting. Mr. Curran came in about a length ahead. They had to row against the wind and the water was choppy, which made the race slower than it otherwise would have been, the time being 11 m. 37s. Mr. Strickland was handicapped in the race by a sore hand, which interfered somewhat with his rowing. The championship medal, which was given by citizens of Lakefield, is an exceedingly handsome one and is valued at $50.

MASSACRE OF CHRISTIANS.

Chinese Incensed by the Imprudence of Missionaries.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 1.—Advices from Chin-Too-Foo, the chief city of the province of Zchuin, state that the natives of the eastern part of that province and those of Northern Cochin China have risen against the Christians and are massacring them and destroying property. This active persecution is attributed to the imprudence of English and American missionaries. In Cochin China alone fifty Christians were killed, and their houses burned and their farms destroyed. In Zchuin a general massacre of Christians is reported to be in progress and they are killed wherever found. It is said whole villages occupied by Christians have been destroyed, and that all the lands occupied by professors of that faith are being devastated. The Apostolic vicar's residence in Zchuin has been burned to the ground. The foreign consuls barely escaped with their lives. No efforts have been made to suppress the disorder and, so far as known, it continues unsuppressed.

Police Court.

There was another blank at the Police Court this morning, but next week the prevailing dulness will disappear.

Some Miraculous Results

Have followed the use of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic." It has saved many from becoming bald, and has produced good heads of hair on bald heads where the roots are not all gone. It has relieved hundreds of per son from dandruff, and restored crops of gray and faded hair to their original color. A. Dorenwend, sole manufacturer. For sale every where. J. D. FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

☞ Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

THE RIFLE.

The Third Monthly Match of the Peterborough Association.

The third monthly match this season of the Peterborough Rifle Association took place on Thursday afternoon at the association range. Twelve competitors aimed at the bullseye. The wind was strong, blowing across the range, and it was very unsteady, which made good shooting difficult. The following were the scores made, the ranges being 200, 500 and 600 yards:—

	200y.	500y.	600y.	Total
R. H. Smith	16	19	18	53
D. Cameron	19	19	14	52
Geo. Fitzgerald	21	21	9	51
F. Hall	20	15	9	44
W. H Hill	17	14	12	43
Dr. Bell	18	12	11	41
A. Blade	19	15	6	40
Dr. Brennan	13	17	7	37
T. Rutherford	17	10	3	30
W A. Mason	15	6	3	24
W. H. Cooper	13	0	4	17
E. A. Peck	10	5	2	17

The October match will decide which marksman will win the medal this year. The medal is given for the highest score in two out of three matches. Mr. D. Cameron won it last year and is in a fair way to do so again this year.

The Temperature.

The following are the readings of the thermometer to-day at the hours mentioned:—8 o'clock, 60; 1 o'clock, 73; 3 o'clock, 76.

Where They are.

The Toronto Medico cricket team is registered at the Oriental Hotel, and the Beaverton Lacrosse team put up at Halpin's Hotel.

Sons of England.

A meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, will be held this evening at seven o'clock sharp, to make arrangements for attending the funeral of our late Bro. Samuel Hamilton. All members will please attend. By order of the Worthy President. F. BROWNSCOMB, SECRETARY.

Journalistic.

The Calgary Tribune has been making additions to its plant. It says:—"We have received from the foundry of Marder & Luse Chicago, this week a new Power Printing Press. It has been set up, and the present edition of the Tribune is the first to issue from it. It is considerably the largest printing machine in the Territories, being capable of turning off an eight page paper with two columns more to the page than our present size,—paper containing about 80 of our present columns. We expect before long to be able to add steam power and increase the size of the paper." The Tribune is published by Messrs Braden & Co. Mr Braden formerly resided in Peterborough, he having gone to the North-west to embark is journalism.

Methodist Conference.

The General Conference of the Methodist Church assembled in the Metropolitan church in Toronto on Wednesday. The work of organization was preceded with, Rev. Dr. Rycknam being elected secretary. In the afternoon the General Superintendents presented an able and exhaustive report on the condition of the church, which was referred to a special committee.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

Buildings in Charleston Deserted—Terror of the Negroes.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The following from Charleston, S. C., has just been received:—"Another shock occurred at 1 a. m. to-day. Hotels, residences, public places and all business houses are deserted. The inhabitants are all in vacant lots. Although every effort is made to establish some kind of order everything is still in confusion."

A STATE OF TERROR.

BEAUFORT, S. C., Sept. 2.—The negroes of this county are in a state of great terror. They remained in their churches all day yesterday, sobbing and supplicating. They expected a final shock last night, and then the dawn of Judgment Day. No work of any kind is being done. The negroes tread the ground as would blindfolded people. The women in particular are demonstrative, and their cries for mercy and bewailing are simply appalling. Their terror is complete, and weeks will pass before they settle down again.

GROUND CONTINUALLY SHAKING.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 2.—Seven carloads of refugees from Summerville arrived last night. Their homes have been destroyed, and they report the ground continually shaking, that boiling water and mud is spouting up from fissures in the earth, and that these crevices are continually widening and threatening the destruction of the entire town. Many colored children have been killed. There is not a habitable house in the town. Mothers and children have not the means to go away, and are suffering the agonies of despair. The refugees left their homes without preparation, and have but little clothing. They are afraid to enter the buildings and remain in the cars.

MORE SHOCKS.

AUGUSTA, Ga., September 2.—Another earthquake shock was felt at 5 o'clock last evening. Mrs. Samuel Bowers, an old lady, died of fright on Tuesday night. Nothing like this has occurred since 1811, when the shocks extended from Charleston to the Missouri river, where large tracks of land sunk. The shocks did great damage to the interior of the residences of Mayor Riley and Captain Grealish. The latter is barely standing.

Later—A severe shock was felt here at 11.20 last night.

WASHINGTON, September 2.—Two more earthquake shocks were felt here yesterday at 8.14 a. m. and 5.15 m. They were very slight.

LONDON PRESS COMMENTS.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The Daily News comments on the earthquake shocks in the United States, and says: "The accounts of the earthquake in South Carolina are appalling in their vagueness, and in their suggestion of awful bigness, even in this catastrophe. No such earthquake has been known in our time, in its extent at least, if not happily, in its fatal effects."

CUT OFF.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A private despatch from Charleston says: "Women and children are running about in the open air terribly agitated. There are three or four steamers in port, including the buoy tenders, and many of the inhabitants are provided with berths on board these boats. Fortunately the weather has been good, and the hardships are not as severe as they might have been. The situation, however, is becoming horrible. Cut off from communication with the rest of the world, afflicted and haunted with the prospect of immediate death, that is about the condition of this community. No trains have departed for or arrived here in 24 hours. It is said all railroads leading into the city are crippled. The statement is made that all the railway tracks are twisted into the shape of snakes."

SITUATION AT CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, S. C. Sept. 2.—The official total of deaths is thirty-three. The wounded will probably number 100. Business is still suspended, the whole attention of the people being given to providing for refugees and making residences safe. Bricklayers have advanced their rates to six dollars a day. There were shocks last night at 8.30, 11.50 p. m. and 5 a. m. All were light. Confidence is gradually returning, but much apprehension is still felt.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Mr. Sexton's Amendment—The Belfast Troubles—Law Must be Obeyed.

LONDON, September 2.—Mr. McDonald, member for Sligo, resumed the debate on Mr. Sexton's amendment to the address. He attributed the troubles in Belfast to the incitement of certain reverend firebrands, and the speeches of Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Chamberlain.

Major Sanderson (Conservative) denied absolutely that the Orangemen originated the riots, which he said were the legacy of Mr. Gladstone's blood-stained policy, which extended from Khartoum to Belfast. [Cheers.] He denied Mr. Sexton's assertion that the Orangemen had taken an oath to exterminate the Catholics. Orange lodges he said were always opened with prayer, and one of the petitions was that Irish Catholics might be rescued from the error of their ways. (Laughter.) If Parliament handed them over to the Parnellites, Orangemen would be justified in resorting to force. Orangemen objected to being dominated by politicians who received foreign money for their support.

The Speaker here called Major Saunderson to order, saying his remarks were irrelevant.

Continuing, Major Saunderson indignantly denied that he had incited civil war. ["Rebellion, not civil war," shouted Mr. Sexton.] Major Saundereon reiterated that if Parliament handed over the Loyalists to the tender mercies of the Parnellities, the former would be justified as a last resource in applying to arms.

Mr. Sexton rose to a point of order. He asked whether Major Saunderson's remarks were allowable.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt supported Mr. Sexton.

The Speaker said he did not think it necessary for him to interfere.

Major Saunderson, in conclusion, said he hoped the result of the Government's action would be to teach the Belfast mob, whether Protestants or Catholics, that the law must be obeyed.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF SEDAN.

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—Yesterday was the anniversary of the battle of Sedan. The Emperor William and Empress Augusta reviewed 20,000 troops at Poutdam. The review was witnessed by thousands of spectators. The troops presented a splendid appearance. A banquet was afterward given at the Schloss. Among the guests was a member of the staff of the Czar.

RUSSIAN "DIGNITY."

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 2.—Gen. P. Vannoorski, the Minister of War has returned to St. Petersburg. The Novoe Vremya says: Russia must either occupy Bulgaria and suppress the anarchy prevailing therein and restore order or leave the country to anarchy for an indefinite period. Russia's dignity could never admit a compromise as possible.

THE SUPPLY BILLS.

LONDON, September 2.—Lord Randolph Churchill will to-morrow ask precedence for the supply bills. Mr. Parnell has given notice that he will move the following amendment to Lord Randolph Churchill's motion: "The necessity for measures to ameliorate the condition of the people of Ireland is so urgent that the House declines to surrender to the Government the usual facilitities enjoyed by members of the House."

MAIL ROUTE BY THE C. P. R.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Cecil Raikes, Postmaster-General, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that the Government had under consideration the establishment of a mail route from Ireland, by way of British North America, to India and the far east.

EUROPEAN GRAIN.

VIENNA, Sept. 2.—The International Grain Market of Vienna has issued an estimate of the crops at 75 per cent on the continent generally. Hungary is estimated at 87 per cent., Roumania 100, Egypt 90, Poland 102, Northern Russia 85 and Central Russia 55.

A COMPROMISE.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The Vatican authorities have decided to send Mgr. Agliardi to China in the capacity of envoy extraordinary instead of as nuncio. France has accepted the compromise.

A FREE LIBRARY.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 1.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie has written a letter to the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, offering £25,000 for the establishment of a free library on condition that Edinburgh adopts the Free Library Act, by the terms of which a tax not exceeding one penny in the pound is charged to defray the current eqpenses of public libraries.

FOR THE RECESS.

assistance of the Parnellites, have matured a scheme for a vigorous Home Rule campaign during the Parliamentary recess by means of pamphlets and lectures. Arrangements are also being made for a number of popular meetings.

MUST BE EXTERMINATED.

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—United Ireland says the era of the extermination of landlords has commenced in Ireland. "We don't owe them anything," United Ireland says, "and we don't feel any pity for them. The Irish landlord is the modern impenitent thief the Irish tenants are fighting literally for dear life. Final victory is assured to them."

DYNAMITERS' WORK.

BARCELONA, Sept. 2.—While the master builders were in session yesterday discussing the masons' strike, gunpowder was exploded under the tables occupied by the conference. Six of the builders were injured.

GEN. BULLER'S SPHERE.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—J. Gordon, Parnellite, asked the Government why County Clare had been placed in the sphere of General Sir Redvers Buller's mission to Ireland? Sir Michael Hicks-Beach replied that although there did not exist in Clare that state of lawless intimidation which prevailed in Kerry, still there was much intimidation in Clare and much activity among the secret societies.

A DEPLORABLE SITUATION.

ALGIERS, September 2.—The military condition of Algeria is deplorable. There is apparently an utter absence of discipline among the troops. Duels take place almost daily between the soldiers and officers, and even between rival companies of Chasseurs and Zouaves. The native soldiers attack the foreigners on the slightest provocation.

BULGARIA.

A Snub from Russia—Revolutionists Defeated.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 2.—Prince Alexander sent a very submissive message to the Czar, concluding as follows:—"Russia having given me my crown, into the hands of Russia's sovereign I am ready to render it." The Czar replied to Prince Alexander:—"I cannot approve of your return to Bulgaria, foreseeing from it sinister consequences for a country already so sorely tried. The mission of Prince Dolgorouki has become inexpedient. I shall abstain so long as your Highness remains in Bulgaria from any intervention in the sad condition to which the country is reduced. Your Highness must decide your own course. I reserve to myself to judge what my father's venerated memory, the interest of Russia and the peace of the East require of me."

A SENSATION.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—The publication of the correspondence between the Czar and Prince Alexander has created a great sensation in political circles. The Czar's menacing reply to the Prince's submissive epistle is regarded by diplomats as insuring Alexander's abdication and Russia's occupation of Bulgaria. It is feared war will ensue unless Bismarck intervenes.

REVOLUTIONISTS BEATEN.

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—Private telegrams received here this evening from Sofia state that a battle took place at Radomir, Eastern Roumelia, between regiments loyal to Prince Alexander and regiments siding with the revolutionists and that the latter were defeated with heavy loss.

RIVAL DEMONSTRATIONS.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Sept. 2.—The city is gaily decorated in honor of the return of Prince Alexander to Bulgaria, and crowded with visitors come to join the citizens in celebrating the event. An enthusiastic popular demonstration was held yesterday in front of the British consulate, in honor of Prince Alexander, and a counter demonstration in favor of the revolutionists was at the same time held in front of the Russian consulate.

The Daily Review.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1886.

RUNNING IN COUPLES.

THE regularly organized combined tour that is being made by Messrs. Blake and Mowat to deliver political harangues naturally calls forth a smile of amused contempt form those who remember the Reform fulminations against Sir John Macdonald and Mr. J. Sandfield Macdonald if ever they appeared on the same platform together, and the accusations that they were thereby intringing upon a constitutional rule that Dominion and Provincial politics should be kept altogether distinct.

We are not disposed, however, to dwell upon this subject, for it would be useless to add to the bulk of evidence of the dishonest inconsistency of the modern Reform leaders. Indeed, we are ready to concede that in one respect at least there is a certain happy fitness and consistency in the surviving members of the firm of Riel, Blake and Mowat thus showing their thorough accord with each other in their present political adventures. Mr. Blake, in whose department the conduct of this venture especially lies, bases his whole hope of success in the attempt to sweep the Province of Quebec by sympathising with the "race and creed" movement and by aiding the conspiracy to avenge the execution of the murderous rebel Riel by driving from power those who permitted impartial justice to be carried out. This he has done personally by his votes and speeches in the House, and less directly through his brother leader, the perjured Laurier, and his personal representative, Mr. J. D. Edgar, by arranging for the conflict on those grounds and supporting and aiding the Rielites. Mr. Edgar, indeed, offers his congratulations to Mr. Prefontaine in the name of the Reformers of Toronto on his victory on behalf of Riel, taking the same standpoint as that of the equally congratulatory Dumais, ex-officer of rebels and "new ally" of the Blake Reformers.

Mr. Mowat, as the junior member of the firm, has done his best to aid his senior partner in this venture. He declined to vote that the rebel leader was justly punished, though he and his colleagues did not hesitate to intervene in Dominion matters to the extent of asking for immunity for their unexecuted friends. He and his colleagues spoke in defence of the rebels, suggested a statue in honour of their murderous chief, and endorsed the slanders uttered against loyal Canadians. He has in Essex one of the most vile of the traducers of our brave volunteers.

Agreeing so completely in their views of the question on which the Rielite Reformers base their only hope of political success, there is certainly a kind of perverted fitness in this joint starring tour of Messrs. Blake and Mowat. To make the show complete, we may suggest that they should take with them and exhibit on the platform, like their "new allies" in Quebec, a life size portrait of their deceased and lamented partner, Louis (David) Riel.

A COMPARISON.

ONE "Coffin" Macdonald, a man of at least doubtful character, wrote to Sir John Macdonald offering private information. Sir John replied that he might write it, and declined a personal interview.

One Brown, a self-confessed spy and informer, wrote to Mr. Blake, offering information to the Reform party, obtained as a Government official. Mr. Blake offered to arrange a personal interview, sent a confidential friend (was it Edgar?) to do the dirty work of conferring with him, and himself entered into a conspiracy with the spy to facilitate his obtaining Government employment, that he might be better able to pursue his treacherous avocation.

The Rielite journals are harping continually on the Macdonald correspondence. Let them compare these two episodes, and they will see, even while they will not admit, how much the comparison is to the advantage of the Premier of Canada over the leader of the Riel-Reform Combination.

THE Montreal Herald quotes the officers of the U. S. ship Galena as stating that they met no Canadian cruisers. If the Herald thinks these officers are good witnesses why does it not quote their statements that they boarded many of their fishing vessels which had been warned by the Canadian cruisers not to fish in Canadian waters, and were consequently abstaining from doing so.

MR. GLADSTONE has written a pamphlet to prove that he has been a Home Ruler for 15 years. He does not explain, however, why, being a Home Ruler, he put in prison other Home Rulers for being Home Rulers at a much more recent period.

FROM FLORIDA.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Thinking perhaps a "Summer" letter from Florida might interest your readers, I sit down this evening to pen you a few lines. My last letter reached you in March, and no doubt found old Peterborough just shaking herself clear of winter. This will reach you about the time cautious householders are beginning to enquire the probable price of coal with which to keep Jack Frost at bay for another six months. Well, such things do not concern us here, our temperature never fot over a few hours going below 40 deg. This our second summer under tropical skies, has proved a pleasant one, much cooler than last year or perhaps it is the fact of our being comfortably housed instead of under canvas that has made us notice the heat less. Only once for a few hours have I seen the mercury get above 90 deg. this season. The general run of temperature is from 75 deg. to 88 deg. and such a thing as a dead calm of over a few hours duration never occurs, usually the winds come to us fresh and salt-laden from the broad Atlantic only 3 miles away. Northern people coming down here and spending the winter go home and report the winter a pleasant season. Truly it is, but to my mind the summer, with its perfectly equable temperature and refreshing showers, making all nature fairly spring up with renewed life, is as near perfection as can be. It is impossible to describe the magnificent beauty of our moonlight nights; it does seem as if there were about four times as many of them down here as you have north, and the moon is so bright and clear. Looking from the windows out through the glistening leaves of the palm trees, the broad path of shining silver stretching away across our noble river, until it is lost in the distant Mangrove Islands, makes up a picture beautiful in the extreme, and never to be forgotten; and the pleasure of a sail of 8 or 10 miles in a smart yacht on such a night is something to be thankful for. As a Peterborough friend remarked the other night, as we bowled along in the Osprey with a fine breeze, "This climate is perfection; but oh! the mosquitoes." Yes; to come down to hard pan, they are a torment, and from July until about September 15, anywhere out of the wind they make it lively for man and beast. However, they are truly the only insect pest here that seriously interferes with the enjoyment of life. All other insects are less troublesome than in the north, and even the mosquitoes yield to ordinary care and precautions about the house. We have wire screens to doors and windows and sleep under bars and sleep in peace too.

The writer's pineapple plants and orange trees have made good progress this summer, and grapes and figs only set out last November now have fruit on them. Our bananas, too, are growing nobly and look beautiful with their great leaves, some of which are 3 feet long by 10 inches in width.

Our peaches and plums are also growing [illegible] and [illegible] hopes in prospect.

We have been too busy completing our buildings to give much time to summer gardening but without any attention have had cabbage, tomatoes and egg fruit as often as we cared for them. Watermelons of the finest kind we have had since May, I sold all I could locally but did not try to ship and have had to let hundreds decay in the field. Next year our shipping facilities will be better and it will pay to send them to New York. The river teems with fish. The delicious mullet, only to be taken by a skillfully handled cast net, and the huge channel bass and cavallia, with lots of sharks up to six feet long, and now and then a school of porpoises, tumbling along in their curious fashion. My neighbor, Mr. Boswell, speared a fine bass off his dock the other morning that weighed 36 pounds. He took the spear and about three feet of the handle with him, and B. had quite a chase in his small boat after the flying piece of stick, finally capturing Mr. Bass and getting him safely on board.

The pine apple crop from the river and Keys has been light this year, and the fruit small, owing to the freeze of last winter. However we have more than we can eat and manufacture quite a fine drink (Scott Act) out of them. By keeping a short time however, it gets pretty hard, and his honor P. M. Dumble would draw the line on it I am afraid, and pronounce it "Moxie." The freeze has deprived us of the delicious guavas this year. However, the trees are recovering finely and next year they will be plentiful again.

Mr. Clementi, who came down last April, was fortunate enough to get a choice six acre river front, ¾ of a mile north of us and has been energetically at work improving it. He now has a fine 4 acre clearing under way, and a snug house under contract, and rapidly going up. He already has a nice lot of pineapple slips set out, and will plant about 400 budded orange and lemon trees this winter. Our settlement is growing steadily, and will continue to do so, as well as this whole highly favored section. We now have another fine steamer on the river, and we expect to see a great many tourists down our coast this winter, when Jack Frost begins to make them blow their fingers up North. Should any of our Peterborough friends be contemplating a winter south, we hope they will not overlook the attractions of our now easily reached East Coast. Heavy railway interests are booming the West Coast, where they have millions of acres of swamps and flat woods to sell, much to the detriment of our section, which was all located by private individuals years ago on account of the superiority of its lands, and their special adaptability to the growth of tropical fruits. The present owners hold their land at from $25.00 to $100.00 per acre and do not advertise extensively, buyers keep dropping in and picking up the choice spots—generally after making a tour of the west coast, which has ended in disgust.

Man is a gregarious animal, however, and I would like to see more people here, whether they come to stay or not, and I can say to sportsmen or pleasure-seekers that there are few places to be found where winter sports, such as shooting and fishing, can equal the Indian River. About November the ducks begin to come in, and all winter "acres" of them can be seen on the river. Last winter two guns at Oak Lodge, just across the river from here, killed over 300 ducks in less than 30 days, and could have gotten more, but they did not know what to do with them. I wont begin to tell fish stories, for fear you might think I was drawing on my imagination, but I could give you some "facts" that would make even old Isaac Walton open his eyes.

Hoping that I have not trespassed too much on your valuable space,

I remain, dear sir,

Yours very truly,

W. J. NESBITT.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

CALL THEM OFF.

The recent glorious victory at the polls of the Nova Scotia Secessionists emboldens a special contributor of the Halifax Chronicle to write about "the merciless drain made upon our resources by the vampire provinces of Upper Canada." Politicians who have in charge "the Maritime calves that suck the Ontario cow ought to call off their vampires. Confederation cannot stand the simultaneous drains of calves and vampires, however well these esteemed beasts and bats may work in a sectional policy.—Toronto World.

HARD UPON BLAKE.

A western organ of the Reform party says Mr. Blake ought to visit the Northwest. "Until he has done so," it adds, "he cannot intelligibly discuss Northwest questions and criticize the policy of the Government in regard thereto." This is hard upon a statesman who has by actual calculation made seventeen cart loads of speeches upon that very territory.—Mail.

September Weather.

Mr. Walter H. Smith writes: August was to end, and September open, according to my Planetary Almanac forcast—"Cloudy and cold with some sharp frosts in Canada and the northern United States." Yesterday and this morning were cloudy and cool here, and early this morning at many points in Manitoba and the North-West—according to telegraphic reports—the temperature was several degrees below freezing. After this reaction has passed, I anticipate as printed, "Hot weather for the time of the year"; although September, as a whole cannot be anything but a stormy month.

Counterfeit Money.

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—The country is being flooded with counterfeit fifty and twenty-five-cent pieces. At the races at the Ottawa Driving Park yesterday over one hundred dollars of bogus coin was put in circulation. Most of it is now in the hands of Government detectives. The counterfeits were being shoved by several notorious gamblers who got word that the detectives were on their track and skipped.

Whether or Not

you believe that consumption is an infectious disease, transmitted by tubercular parasites, the fact that Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is capable of restoring a healthy condition of the lungs however affected, is one which does not admit of question. At the very first intimation of consumptive tendencies, whether in the form of a persistent cough, general debility, loss of appetite, night-sweats or frequent and depressing chills, you should secure a bottle of the "Golden Medical Discovery." It will purify the blood, tone up the system, and remove consumptive symptoms by remving their cause.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

JESUS THE TRUE VINE.

DR. JOHN HALL'S NOTES ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Lesson X of the International Series For Sunday, Sept. 5—Golden Text: "I Am the Vine, Ye Are the Branches." John xv, 1-16.

The language of this lesson is more than usually familiar. Perhaps its meaning differs somewhat from the common impression. Let us try to know it, and look for God's blessing with it.

Some have supposed that the company—Jesus and the disciples—going down the steep, outside the wall, saw a vine which suggested this figure. Others have imagined a vine on the wall and its branches by the window bringing up this image; others think "the fruit of the vine" suggested the figure, But the far greater likelihood is that Jesus had in mind the new dispensation he was bringing in, and was rather teaching his disciples what they had to do in it than setting out the simple and great truth regarding union with him which is elsewhere taught. (John xiv, 19.) Now the Hebrews were used to the vine as a description of their church and nation—"a vine out of Egypt," in Ps. lxxx, 8; "the vineyard of the Lord of hosts," in Isa. v, 7; "a noble vine," in Jer. ii, 21, Ezek. xix, 10, etc. But (1) Israel was typical of God's whole church, with Jesus at the head. (2) Israel was, according to Hos. x, 1, an "empty vine," and so removed. It is with reference to the real fruit to be brought forth that Jesus says, "I am the true vine." If he had simply meant to show that a soul must be in him to bear fruit, as a branch in the tree, it would have been enough to say, "I am a vine," or like a vine. But "true" implies the reality as distinguished from types and figures, just as we may say, "Christ is the true paschal lamb." (See John vi, 32.) He joins himself and the church in one for reasons that will appear. This is not surprising. It is only in another form the truth of Christ the head, and the whole body joined to him, as in Eph. iv, 14-16. He is as such the true Israel, the true "seed of Abraham." For the purpose of being a blessing to all the world, he and his people are one. So he represents the Father as husbandman to him, and his people as in him. This, of course, is not of him as the Son of God, but as one with his Church. Of him by himself God is not the husbandman. But he cares for the mystical body of which he is the head. (See I Cor., iii, 9.)

This should be noted at the outset. The need of a soul being joined to Christ for salvation, they had learned (v. 3). He is now teaching them concerning the church they were to found. Jesus and his church make one great tree, for which the Father cares. While the words include spiritual truths we all need to know, they were meant first and most for the men who were to represent him after he was gone.

V. 1. "I am the true vine." The Hebrew economy was the shadow. The substance is now here. God the Father in making the covenant and giving His Son planted this vine, and as a "husbandman" (vines were what grain crops now are) cares for the vine he planted, prunes it (v. 2), desires it to be fruitful (v. 5), throws away the dead, useless branches (v. 6), does all that is for the good of the tree (v. 7), and has credit when much fruit is borne. So the Father (v. 8) does with his people.

V. 2. The "branch" may be a section of the church, or a family, or an individual. If it bear not fruit (see for "fruit" Heb. xii, 11; Gal. v, 22-23), it is taken away. The candlestick of a fruitless church will be removed (Rev. ii, 5). Ungodly families like Jeroboam's are broken off. Faithless individuals like Judas, who had "gone out," and who was probably in Christ's mind go to destruction. (See Matt. vii, 21; Rev. 1-3; Acts i, 17-20.) So the question, Is such and such a denomination a branch of the church? is not so important as this, Is it fruitful? So a family in the church, bearing no fruit, will be taken away—lose its advantages. So a dead professor will be cast out.

So also the fruit bearing branches are purged, cleansed, as by trials, to make them more fruitful. (See as proofs and examples Rev. iii, 19; Heb. xii, 11; II Pet. i, 8.) This is the training we need.

V. 3. The disciples had been trained—"clean"—so as to be fit for their place through the teaching he had given them. They were engrafted, had believed his word, and been in part made good spiritual men by it. (See I Pet. i, 22.)

V. 4. That this is the meaning is clear from v. 4, in connection with v. 7. "Keep believing what I have told you; so let me by my words abide in you." This word from him in them is counterpart of the union between branch and stem in the vine. Cut off the branch and there is no fruit. Take God's word out of men's hearts and they obey self, the world and the devil. (See I John iii, 24 and Gal. ii, 20.)

V. 5. emphasizes this and drops the figure, "without me," etc. See Hos. xiv, 8, "from me is thy fruit found." Take, as an example of this, Paul in Phil. i, 11.

V. 6 expands the idea of v. 2, "taketh away." They need not wonder at Judas' course. When a man, no matter what he professed, no longer believes in Christ's word, he no more does Christ's work. He is like the withered, dead branches which men gather and burn. (See Matt. iii, 10.) On the other hand

(V. 7), if they have his word in them, they are of one mind with him and shall ask and get what they will. It is safe to give this privilege to those who believe as God says. It is like leaving the keys with a son or a true servant. "He will do nothing but what I would do," says the trusting parent or master.

V. 8 is to be read thus: "I have been glorifying my Father on the earth, but, as you know, I am going away. You remain here; as you preach, live and work as I have done, you glorify my Father, and will thus be seen to be my disciples—to be continuing what I had in hand, under my teaching." (See Phil. i, 11 and John viii, 31.) Then our Lord gives instructions as to duty, privilege and encouragement in the place which he has shown them they are to occupy.

V. 9. "The Father loved me, made me his representative to men so I have loved you and make you my representatives. Continue ye in my love." (See Jude xx, 21.) So a good father dying might say to his boys, "You know how I loved you, and what I wished to have you be and do. Keep on that same line always."

V. 10 expands this idea. The way to abide in the Saviour's love is to do his will. So Jesus, as God's "righteous servant," abode in his love. He could look up and say, "Not my will but thine be done." "The cup that my Father hath given me shall, I not drink it?" So are they to do.

V. 11. He was going away. His presence gave them joy, but if they kept His words in their hearts and did them, His "joy"—the joy His presence gave them—would continue theirs and be full. It made Stephen's face shine. It made Paul and Silas sing praises in prison. It made saints glory in tribulation. "Joy in the Holy Ghost"—the same thing—is the third element in the kingdom of God within men (Rom. xiv, 17).

V. 12 Branches in the same vine are something to one another. So God's servants under the same Master are related, and are to love one another. Love is patient, gentle, generous. It prompts to forgiveness. It enlarges, uproots self, and makes us the servants of the Beloved. Hence Christ's "new" commandment. The law said "Love thy neighbor as thyself." I say "Love as I have loved you." This is "new" indeed. So we see in

(V. 13), which needs no explanation but the fact of John x, 11. It is only because he is speaking to them in so close and tender a way—forgetting all the past, as it were—that he says "friends." In point of fact, it was for "enemies" (Ps. v, 8) he gave his life. Hence he adds

(V. 14), "Ye are," not "ye will become," but "ye will be sure to be my friends, if ye do," etc. The word "friends," in v. 13, suggests this and leads up to it, and v. 15 makes the idea clearer and gives a fresh reason for their appreciating his love. He is not treating them as "servants," though they were so, but as "friends," for he is taking them into his confidence, unfolding his plans and giving them to know his father's mind as he was carrying it out in the world. No better explanation of this can be given than we have in Gal. iv, 3-7. The fullness of the time had come, and they were not at a distance; not servants, but sons. God was doing with them as with Abraham. (See Gen. xviii, 17.)

V. 16. A further reason for their valuing his love is that it drew them to him. He chose and ordained them, made them his special servants that they should go and bear fruit, abiding fruit. The apostolic doctrine and apostolic ways "remain"—now in the Nineteenth century. He gave them in that same love the right and power of prayer, as explained in v. 7. While they moved on the lines he laid for them and in the right spirit, they would find God the hearer of prayer. (See in illustration Acts ii.)

Some teachers may find it easier than the explanation of each verse to take the topics, the vine, the husbandman, the branches of two kinds, the oneness of vine and branches, the kind of fruit to be borne.

Learn—(1) We may be in the church visible and yet not in heaven. We may be unfruitful, withered, dead branches.

(2) Afflictions are not proofs of God's anger, but to God's people proofs of love. He is cleansing the branches for more fruit.

(3) The word of God is vital, required to be in us as the sap of the tree in its branches, if they are to live and bear.

(4) The branch bears fruit after its kind—love like Christ's to the Father and to one another, joy and holy obedience.—The Sunday School World.

The "Little Ned" Accident.

Mr. A. P. Morgan returned from Barrie on Thursday with his horse "Little Ned." The driver, Thomas McKewan, was unable to return, on account of his injured leg. On the first day of the races McKewan was driving to the course and started to go across a rough piece of ground that afforded a nearer way to the track. There was a sort of a road across, but it was rough. The horse shied at a dark place on the road and made a dash. The driver drew him up, and as he did so a pail that was hanging on the axeltree of the sulky struck the animal and started it off at a lively pace. The sulky wheel struck a stump and the driver was thrown out, falling on his leg and breaking it below the knee. "Little Ned" ran until he struck a fence, and he ran against it with such force that he was thrown down, his head going under a board, where he was held fast. Some men quickly ran and released the horse, and the injured driver received every attention. The horse only received a few scratches, none of them serious. Mr. McKewan's injury is progressing favorable towards recovery. Mr. Morgan wishes to puplicly express his thanks to the officers of the Association and others for their kindness in returning the entrance fee and other coutesies, and for caring for the injured driver and horse.

THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL.

The Clauses of the Act Bearing on the Obligations of the Council.

The following are clauses 14, 15, 16 and 17, of the Act to incorporate the Nicholls Hospital Trust, passed at the last session of the Ontario Legislature, being the clauses bearing on the obligations of the Town Council:—

14. It shall be lawful for the council of Town of Peterborough, and they are hereby required to levy a special rate in each and every year upon such of the ratepayers of the said town as are not Roman Catholics, for the purpose of defraying the expense of maintaining the said hospital, over and above the income which shall be received by the Trust from its endowment fund or other source, and of providing for any and all sums of money or aid granted by said Council to said hospital, or to the trustees thereof, or to the corporate body hereby created; and the special rate for the year 1886 shall include the expense of maintaining the said hospital subsequent to the resolution of council whereby the gift of the same was accepted; and it shall not be lawful for said Council to grant aid or appropriate any moneys for any of the purposes aforesaid, except under the provisions of this section.

15. Upon the first day of every month, the treasurer of the said town shall pay to the treasurer of the said trust, upon the requisition of the chairman and honorary secretary thereof, such amount as shall have been expended for maintenance by the said trust during the previous month over and above its receipts from the endowment fund or other source; and immediately after the passing of this Act, the treasurer of the said town shall pay to the treasurer of the said trust on the requisition aforesaid, such amount as shall be due as aforesaid from the said town up to that date for the maintenance of the hospital since its opening.

16. The books of said trust shall at all times be open to the inspection of the members of the council of the said town and the clerk and treasurer thereof, and the books of account of the said trust shall be annually audited by the auditors of the said town.

17. It shall be lawful for the council of the said town, or of the said village (when the same shall be admitted to the benefits of the said hospital) at any time or times, to pass a by-law or by-laws for the purpose of granting a sum or sums of money for the enlargement or permanent improvement of the said hospital, and for making [illegible] the fact that the said hospital is without the limits of the corporation of the said town; but every such by-law shall, before its final passing, be first submitted for approval to the ratepayers, not being Roman Catholics, of the said town or village in the manner provided by The Municipal Act in case of money by-laws requiring the assent of the ratepayers.

CONCERT.

Excellent Music and a Large Attendance at Miss Delaney's Concert.

There was a large attendance at Miss Annie Delany's concert on Tuesday evening, all the reserved seats being occupied and a large number of the other seats in the Opera House. The concert was a treat. The instrumental and vocal music was good, and the loud applause, emphatic encores and the boquets received by the vocalists and musicians testified of the delight of the audience.

Miss Delaney was fortunate in having secured the services of a first class orchestra, consisting of a cornet, piano, three violins and a piccolo, all in the hands of expert players. The orchestra's music was received with demonstrations of favor.

Miss Annie Delaney gave a piano solo after the opening overture by the orchestra. It was the "Waltz Caprice" (Rubinstien), a pretty piece of music, and it was given with admirable excution, drawing fourth a loud encore. In the second part Miss Delaney played the "Witches Dance" (Paganini), beautiful music, with exquisite taste, and was again encored.

Miss M. H. O'Rielly, of the Boston Conservatory of Music, sang an "Air and Variations" (H. Prock, op. 210). Miss O'Rielly possesses a strong soprano voice, over which she has excellent command, and her singing showed not only careful cultivation, but also rare natural ability. She received an emphatic encore, and when she appeared in the second part and sang "Von Dir" (Kummer), violin and flute obligato, she was warmly received and again encored.

Mr. T. Dunn's song "The Raft" (Pinsuti) was also encored. Mr. Dunn is a favorite singer, and deservedly so, as he has a pleasing baritone voice, and on this occasion he did himself and the music justice. When Mr. Dunn sung "The Fog Bell" (Pontet) in the second part he was compelled to respond to the encore with another song.

Miss Bloomfield's piano solo "Derniere Lesperance" (Gottschalk) was given with exquisite taste and was received with deserved tokens of approval.

Miss Maud Burdette, Belleville, from the Boston Conservatory of Music, sang "Alla Stella Confidente" (Robaud) and in the second part "When the Pale Moon Arose Last Night" (Gabriel) and a pretty lullaby. She possesses a very pleasing contralto voile, and each piece she sung was loudly encored.

Mr. C. H. Geale sang "True Till Death" and "Swallee Rivers." The latter with a back ground chorus by the several vocalists, and was loudly applauded for each song.

Miss Annie Delaney and Mr. T. Dunn sang two duets, "Io Vive e L'ame," (Campana) and "Flow Gently, Deva." (Parry). Miss Delaney's sweet voice blended pleasingly with Mr. Dunn's clear baritone, and the duets, especially the latter one, which was the closing number, were among the best parts of the programme, and the hearty applause and encores of the audience were richly merited.

Mrs. J. E. McIntyre favored the audience with one song, "L'estasi," (Arditi), but in response to an irresistible recall, gave the "Maid of Dundee." Mrs. McIntyre's singing is always sure to captivate an audience, and this occasion was no exception.

The concert was undoubtedly a decided success. The programme was a long one, but everything was in such thorough readiness that the audience never had to wait, and one rich musical treat quickly followed another for over two hours.

The piano used was furnished by Mr. E. J. Hartley. It was one of Heintzman's Boudoir Grand Piano, being their smallest grand. Its tone was remarkable for so small an instrument, being powerful, clear and soft. The accompaniments were played by Miss Lech and Miss Annie Delaney very acceptably.

Coming Again.

Captains Simcoe and Chapouand of the French Contingent-Salvation Army will revisit Peterborough Saturday 8 p. m., and Sunday next. Admission 10 cents.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button;" It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

MEDICOS AND PETERBOROUGH.

The Visitors Ran up a Big Score and the Home Team Didn't.

The Medico's Cricket-team which is making a tour, played the Peterboroughs on the Ametaur Athletic Association grounds on Friday, The wickets were pitched at about 10.30 o'clock and the visitors went to the bat, and there they remained till after 2 o'clock, running up the score of 318. The Peterboroughs then went in, but only [illegible] when the [illegible] home team continued to bat, and made 123 runs for one out when 6 o'clock was reached and, according to aggreement, play ceased. The visitors were thus left the victors.

Dr. Scadding for the "Sawbones." (they were all doctors except a professional player, Smith) made brilliant innings, striking at and hitting all kinds of balls. Dr. Ross' score of 106 was a good innings, especially as he had never made a long score before. Smith the professional, and Dr. Bacon showed the best form on their side for the runs they made. The fielding of the Peterboroughs was miserable. It was emphatically their "off" day, and they played a bad game. The bowling, too, though repeatedly changed, was loose and ineffective. Dr. Scadding was missed on his first ball, when he gave a good catch, and Dr. Ross, who made the largest score, was also missed before he made 20.

In the first innings for Peterborough S. Ray and Bell began well, putting on 30 before a wicket fell; but when about 20 more runs had been made eight wickets were down. Montgomery and Morris made a short stand, but not enough to bring up the three figures, and the side retired with 86. The bowling and fielding of the "Sawbones" was in marked contrast to that of the Peterborough.

In the second innings Montgomery and Bell went in and made 43 runs before Montgomery ran himself out. Bell and Hamilton showed by far the best cricket of the day, their batting being really brilliant, and they added 80 to the score without either being out. This was the first day this season on which Montgomery had had any practice, and his score of 19 (not out) and 9 were very good.

Two catches deserve to be especially mentioned, one by H. Ray in long field and one by Dr. Vavasour in slips.

The Peterboroughs made an excellent commencement on the second innings, seeming to have recovered themselves, and it would have been interesting to have seen the match completed, if time had permitted.

The score of the match was as follows:

Smith, c Canning (sub) b Rogers	20
Bascom, c Baker, b Hamilton	13
Stevenson, lbw, b Hamilton	0
Caven, c Baker b Rogers	9
Pyne, b Hamilton	15

THE GREAT EARTHQUAKE.

Other Towns in South Carolina Suffer—Remarkable Phenomenon.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 3.—The town of Waterboro, twenty-five miles from Summerville, was severely shaken up yesterday. The shocks have been so frequent as to produce a continuous vibratory motion. The damage done thus far is inconsiderable, but so terrified the inhabitants that they are leaving their homes for places of safety. The rumbling noise and the general oscillation of the earth in Carleton county have not ceased. A party of colored men reached Summerville last night from a point fifteen miles distant. They declare that a genuine volcano has appeared there, and is now vomiting heated blueish mud.

NATURAL GAS EFFECTED.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 3.—There was a shortage in the supply of natural gas on the south side yesterday, and several factories suspended operations. Some people attribute the decrease in the flow to the earthquake.

THE FALL OF A TRAIN.

Near Ten Mile a fatal accident occurred on Tuesday night. The down Columbia train jumped the track. The engineer, Burns, and the fireman, Arnold, coloured, were badly injured by the tremendous leap which the train took in the dark under the unseen influence of the shock that dismantled the road. It is said that the earth suddenly gave way and that the engine plunged down the temporary declivity. It was then raised on the top of the succeeding undulation, and, having reached the top of a wave, a sudden swerving of the force to the left and right hurled the ill-fated train down the embankment. The train at the time of the earthquake was running along at the usual speed, and when about a mile south of Jedburg, it encountered a terrible experience. It was freighted with hundreds of excursionists returning from the mountains. Suddenly the train appeared to have left the track and was thrown up into the air; suddenly it descended and was thrown violently over to the east; then there was a reflex action and the train righted and was hurled with a roa as of a discharge of artillery over to the west and then subsided on the track and took a plunge downward. The engineer put down brakes tight, but so great was the original and added momentum that the train kept right ahead. It is said on trustworthy authority that the train actually galloped along the track, front and rear trucks and coaches rising and falling alternately. The utmost confusion prevailed, women and children shrieked with dismay, and the brakemen [illegible] moment-ary expectation of a terrible catastrophe. The train was taken back in the direction of Jedburg and on the way back the work of the earthquake was terribly patent.

THE QUEEN'S SYMPATHY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The following despatch was received by cable to-day from Queen Victoria:—

"BALMORAL, Sept. 3.

"To the President of the United States:

"I desire to express my profound sympathy with the sufferers by the late earthquake, and await with anxiety further intelligence, which I hope may show the effects to have been less disastrous than reported. THE QUEEN."

BULGARIA.

Rejoicings at Sofia—General Amnesty—Attempted Reconciliation.

SOFIA, Aug. 3.—Prince Alexander arrived at Sofia this morning. He made a triumphal entry into the city, escorted by the municipal authorities, who had two kilometers outside the city, to await his arrival. Addresses of welcome were presented to Alexander in the great square in the cathedral, where a grand Te Deum was sung. Artillery salutes were fired at the garrison and the troops were reviewed. The ceremonies concluded with a reception to the foreign diplomatic representatives. Prince Alexander has ordered the release of all political prisoners. The Ministry has been reconstructed, M. Stambuloff remaining premier. Rejoicing continues without abatement throughout Bulgaria.

TO ATTEMPT A RECONCILIATION.

SOFIA, Sept. 3.—M. Stambuloff, head of the local provisional Government which was set up at Tirnova, declares that civil war in Bulgaria would be the only possible pretext for the intervention of Russia, and that the restored Government of Prince Alexander will do its utmost to conciliate the Czar, and effect a reconciliation between him and Prince Alexander.

DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENCE.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Active communications are passing between the powers relative to the restoration of Prince Alexander.

IMPERIAL AID.

British War Vessels to Assist Canadian Cruisers in Protecting the Fisheries.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The Department of Fisheries has received a despatch from Captain Lorway, of the cruiser Howlett, giving full particulars of the arrest of the American fishing schooner Highland Light, off East Point, P. E. I., which confirms the report in the Star. It is further learned that as a result of correspondence between the Canadian and Imperial authorities orders have been sent by the Admiralty authorities to commanders of all British war vessels on the Atlantic and Gulf Coast to report as early as possible at Halifax. They will assist the Canadian cruisers on patrol service.—Montreal Star.

Prophetic Utterances of Sir W. Dawson.

LONDON, September 2.—A special cause for interest on this side of the water in the earthquake disturbance has been given by the lecture of Sir William Dawson. It was delivered before any news had arrived in England of the shocks experienced along the Atlantic coast, and his remarks are considered to have been almost prophetic, when he said it was possible that there would soon be, or might even now be, in progress a new settlement of the bed of the Atlantic Ocean, especially on its western side, and that there would possibly be at the same time renewed volcanic activity on the eastern margin of the ocean. Both these things have apparently taken place, and the fact is much talked of as a verification of the computations of scientific investigation.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

PARIS, September 2.—The Republique Francaise reproduces without comment an article from the North German Gazette, stating that Germany must always keep her eyes on France, because, 'France is making rapid preparations to fight," etc. The article has caused excitement in the French press and among French diplomats.

WIDESPREAD UNEASINESS.

LONDON, September 3.—Everybody is discussing the unexpected early meeting of the German Reichstag. The pretext alleged for summoning the Reichstag, namely to ratify the commercial treaty with Spain, is nowhere believed to be the true reason. Russian intervention in Bulgaria is confidently predicted within a week. The growing irritation of Austria and Prince Bismarck's wish not to meddle with Russia excite widespread uneasiness.

POLICE PRECAUTIONS.

BELFAST, Sept. 3.—Rioting in Belfast has been made almost impossible by the police, who are able to master any outbreak in its incipiency.

LADIES FOR HOME RULE.

DUBLIN, Sept. 3.—Mrs. T. D. Sullivan, wife of the Lord Mayor of Dublin, and a deputation of Irish ladies will go to Hawarden on the 21st inst. to present to Mr. Gladstone a mammoth declaration in favor of Home Rule in Ireland. The document bears the signature of 500,000 Irish women.

BACK FROM CHICAGO.

DUBLIN, Sept. 3.—Messrs. O'Brien and Redmond arrived in Dublin this evening. They were met by large crowds with bands of music.

A DENIAL.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Lord George Hamilton, First Lord of the Admiralty, replying to interrogations this afternoon, denied that any agent of the United States had access, through the firm of Sir William Armstrong & Co., to the designs for naval vessels under confidential consideration by the British Government.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

The Address Carried—Land Bill to be Discussed—Belfast and Chicago.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—In the House of Commons yesterday a lively debate followed Major Sanderson's remarks, in the course of which Mr. Redmond, Nationalist, was called upon to retract unparliamentary expressions, and apologize to the House, which he did. After loud calls for Lord [illegible] reply, the Speaker put the question, and Mr. Sexton's amendment was rejected by a vote of 225 to 128. The announcement was received with loud cheers by Government supporters and Parnellites. After the division the address was then agreed to without a division. Subsequently, after several motions to adjourn were defeated, Lord Randolph Churchill reluctantly consented to adjourn.

SUPPLY AND IRISH LAND.

Lord Randolph Churchill moved this afternoon that precedence be given to the supply bills.

Mr Dillon moved Mr. Parnell's amendment, urging that the consideration of the situation in Ireland admitted of one delay.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt pointed out that if the amendment should be carried it would be useless, as the Opposition was powerless to compel the Government to introduce new measures now. Therefore he would support Lord Randolph Churchill's motion.

Mr. Parnell said he did not blame Sir William Harcourt for the attitude he had taken, but it was only by persistent application of the principle of "try, try again" that the Parnellites had ever got anything. He denied that the Parnellites intended to obstruct the business of the session. He himself was drafting a measure giving leaseholders leave to apply to the courts to fix fair rents, and would advise the withdrawal of the amendment if the Government would give facilities for the introduction of such a bill during the present session.

Lord Randolph Churchill replied that the Government had already stated its intention in regard to the Land bill. If Mr. Parnell desired to discuss in a fuller manner the way in which he wished the question to be dealt with, the Government would undertake to give a special sitting for that purpose before the closing of the session.

Mr. John Morley expressed himself as sincerely satisfied with the Government's promise.

Mr. Parnell's amendment was then withdrawn.

BELFAST AND CHICAGO.

Mr. Labouchere moved an amendment declaring that Lord Randolph Churchill's speech in Belfast was calculated to provoke breaches of the law and ought to be withdrawn. He insisted that Lord Churchill was morally answerable for the killing and wounding of so many persons in Belfast.

Major Sanderson moved an amendment to Mr. Labouchere's amendment, denouncing the presence of British subjects at the recent Irish convention in Chicago, calling attention to the statement freely made that some Commoners avowed that they had taken the Fenian oath, and declaring that if this statement were true the members in question should be severely censured.

The Government opposed both amendments, which, after some discussion, were rejected.

The House agreed to the report on the address.

NORWOOD.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL.—At a meeting of the Norwood High School Football Club on September 2nd, the following officers were elected:—President, J. Davidson, M. A; Vice President, A. Hutchinson; Secretary Treasurer, F. H. Pearce; Councillor, W. Ackeram; Curator, F. D. Roxburgh. A junior team has also been formed. Other clubs will be gladly heard from.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1886.

RIEL-WORSHIP IN ONTARIO.

THE Rielite press of Ontario object to any reference by Conservatives in Ontario to the "race and creed" cry raised by the Riel-Reform combination in Quebec. We will for the moment leave out of the question the absurdity of this claim to exist upon Riel's memory in one Province and to ignore him in another. We will for the moment meet these Ontario allies of murder and rebellion on their own chosen ground. To regard Ontario only, why should Conservatives be debarred from referring to the Reform alliance with the Rielites, when Mr. Mowat, his colleagues and supporters choose as their standard-bearer in Essex that scurrilous ruffian Pacaud, whose only claim to distinction is his vilification of all loyal Canadians, especially any men, executive, legislative, judicial or military, who had anything to do with suppressing and punishing the murderous rebellion in the North-West? If he has any other claim to notoriety it is as the personal friend, protege and paid servant of Mr. Mowat, who engages him to sit in the Legislature and slander loyal Canadians. When the Reform leaders thus reward a Rielite for preaching rebellion in Ontario, why are Conservatives to be restricted from even mentioning Riel? It is evidently a local issue, quite apart from its importance as a question affecting the whole Dominion.

MR. MOWAT'S present combination with Mr. Blake, though very wrong according to the old Reform platform, is nothing new. When Mr. Blake was in want of a seat Mr. Mowat hired a member of the Canadian House of Commons to resign, that the leader of the Reform party might succeed him. It is very wrong, of course, for a Conservative Administration to give any appointment to a supporter, but quite right for a Reform Premier of a Province to prostitute his patronage to aid his friends.

THE Patriot of Charlottetown, P. E. I., says:—

"Sir Charles Dilke's name has been struck from the list of the Queen's Privy Councillors. He is the only man whose name has thus been dishonored in the nineteenth century. Truly his sin has found him out."

Mr. Laurier, twin leader with Mr. Blake, should share the same fate. It is a disgrace to Canada to have on the roll of its Privy Councillors a boastful rebel, and consequently a perjured man.

FISHING PIRATE SEIZED.

Disloyal Canadians and Piratical New Englanders Found on Our Territory.

GEORGETOWN, P. E. I., Sept. 1.—Last Saturday there were sixty sail of American seiners off Priests pond and Fairfield. Some of them were throwing their seines in seven fathoms of water, a mile and a half from shore. Early this morning nearly eighty sail of American seiners were fishing near East Point. All of a sudden the cruiser Howlett sailed around the point and pounced down on the Highland Light, of 92 tons, and about 1 year old, who was seining only a mile and a half from land. Captain Lorway took possession of her without form or ceremony, put a portion of his armed crew on board and conveyed her to this place. Captain Kelly, of the Highland Light, admitted being inside the limit. The seizure was made in the presence of the whole Yankee seining fleet, and the greatest excitement naturally ensued. There was, however, not the slightest attempt at interference, and Captain Lorway experienced no trouble in bringing his prize to this port, which is a regular port of entry. Souris would be a nearer harbor, but the customs official there is only a sub-collector. The whole fleet followed the Howlett and her prize in mournful procession until this harbor was reached. The seventy sail or Yankees are meek as mice, and not a word was heard about "blowing" the little cutter out of the water, or even "sailing away from her."—Montreal Star.

The Alaska Afloat Again.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The steamer Alaska is still aground, hard and fast, off Sandy Hook. It will be necessary to remove at least half her cargo before she can be started. The passengers are still on board. If the Alaska is unable to proceed in a day or two they will be forwarded by another vessel of the line.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The steamer Alaska was floated this morning.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

The Honor Roll Read by the Principal—Short Addresses Given.

On Friday afternoon the teachers and pupils of the Collegiate Institute, together with a few others, assembled in one of the rooms in the Institute. Mr. James Stevenson, Mayor and Chairman of the Board of Education, occupied the chair.

Dr. TASSIE, Principal of the Institute, read a list of the successful candidates, at the various recent examinations, who were pupils of the Institute, and the names of those who won the medals awarded annually. The silver medal given by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. A., to the candidate passing highest the matriculation examination at Toronto University (who is required to take first class honors) was won by Herbert Haultain, Peterborough. The Governor General's bronze medal for general proficiency was awarded to F. C. Armstrong, of Millbrook. Two scholarships given by Mrs Nicholls, entitling the winners to free tuition at Queen's University, Kingston, were taken by John Bell and Charles Daly, both of Peterborough. As to the standing of the school, the Principal said that there had been thirty five successful candidates at the entrance examinations. The candidates from the Institute at the Matriculation examinations of Toronto University had taken honors as follows:—Herbert Haultain took second place in first class honors in mathematics. F. C. Armstrong took first class honors in English, History and Geography, and German, second class honors in French, and a high place in pass subjects. Louisa Gardiner took second class honors in English, history and geography, French, and German. At Queen's University, Kingston, R. E. Knowles took second class honors in Latin and English, Charles Daly took second class honors in English and French, and John Bell took second class honors in English, history and geography, and French. In regard to the examinations for certificates, George Marshall passed the examination for a first-class C certificate, and the following were successful in the examination for second class:—W. Matchett, E. Brody, C. Martin and A. Peters. Third class—M. A. O'Connell, A. Fair, C. Cairns, L. Rutherford and M. Young. The promotion examinations in the Institute had resulted as follows, the names being placed in order of merit:—From the 1st to the 2nd form—Eva Dobson, Ella Hawkins, Clara Gamble, Georgina Bolton, Ada Metheral, Thirsa Frise, Lillie Ritchie, Cecilia McDonald, Mary Reynolds, Edith Glass, M. Metheral, Edith Pearse, Archie Wood, H. Fitzgerald, Edw. Cookson, Beauchamp Boucher and Jas. Lang. From the 2nd to the 3rd form—Wm. Aldwell, Wm. Hamilton, Alex. Millar, Walter Read, Fred Ratcliff, Wm. Bladourn, Wm. Elmitage, Harold Dumble, John Anderson, Jos. Phelan, Wm. Hunter, Ralph Sloan, Hilliard Wasson, M. Sweeney, M. Nelson, Annie Denne, Lena Clarkson, Millie Beck, Mary Scott, Bella Morrow, Jessie Fairweather, Mary Casey, Susie Best, Louisa Best and Robert Martin. From the 3rd to the 4th form—John P. Dickson, Dickson Davidson, Fred. Gladman, Rich. Gillespie, A. Flack, J. T. Lynch, Ernest Middleton, R. Brodie, R. Armstrong, J. Dougherty, M. Norton, L. Rutherford, K. Kincaid, S. Brown, R. Hetherington, Emma Morrow, and Hettie Bennett. From the 4th to the 5th form—Vernon Halliday, George Morrow, Arthur Smith, Ettie Brodie, and James Borland. General proficiency in all subjects—Miss Mary Denne, Miss S. R. Cameron, and Miss Lillie Dixon. Marked advance in all subjects—Wellington Matchett, John T. Small, John P. Dickson, Writing—T. Frise, Wm. Syer, G. Bolton, B. Boucher, J. Eastland, Wm. Aldwell, H. Dumble, A. Millar, M. Nelson, B. Morrow, S. Best, John Anderson, A. Denne, J. Phelan R. Sloan, Rich. Wilson, Maggie Richards, J. Mercer, F. Gladman, and John Mahood. Dr Tassie referred to the promotions, and to the standing of the school. He also referred to the necessity for good writing.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE spoke of the great educational privileges enjoyed in Peterborough at the present time. He laid stress on the necessity of good reading and writing. He wished the School success, and announced that he would give $10 to the best reader at the end of the year.

Mr. STEVENSON was glad that the school was giving evidences of progress and improvement. He referred to the improvements that had been made in the school buildings during the holiday season, and urged the pupils to refrain from doing anything that would injure the furniture or buildings. He dwelt on the necessity for good writing, and said that he would give $10 for the best writing at the end of the term. He had no doubt that the Board would supplement the prizes offered by giving a medal for the candidate taking the best stand in the second class certificate examinations.

The proceedings then terminated.

BOBCAYGEON.

INSPECTION.—Mr. R. B. Rogers the energetic Superintendent Engineer of the Trent works inspected the local works again this week. He is booming the works whilst the water is low, and warm, and the weather favorable. The light house at the mouth of the Scugog, is now a reality, and is generally approved by the lake men.

FISHING.—The fishing continues very fair, and the anglers find sufficient sport to be interesting, Mr. Pringle, of Toronto, has made his third visit, this season, for a few days with the rod. He is one of the most successful of our fishermen. It has to be a bad day, when Mr. Pringle does not succeed in capturing a nice basket of fish.

SHOOTING.—The duck and partridge shooting opened on Wednesday. Several parties went out, and quite a number of ducks were bagged. The Lindsay Club made a raid on the Emily Creek region, last Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, and caught several persons shooting duck during the close season, who were summoned to appear before the Lindsay Police Magistrate on Tuesday.

LOCAL WORKS.—There is considerable activity in the local Government works. A quantity of gravel is being placed at the lower docks, which will be a much needed convience to passengers by the Maple Leaf. In the upper waters, a diver is at work, with a scow and derrick taking up the old piers, that were used in booming logs for the old saw mill. Their removal will be a great improvement to Navigation.

STEP-CHILDREN.—A remarkable instance of foster nursing is being performed by a hound belonging to Mr. W. J. Read. The hound was deprived of her pups, and at the same time, a pair of kittens, through the unhappy effects of a bait, that was intended for a chicken purloining skunk, were deprived of their mother. For a day or two, the kittens were disconsolate, and so likewise was the hound, at last the motherly instincts of the hound were aroused by the piteous cries of the kittens, and getting into the basket curled around them, and comforted them as affectionately as if they had been her own. The hound is now raising her adopted family with all possible care and attention.—Independent.

A Friday Year.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The St. James Gazette says: Eighteen hundred and eighty-six began on Friday, will end on Friday and contain fifty-three Fridays. Four months in the year have five Fridays. Five changes of the moon occur on Friday and both the longest and the shortest days in the twelve months are on Friday. This might indeed be termed a Friday year.

Whether or Not

you believe that consumption is an infectious disease, transmitted by tubercular parasites, the fact that Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is capable of restoring a healthy condition of the lungs however affected, is one which does not admit of question. At the very first inimation of consumptive tendencies, whether in the form of a persistent cough, general debility, loss of appetite, night-sweats or frequent and depressing chills, you should secure a bottle of the "Golden Medical Discovery." It will purify the blood, tone up the system, and remove consumptive symptoms by removing their cause.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

THE BENEFITS OF A GOOD HOME AND THE EVILS AND MISERIES OF A BAD ONE.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

To the Editor of the Review.

Comparatively few parents realize the benefits of a good home or the evils of a bad one. They don't appear to understand the necessity of providing home comforts and amusements and make their homes cheerful and pleasant and so keep their children always under their own care and influence. And so they leave them to find their amusements ont of doors or upon the street or wherever their temptations or indications lead them, never apparently caring whether these be good or bad. Many parents do this from ignorance or thoughtlessness, and many do it for the sake of quiet and to avoid noise and trouble. But they little know the evil effects of their carelessness and the subsequent misery and ruin which they thus bring upon those whom it is their duty to keep as far as they can from the contaminations of the world. Many a child, in after life, trace his or her ruin to the neglect of thought ess or careless parents, and bitterly blames them for abandoning them in early life to the temptations and vices out upon the streets, with no one to look after and guide them. A bad home is a terrible misfortune. It is at home the seed is sown and it is there it germinates and grows for good or bad. The little infant mind receives its first impressions there, impressions which tend to form and mould its whole after life. And it is to the mother that it naturally looks for direction and guidance. The mother is the acknowledged head of the household and in her hands rests the responsibility in forming the characters of those who are dependant upon her and who must look up to her for support and comfort. A kind mother makes a pleasant home; a pleasant home is what the children will often look back to in all their after years of life. When far away in a far off land amidst strangers, and whether in prosperity or poverty, sons and daughters will look back to the days of their childhood with love or sorrow, according as their old homes were good or bad, and when trouble or sickness comes the former child of a kind mother will often think of her and wish he were at home again. But what of the former child of a bad home, wandering it may be afar off, desolate and alone, without friends, wanting comfort, but finding none, he thinks of his old home with shame and regret, and blames the mother who gave him birth, and who should have trained him to a life of justice and usefulness, for all his hardships and weary wanderings, and he turns his thoughts away and looks upon the rough path before him and his long and weary wanderings, all because of his careless and neglectful parents and of his evil home. The household is a little government of itself. It is there the young receive their first impressions. It is there that characters are moulded and framed whether for good or evil. It is a pleasant sight to go into a good home, a home where kindness and order prevail, and where the children look to their parents for examples of love and peace and goodness; where filial obedience is its first law, and where no word is spoken and no promise made that is not strictly fulfilled; when the children when tempted to do wrong say, we promised father and mother that we would not do wrong and we intend to keep that promise; where the children shall say, father and mother told us so and we know they would not deceive us, and where the children if an accident happens go to their parents and tell them the truth, and where the parents put faith in their children, and where parents and children, when the duties of the day are over, sit down together and talk over the events of the past and lay down plans for the time to come. All is peace and happiness and comfort in such a household, and when the children come to man's or woman's estate, they can go into the world strong in their own feelings of right, and resolved to pursue an honest and a useful course all through life. And the parents know they have done their duty and they have no fear. The good opinions and confidence of the world follow such men and women wherever they go. And so their way is smooth and easy, and their success is certain and full of peace and honor. But how great the change when one enters a bad home. Disorder and strife reign supreme. A neglectful, slothful and scolding mother; a reckless, careless father, and children given over to their own inclinations and vices. Swearing and scolding within, and no refuge for the little ones except upon the street. And when these have attained to man's and woman's estate, nowhere to turn with any prospect of success. Their very looks show their past history, and go where they may, they exist under a cloud. It is a dreadful sight to see families of children, who, if properly trained, would make useful men and women, brought up and trained under the blighting influences of bad parents, often times driven out into the world in their helpless youth to try and find those comforts and that peace which they never could find at home. And of these poor, forsaken creatures do [illegible] go astray, is it any wonder that they do so. The fault is not their own; and yet how little encouragement and sympathy does the world give them. And when they do go wrong and fail, how readily people turn upon them and give them all the blame. There is no doubt that three-fourths of the criminal classes, and three-fourths of those living in wretchedness and misery, are made up out of the children of wicked and reckless parents, whose homes have never brought a ray of sunshine into their hearts, but have operated to force them to ruin and shame.

Look at the slime on her golden hair,
Look at her bosom muddy and bare,
Look at her body lying there,
Close at the foot of the landing stair.

What brought the poor wanderer here,
To be stared at by crowds with a pitying leer?
Some one she loved, was her life, was her all
Had left her alone with the shame of her fall.

Poor child! Thy burden was hard to bear,
And the bearer was sorely laden with care;
Seeking for rest, she sought it in vain;
'Twas cruel to keep the poor lone one in pain.

In her misery to the river she fled for relief,
And the kindly waters buried her grief;
Left no trace behind her, no tale of her shame,
Not a note, not a letter, not even a name.

And they'll say that her life had been guilty,
That she sinned from her youth until now;
Poor child, she was not yet twenty,
Yet she sinned and died. Why? How?

Poor broken bleeding heart, thy trials at last are o'er,
And now no cruel, earthly dart can pierce thy bosom more.

Perhaps in some peaceful region thy weary heart's at rest,
And there by that white-robed legion thy erring soul's caressed.

Caressed by their heavenly fingers, far off on that golden shore,
Where never pain nor misery lingers, safe and pure for evermore.

Such are the fruits of a bad home. Driven out into the cold, heartless world, with no kind mother's care, left to pursue her devious and lonely way, is it any wonder that her end was painful and sad? No friends, no home, everywhere dark and dreary, wandering sore and weary. It was a sight for the pitying angels above. Her short life was a sad one, but, perhaps, she is gone where the weary are at rest. Another instance of the effects of a bad father and a bad home. A little, nice mannered, prepossessing boy, driven from home, took refuge on the streets of a large town. His mother was dead. His only means of livelihood were the few pennies obtained by the sale of some papers. When night came on he found refuge in sheds and stables. He was poorly clad and his sufferings from cold and hunger would be hard to tell. The cold wintry wind and the storm often well nigh killed him. He was found one day in great pain and distress and a kind man took him in and cared for him. Feeling better towards night he went away. How he passed that dreary, stormy night no one knows, but the next morning found him lying upon the sidewalk insensible from cold and exposure, and shortly after he died. Some kind people carried his little body to its early grave, and there, in the cold ground, he will never feel storm and tempest any more. His spirit went to the loving Saviour, and now he is at rest. Poor little fellow, his lot here was a hard one. May he rest in peace. On an obscure street in a large city dwelt a drunken husband and a drunken wife and their little girl. The child was not four years old, but it was a prepossessing, mild mannered little creature. It could be almost always seen sitting out upon the sidewalk in front of the house, solitary and alone, with its little hands crossed upon its lap, very poorly clothed, and speaking to no one. One day a lady spoke to her kindly and seemed to take an interest in her, and at once the child drew near to the lady and took her by the hand and asked if she would not take her to her home. She said she was tired staying there. She would be a good girl if the lady would only take her home. The lady said she was sorry she could not do so, and the child turned away and began to cry. After she had proceeded a short distance, the lady turned round and looked at the little girl and saw her sitting upon the sidewalk again, and she held out her little hands and cried to the kind lady only to take her with her. Shortly after the drunken parents went to gaol and the poor child was placed in the children's home. Think what the life of that child must have been. How much suffering and sorrow she must have undergone in her wicked and miserable home.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent prond flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

A WISE PRECAUTION—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton. Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

The value of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the protection it affords from the dangers of pulmonary disorders, cannot be overestimated. Mr. C. K. Philips, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "About three years ago I had severe Laryngitis, which resulted in chronic hoarseness. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I have since entirely regained my health." Mr. Henry Russell, Excelsior Printing Co., New York, writes: "Influenza became epidemic in my neighborhood. Several members of my family suffered severely with it, all of whom took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and were cured by it in a few days. It is a wonderful medicine for Influenza. Too much cannot be said in its favor."

E. M. Sargent, 41 Andover st., Lowell, Mass., says: "I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral about the year 1842, as a family medicine, for Coughs and Colds, and have always kept it in my house since that time. I consider it the best remedy that can be had for these complaints." Dr. J. B. Robertson, Clayton, N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in my family and practice, for a number of years, and have no hesitation in recommending it. It is an admirable preparation, and well-qualified to do all that is claimed for it." E. J. Styers, Germanton, N. C., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best Cough preparation I ever saw. It gives instant relief."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

has cured a Cough in a few doses. It always relieves irritation of the lungs or throat, and arrests the tendency to inflammation. It strikes at the foundation of all Pulmonary diseases, is without a rival as an expectorant, and is a sure cure for the most obstinate Coughs and Colds. L. Garrett, Texana, Texas, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years. For throat and lung diseases, I consider it a wonderful remedy."

Foot Ball.

All members and those wishing to join, are hereby requested at attend the annual meeting of the Foot Ball Club in connection with the P. A. A. A. on Monday evening, September 6th. The meeting wil be held at the Grand Central at 7.30 p. m. sharp.

Personal.

Mrs. C. W. Sawers' many friends will be pleased to learn that she is progressing very favorably.

The Rev. F. H. Wallace, pastor of the Charlotte Street Church, has returned from spending a month's holiday at Orchard Beach.

New Boot and Shoe Store.

Mr. S. Kemp, who has just bought out the stock in trade of Mr. E. Mannell, Burnham's Block, Simcoe street, is already finding his venture a success. He employs first class workmen, uses the best of material, and guarantees satisfaction every time. Give him a call.

LACROSSE MATCH.

The Riversides Receive their First Check—A Good Game.

A lacrosse match was played on Friday afternoon in the Riverside Park by the Riverside club of Peterborough and the Checkers of Beaverton. There was a fair attendance, and the spectators were treated to a good game. It was generally expected that the young Riversides would not be able to hold the veteran (by comparison) Checkers long, but the boys made a good stand, and almost made the match a draw.

The match was set down to commence at 2.30 o'clock, and it was agreed to play on time, stopping at 4.15. It was a little later than the time announced when the teams faced each other as follows:—

RIVERSIDES.		BEAVERTON.
Joe. Phelan	Goal	Wm. Joyce
Dr. Brennan	Point	D. McKinnon
W. Welsh	Over Point	Ken. Davidson
T. Maher	Defence Field	D. McMillan
D. Rose	" "	Buff. McGuire
W. McAvelia	" "	P. McMillan
F. Larone	Centre Field	D. M. Smith
T. Giroux	Home Field	Mc. Cameron
Joe. Begley	" "	John Gordon
C. Rutherford	" "	A. Cameron
T. Duncan	2nd Home	J. Mullen
J. S. True	1st Home	J. Birchard
M. McDonald	Field Captain.	Dan. McKinnon

Mr. H. LeBrun was chosen referee, Messrs. R. Stevenson, of Peterborough, and W. A. Robinson, of Cannington, were the umpires.

A scuffle for the ball took place in centre field immediately after the face, and the sphere went down close to the Riverside goal, but Joe. Phelon sent it up the field. It was soon returned, and Rose got it and gave it to McAvelia, who transfered it to the vicinity of the Checkers' flags. Rutherford neatly dodged a player and tried to get the ball in, but it went down the field till it met Maher's stick, when it went back. Again it went down the field and vigorous work on the part of the Riversides was required to protect the goal, but the compliment was returned and a close call was made on the Checkers' goal. Finally, after playing eleven minutes, "Supple" Cameron made a fatal shot on the Riverside flags and Checkers scored the first game.

The Riversides went vigorously to work the second game. Larone drew the rubber and the Checkers defence had lively work, but they did their work, and the Riverside defence were called into action. Brennan threw the ball down, but K. Cameron returned it. Maher sent the ball down the field, and after some playing Duncan got it and made a drop, when True scored the game for the Riversides. Time, 5 minutes.

The third game was a longer one. After a [illegible] sent the sphere towards the Checkers goal, where some lively work took place. Then the Riverside goal was menaced, but Phalen relieved it by a good throw up field. The game continued with varying appearances of success on each side. Welsh and McAvelia showed up in good form, while Giroux and other members of the team displayed good metal. Rutherford made an attack on goal as did also Giroux, and Begley by a run up field and drop placed the visitors' flag in danger. The Riverside defence worked in good form and frequently defended their goal from well directed attacks, but the efforts of the visitors were again successful and Cameron scored another game. This game lasted thirty-three minutes.

At the commencement of the fourth game the Riverside goal was endangered, but the danger was averted and Rose sent the ball down the field. P. McMillan got it and after a run made a drop shot, but it was ineffectual, and Phelan threw the rubber out. After a little further play the Riverside goal was again menaced by a drop shot, and as Phelan was striking it out a Beaverton player tried to knock it through and gave the Riverside goal keeper a severe blow on the forehead. Time was called. Phelan was soon able to resume play, but the time appointed to stop, so that the visitors could reach the train, had arrived, and the match was given to the visitors by two goals to one.

Each team gave cheers for the other, and jointly they hurrahed for the referee and umpires, and then returned to town. The Beaverton boys returned home on the 5.15 Grand Trunk train.

This was the first defeat the Riversides had met with, but it was a defeat without dishonor. They played well, several of the boys remarkably well, and they have, during this, their first season, developed into good players. Steady practice for a time will do more for them, and the measure of success they on Friday should give them encouragement.

NOTES.

The Beaverton team does not make many changes in its players. The names of most of them are familiar since the first game they played here against the Norwood club.

One Beaverton player stood by mistake beside the referee, and when the ball was thrown that way tried to check the "lacrosse king," who was of course without a stick.

The ball took a bath in the river during the first game, and there was a short race between it and a canoeist, but the sphere was overtaken.

The Riversides have faced a team that not long since bore the title of District Champions. They may yet wear that title themselves.

SCOTT ACT.

Another Campaign Opened by the Government Inspector.

Another Scott Act campaign opened at the Police Court this morning, there being six cases set down for hearing.

PLEADED GUILTY.

J. E. McIntyre was charged by Inspector Cochrane with having violated the Canada Temperance Act between June 1st and Sept. 6th.

Mr. R. Smith appeared for him and pleaded guilty.

A fine of $50 and costs was imposed.

THE ROYAL OAK.

John Wilson was charged by Inspector Cochrane with having kept intoxicating liquor for sale between June 24th and Sept. 1st, contrary to the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act.

Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the complainant and Mr. John O'Meara for the defendant. A plea of not guilty was entered.

S. JAMESON had drank in Wilson's, but saw no liquor. Wilson treated once. On another occasion he got bitters, the same kind of bitters as he got before the Scott Act was in force. When he asked for it he expected to get intoxicating liquor, and there might have been whiskey in it. He got what he expected.

JOHN ISBISTER had drank soft drinks in Wilson's, and to the best of his knowledge had got no intoxicating liquor.

JAMES FANNING had a drink of bitters. It tasted of tansy. He did not think there was whiskey in it.

The case was allowed to stand over.

THE C. P. R.

George German was charged by Inspector Cochrane with having kept intoxicating liquor for sale between Aug. 4th and Sept. 1st.

Mr. Wood, County Attorney, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. W. H. Moore for the defence.

JOHN SMITH was working at German's hotel a day or two before the races. Got a glass of ginger ale from German, but no intoxicating liquor.

S. JAMESON had drank Moxie, soda water and ginger ale in German's. In his opinion there was no intoxicating liquor in it. He expected there would be intoxicating liquor in the Moxie, but did not know whether there was or not. He got something the same as ordinary malt beer there once. Couldn't say whether he paid for it. Supposed the beer was there for sale in the ordinary way.

GEORGE WHEELER had drank Moxie at German's, but did not think there was intoxicating liquor in it.

H. J. HOLMES drank ginger ale in German's on circus day. He got a drink there that was a mixture between ginger ale and malt beer. What he drank was supposed to be Calcutt's ginger ale. He expected to get ordinary beer, but was very much mistaken. Had drank Moxie there, but did not think there was intoxicating liquor in it.

JOHN PERKINS had Moxie at German's. Couldn't say that it was intoxicating. It stimulated a little. Had been a little drunk from drinking Moxie, but not German's Moxie. Could not say whether there was liquor in German's Moxie or not. He saw nothing of a beer pump there.

JAMES H. IRVING had drinks in German's, but no intoxicating liquors.

WM. TROTTER got Moxie and other drinks in German's, but they were not intoxicating.

The Court then adjourned until the afternoon.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA.

The Czar Forces his Nominee from the Bulgarian Throne.

SOFIA, Sept. 5.—Prince Alexander has publicly announced his intention of abdicating. He says he cannot remain in Bulgaria on account of the objections of the Czar. Before leaving he will establish a regency.

GERMAN PRESSURE.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Post's Berlin correspondent says Emperor William proposed Prince Alexander's telegram to the Czar as the best means of effecting a reconciliation, and that the Czar's reply was, therefore, a direct blow at the Emperor. The correspondent says the news of Prince Alexander's abdication caused the utmost indignation against Russia among the German army officers.

RUSSIAN INTRIGUES.

SOFIA, Sept. 5.—The Russian party, headed by the Russian consulate, show signs of great activity and are preparing an address to the Czar. It is expected that Prince Alexander will go to Servia, thence to Darmstadt, and then to England. M. Popoff and numerous Bulgarian officers have decided to accompany him.

SERIOUS STATE OF AFFAIRS.

VIENNA, Sept. 5.—The news of Prince Alexander's abdication was received with consternation there. The Prince's action is looked upon as the beginning of a serious stage of the Bulgarian question. It is believed in Vienna that the abdication will not deter Russia from attempting to occupy Bulgaria, a proceeding which Austria cannot allow.

THE CZAR ARBITRATOR.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Morning Post says: "We greatly doubt whether Prince Bismarck's policy will ensure the peace of Europe. Europe will have no peace until the wrongs Russia has inflicted on a rising people are avenged. Whatever may be the reasons which induced Bismarck to sacrifice Prince Alexander to the personal animosity of the Czar, we cannot believe that Europe will approve a policy tending to make the Czar arbitrator of the whole continent."

IN A HURRY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 4.—The Vedomosti warns Prince Alexander not to delay resigning his crown to the Czar.

RECALLED FOR CONSULTATION.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 5.—Sir Edward Thornton, the British ambassador here, has been summoned to London by Lord Iddesleigh to consult on Bulgaria affairs. It is understood Sir Edward will return soon. It is denied that he is to be succeeded by Sir William White.

FISHERIES PROTECTION.

The Northern Light Recommended for the Service—The Highland Light.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I, Sept. 3.—The Examiner strongly urges that the steamer Northern Light be employed in the protection of the fisheries. This is the ice boat especially built to navigate the straits of Northumberland. It is owned by the Dominion Government, and is now lying idle at Charlottetown. It is very fast, and, employed in connection with the new cruiser Acadia, would strike terror into the Yankee poachers, especially now, as the mackerel will strike over to the Cape Breton coast in a few days. Captain Ryder, of the captured Highland Light, says he was completely taken by surprise by the Howlett. The cruiser quietly dropped in among the Yankee fleet during the night, and his vessel was seized before the Yankee skippers had the slightest idea the cruiser was in their midst. The prize is being stripped. Captain Ryder says he owns half of her. He has been fishing twenty years, and this is his first offence. Ten well-fleet seiners in North Bay this season have only taken 1,000 barrels between them.—Star.

NINE MEN BURNED TO DEATH.

Destruction of a Railroad Shanty in Which Hungarian Laborers Slept.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., September 3.—Word has been received here of a sickening calamity which occured about midnight last night at five miles and a half above Jonestown on the line of the Williamsport and North Branch Railroad, where a large number of Hungarian laborers are employed on an extension of the road. A shanty in which over twenty of these men were lodged, caught fire last night from the overturning of the stove while the men were asleep. Sixteen men slept on the second floor, but seven succeeded in getting out. The others were left to their fate and were roasted alive in the burning shanty. Their charred remains were afterwards found in the ruins. The men who escaped were so panic stricken that they made no efforts to save their companions. The remains of the dead were removed to Jonestown.

SHOT THROUGH THE TEMPLE.

A Son of Sir Alexander Campbell Found Dead.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—Archibald S. Campbell, son of Sir Alexander Campbell, Postmaster-General, was found dead in his room in his father's house about 4.30 this afternoon. He had been shot through the temple and a revolver lay upon the floor a few feet distant. It is supposed deceased had been examining the revolver and it went off in his hands.

Charleston Quiet.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 5.—Charleston is quiet to-day. There has been no shock of earthquake since 11 o'clock last night, and this helps to make the people more hopeful. The Sabbath silence is only broken by the singing at the different religious meetings which have been held in the open air. Hardly a church in Charleston is considered safe for occupancy, and the ministers of the different denominations have, for this reason held their services in the different public parks and in the grounds adjoining the churches.

Be a Hero in the Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims and their efforts thwarted by disease. Night sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly say consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

MORE RIOTING.

BELFAST, Sept. 5.—At Ballymacarret, a suburb of Belfast, to-day a mob attacked and severely handled four policemen and wrecked a house in which the men had taken refuge. Military aid had to be summond to effect the rescue of the policemen. Two of the rioters were arrested. An Orange funeral procession to-day was attacked by Catholics, and there was much throwing of stones.

CHURCHILL'S MAIDEN SUCCESS.

LONDON, September 4.—The Daily News says that Lord Churchill has achieved his maiden success as a leader, owing to his conciliatory action towards the Parnellites.

TO BE PROSECUTED.

LONDON, September 4.—The Crown will prosecute Gilhooly, Nationalist member, for using intimidating language in his speech at Kealkill.

WAR DEPARTMENT SCANDAL.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The crown lawyers have decided that there is nothing in Col. Hope's statement of the charges against the Ordnance Department to enable the Government to take action.

PARNELL'S LAND BILL.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Parnell will preside at the banquet to be given to members of his colleagues at Charing Cross Hotel prior to their departure for America on Wednesday next. Parnell will submit his land bill to the Gladstonian leaders before introducing it in Parliament. The bill will propose to invest the law courts with discretion to suspend eviction when the tenants threatened with eviction is prepared to lodge three-fourths of his rent in the hands of the court and declares his inability to pay the whole. It is expected that the Gladstonians will support the bill which, however, is not likely to pass unless it receives the Government's approval.

RUSSIAN ATTEMPTS.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—An anonymous proclamation written in the vernacular of the country, has been thoroughly circulated in the Punjaub, calling upon the natives to combine and throw off the hated yoke of the Feringhee. The circular declares that Dhuleep Singh has joined the Russians, and that the Russians are advancing on India.

SCOTCH MINERS.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—A demonstration, which was participated in by 40,000 miners, was held at Motherwell, Scotland, yesterday. Mr. Bradlaugh and others made addresses. It was resolved to form a Federal Union, whose object will be to redress the grievances of miners.

AN INDIAN PRINCE.

[illegible] Scindia has been enthroned with imposing ceremonies. A great durbar was given in honour of the event. The young Maharajah made a speech, in which he promished to surpass his father in his firm friendship to England.

BELFAST POLICE.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Government has decided to permanently increase the Belfast police by 500 men, and erect new barracks in the quarter where disorders are most likely to occur.

IRISH LAND.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Sir John Stewart has offered to sell to his tenants his Tyrone estate on the twenty years' purchase plan, provided they buy it all.

CELTIC LEAGUE.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—A conference will be held at Bonar Bridge, Sutherlandshire, Scotland, on 22nd inst., for the purpose of forming a Celtic League. There will be present Dr. Parr Jones and Principal Jones, of Bala College, who will represent Wales; Commoners Sexton and Chancy, who will represent Ireland, and Commoners McDonald, Conybeare, Sutherland and Cameron, representing the Highlands. The gentlemen having the movement in charge have received from many parts of the Kingdom communications in which the writers promise to join the league.

THE NEW HEBRIDES.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—The Republique Francaise insists that French troops must remain in the New Hebrides Islands to prevent a recurrence of massacres of Europeans by the natives. It says England, which annexed the Ellice Islands without any pretext whatever, has the least reason to complain of France's action in the New Hebrides.

SELLING THEIR STOCK.

Large Holders Selling Their Montreal Telegraph Stock.

Considerable comment is heard on the streets at the manner in which some of the oldest holders of the Montreal Telegraph Company are disposing of their investment stock. This of course is attributed to the fact that the vigorous opposition which is soon to be inaugurated by the Canada Pacific will have the effect of reducing the revenue of the company. It having been stated that Mr. John Crawford had disposed of the largest portion of his holding, a Star reporter asked him to-day if such were the case. "There is no object in disguising the fact," was the reply. "I have disposed of 1,750 out of 2,000 shares, and still I find I am the largest holder on the board of directors."

"What is your reason for this?"

"Well I knew that the estate Allan and other old holders were getting out and I became discouraged. Besides that at my time of life a man does not want to go through another conflict which appears to be brewing with the company and its opponent. I have gone through two such conflicts, and I don't want any more."

"And the Canada Pacific won't help the prospects of the company?"

"Well, I am not prepared to say" laughingly replied Mr. Crawford as he disappeared into Compain's for his mid-day meal.

Between 7,000 and 8,000 shares of investment stock have lately been transferred, the following being some of the most important transfers now on the street on bargain:—

Horsford's Acid Phosphate,

In Nervous Diseases.

Dr. Henry, New York, says: "In nervous diseases, I know of no preparation to equal it."

The Daily Review.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1886.

THE TRUE POSITION.

A RIELITE journal discussing the subject of "French Domination," says that "all the Government's great measures have been carried by the aid of the French and could not have been carried without it." On this ground it is argued by the Rielite press that Conservatives have no right to talk of "French Domination" if French members desert them to join the Reformers. Having approved of French aid, we are debarred, they say, from objecting to French opposition.

This would be a very fair argument, if the suggested change in the French vote were connected with an ordinary question of party politics, of Canadian policy. Should the majority of the French electors and French members become hostile to the National Policy, to the Canadian Pacific Railway and to the Conservative policy in general, preferring the Reform policy of encouraging foreign manufactures and foreign means of communication rather than Canadian, we would think that they were mistaken, but that they had as much right to their opinion as ourselves.

This, however, is by no means the situation. The Rielite Frenchmen do not pretend to have changed their views on matters of Canadian policy. Their standpoint is that a condemned criminal of their "race and creed" must be withdrawn from the hands of justice under penalty of dismissal from office of those who may resist this new claim that a criminal in whom the Province of Quebec is interested may not be executed without the consent of the people of Quebec. That this is the issue was recently set forth in the plainest manner by the Rielite candidate for the County of Ottawa, who based his complaints of the execution of Riel on the ground that he was a French Catholic. This is the gist of all the popular appeals in Quebec, and is the one great issue debated there. Such a pretension made by one Province, of superiority before the general law, aims at the very foundations of our Dominion. To admit it would be simply suicidal on the part of Canada.

The people of Ontario wish for no crusade against Quebec, its people, its race or its creed, but when thus attacked they defend themselves in the interests of equal and impartial justice. We are ready indeed to acknowledge that there are very many loyal French Canadians who utterly repudiate such a preposterous claim. But it is a claim that is openly and loudly set forth in the Province of Quebec, and those who are engineering it hope to carry over in a popular frenzy a sufficient number of votes in the constituencies to cause the Quebec representatives thus elected to make it the voice of their Province in Parliament.

This is an attack which all loyal and honest Canadians, whether Conservatives or Reformers, feel bound to repel. The very instinct of self-preservation impels them to oppose it. Mr. Blake and a section of his party, in their unscrupulous lust for power, may conspire with the French Rielites, but thereby they are committing political suicide, for they cannot carry with them their old supporters into such infamy and madness.

OBJECTIONABLE INVASIONS.

In the joint starring excursion of Messrs. Blake and Mowat, the Ontario Premier and Attorney General abuses the Macdonald Administration for invading, as he says, Provincial rights, and Mr. Blake listens with tacit approval. Yet when Mr. Blake was Dominion Minister of Justice he censured the Provinces for their tendency towards the invasion of the Criminal Law, describing this invasion as obviously objectionable. Indeed Mr. Blake as Minister of Justice for the Dominion had to interfere in scores of instances to check Mr. Mowat as Attorney General of Ontario for invasions of Dominion jurisdiction in this and other respects. Mr. Mowat's pretence and Mr. Blake's tacit approval are both dishonest, and only mean that they object to Conservative statesmen chosen by the majority of the people of Canada having any power, though when in office themselves they would push these powers to the utmost. Their one great object is to combine to harrass and impede the central Government of Canada unless it is in their own hands.

The Speaker's Rulings.

The Pall Mall Gazette says the scenes in the lobby and in the chamber of the House of Commons last evening during the closing debate on the the proposed amendments to the address in reply to the Queen's speech form the leading topic of conversation among politicans to-day. Alluding to Speaker Peel's very sharp and summary rulings, the Gazette says the general impression is that Mr. Peel was testy because suffering from ill-health, and that there is no ground for supposing that he was acting in collusion with the Government or pursuing a predetermined course of action in calling members to order in such a peremptory style.

Violent Crime.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—A dismissed employee in Boulogne, named De Croix, to-day shot with a revolver his former employer, Cotte, who has since died of his wounds. After the shooting De Croix threatened to kill any one who tried to arrest him. After a desperate struggle he was secured. Before being overcome he attempted to commit suicide by wounding himself severely. The excited crowd that had been attracted by the report of the revolver tried to seize De Croix with the intention of lynching him, but the police succeeded in conveying him to a place of safety.

AGRICULTURAL RETURNS.

Statistics of the Crops in the Counties of Peterborough and Haliburton.

From the agricultural returns of the Ontario Bureau of Industries we take the following portions having reference to these counties:—

FALL WHEAT.

In the East Midland counties the fall wheat crop is much the best in yield and quality that has been reaped for several years. The returns from Hastings, Victoria and Peterborough are practically unanimous as to the healthy development of the grain, its freedom from insect enemies and rust, the excellence of the sample, and the fine condition in which most of it was housed. In Haliburton the reports are scarcely less favorable, though, of course, the acreage sown is not very large and reaping was not so far advanced that the quality of the grain could be spoken of with certainty. Regret is frequently expressed by correspondents that a larger area was not sown in fall wheat. An occasional report mentions that the crop was slightly winter-killed, but the effects were only visible in shortened straw, or thinness in patches, and they were more than balanced by the heads being unusually large and well filled, and the grain plump and bright. On some exposed patches from which the snow was blown during the winter the crop was not up to the general high average, but like other adverse influences in the East Midland counties these cases were few and far between. As for rust or insects, there is absolutely no mention of them in the reports. Harvest began early, and as the weather was favorable the great bulk of the crop was safely housed when the reports of correspondents were made. Labor was abundant and cheap, and the services of the self-binder were availed of more largely than any previous year.

John Moloney, Douro, Peterborough: Fall wheat is one of the best crop ever produced here. The berry is very plump and sound.

James S. Cairnduff, Harvey, Peterborough: Fall wheat is generally thin on the ground, but with good fat heads and plump berry. There were no insect pests that I could discover. There will be about an average crop.

F. Birdsall, Asphodel, Peterborough: Fall wheat has not been injured by the weather, insect pests or rust. Its condition is good, the heads being well filled. The quality of the grain is No. 1.

Thomas Telford, Ennismore, Peterborough: During my residence of 30 years in this township I never saw a finer crop of fall wheat. The grain is sound and plump.

F. R. Curry, Anson and Hindon, Haliburton: Fall wheat is excellent and has received no injury from any source. The grain is very good.

Stephen Kettle, Glamorgan, Haliburton: Fall wheat looks better than ever I saw it here. It has received no injury through the summer. Frost in spring killed out one or two pieces that lost the snow very early.

SPRING WHEAT.

Should it escape the rust the prospects are that as far as the East Midland Counties are concerned the yield will be pretty near, if not quite, an average, and in some of them possibly considerably more than an average.

James S. Cairnduff, Harvey, Peterborough: Spring wheat is promising since the rain in July. The drought affected the crop in spots, but it has improved wonderfully of late. Will be ripe in two weeks.

John Moloney, Douro, Peterborough: Fair average crop; promises to be a good, plump berry.

Henry Ferrier, Stanhope, Haliburton: Spring wheat looking well; no damage yet.

BARLEY.

In Hastings and Peterborough the yield will be comparatively small and the sample a little discolored. In the northern parts of those counties the grain was somewhat hurt by spring frosts. The reports from Victoria were more favorable.

D. Kennedy, Otonabee, Peterborough: Barley is short in straw and some very light in weight. It will not turn out as well as last year.

F. Birdsall, Asphodel, Peterborough: Barley in most cases is very short and thin, caused by the drought. Most of it will be colored by the late showers. It is also light in the berry in many cases.

F. R. Curry, Anson, Haliburton: Commenced cutting on July 30th, but some of it will not be fit for harvest for ten days yet. It looks very well indeed.

OATS.

The East Midland counties make almost as good a showing as those along the rivers but their acreage is much less. In some places, perhaps a fourth of the whole area the drought has caused a shortage; but in other districts the crop is spoken of as "the best in ten years," and as "over an average." Late sown grain in these counties has a fair prospect of improvement.

J. M. Drummond, Otonabee, Peterborough: Oats are very good, well headed, not overly long in straw, but a nice, even crop. None ripe.

James S. Carnduff, Harvey, Peterborough: Oats, like spring wheat, are improving very much. The crop is short in spots, and will be a low average. Only occasionally a good even field is seen, chiefly on new ground.

John Moloney, Douro, Peterborough: Oats are an abundant crop.

Charles R. Stewart, Dysart, Haliburton: Just lovely. Wherever sown early they are splendid. Those sown late are not yet out of danger of drought.

Henry Ferrier, Stanhope, Haliburton: Oats never looked better here.

Stephen Kettle, Glamorgan, Haliburton: Looking an average crop.

RYE.

In some parts of the east, particularly in Prince Edward, it was thin on the ground and rather poor in head owing to the winter-killing. Only one report mentions spring rye, and that is from Haliburton, where it seems to have done fairly well.

Daniel Williams, Glamorgan, Haliburton: Fall rye is very good, and ready for harvesting. Spring rye also promises well.

PEASE.

In Peterborough and Victoria, the crop is generally a fairly satisfactory one. The later fields are almost invariably the best, the drought having seized on the earlier ones at blossoming time and done them more or less harm.

In Hastings, Haliburton, Muskoka and Parry Sound the crop is also a very satisfactory one, and will in all likehood be secured in good condition.

F. Birdsall, Asphodel, Peterborough: The earliest are not so well filled, but the late promise a fair crop. I commenced to cut my pease (Marrowfat) on the 27th July.

Thos. Telford, Ennismore, Peterborough: Pease are a fine crop. They will be above the average.

F. R. Curry, Anson, Haliburton: All right in every way. Crop excellent. Will be ready for harvesting in about a week.

Chas. R. Stewart, Dysart, Haliburton: Pease look very well. My pease are all well podded and will be a fine crop. This district always succeeds with pease.

CORN.

F. R. Curry, Anson and Minden, Haliburton: What little is grown looks well.

ROOTS.

Jas. S. Cairnduff, Harvey, Peterborough: Roots are very promising; the late rains have saved the crop. Potatoes doing well; turnips, carrots and mangles are very promising: the farmers are finding out that it pays to raise them—hence they are going in largely for root crops.

John Garbutt, Smith, Peterborough: Potatoes, turnips, mangel-wurzels and carrots are in good condition and promise a good crop.

Hugh Caldwell, Chandos, Peterborough: Roots good; all doing well. Early potatoes good and dry; some neglected fields were injured by bug. Weather just what was required.

Chas. R. Stewart, Dysart, etc., Haliburton: All roots are looking well. Potatoes are looking splendid, less bugs than usual; have not had to use Paris green at all. Turnips very promising. Have carrots in use for the table; very fine. The weather has been very favorable for all roots.

FRUITS.

D. Kennedy, Otonabee, Peterborough: This has been a very poor fruit year; fruit of all kinds will be scarce in this section.

Chas. R. Stewart, Dysart, etc., Haliburton: Can't say anything about fruit. My apple trees have been a beastly failure; I am disgusted and disgruntled with the whole affair.

HAY AND CLOVER.

J. M. Drummond, Otonabee, Peterborough: Hay crop very good; clover rather short on account of drought. The bulk of hay was housed in splendid condition. A few fields badly spoilt in the last week of haying. Clover for seed is well blossomed; no weevil. Heads that are nearly filled are full of seed, but straw very short on high land; about a foot in length.

John Garbutt, Smith, Peterborough: The quality of the hay crop is good. The frost affected timothy on low ground. In the beginning of haying the weather was very fine, but the latter part was affected a little by rain. It was secured in good condition. The prospect for the clover-seed crop is very good; in timothy and red-top there was considerable premature ripening, caused by a worm in the joint.

Henry Ferrier, Stanhope, Haliburton: Hay very good. Drought in the early part of the season caused it to make a slow growth, but later rains fetched it along. Haying has been wet, yet the crop has been saved in pretty good condition.

PASTURE, LIVE STOCK AND DAIRY.

In the East Midland counties the reports average fairly. A moderately favorable state of affairs is reported from Victoria and Peterborough, while the reports from Haliburton correspondents are uniformly favorable.

D. Kennedy, Otonabee, Peterborough: Pastures so far have been very good this season. Horses, cattle, sheep and pigs are all in good condition. The dairy produce has been large; the season has been very favorable.

Chas. R. Stewart, Dysart, Haliburton: Pastures now are excellent—unusually good. The late rains have kept them green and growing, and cattle are in fine order. The same may be said of sheep. Not much fat stock here—all sold. Dairy produce there is considerable butter being made of fair quality. We export largely. It is rather better than usual.

LABOR AND MACHINERY.

A. R. Kidd, Dummer, Peterborough: Self-binders are used to a very limited extent in this township. Wages $1.00 per day and board, and from $16 to $18 with board for six months.

M. McIntyre, North Monaghan, Peterborough: Labor supply is plentiful. Self-binders are used very much; most all farmers have them, and those that have not, employ them to cut their grain. Wages about $1.25 per day.

F. R. Curry, Anson, Haliburton: Wages $20 to $25 per month with board. Fair supply of labor. Quite a number of hay-rakes and mowers have been introduced into this district the last few years.

BREAKFAST

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack us wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

A LADY IN THE PULPIT.

Miss Ida Templeton-Armstrong Preaches in the Methodist Church.

Miss Ida Templeton-Armstrong, a lady lecturer and temperance speaker, who came to Peterborough to lecture under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, preached on Sunday in the George Street Methodist Church, Peterborough.

At the George street church there was a very large congregation. Not only the seats, but the aisles and every available corner were occupied, chairs having been brought from the Sunday school room to accommodate as far as possible the overflow from the pews and side seats.

The Rev. G. H. Davis conducted the opening devotional exercises.

Miss TEMPLETON-ARMSTRONG is a very good speaker, and perfectly at home in the pulpit. She spoke slowly and distinctly, and could be plainly heard at the door. Her voice is strong, yet purely feminine, and is pleasant to listen to. Her manner was very much like that of the average male preacher. She frequently emphasized her words by a graceful, yet swinging, motion of her arm, and the way in which she modulated her voice to harmonize with what she was saying showed her to be an experienced speaker. She read a chapter from Isaiah for the scripture lesson, and took for her text John xix., 1-5:—

"Then Pilate therefore took Jesus, and scourged him. And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple robe, and said, Hail, King of the Jews! and they smote him with their hands. Pilate therefore went forth again, and said unto them, Behold, I bring Him forth unto you, that you may know I find no fault in Him. Then came Jesus forth wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. And Pilate saith unto them, Behold the man."

She would call attention particularly, she said, to the last clause of the fifth verse, "Behold the man." She wished them to picture the scene. It was a scene unparalleled in the history of the world, and one that would perhaps never take place again. She briefly described the circumstances that led to the betrayal of Christ and the trial scene, emphasizing the power of His judge and His purity and innocence. Christ came not to work a social or political revolution for the Jews, but as the Lamb of God to take away the sins of the world. The Jews were disappointed. She had no doubt that Judas had expected that Christ would be a great king, and to raise to a high place with Him, and that his disappointment had led him to betray Christ. Perhaps Judas hoped to precipitate His assumption of kindship by betraying Him. The Pharisees were particular [illegible] at this trial scene, of observing cermonial law, yet they wished to kill Jesus. They had people now who would peril all to preserve jots and tittles, but in whose hearts the spirit of Christ was woefully wanting. In Pilate they had a type of a worldly-minded statesman. He did not want to kill Christ. He was convinced that He was innocent, and wanted to free him. What was their to hinder Pilate from doing what he knew would be right? His policy, statecraft and selfishness. He yielded to the clamorous crowd through fear of losing his position. He caused Jesus to be scourged—a punishment so terrible that few survived it, and so horrible that few could witness it. He then brought Jesus before the multitude again and said "Behold the man." It was as much as to say, "Do you not pity Him? Will you not forego His death?" But Pilate was in the grasp of the crowd, and they hissed that if he let Jesus go he was no friend of Cæsar's. Pilate feared to have a charge laid against him at Rome and he sent Christ to death. Had they not men and women who committed Pilate's sin? These people were time servers. They would do good if it was easy and would take the right course if it was popular. They would sacrifice nothing, and sooner than do so they would give up innocence, truth and mercy, and injure their own souls. Pilate sinned to save his place and power, and he lost them. The charge at Rome that he feared was laid, and at the end he was beggared and bankrupt, and committed suicide in despair. Christ stood before his judge poor and weary, and Pilate wondered at him claiming Kingly power. "Let us behold Him to-night," said the speaker, "but behold Him in a different light." All the hopes of the human race centred around him. He was the light of the world, and Christ and Christianity were the only safegard of civilization. The Gospel was good tidings—a declaration and revelation—and it had blessed the world through the ages. The Christian portion of the congregation could "behold the Man" and say that he was their Sovereign and Commander-in-Chief. Their hearts warmed at the mention of His name. All should try for themselves to know Christ and to have personal dealings with him. He came near to them; He was their brother. Christ was a poor man, and there were things that He did not know. He grew in wisdom and stature. He learned his trade, which was that of a carpenter. What a humiliation was all this for the Son of God! Why did He do it? Could nothing else suffice? Nothing. They had fallen so low that only God could save them. The wonders of the heavens were spoken of as the work of God's fingers; but to save man he made bare His arm. The power of God was represented in the child and the man Christ Jesus. His power was shown in his divine stooping to conquer. They should behold Him that night. Referring to the healing of Bartemeus' eyes, she said as soon as the blind man saw Christ's face—the first face he had looked upon—He followed him. One would almost wish to be born blind for such a moment! While they kept their eyes on Jesus they would not wander, but when they lost sight of Him, the polar star of their soul, they faltered. She urged all who had not seen Jesus, and who still felt the pressure of their guilt, to accept deliverance and salvation from Christ. The disciples were not what would now be called great preachers. They simply told their story, but with what fervor and force! If a barrister pleaded a case in court with the indifference sometimes shown by people pleading with Christ he would never get another brief. Salvation was not something they were going to get the benefit of when they were going to die. To be saved from hell was a small part of the fulness of salvation. It gave freedom from the power of sin. She desired God to possess her heart and wished her will to be His will. Salvation not only saved them from punishment, but gave them the power and blessings of Christ. God was the only real power in the universe, and they could become partakers of it by faith. It was true that God had laid on Christ the iniquity of all, yet it was not true for them until they appropriated the benefits of the redemption. People were not extra holy when they wished to die. They should desire to live and work for God. It was easier to die than to live. She had known soldiers, who had faced death at the cannon's mouth, to fall before mean little sins and sink into the mire. Time was the place in which they were to sow the seed, and they would reap the harvest in eternity. As they lived so would their place be hereafter. The preacher concluded a practical and eloquent discorse by urging all to know God.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

The traffic receipts of the Canadian Pacific railway for the month ending August 31st were $297,000, an increase of $31,000 compared with the corresponding week last year.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

WONDERFUL is the effect of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment in rheumatism, sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. It stands without a rival. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. TULLY, druggist.

Prof. Carpmael writes to the Mail that the magnetic instruments in the Toronto Observatory were set in vibration by earth tremors on Tuesday night, at about the time of the destructive earthquake shock in Charleston, South Carolina.

WEST'S PAIN KING acts promptly, cures quickly. Never fails to cure bowel complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera. Costs but 25 cents and is always ready. Enquire regarding its merits of J. D. TULLY, druggist.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent prond flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

Col. R. M. Batchelder, depot quartermaster, has been ordered to Charleston by the Washington authorities to issue and distribute tents to the homeless, and to render such aid as it may be in the power of the department to extend.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

The Bishop of Kingston has decided to divide the diocese into five sections, with a priest in each to be representative, and to "establish the unity and perfection of the discipline and order of the Catholic Church." Brockville has been created one of the vicariates, and Rev. Father Gauthier assumes the title of dean.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton, Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1886.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Foot Ball.

All members and those wishing to join, are hereby requested at attend the annual meeting of the Foot Ball Club in connection with the P. A. A. A. on Monday evening, September 6th. The meeting wil be held at the Grand Central at 7.30 p. m. sharp.

At the Barracks.

Capt. Simcoe and Capt. Chapouand, the Salvation Army missionaries, were at the Army meetings on Saturday. night and Sunday. There was a large attendance at the meetings. These officers are raising money to help the Army in India and Quebec. At the afternoon meeting on Sunday Capt. Chapouand related her experiences in Switzerland, and at the evening meeting Capt. Simcoe spoke of her labors in France and Switzerland.

All Highly pleased.

The Lindsay Post says:—"The fall meeting of the Peterborough Driving Park Association came off on Thursday and Friday last. The attendance was not liberal and by no means worthy of the effort put forth by the association. The liberal purses for the different events drew a large list of competitors and every heat was fought to the finish. The time made in the principal trotting events was very fast. Both spectators and participants were highly pleased at the manner in which everything was conducted, jockeying and foul driving being conspicuous by its absence. Such meetings will do much to reinstate horseracing in the good opinion of the sporting public."

Improving St. Luke's Church.

Workmen are now engaged in making alterations in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham. A new chancel will be built to the church, ten feet deeper than the one torn down, carrying it back to the school house. The chancel floor will also be raised seven inches. A new organ chamber, 10 by 15 feet, will be added to the south of the chancel. The vestry will be enlarged, and a passageway will be continued from the vestry to the Sunday school room, thus uniting the church and the school room There will also be a passageway between the cellars of the church and school buildings. The large chancel window has been sent to Toronto for the purpose of having it enlarged, and new windows, of cathedral glass, will be put in the chancel. The chancel roof or ceiling will be of wood, pannelled, stained and varnished, and supports will descend from it and rest on handsomely carved brackets. It is expected that the work will be completed in a few weeks. The plans were prepared by Mr. Blackwell, architect, and Mr. Henry Carveth is the contractor for the work.

We are offering extra good value in every line of General Groceries. Call and inspect. MORROW, TIERNEY & CO.

Music in the Park.

The band will give one of their popular open air concerts in the Court House Park this evening.

Notice.

No. 1 Company will meet for drill at 7.30 o'clock to-night. No. 5 company will also meet at the same hour. All regular enlisted men must attend.

The Temperature.

The following are the readings of the thermometer to-day at the hours mentioned:—8 o'clock, 62; 1 o'clock, 79; 3 o'clock, 83.

Four Funerals.

The Rev. F. H. Wallace, pastor of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, was called upon on Sunday, the day after returning from his holidays, to attend the funerals of three persons connected with his church—those of Mr. Samuel Hamilton, of a son of Mr. Geo. Kingdon, and an infant child of Mr. Williams, who lives in the south part of the town. There was also a fourth funeral at the Little Lake Cemetery on Sunday.

Lecture.

Miss Templeton Armstrong will deliver her celebrated lecture, "John Knox and His Times," in the Opera House on Monday evening, Sept. 6th., of which lecture Rev. H. M. Pearson, Toronto, says:—"It should take Canada by storm." A lady will preside, and the offices of door-keeper, &c., will be filled by ladies. Officers of Union will take seats on the platform. Doors open at 7.30; chair to be taken at 8 o'clock. Tickets 15c.

A picnic in the Seperate School grounds to-morrow.

Funeral of a Son of England.

The funeral of the late Samuel Hamilton took place on Sunday afternoon and was attended by the members of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, of which deceased had been a member. The Fire Brigade Band met the Sons of England at their hall and escorted them to Mr. Hamilton's late residence, on Rubidge street, and headed the funeral cortege to the Little Lake Cemetery. There were a large number of the members of the Society present, and they presented a good appearance. The funeral ceremony of the Methodist Church was read by the Rev. F. H. Wallace, and the Society ceremony was read by Bro. W. Brundrett, W. P., and Bro. S. Hemp, W. Chaplain. Mr. Hamilton's death was a sudden and sad one. He went to Toronto on Monday, and on Tuesday evening he was picked up in a street suffering from cholera morbus. Late on Tuesday night Mr. J. W. Carter, Grand Secretary of the Sons of England, heard of the case and telegraphed to Mr. Felix Brownscombe, Secretary of the lodge here. An answer was sent asking the Toronto brethren to attend to Mr. Hamilton, which they did, but on Friday forenoon he died and the body was forwarded to Peterborough on Saturday night.

POLICE COURT.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE.

MONDAY, Sept. 6.—Wm. Lasher was charged by J. D. Baptie with having used grossly abusive and insulting language to the complainant.

Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the complainant and Mr. John Burnham for the defendant.

After hearing the evidence the Magistrate imposed a fine of $5 and costs.

THE HOME TEAM WINS.

They Score as Many in One Innings as the Medicos do in Two.

The cricket match on Saturday resulted differently from Friday's match. The Medicos on Saturday met a team representing Peterborough and district, all the players on which except three belonged to the town. The home team went first to the bat and ran up the respectable score of 170. The "Sawbones" then went to the bat and played two innings, totalling exactly the same as the team did in one innings, and thus giving a brilliant victory to the home players.

The Medicos committed a rather childish act in refusing to go on with the match if T. A. Bell was not removed from the home team. It showed that their object was to win and that cricket was a secondary consideration, as Bell is a paid up member of the Peterborough club.

For the Peterboroughs Hallett, Willoughby, Rogers, Fraser, Long and Stratton got their double figures by good batting. The bowling and fielding of the visitors was not in very good form.

The Meds. made 48 in their first innings and 122 in the second. Drs. Bascom, Scadding and Ross batted well for their scores. The fielding of the home team was really good and was in marked contrast to that of the previous day, and had the team been as well managed on Friday as it was on Saturday the result on the first day would have been different. The bowling of the the Peterboroughs was also very good. The fielding of Rogers and E. Stratton was especially good, and Long did good word in long stop. One or two of the home team, however, fielded in a manner that scarcely calls for special mention on account of its merit.

Between the first and second innings the players were entertained at a lunch.

The scores were as follows:—

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—I desire to call attention to the following paragraph, taken from the Brantford Expositor:—

"From the results of the recent Toronto University examinations we are pleased to learn that Miss Edith M. Fitch, daughter of B. F. Fitch, Esq., M.A., has been successful in the competition for the Governor-General's medal, awarded to the candidate from the Brantford Ladies' College securing the highest standing in these examinations."

Now, sir, I find by reference to the report of the proceedings held in our school room on Friday last, and which appeared in your journal of the following day, that the Governor-General's medal was not awarded to the boy of our Institute that secured the highest standing in the late Toronto examinations, but to the boy that stood next to him. That there should be a different ruling in this matter observed by our school authorities to that of other colleges and Institutes, is an enigma to many. —It has been asserted that on a previous occasion of awarding the Governor General's medal to a pupil of this Institute, it was conferred by mistake on one not entitled to it—if this be the case—and if it be the fact that the same medal has not been justly awarded on this present occasion, it is to be hoped that our school Board, to whom the interests of the schools are entrusted by the public, will at once take measures to ascertain from the highest authority, the University of Toronto, from which there can be no appeal, the right ruling to be observed by all schools concerned —I maintain in the interests of the school that this ruling should be so clearly refined, and so published to the pupils at large, that no possible mistake can be made in the future—and more than that—that no possible loop hole can be left by which favor, partiality, or affection can be shown or indulged in by any of those whose province it is to confer this great distinction.

I am, Dear Sir,
F. M. HAULTAIN.

Peterborough, Sept. 6, 1886.

ENNISMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WEATHER NOTES.—August, on the whole, has been a very warm month, the thermometer only once coming as low as 42 deg., which was on the morning of the 16th. We had some very hot days during the second week, keeping at 90 deg. and over in the shade at 3 p. m., and again in the latter end of the month, on 27th, being 92 deg., and on the 28th suddenly rising to 96 deg., being the hotest with only two exceptions, in July, leaving the average temperature of the month at 64 deg. Rain fell on five days to the depth of 3 inches and 56-100 of an inch. A severe thunder storm passed over us on 23rd, when rain fell in one hour to the depth of 1 inch and 95-100, and in eight hours fell two inches and 10-100. There was fog on four mornings, but no frost. It has been an old proverb in Canada that there is no August without frost. I have watched it for over thirty years and it never failed till this year, being the only exception but no doubt had the ground been wet on the morning of the 16th there would have been white frost, as I have seen it with the thermometer at 44 deg. The following were the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, respectively, namely: north east, 2 days; north west, 6 days; north, 3 days; south, 4 days; south east, 7 days; south west, 6 days; and east, 3 days.

THE CROPS.—The crops in this section are mostly secured. Only a few straggling patches of oats and pease remain, to wind up the harvest. Mr. Aaron Mann's steam thresher from Smith is doing a large amount of work in this township. It is now a foregone conclusion that at no distant day they will to a large extent supersede the ordinary horse power threshing machine.

HONOR ROLL.—The following is the honor roll for the month of August, of S. S. No. 3, Ennismore, of which Miss Annie C. Geary is teacher:—

Sr. Third Class—1st Sarah A. Calvert, 2nd Katie Geary.

Jr. Third Class—1st Stephen F. Collins and Alexander Geary, 2nd Flora Calvert, 3rd Pat. Sweeney and Lizzie Bennett.

Sr. Second Class—1st Josie Sullivan, 2nd Jas. Sweeney, 3rd Minnie McCarthy and Hannah Twomey.

Jr. Second Class—1st Michael Sweeney, 2nd Burnham Calvert, 3rd Bridgie Collins.

Sr. First Class—1st Leona and Willie J. Telford, 2nd Alice Cooley, 3rd Ada Nurse.

Jr. 1st Class A—1st Ellen Curtin, 2nd E. Leopold Telford, 3rd Willie Conway.

Jr. First Class B—1st Burtie Calvert and Maggie Collins, 2nd Julia Sweeney, 3rd Katie Curtin.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

THE SUGAR DUTIES.

MANY of the Reform journals are endeavoring to excite a prejudice against the Dominion Administration by repeated assertions that sugar is much dearer in Canada than in Great Britain. In doing so they indulge in gross exaggeration, putting the Canadian price higher than it really is, and giving the British price for very inferior sugar. They also omit to mention the fact of English and Scotch refineries having been closed by the unfair competition of imported bonused beet sugar to the great loss of employers and employed. Having pointed out these misrepresentations we are quite prepared to admit that sugar is dearer in Canada than in the mother countries.

These critics, however, take care to ignore the true point of comparison. They make no mention of the undeniable fact that sugar is much cheaper now in Canada than it was under the Mackenzie-Blake Administration. The duties on raw sugar, which cause the difference in price as compared with Great Britain, were at least as heavy under the Reform regime. Do the Reformers propose to admit raw sugars free? If so the refiners would benefit, for they would be relieved from the duties, which they now have to pay and then to recover by adding the amount to their selling price. This would in fact be increased protection. Internal competition would reduce the price of refined sugar, and the consumer would benefit in this respect. But this revenue tax, if repealed, must be replaced by some other. From what article would our revenue tariff advocates collect the necessary amount? Perhaps it would be tea, on which the Reformers imposed a tax which the Conservatives removed. Or would they give up the duties both on raw and refined sugar? Then we would have sugar cheaper, but inferior; there would still remain the necessity for maintaining the revenue by taxing some other article, and many now employed in our refineries would be deprived of their means of livelihood.

There would remain the alternative of going back to the Reformers,' old system of taxing raw sugar, but having no protective duty on refined sugar. This would be protection reversed—the protection of the foreign refiners, who would close once more our Canadian refineries, reap all the profits of the industry denied to our own people, and again exact from us high prices for poor sugar.

Canadian housekeepers are well satisfied with things as they are, having cheaper and better sugar than ever before. If they pay a little more than in Great Britain they thus avoid other taxes, and have the satisfaction of giving any profit to their fellow countrymen instead of foreigners.

BAD FAITH OF MR. MOWAT.

IN discussing the reasons why Kingston was not chosen as the Dominion capital the Kingston News says:—

"The French wanted Montreal or Quebec to be selected. Upper Canadians preferred Toronto or Kingston; Bytown seemed to be a compromise. But whatever were the reasons, the matter having been submitted to Her Majesty's decision, all loyal subjects were doubly bound in honor to abide by her choice."

Mr. Mowat voted with the majority of Parliament to refer the choice to the arbitration of the Queen. When Her Majesty had made her decision in favour of Ottawa, Mr. Mowat rejected it, repudiated his own reference to arbitration, and joined in the log-rolling which gave the advocates of half a dozen different cities a joint majority over the honorable men in the House. It was by this dirty trick that Mr. Mowat first obtained office. He did so at the cost of his honor as a politician and as a man, basely breaking his solemnly pledged word, disloyally throwing in the face of his Sovereign the award he had asked from her, and cravenly insulting a woman. Nothing is too small for Mr. Mowat if it conduces to his political or personal advantage. With such views as to honesty, loyalty and truth, it is not surprising that Mr. Mowat can join in the combination with Pacaud and other Rielites.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION.

First Meeting—Information to be Obtained From England.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—The first meeting of the Royal Commission appointed by the Government to enquire into the question of the management of the railways was held on Saturday last, Sir A. T. Galt, the president, in the chair. The following members of the commission were present:—Messrs. Collingwood Schreiber, Geo. Moberly and E. R. Burpee, the only absentee being Mr Kenny, of Halifax, N. S. Mr. M. S. Lonergan, the secretary, was present.

After some routine business connected with the formal organization of the commission, a resolution was passed that the High Commissioner for Canada in London be applied to for the purpose of getting any reports made to the Imperial Government by the English commissioners, and any Acts passed by the British Parliament in connection with the railways in the United Kingdom, for the perusal of the commissioners. After these are received the commission will hold a meeting and fix a day in October for hearing evidence in Toronto.

THE CALLANDER EXTENSION.

Bi-Weekly Mixed Trains to Run Through to La Vase This Week.

The management of the Northern & [illegible] to partially open the Callander extension for traffic from end to end. This, however, is simply for local business as far as passengers are concerned. Commencing today the mixed train coming north will leave La Vase at 5 p. m., arriving in Toronto at 7.45 p. m. on Mondays and Thursdays only. The mixed train from Gravenhurst to Sunbridge, which connects at the former station with the 8.10 a. m. train from Toronto, will run on Wednesdays and Saturdays from Sunbridge to La Vase, leaving Sunbridge at 6.30 p. m. No connection will be made at present with trains on the Canadian Pacific at La Vase, and the through express train service will not commence until the arrival of the new rolling stock now being built at Cobourg and Kingston. The line was passed by the Government engineer and accepted by the company several weeks ago.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA.

The Russian Mischief Maker—Turkey Arming—Warlike Appearances.

SOFIA, Sept. 6.—Bbefore Prince Alexander announced his intention to quit the throne he received a telegram from Prince Bismarck recommending that he abdicate in order to save Bulgaria.

CHARGED TO WEAKNESS OF MIND.

SOFIA, Sept. 6.—Prince Alexander's decision to abdicate is attributed partly to loss of vigor of mind and body consequent upon the severe trials he has undergone lately.

THE PRINCE TO BE DETAINED.

SOFIA, Sept. 6.—The Bulgarian officers favourable to Prince Alexander have held a meeting and decided to retain him by force.

A GOOD THING FOR ENGLAND.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Standard says: We are convinced that Bismarck will not succeed inaverting an eventual struggle between Russia and Austria. England will be the chief gainer by the great opportunity which Germany and Austria have thrown away. Anything that increases Russian interest and absorbs her attention in Europe will divert it from Asia. Thus we will acquire the time to render Russian machinations in Asia harmless.

A COMMITTEE OF NEGOTATION.

SOFIA, Sept. 6.—Prince Alexander on Saturday presided at a meeting representing all the parties in Bulgaria. It was decided to appoint M. Stambuloff, M. Radoslavoff, to negotiate with Russia and other powers for the settlement of the Bulgarian crisis. The ordinary session of the Bulgarian Chamber of Deputies has been summoned to discuss the abdication. It is believed the departure of Alexander from Bulgaria is likely to result in civil war.

TURKEY ARMING.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6.—It is rumored that in accordance with the advice given by two friendly powers, Turkey is making military preparations on the Asiatic frontier. It is also said that orders have been given to supply the army in Erzeroum and along the border with additional guns, stores and munitions. This activity is due to movements on the part of Russia, which is supposed to be making an effort to gauge the infantry and naval strength of Turkey. A suspicious foreign artist has been seen making sketches of the forts outside of Constantinople. It is thought he was an agent of Russia. It is learned that large contracts have been made on Russia's account for coal for Odessa, and that a contract has been made to supply 30,000 tons of metal plates of 12 inch thickness and with steel facing, for the Russian arsenal on the Black Sea.

GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION.

BELGRADE, Sept. 6.—A despatch from Semlia says King Milan of Servia, who with his Prime Minister, was on his way to Gluckenburg, has, on account of the gravity of the situation created in the Balkan States by Prince Alexander's abdication, abandoned his journey and arranged to return to Belgrade.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

THE DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE.

VIENNA, September 6.—The Duke of Cambridge has arrived here. He will accompany the Crown Prince to Galicia to witness the army manœuvres.

TO ABANDON PORT HAMILTON.

LONDON, September 6.—The Pall Mall Gazette declares that England will abandon the island of Port Hamilton, off the coast of Corea, because of the conviction that its occupation would prove a source of weakness in time of war.

SNOW IN MONTANA.

ST. PAUL, September 6.—A light snow fell at Helena last night. The thermometer stood at three above zero.

AN INDIAN TREATY.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Lord Dufferin has abrogated the treaty with the Rajah of Sikkim because the Rajah permitted Thibetan troops to enter his territory.

SPANISH RIOTS.

MADRID, Sept. 6.—There has been serious rioting at Corunna for two days, the outcome of public opposition to the local taxes. The authorities were obliged to summon the police and military to disperse the rioters. Several persons were wounded by the explosion of a dydamite cartridge. Many arrests have been made.

BURMESE MURDERS.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Father Biet, superior of the Catholic mission in British Burmah, recently went to visit a well-known usurer at Ramos. While the priest was at the money-lender's house three Burmese robbers broke into the house to steal the usurer's money. He resisted them stoutly, and they killed him with knives. The robbers then turned upon the priest and murdered him because he had witnessed the crime.

GREEK GYPSIES.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Greek gypsies who were refused transportation to America by all the steamer lines have gone to Hamburg, whence they intend to secure a passage to America.

HEAVY RAINSTORMS.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—A despatch from Glasgow says the heaviest rainstorm ever known in that part of Scotland prevailed there and over the western portion of the country. It did much damage to crops.

GOLD AND SILVER.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Treasury minute appointing a commission on the currency question limits the scope of the commission to an inquiry into the causes of the depreciation of silver and the appreciation of gold.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

SWEPT ON THE RIEL CRY.

In yesterday's issue Hon. David Mills presented to the public, through these columns, an outline oft he Reform expectations in the approaching Dominion elections. He is confident that the entire country is be swept, but mainly on the Riel cry.—Winnipeg Sun.

TWO-FACED RIELITES.

Some people in this world can make themselves very amusing. One of the most amusing is the Grit yelling race and revenge in Quebec, and telling the Ontario Conservative that really in the interests of harmony and for the good of the country it is best to let the Riel affair die out. "Behold! shrieks this patriot to Jean Baptiste, "behold the brutal Orangiste, his hands dripping with the blood of our martyred Riel! Down with him! Drive him from office!" And ere the echoes of his frantic screams have died away, he turns to the people of Ontario and expresses his surprise that anybody in Canada could be so treasonable to the best interests of Canada as to raise questons of race or creed. Were the crisis not so grave one would only smile at the absurdity of such performances.—Hamilton Spectator.

PLAYING FAST AND LOOSE.

The Reformers cannot expect to have the advantages of a Rielite association and at the same time take none of the evils. The Reform party, if it did not wish to be placed in a compromising position and put a weapon in the hands of their opponents, should have told the bolters that it was their belief that Riel was ambitious, mercenary wretch, well-deserving the fate meted out to him, and that they did not believe that any treatment of exceptional severity had been given him because of the French blood in his veins. If after that the bolters had proceeded to wreak their vengeance on the Government, the Reformers might have snatched out the chest-nuts without being burnt.—Winnipeg Sun (Indep)

NO D. M.

When Mr. Mills and his friends were in power, a very short, sharp and decisive method of dealing with the representations of the native population of this country was adopted. When a petition to the department of the interior, over which Mr. D. Mills presided with more profit to himself than advantage to the country, came in, that honorable and autocratic gentleman was in the habit of writing across its face, pleasantly and without thought, "No., D. M." The "D. M.," it is unnecessary to remark, were the honorable gentleman's initials. The "No" was the sententious expression of the attitude of his government towards all half-breeds and others whose vote was then considered not worth courting.—Winnipeg Manitoban.

Be a Hero in the Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly say consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites,

Possesses in the fullest degree the tonic and stimulating properties of the Hypophosphites combined with the healing, strengthening and fattening qualities of the Cod Liver Oil in a perfectly agreeable form, of wonderful value in Consumption, Debility and Wasting Diseases.

Some Miraculous Results

Have followed the use of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic." It has saved many from becoming bald, and has produced good heads of hair on bald heads where the roots are not all gone. It has relieved hundreds of per son from dandruff, and restored crops of gray and faded hair to their original color. A. Dorenwend, sole manufacturer. For sale everywhere. J. D. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1886.

THREE MILLS HIGHER.

THE TOWN COUNCIL PASSES THE ESTIMATES FOR THIS YEAR.

What Caused the Increase—Hydrants for Fire Protection—Report of the Finance Committee — Communications.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

PRESENT—His Worship Mayor Stevenson, and Councillors Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, McNeil, McClelland, Rutherford, Moore, Kendry, Cahill and Hartley.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From J. E. McIntyre, asking to have a billiard license transferred to Wm. Ross.—Granted.

From the Secretary of the Board of Education, enclosing school estimates.—Received.

From James Renton, asking a hearing on account of his destitute condition, caused by a robbery in 1885.—Granted.

From E. Burnham, asking that the park lot assessment question be referred to the Court of Revision or a special committee.—Court of Revision.

From James Trembly and others, asking for street improvements on Chamberlain street.—Street and Bridge Committee.

An account from the County of Peterborough for replanking Otonabee bridge—total amount $606, and the town's share, $303.—Finance Committee.

CHARITY.

Mr. RENTON was heard, and explained that he had been robbed in 1884 and lost everything. There had now an execution in for rent. He was not able at present to do much work, and desired assistance.

After considerable discussion the matter was referred to the Charity Committee with power to act.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Councillor RUTHERFORD read the following report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee:—

To the Mayor and Town Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee beg to report that in accordance with instructions given your Committee, with regard to petition from C. G. Hazlitt, asking for fire protection, we have interviewed the Water Company, and from them have received the following proposition, which your Committee beg to recommend the adoption of by this Council.

[illegible] SUBSCRIBING.

Chairman.

The proposition of the Water Company was annexed. The Company proposed to put in hydrants at the intersection of College and Murray streets, the intersection of Murray and the race, McDonnell and the race, London and the race, and between the race and Water on London street, the Dickson Company to give them permission to lay pipes in the race, and a portion of the hydrants to be put in this year.

Councillor MOORE said that he understood that Mr. Hazlitt had little faith in a five inch main, and it would be well to ascertain whether a pipe that size would be sufficient.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that the point had been raised, and the Company had consulted Mr. Surtees, of Ottawa, who said it would be sufficient. He moved that four hydrants, at the corner of College and Murray, Murray and the race, London and the race, and corner of London and Waterford streets, be taken.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON wanted to know why the lower part of the town had not received consideration. He objected to the Committee meeting at the Water Company's office.

Councillor CAHILL said that an application recently came in for fire protection, and it was objected to by those who were willing to put in three or four in another locality. He wished to protect factories as well as desiring to get them here, but other interest deserved attention. The poor man's had was as dear to him as the rich man's castle. He had no objection to that property receiving reasonable protection, but there was not a word in the report about hydrants in any other locality. It was most unfair and unjust that the whole town should be taxed for one or two localities. He would relieve them from the water tax and let them find their own fire protection.

Councillor MOORE said that the town had an interest in protecting that property and it paid a large tax.

Councillor MCCLELLAND said that the extension south was spoken of, and the Company said that they could not do no more this year than they were already required to do. They were extending the main east on Murray Street and it was comparatively easy to go on in that direction.

Councillor CAHILL moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor MCNAUGHTON.—That the report be referred back to the Committee to consider all the hydrants asked for.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON said that when petitions came in from the north or south the chairman of the Committee would not call them together to consider them. They had as much right to look after the poor man's property. In this connection he indulged in election reminiscences.

Councillor KELLY urged that the other petitions should receive consideration and the Committee should report upon them.

Councillor MOORE said that he had no objection to giving fire protection to the south part of the town, but he thought it unreasonable to order hydrants for places where the Company did not propose to extend their mains at present.

Councillor CAHILL said that as soon as the Company was given an assurance that hydrants would be taken they would extend their mains. Petitions for hydrants and light had come in, were referred to the Committee and had not been again heard of. He protested against such conduct.

Councillor RUTHERFORD made a counter charge of smothering petitions against the Street and Bridge Committee, and defended the Fire Water and Light Committee. As to the poor man argument, how would the poor man be effected if these factories were burned? The insurance companies required 5 per cent. to insure the property on the race, and protection was urgently needed.

Councillor Cahill's amendment was lost, and Councillor Rutherford's motion was carried on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Hartley, Kendry, Rutherford, Moore, McClelland, McNeil, Kelly and Davidson.

NAYS.—Messrs. Cahill and McNaughton.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Councillor DAVIDSON read the following report of the Finance Committee:—

Councillor DAVIDSON regretted, as they all did, that rate was higher this year than it was last. But they had had uncontrollable losses and extra expenditure. The loss of revenue on licenses accounted for one mill and a half, the town buildings accounted for a mill, the hydrants a mill and the Nicholls hospital a mill. All these had been taken out of the control of the Council. On the ordinary expenditure the rate would be lower than last year. The Council had fifteen bridges on the creek to maintain and a share of three across the river, and almost every bridge needed some work this year, while in some places new bridges were necessary. It would be seen that the Council had not been extravagant. The liabilities had been increased by the issue of $5,000 debentures for the town building, but the Commissioners had taken up debentures and reissued them at a lower rate of interest, so that the amount of interest paid was about the same. He also read a statement of the assets and liabilities of the town as

The Council went into Committie on the estimates, Councillor Kelly in the chair.

Councillor Rutherford said that there were two items that deserved consideration, those for charity and the Nicholls hospital. The Council had no idea that they would be called upon to furnish the hospital. They had no statement of the revenue the Hospital had received from other sources, although the secretary had shown them the books. If the hospital was going to be so expensive the town might want to get rid of it. If the town was to contribute so much it should have a fair representation on the Board. On the whole the finances of the town were in a very prosperous condition, and the taxes were low compared with other towns. The Scott Act had not wrought the mischief predicted. It had only added 1½ mills or $4,500 to the taxes, and many men had more money in their pockets on account of it.

Councillor CAHILL.—It has not decreased the charity charges.

Councillor RUTHERFORD.—No. That is an extraordinary thing. I cannot understand it.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON was glad that Councillor Rutherford agreed with him at last in regard to the hospital. He wanted more information, in regard to the finances and as to where the patients came from.

Councillor DAVIDSON, in reply to Councillor Moore, said that at the meeting of the Finance Committee the money received from fines under the Scott Act were talked of. The Mayor had guaranteed that this money would be received by the town, and on that consideration the rate had been placed lower than it was thought at the Committee meeting could be done.

Councillor MOORE said that the Hospital Trust asked for $5,000, but after considering their figures they put in $3,000 as a payment on account. It was provided that the Mayor of the Town would be a member of the Board, and he had no doubt that that officer, at any rate so long as the office was filled by the present Mayor, would look closely into its affairs. There was about $1,200 on the special water and light roll unreturned by the Collector, and he should obey the order of the Council and return the roll.

Mr. CUMMING, Collector, explained that the money had been collected all but about $50, which would soon be collected and the rolls returned.

The MAYOR said that the money from liquor fines was in the bank, and he had every confidence that all those fines collected from persons in the town would be handed over to the town. He was anxious to have the taxes as low as possible, as they would lose enough by the Scott Act. They had lost by it and would continue to do so. He wanted to know how it was that only about $250 was received from the 5 per cent. collected from taxes unpaid on a certain date? The returns to the Treasurer showed that on Dec 1st there was $14,000 uncollected.

Mr. CUMMING said that against that amount he had a large number of cheques, which it took him some days to arrange and carry out in the books.

The MAYOR said that on Dec. 1st they should receive an exact statement from the Collector as to how much was then uncollected. He did not think that they would have so much again to pay to the Nicholls Hospital, and it had been running a year and a half.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that if they had lost $4,000 by the Scott Act, they would receive $1,500 from fines, which would decrease the loss by it to one mill. He had yet to learn that the town had lost otherwise by the Act. He wished more light on the hospital matter. He was glad that the 5 per cent. matter had been explained.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON (to the Clerk)—Do you think that this rate will cover all the expenses of the year?

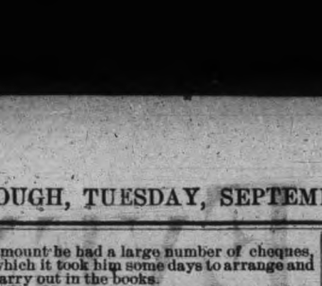
The CLERK.—I don't think it will.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON did not wish to incur any debt. He also wanted to be sure that they would receive the money from the Scott Act fines.

Councillor KENDRY said that he was sure they would get $2,000 from the Scott Act fines, instead of $1,500, and he believed that they might place the rate at 15 mills. They had had extra expenses this year,—the hospital, hydrants and light—yet the Mayor wanted to place the whole on the Scott Act.

The MAYOR—Oh, I'll take that back.

Councillor MCCLELLAND said that the Chairman of the Charity Committee had had little control of the expenditure. The members of the Committee each gave orders, and sometimes assistance was given to people who had money in the bank and to those who had property, and in some cases different members assisted the same party. If the wood had been paid for as in other years he did not know what the amount would have been.



Councillors MCNAUGHTON and HARTLEY defended their action on the Charity Committee.

The assessment by-law added 5 per cent. to all taxes unpaid on Dec. 1st.

The estimates were passed in Committee and the By-law was read a third time and passed.

The Council adjourned for one month.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

Great German Hair Magic!

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

St. Catharines Memorial Monument—Preparations for the Unveiling.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 4.—Major-General Sir Fred.D. Middleton, C.B., having accepted the invitation of the committee to be present and unveil the monument erected in this city to the memory of Private Alexander Watson and his companions in arms, who fell in the North-West last year, the ceremony will take place on Tuesday, September 14th, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Invitations have been extended to the commanding officers of all corps then on action service, as well as to corps of neighboring counties, to send deputations from their respective commands. As the camp at Niagara will then be in good order invitations will also be extended to the force there. Arrangements will also be made to run cheap excursions from Toronto, Hamilton and other places.

MATCHING THE RIELITES.

Anarchists Vilifying the Authorities—Objections to Punishing Crime.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The Anarchists held a mass meeting to-night, at Baumgardner's Hall, corner of Scholes and Leonard streets, Brooklyn. Altogether there were present 200 New-Yorkers, 300 Brooklynites, and two women, who were even more enthusiastic in applauding the speakers than the men. Jacob Schulz vilified the judge and district attorney at Chicago. "Hang them all, the judge, district attorney and jury," shouted a drunken Anarchist who made his way to the platform. When Schulz finished the drunken Anarchist staggered to the front of the platform and pointed to the reporters said: "What are these bloodhounds doing here? They are worse than the police. Kill them, drive them out of the hall." A dozen of men sprang to their feet and the chairman excitedly commanded them to be quiet. The meeting broke up in a disorder.

CAMPBELLFORD.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—Detective Orr, of Cobourg, a couple of weeks ago succeeded in ferreting out Sidney Sharpe, of Hastings, the man who assaulted Mr. Thos. Bell, constable, of Campbellford, on the 20th of July last, and he was arrested and conveyed to Cobourg and lodged in the county gaol. On Saturday, 21st August, Sharpe was brought before Messrs. T. Gillbard and Andrew Black, Justices of the Peace. After hearing the evidence the Magistrates committed the prisoner for trial, accepting bail for his appearance at the next assizes in the sum of $1,000—himself in $500, and two sureties of $250 each. Sharpe left the court declaring he was proud of what he had done. —Herald.

BITTEN BY A PIKE.—In May last Mr. Joseph Cassan, of Seymour East, had his hand bitten by a pike which he had caught. In a short time erysipelas set in and the hand assumed a very serious condition. Medical advice was taken from several who were considered skilful physicians, but the hand got no better, and a fortnight ago necessary. This operation was performed by Drs. O'Shea and Goldsmith, and with such success that the patient is in rapid progress towards complete recovery.—News.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Mr. Page, the chief engineer of the Dominion, together with Mr. Rubidge, who is in charge, examined the works here on Thursday last. They were locating the spot for the swing bridge, which is to be built at once. They were interviewed by some of our villagers and found to be most favourable to the completion of the works here, which comprehend the mill race. Our delegates, who have visited Ottawa from time to time, on the Trent Valley Canal question, have always found that the government would not move in the slightest manner until the chief engineer had first recommended it. To the interviewers on Thursday Mr. Page expressed himself ready to recommend the whole of the works here as contemplated in the original plan. It was understood also from Mr. Page that much more would have been done before stopping the works here last year if the water could have been lowered without threats of damages against the Government, but that the Government was obliged to stop the works in self defense. Nothing is more irritating to the Government than threats for damages, which are often very unreasonable, connected with almost every public improvement. Mr. Pope, on one occasion, at Ottawa, offered to show our delegates over one hundred suits against the government for such damages. We complain of the slowness of the government in moving in our affairs, when the cause is frequently with ourselves. We are glad to see, from a long editorial account of the works at Burleigh in the Peterborough Examiner, that they are in a very forward state and are likely to be finished before the snow falls. It will now be in order for our council to see that prompt measures be adopted, and that all the necessary steps be taken to cause the Grand Trunk Railway Co. to build their bridge. We are glad to say that matters look hopeful.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

The Welland Canal.

A meeting of manufacturers along the Welland canal was held on Saturday to discuss the proposed drawing off of the water for the purpose of deepening the canal. A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton, Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established.

Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst Scrofula, or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing Salt-rheum or Tetter, Fever-sores, Hip-joint Disease, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Enlarged Glands, and Eating Ulcers.

Golden Medical Discovery cures Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating, and nutritive properties. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. It promptly cures the severest Coughs.

For Torpid Liver, Biliousness, or "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, it is an unequalled remedy. Sold by druggists.

R. PIERCE'S PELLETS—Anti-Bilious and Cathartic. 25c. a vial, by druggists.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

The value of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the protection it affords from the dangers of pulmonary disorders, cannot be overestimated. Mr. C. K. Philips, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "About three years ago I had severe Laryngitis, which resulted in chronic hoarseness. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I have since entirely regained my health." Mr. Henry Russell, Excelsior Printing Co., New York, writes: "Influenza became epidemic in my neighborhood. Several members of my family suffered severely with it, all of whom took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and were cured by it in a few days. It is a wonderful medicine for Influenza. Too much cannot be said in its favor."

E. M. Sargent, 41 Andover st., Lowell, Mass., says: "I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral about the year 1842, as a family medicine, for Coughs and Colds, and have always kept it in my house since that time. I consider it the best remedy that can be had for these complaints." Dr. J. B. Robertson, Clayton, N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in my family and practice, for a number of years, and have no hesitation in recommending it. It is an admirable preparation, and well-qualified to do all that is claimed for it." E. J. Styers, Germanton, N. C., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best Cough preparation I ever saw. It gives instant relief."

has cured a Cough in a few doses. It always relieves irritation of the lungs or throat, and arrests the tendency to inflammation. It strikes at the foundation of all Pulmonary diseases, is without a rival as an expectorant, and is a sure cure for the most obstinate Coughs and Colds. L. Garrett, Texana, Texas, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years. For throat and lung diseases, I consider it a wonderful remedy."

The cable price of cheese was 46 shillings.

Mr. Cook commenced the bidding by offering 9 cents for the board. Mr. Flavelle followed with 9¼, and lively bidding ran it up until Mr. Flavelle offered 10 for selections. Mr. Cook offered 10 for the August, September and October cheese of the whole section, but the buyers declined to sell in that way. Then Mr. Leary offered 10 for Peterborough board and 9⅞ for the Victoria cheese. Mr Flavelle contended that his offer came ahead of Mr. Leary's, but the discussion was ended by Mr. Cook bidding 10 cents for the whole board and his offer was accepted.

The PRESIDENT said that Mr. W. Cluxton had been in England and they would like to hear from him.

Mr. CLUXTON acceded to the President's request, and remarked that they had made a good sale that day. The cheese then sold would make money if the corner was carried through by the house that bought, but if the house was compelled to put the cheese they were storing on the market the price would fall. He found that there were only two objections to the Peterborough cheese. It was too darkly colored and it was too porous. It should be white, or at any rate bright, and firm and compact, and should be "meaty," that was, not stiff and hard. One house said it was overcooked. It was satisfactory to see the market so well attended and the cheese so well sold.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Cluxton for the information he had given.

Mr. BLEZARD remarked that if they could do without coloring it would be a saving. It certainly did not benefit the cheese.

Mr. FLAVELLE said that he wanted colored cheese. He believed that the price kept up here this year because they made colored cheese and so many other places made white that the supply of colored was limited.

After some further discussion the Board adjourned.

ANTICOSTI COLONIZATION.

Surveyors Despatched to the Island to Report.

QUEBEC, Sept. 6.—It is announced that on the strong recommendation of Sir Leonard Tilley, Mr. A. P. Light, the well-known civil engineer of this city, has been appointed by the London syndicate to make a thorough report on the Island of Anticosti, working in conjunction with another gentlemen whose name is withheld, but who is stated to have been one of the passengers with Sir A. P. Caron by the steamship Oregon, which arrived here last evening. Mr. Light, in company with the Messrs. Stockwell and other interested parties, left for the island on Saturday.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Train runs Throug a Wooden House—Inmates Fatally Injured.

CHAMBLY BASIN, Que., Sept. 6.—A terrible accident occurred at the railway station here at 5.15 this forenoon. The Southeastern mixed train from Farnham to Longueuil was leaving a car, and being unable to stop its headway, the whole train went on the switch and pushed five cars, which were on the switch through the main road. The cars jumped a five-foot ditch and then went right through a wooden house occupied by two families, burning the five inmates. Three of them were got out only slightly injured, and after hard work the fifth, a boy four years old, was found dead buried under the ruins. The dead child was the son of Arthur Robert, proprietor of the house. An old woman named Demers will probably die from the effects of the accident, which was due to the down grade of the road.

THE GREAT EARTHQUAKE.

Charleston in Fear of a Tidal Wave—More Slight Shocks.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 7.—Considerable feeling has been aroused by the statement of Professor Newcomb that a tidal wave might be looked for or was within the probabilities. This opinion is seconded by Professors McGee and Mendenhall. The latter gentleman is confident that the earthquake is over, although there may be occasional trembling. There was a slight shock last evening, but it was not generally felt. The scientists give no credence to the report that there were showers of stones here last week.

A CURIOUS RESULT OF THE EARTHQUAKE.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 7.—One curious result of the earthquake is the change in the topography of the country. Many houses on the sand hills in the aristocratic part of the city, which before could not be seen from the city, are now in full view, while other land marks have disappeared.

SHOCK AT EVANSVILLE, IND.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 7.—Quite a severe shock of earthquake was felt here at 1.44 this morning. It was preceded by a noise like the explosion of dynamite.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA.

The Intentions of Russia—Alexander Advised not to Resign.

SOFIA, Sept. 7.—M. Stambuloff and M. Radoslavoff appeared at the Russian consulate in this city, and, in the name of the government, demanded first the name of the candidate for the Bulgarian throne whom Russia favors; secondly, a formal promise that Russia will not occupy Bulgaria; thirdly, that the present constitution will be maintained, the freedom of Bulgaria respected, and the country allowed to manage its domestic affairs. Fourthly that if Russia, sends a general to Bulgar a he must act merely as minister of war and organize the army under Bulgarian, not under Russian officers. These demands have been telegraphed to St. Petersburg. An answer is awaited.

BRITISH ADVICE REJECTED.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Daily Telegraph says: "British Consul Lascelles interviewed Prince Alexander and tried to persuade him not to abdicate at present, but that the Russian and German diplomatic representatives conferred with the Prince and advised an opposite course. It is believed in Sofia that the National Assembly will re-elect Alexander. The Prince has formally notified the Czar and Sultan of his abdication."

PRINCE ALEXANDER ILL.

SOFIA, Sept. 7.—Prince Alexander is suffering from insomnia. He is weak and nervous. The Rankoff party refuse to join the Regency Council.

RUSSIAN GOLD.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 7.—It is stated that as soon as Prince Alexander leaves Bulgaria Prince Dolgorouki will start for Sofia, taking with him a large amount of Russian gold.

TURKO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—It is stated that Turkey is continuing her endeavor to form an alliance with Russia.

THE PRINCE'S DEPARTURE.

SOFIA, Sept. 7.—Prince Alexander has started for the frontier. Russia agrees to all the principal points of the demands of the Notables, and further declares her intention of notifying the great powers of these engagements. The Bulgarian Government has addressed a demand to the powers signatory to the Berlin treaty to guarantee Russia's promises.

PROTEST AGAINST ABDICATION.

SOFIA, Sept. 7.—Another meeting of army officers was held to-night, when they again favoured the retention of Prince Alexander. The commandant of the Widdin garrison telegraphs that he is ready to march to Sofia to suppress any Cabinet that acquiesces in the Prince's abdication.

SERVIA AND GREECE MOBILIZING.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—It is rumoured that Servia and Greecs are mobilizing their armies.

KEENE.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Wm. Miller, eldest son of the late James Miller, Esq., Otonabee, died at the homestead at 4 o'clock this morning. He was in Peterborough on Saturday, but was taken sick that night with cholera morbus, which proved fatal despite the efforts of physicians from Keene and Peterborough.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

BOYCOTTING AT DUNGANNON.

DUBLIN, September 9.—Mr. Taylor, agent of the Marquis of Ely, accompanied by a police escort, to-day boarded the Waterford Company's steamer loading at Dungannon for Waterford. All the other passengers immediately left the steamer, taking with them their cattle, goods, etc., with which they afterward proceeded to their destination in fishing boats. The boycotting is due to recent evictions on the Marquis of Ely's estate.

PORT HAMILTON.

LONDON, September 7.—The statement that England is about to abandon the Island of Port Hamilton is premature.

THE BELFAST POLICE.

BELFAST, Sept, 7.—A number of the country police who have been here on riot duty, have departed for their regular stations. A body of others will be dismissed next week.

TO GO TO IRELAND.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Second Battalion of the Grenadier Guards will embark for Ireland.

A FRENCH SEIZURE.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—It is stated that the French Government has ordered the forcible seizure of the Tahiti group of the Leeward Islands.

A BOILER BURST.

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Five men were killed and seven injured to-day at Luneville, in the department of Meurthe et Moselle, by the bursting of a steam boiler.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Mr. Parnell's Measure Ready—The Government's Attitude.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Government will give Mr. Parnell two days next week for the discussion of his Land bill.

MR. PARNELL'S LAND BILL READY.

Mr. Parnell has completed his Land bill, which consists of only four clauses. He will introduce the bill on Thursday or Friday and will endeavor to obtain a discussion of the measure before the debate on the estimates is finished, so as to be able to press it upon the Government for consideration.

THE TURNING POINT.

It is stated that Mr. Parnell says the Government's consent to the introduction of his Land bill is the turning point of the Irish question. He expects the bill will tend to reunite the Liberals.

THE GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE.

The Daily News says the Government will treat the introduction of Mr. Parnell's bill as a vote of censure or want of confidence in the Government.

THE BELFAST RIOT BILL.

In the House of Commons to-night, during the debate on the bill for an inquiry into the Belfast riots, Mr. Sexton asked the Government to enlarge the commission in the interests of the Catholics. Mr. Hugh Holmes, Attorney-General of Ireland, said he thought the commission competent to deal with the matter as at present constituted. The bill passed the second reading.

NATIONAL LEAGUE MEETING.

At the fortnightly meeting of the National League to-day Mr. O'Brien announced that £3,000 had been received from America since the last meeting. Mr Kenny in his speech said:—"On no condition will we allow our fellow-countrymen to be thrown into the roadside during the coming winter. We will oppose such attempts by all lawful means, and these failing we will resort to other means which cannot possibly fail, if Mr. Parnell's bill proves unsuccessful."

A BLAZE IN BELLEVILLE.

A Disastrous Incendiary Fire—Loss About $40,000.

BELLEVILLE, September 7.—A disastrous fire, involving a loss of about $40,000, occurred last night on Front street. It originated about 9.30 in the paint shop in rear of Tickell & Sons' furniture warerooms, the same place in which a blaze occurred about 2 a. m. of the same day. The blaze quickly spread to the main building and to the adjoining buildings, which were occupied by W. R. Carmichael, druggist; Dickens & Browne, sign painters, and Dr. Farley's office. A considerable quantity of the contents of the stores was saved, but the flames made such rapid headway that the bulk of the property was destroyed. The firemen, who were still at work on the fire in Flint & Holton's mill yard, answered the call as soon as possible, but a long and disastrous delay necessarily ensued. They succeeded in preventing the spread of the fire to other buildings than those named. The fire is believed to have been incendiary in its origin. The losses and assurances are as follows:—Tickell & Sons, from $18,000 to $20,000; insured in various companies for $14,000. John Bedford, $4,700 on building, in imperial, which will cover the loss. Dr. Farley, loss $400, covered by insurance in the Western. Dickens & Brown, $100, no insurance W. R. Carmichael's loss from $8,000 to $10,000; insurance $5,000, in various companies. E. Harrison, on building about $3,000: insured, but amount unknown. The following losses were also sustained by parties in adjoining buildings:—Ashley Carriage Comyany, $500; William Templeton, grocer, $350, covered by insurance. T. Walters, tailor, sustained a slight loss by removal of stock. Some of the workmen employed at Tickell's lost their tools.

Conflagration at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 6.—At about 1.30 o'clock a spark from the smokestack set fire to the lumber yard of Flint & Holton, and in a few minutes all the piles containing a few million feet, were in flames. The firemen worked hard, but only a small quantity of the lumber could be saved. Loss from $25,000 to $30,000; no insurance. A fire caused by the spontaneous combustion of woolen rags occurred in the yard of Tickell's furniture shop at an early hour this morning. The flames were extinguished before any damage was done.

Some Miraculous Results

Have followed the use of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic." It has saved many from becoming bald, and has produced good heads of hair on bald heads where the roots arenot all gone. It has relieved hundreds of per son from dandruff, and restored crops of gray and faded hair to their original color. A. Dorenwend, sole manufacturer. For sale everywhere. J. D. Tully, agent for Peterboough.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1886.

BY-GONE DAYS.

We have before us an interesting relic of earlier days in Canada, a copy of the Kingston Chronicle, for Friday (afternoon), January 12th, 1821, being No. 2 of Volume III., for which we have to thank Mr. Aldus Mowry. It has four rather long pages of five columns each, and is printed in clear, bold type of the old-fashioned character of the early part of this century. The first advertisement is a proclamation by Sir Peregrine Maitland, K.C.B., Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, calling the Legislative Counsellors and Knights, Citizens and Burgesses of the Provincial Parliament, to meet in the Town of York, on Jan. 31st, for the despatch of business. It runs in the name of King George IV. and is countersigned by D. Cameron, Secretary. There are in all four columns of advertisements on the first page, among them being a notice from John Small, Clerk of the Executive Committee, as to settlement duties and patents for land; an offer of free Bibles by the Kingston Auxiliary to the British and Foreign Bible Society; an offer by Geo. Ham & Co., Bath, to exchange goods for 2,000 bushels of wheat, delivered at the Napane Mills; a notice of the District Land Board to emigrants applying for land, children of U. E. Loyalists, military, naval and militia claimants being warned that they must apply at York, not Kingston; notice of the establishment of post offices at Hallowell and the Carrying Place, and a variety of advertisements as to lands for sale, goods, strays, etc.

The foreign news occupies over six columns, being extracts from the London Times of Nov. 7th (not of Jan. 11th, as it would be now), describing the rejoicings on the abandonment of the Queen Caroline Divorce Bill, and from the London Courier, giving an account of the previous debate in the Lords, with the division list.

From Quebec there are two short paragraphs from the Gazette of January 2, one chronicling the installation of the Rev. Alex. McDonnell as the first Roman Catholic Bishop of Upper Canada, and the other briefly mentioning the proceedings in the Quebec Assembly. From Montreal there are also two brief paragraphs, dated Jan. 3rd. It is stated that an action has been instituted against Francis Desrivieres to compel him to deliver property bequeathed by the Hon. Jas. McGill, for the establishment of a college or university near Montreal. A rumour is mentioned that Mr. Speaker Papineau, Mr. Commissioner Hale, and Col. Ready had been created members of the Executive Council.

The leading article expresses, at some length, satisfaction at what is described as the acquittal of the Queen; shorter articles describe the consequent illumination at Kingston, the unusual circumstances of Niagara River being frozen over, and the recovery, though badly frostbitten, of a man lost on his way from the "French village" to a shanty at Round Tail.

The other local news consists of an account (taken from the U. C. Herald) of a fire by which several dwelling houses and stores were consumed, the further spread of the flames being checked by officers and men of the army and navy and civilians with lines of buckets. There is also a column long report of the annual meeting of the Kingston Compassionate Society, it being resolved that the funds should be applied to forwarding destitute immigrants to their locations or finding them immediate relief meantime.

There are several communications; a brain twister of the most terrible modern Mail pattern; two skits in connection with Queen Caroline, and a claim of credit for his exertions at the fire on behalf of Mr. Young, who, it seems, on his passage out had saved a life by jumping over-board before the boats could be lowered.

A column is taken up with lists of letters remaining unclaimed at the Kingston, Bath and Napane Mills post offices. The remaining six columns of miscellaneous advertisements we will not particularize further than to say that one is an invitation by Thos. Ridout, Surveyor-General, for tenders for surveys of the townships of Sheffield, Hinchinbroke, Bradford and part of Hungerford.

The last is the publishers' notice, with a list of agents for the Kingston Chronicle at a number of places, chiefly along the St. Lawrence from Quebec to Niagara. Neither Peterborough nor Lindsay appear in this list, for a reason that was undeniably sufficient. When this sheet was printed not only Peterborough was unknown, but its site was unvisited. Such a glimpse into the past is interesting in itself, and brings more vividly before us the progress of our country.

THE London Advertiser objects that the abuse showered by its Quebec allies upon "Orangistes" should be taken as applicable to Protestant generally. This is, however, the way in which the term is used, and these advocates of rebellion go still further, for they apply it even to those French Roman Catholics who refuse to unite with them in their claim for immunity for a criminal on the ground of "race and creed." The Rielite Reformers conspired with their "new allies" in Quebec to raise this cry in that Province, and now as they see how their disgraceful conspiracy is repudiated by old supporters in the other Provinces, they are vainly endeavoring to explain away their sympathy and alliance with the Quebec Rielists. But they cannot thus blow hot and cold with success.

WHEN Canadian housekeepers read the nonsense in Reform journals about the price of sugar they are reminded that they are able to obtain far cheaper and far better sugar under the Conservative than under the Reform regime. They are quite satisfied with this proof of the practicable benefits to be derived from the Macdonald Administration, without troubling themselves much over the impracticable theories of Reform freetraders or revenue-tariff men. The proof of the pudding is in the eating.

MR. D. A. O'SULLIVAN has just returned to Toronto from Ireland, and an interview with him, published in the Globe of Monday, shows that he has been at considerable pains to form a judgment for himself of the Irish question. He lays his finger on what we believe to be at the root of the greatest difficulties when he points to the fact that they have few industries and no factories in the South and West of Ireland.

HORTICULTURAL SHOW.

Fall Exhibition of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society.

The Horticultural show was held on Tuesday in the Parlor Roller Skating Rink and was decidedly successful. Floral entries, which is not quite up to the average, but the continued dry weather had played havoc with some of the annual flowers. The vegetables, and especially the roots, were exceptionally good, there being a close competition in several classes. The foliage plants also attracted much commendation. The ladies' work was of considerable merit; there were some fine natural history specimens and works of art.

In the evening Mr. J. H. Roper, the President, opened the proceedings by a neat speech, in which he told the spectators that they must not judge the Society only by the exhibit before them, as it should be remembered that they had done much work on the Court House Park, which had taxed their energies. He said that they were indebted to Mr. Parker, who had suggested a musical programme, and had kindly undertaken to direct it, which would add much to their enjoyment.

PROGRAMME.

Violion Solo, Overture, "Caliph de Bagdad."
Mr. D. B. Macduff.
Song....."Close to the Threshold."....
Mr. Geale.

Mr. W. H. Manning.
Song....."Pepita."....
Mr. Chambers.
Duet....."Gipsy Countess."....
Miss Stevens and Mr. Chambers.
God Save the Queen.

Mr. Macduff's rendering of Scotch air was really superb, and showed himself a master of his art. The singing was deservedly applauded, and the piano playing of Mr. Parker was of the high character to which he has accustomed his audiences. A vote of thanks was given to him and the others taking part in this pleasing performance.

Mr. Blake's Paradise.

No rain has fallen in Jones and Stonewall counties, Texas, in 14 months. The district has been turned into a desert. Three thousand families have been burnt out by the prairie fires.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

MR. BLAKE DESCRIBED.

The British-Canadian (if he be a man of average intelligence and common sense) who pretends to sympathize with Riel is simply a knave and a demagogue in whose honesty it is impossible to believe.—Coaticook Observer (Reform.)

TWO-FACED LIBERALS.

The hope of the Liberals who are leading the party in this Province is that the French Canadians will be influenced in their favor by the Riel cry, while the Liberals of Ontario will not be influenced against them. —Montreal Witness (Reform.)

NOT A MARTYR.

The Globe's attempts to sneer at the Minister of Justice have failed to prevent that gentleman from making a profound impression upon the public mind in Ontario, although his name was known only to the few in this Province twelve months ago. His maiden effort in the House of Commons in the Riel debate, replying to Mr. Blake, was one that no other speaker on the Government side could have made. All advices agree that his presence in Haldimand has told. Even Mr. Preston has complimented him upon his high character and great ability, and Mr. Preston is not given to complimenting Tories. When Mr. Thompson said: "I am a Catholic by conviction (he was not born that way), but I abhor the idea of Riel being held up as a Catholic martyr" he uttered the thought which must be in the mind of every intelligent Canadian of his faith who loves his country and reveres his church. There is no accounting for the unintelligent of any class.—Toronto World (Indep.)

How Geronimo was Captured.

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Sept. 6.—Geronimo and his hostiles were expected to arrive at Fort Bowie yesterday. They are out of ammunition and clothing. Geronimo recently made overtures for a conference. Capt. Lawton sent a message saying the hostiles would have to go to Fort Bowie to see General Miles. Meanwhile he surrounded the band by detachments of troops, and Geronimo, seeing that all was up, started with his followers for the fort, followed by the troops, who were to kill them if they attempted to escape.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only preprration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

☞ Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

CHAPTER I.

GREYSTONE-ON-SEA.

In the embrace of a curvature of this noble island of Britain, where the coast beheld by the passing mariner shines before his eyes with the pearly gloss and delicate shimmer of marble, where the land shoots out into the sea, scorning, with its iron heel stanchly planted, the thunderous shocks of the hurricane or the more deadly tooth of the lipping calm, and bearing on high at night its flaming beacon, like the fabled giant defying the stars with uplifted torch, stands a town wherein no man with a mind into which soft thought may enter readily can gaze without stopping to reflect.

In this little town, time and the handiwork of man have wrought lovingly together.

And generous nature has backed them, glorifying the land around with calm enrichment of intermingling trees, and broad fields which pour their green or golden fruits down the hillsides and along the vigorous plains.

Beheld from a distance, this little town seems to dwell with something of the shadowiness of an ancient picture upon the English seashore.

Shadowiness one seeks as an element in pictures of a day which time has made dim. Greystone, in our own age, has this artistic condition in perfection. It is a ready made vignette to adorn the little social legend which the gossips have handed down through the century.

As this little town is now, I say, so, with scarcely a change of note to name—counting the laying of gas pipes and the ejectment, in 1844, of Tobias Pipes, the town crier, as nothing—was it in that year of grace, war, rapine and high prices—to wit, Anno 1806.

There goes now, and there went then, a narrow pass up to the westward of the town, out of the waste of silver sand which the water never covered, unless driven to it by a conspiracy of moon and gale.

By two walls of rock, spanned for the footpath along the cliff's edge by a rude bridge, looking from below, to rule the sky with a slim and giddy filament; by great protuberances of stone and rugged bunches of chalk intermitting a sandy, rushy herbage, with yellow grass in places and moist, faint colored moss of the hue of the jelly fish when it slowly oozes to the surface of green salt water—you passed into a verdant lane, and the moan of the surf sounded hollow behind you through the echoing ravine.

Along this lane, that broadened presently out of the shadow of trees and the interception of hedgerows into a fair open road, you wound your steps toward the town, in the ripe summer time always losing the track a hundred yards ahead of you behind the tall [illegible] when the roofs and chimneys of the town were showing over harvest crops to the right, and the square turret of Holy Trinity, with its gilt cross standing like a flame of fire against the sky levelled its gray top with the green swell of the adjacent cliff—until you came to a house.

CHAPTER II.

DR. SHAW AND HIS SON.

On a certain Wednesday afternoon, the walled inclosure of the back of this house presented an agreeable scene of boys at play. There were not less than forty of them, with just half an acre of ground for their feet to measure. Now, the whole circumference of the horizon might truly seem narrow scope for the impetuosities of their leap-frog, their "horses," and other extremely animated pastimes.

Among the shadows under the chestnuts a young man was seated on a bench.

He held a book in his hand, over which he pored.

Never was attitude of wrapt studiousness so intently expressed. In all the shouting and leaping of the boys, there was nothing to provoke a single impatient lifting of the head of this figure.

But he never turned a page.

He was of a slender build, yet with shoulders broad enough to warrant him a man. His feet were such compact curves as a woman's eye would love to dwell on, for the mere sake of the breeding and prettiness of them. His bountiful auburn hair fell curling to his shoulders, as the fashion then was among men who were forswearing the wig, yet sticking to the traditions of luxuriant head clothing.

This was all of him now visible.

Yet enough to make a picture of gentle masculine grace, and a shape of strong and nervous beauty.

He paid no more heed to the boys than they to him, though he was there to keep them in order.

While he thus sat, there came briskly on to a platform (whence a flight of steps led to the playground) a short, plump old man in black stockings and tail coat, and frill spreading out like a fan from his bosom.

Catching hold of the rail he ran his small, brilliant black eyes (taking a power of illumination from shaggy white eyebrows and a dusky skin) over the tumbling figures of the boys, and then looked steadfastly at the young man whose back was toward him.

By degrees the boys grew aware of his presence.

Their shouts slackened, their mirth grew constrained, their antics got flatter.

Still the befrilled figure stood staring on the young man, and the young man sat bending over his book, lost, in some deep kind of contemplation, to all external change.

"Cuthbert!" shouted the old man.

The young fellow looked around quickly, as though alarmed by the voice, or rather by the meditations which the voice had disturbed.

He arose and went toward the house.

"What book is that in your hand?" inquired the old gentleman, with his eyebrows knitted, and the hair of them glittering like frost in the beam of sunshine that fell straight on his face through the trees.

"Juvenal, sir."

And as the young man spoke he glanced upward with a pair of blue eyes, and disclosed a beautiful and winning countenance.

"Juvenal, indeed! Much of Juvenal have you read since I have stood here with my eyes upon you."

"Really——"

"No, no; that's not your task. And give me leave to say that while you are wool gathering Batemen, senior, and Francis Tremaine have earned a flogging for using their fists. That was proceeding in a true line with your nose, and all the waggeries of the poet should not keep you from noting misconduct, if your mind was not elsewhere than in your head."

This was spoken in a low tone, not wanting in sharp distinctness.

The young fellow addressed as Cuthbert made no reply. He stood in passive posture with no more than a little deepening of the expression of thoughtfulness on his face, and his eyes bent down upon the ground.

The old gentleman, having made an end of his rebuke, gazed at him fixedly for several moments, and then, bidding him "step with him into his study," wheeled about and went into the house.

The boys, left to themselves, fell to their sports again with an uproar that took a new edge from its short suppression.

The doctor seated himself in a crimson velvet armchair, and motioned to the other to sit. Then, crossing his legs, and nursing his knee with plump hands, on the forefinger of one of which was a great signet ring, he fixed his eyes on his companion with a gaze which, for severity and keenness, should have bored his mind through and through.

"Cuthbert," said he, speaking in a clear, firm voice, not, perhaps, destitute of a touch of suavity, "I have long had it on my mind to bring you to book with a plain question. Living under my eye as you do, do you conceive it possible, sir, that the remarkable change your character has undergone should have escaped me? Come, I will speak intelligibly. It strikes me that you grow weary of your apprenticeship. Understand me. You would rather not be a schoolmaster. Is that it? Look at me full in the eyes, man, and remember that your father abhors a lie."

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent proud flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

Mr. Parnell's land scheme purposes empowering the law courts to suspend an eviction when the threatened tenant pays three-forths of his rent into court and declares his inability to pay the balance.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

The liabilities of Leopold Isaacs, the absconding Montreal tobacco merchant, will exceed $160,000. It is stated that several forgeries and other swindling schemes have been brought to light, and that steps will probably be taken to secure his extradition.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, and with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton, Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

A BATTLE was fought on Sunday morning about twenty miles from New Laredo, Mexico, between troops from the latter city and a force of bandits under El Coyotte the troops being defeated. It is stated that the bandits are being reinforced by Texan desperadoes. Intense excitement prevails in New Laredo, an attack on the city being expected.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

BEWARE

OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS

As there are many inferior goods, corded with jute, hemp, etc., offered and sold as Coraline by some unprincipled merchants trading on the reputation of our genuine Coraline, we warn the ladies against such imposition by drawing their attention to the necessity of seeing that the name is stamped on inner side of all Coraline goods, Without which none are genuine.

'CROMPTON CORSET CO.'

FULLY EQUIPPED

For the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1886.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Ennismore Picnic.

Let everybody remember the big pic-nic at Bridgenorth, on Tuesday, Sept. 28th inst. See posters.

Well Pleased.

Those who have been attending the great benefit sale at the Bon Marche store, are well pleased with the bargains they got in dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, etc. and, as a result, the store is well filled with customers every day. Don't fail to pay a visit to Bon Marche. It will pay you to do so.

The Veteran Premier.

At a meeting of the Junior Conservative Club held on Tuesday evening it was decided to invite Sir John A. Macdonald, the veteran Premier and Conservative chieftain, and colleagues, to visit Peterborough on or about Monday, September 20th. If Sir John can accept this invitation and deliver an address in Peterborough he will be accorded a hearty welcome.

Found.

The money drawer which was stolen from the office of the Otonabee Mills on Monday night was found on Tuesday evening by two little girls while playing on a vacant lot near Mr. Rogers' house. The papers were nearly all left untouched, the postage stamps were left, but the 25 cents in change was missing. The key of the safe was also in the drawer.

The Market.

At the market this morning butter sold at from 18 to 20 cents per pound, eggs at 13 cents per dozen, chickens at 50 cents per pair, thimble berries at 70 cents per pail, apples at from 75 cents to $1 per bag, potatoes at 60 cents per bag, cabbage at from 5 to 16 cents per head, cauliflowers at 3 heads for 10 cents, turnips, parsnips, carrots and onions at 5 cents per bunch, tomatoes at $1 per bushel, green corn at 10 cents per dozen. There was a quantity of hay offered at $10 per ton. Grain is commencing to come in.

Cricket.

In the cricket match at Toronto between the Gentlemen of England and the Ontario Association the Englishmen made 169 and the Canadians 72 in the first innings. Mr. Max Hamilton, of Peterborough, scored next to the highest on the Ontario team. The Mail says that "the innings closed for 72, to which Hamilton, by a careful and patient innings of over one hour and twenty minutes duration, contributed 13." In an editorial note the Mail adds:—"In the match with the English team of Gentlemen yesterday the Canadians bowled well and fielded excellently. But with the exception of Mr. Hamilton, of Peterborough, and of Mr. Harley, of Guelph, the latter of whom made over half the Canadian runs, the home players could do literally nothing against the English bowling."

Winnipeg Post Office Robbery.

Harry and Charles Connors, formerly of Peterborough, who have been engaged in the city of Winnipeg since they left Peterborough some years since, have for about a year been in the habit of making a monthly remittance towards paying for the maintenance of their aged father, a resident here, being now cared for by the ladies of the Peterborough Protestant Home. On the 5th of July last they, as usual, wrote their letter, enclosing the money, which never reached here. On Monday a letter was received from Mr. W. W. McLeod, Post Office Inspector, Winnipeg, dated Sept. 1st, 1886, enclosing the missing letter torn open at the end, with the stamp off and no post office mark on it, and without any money enclosed. The memorandum from the Inspector states that "the attached letter, found in its present open condition, without its presumed contents, is one of a number recently stolen from the Winnipeg Post Office."

ENLARGEMENTS.

The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co. Extend Their Works.

For the past month important enlargements have been in progress in the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co.'s Works, Reid street. Two large additions are being made to this already large establishment. The additions consist of two wings, one at the extreme south of the works and one at the extreme north, both running westward, thus forming, with the present projection backward from the main building, a huge E shaped block of buildings.

The boiler making department is soon to be moved from the south of the Works to the north, where a handsome red brick building is ready for its reception. This building is 100 x 40 feet, well lighted, of solid brick, one story high, with a clear roof running from end to end along the top of the roof proper. This clear roof is filled with glass, and appears like a long skylight. In each end of the building there is a great opening large enough to admit an engine and train of cars. A siding is to be run inside of the building, and the loading will be made directly on the cars for transportation.

The south end addition will consist of an erection shop, two stories high, 70x44. The present boiler shop, 73 feet in depth, will be moved back and bricked, and the new building will be placed in front, next to the office. This building, 143 feet deep, will form an enlargement of the machine shop. A tool shop, 20x12, will be added to the north of the old boiler shop.

While the company is thus adding to its works it is not unmindful that more fire protection is needed. A main will be run into the yard and a hydrant will be put down. When all of the improvements and additions are made, the Hamilton works will stand among the foremost of the kind in Canada, both as regards size and equipment. The present improvements will cost about $5,000. Mr. A. Rutherford is the contractor.

It is pleasing to the REVIEW and the townspeople alike to note the steady progress which the company, year by year, is making.

No. 3 Company.

A meeting of No. 3 Company will take place to-night. All members are particularls requested to be present.

The Finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough, at ANDREW MCNEIL'S.

The Temperature.

The following are the readings of the thermometer to-day at the hours mentioned:—8 o'clock, 74; 12 o'clock, 78; 5 o'clock, 84.

Mandarin Tea

has just arrived at The Peoples Tea Store, pronounced by all to be the finest ever imported. Try it and you will use no other. HAWLEY BROS, Hunter St. East.

No Meeting.

On account of there being not enough members present there was no meeting of the Board of Education held on Tuesday evening. Messrs. Denne, Sawers and Wrighton, guided by Janitor Tighe with a lantern swinging in his hand, went through the big building and looked at the improvements which had been made.

Mr. Parker's Class Rooms.

Mr. J. S. Parker, organist at St. Paul's church, has taken possession of his prettily appointed new rooms in Lynch's block. The new rooms, which take up the whole of the third flat, are much larger than the apartments formerly occupied, are well lighted and altogether are quite cheery in appearance.

New Telegraph Line.

The Canadian Pacific Railway telegraph line will be in operation in Peterborough in a day or two. The lines of wire have been run into the up-town office of the C. P. R., the key board adjusted and Mr. Sharp, the operator, is in charge. No instructions have been yet received as to whether there will be a reduction in the present scale of rates.

Personal.

Mr. J. E. Jaques, of Liverpool, has been appointed organist of the George Street Methodist Church. He will sail shortly, and, arriving here, will at once assume his duties. The new organ will not be ready before the middle of November.

Mr. Wm. Cluxton, Miss Cluxton and Mrs. F. Burnham arrived home from Europe on Monday evening. They visited different parts of England and the continent. The eight day passage over was delightful, but coming back the ocean was for five days very rough and it took the Oregon eleven days to reach Quebec. The party came on to Montreal, took the C. P. R. and reached home in safety, after spending a very pleasant few weeks.

Off to Drill.

The Port Hope Times of Tuesday says:—"The train from the north this morning arriving about 9 o'clock, had on board the Peterborough Division of the Durham Field Battery, under Capt. Sanderson and Lieut. Trick, and a portion of the 45th Batt. under Lieut.-Colonel Deacon, consisting of Co. 2, Fenelon Falls, Capt. Hunter; Co.'s 4 and 6, Lindsay, Capts. Wallace and Grace; Co. 5, Omemee, Capt. Evans. The Durham Field Battery goes to Kingston eighty strong, including officers, who are Major McLean, Capt. Sanderson, Lieuts. Trick and Milligan, Surgeon Brereton, and Veterinary-Surgeon Dickinson. The G. T. R. train taking them east will not leave here until after 11 o'clock to-night."

ATKIN & SON'S Panel, Hand and Rip Saws are fully warranted. GEORGE STETHEM.

CATHEDRAL PICNIC.

A Pleasant Afternoon in the Separate School Grounds.

A picnic was held on Tuesday in the Separate school grounds, Murray street, in aid of St. Peter's Cathedral. The attendance was very good, and those present enjoyed themselves under the shade of the trees.

Dinner and tea were served by the ladies, three tables having been spread under the trees, each laden with substantial and delicate viands. A number patronized the tables, and they contributed materially to the receipts of the picnic as well as to the enjoyment of the picnickers.

The staple enjoyment, as is usually the case, was dancing. A large platform had been constructed for this purpose, and the Peterborough orchestra furnished excellent music. The dancing platform was well patronized, although the day was warm, and the amusement seemed to be enjoyed.

A shooting gallery afforded not a little amusement, and some of the contestants exhibited good markmanship.

A programme of athletic sports was carried out and created considerable interest. The events and the prize winners were as follows:—

BOYS' RACE (12 years and under).—20 entries. 1st Ed. Guerin; 2nd Walter Phelan.

HIGH JUMP.—4 entries. 1st L. Connors; 2nd D. King.

200 YARDS RACE (boys under 15).—12 entries. R. Wilson and Ed. Guerin equal; Albert Butler 3rd.

PUTTING HEAVY WEIGHT.—4 entries. 1st John Clancy; 2nd L. Connors; 3rd D. King.

200 YARDS RACE (men).—3 entries. 1st Ed. Rogers; 2nd D. King.

HALF MILE RACE.—3 entries. 1st M. Bird; 2nd M. Larone.

BOYS RACE (8 years and under).—6 entries. 1st M. Carroll; 2nd Milton Green; 3rd Wm. Clancy.

IRISH JIG.—3 couples entered 1st M. Larone and Miss Hayes.

A refreshment booth on the grounds had a number of customers during the day.

There were probably between 400 and 500 persons who passed through the gate during the day, and all present appeared to enjoy themselves.

The receipts of the picnic amounted to over $300, which was no doubt very satisfactory to the promoters of the day's enjoyment.

The energesic committee that carried out the arrangements was composed as follows:—Mr. James Duffis, Secretary-Treasurer; and Messrs. James Hanlon, Patrick Lynch, S. Redmond, P. Hallahan, B. Hayes, Daniel Hayes, David Crowley, T. Coughlan, T. Slattery, M. Y. Crowley, B. Crowley, T. Crowley, James Kennedy, Sr., [illegible] nessy, John Hayes, Patrick Fitzgerald and D. Moloney.

THE SCOTT ACT.

Judgment Reserved in the German Case —Charge Against Brault Withdrawn.

The hearing of the Scott Act cases was resumed at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The case was taken up.

QUEEN VS. GERMAN

PATRICK SULLIVAN swore that he did not get liquor at the C. P. R. Hotel since Aug. 4th.

ARCHIBALD MOFFATT testified that since August 4th he had had ginger ale, cigars and Moxie at the C. P. R. Hotel. He did not remember having seen pumps there. He had no liquor there since Aug. 4th.

FRANK BRABAUT did not get any liquor at the C. P. R. Hotel since Aug. 4th.

SAMUEL JAMISON, recalled, said that he saw a beer pump at the hotel on either the first or second week in August. He meant to say yesterday that he would not swear that he got intoxicating liquor there.

GEO. GERMAN, called, said, that he took possession of the bar on August 16th. He made no change in the bar. He declined to answer whether there was a change made in the method of serving drinks since he took possession; whether he called a beer pump a fixture; whether since August 10th he kept any liquor for sale; whether the liquor found in his bar to-day were the same as he had been selling; or whether he occupied the cellar or had any right to it.

GEO. COCRANE, West Riding License Inspector, swore that in searching the premises of the defendant to-day he found four bottles of whiskey, and a beer pump and ordinary bar-room bottles. He pulled ordinary malt beer from the pump.

Mr. MOORE submitted that an amendment could not be made so as to take in to-day, that the evidence must be confined to the dates mentioned in the information.

The MAGISTRATE overruled the objection.

Geo. Cochrane, continuing, testified that he found Geo. German in charge of the bar room. The place is known as Roddy's hotel.

Judgment was reserved till Friday morning.

QUEEN VS BRAULT.

JOSEPH BRAULT was charged by Inspector Cochrane with having committed an infringment of the provisions of the Scott Act.

He pleaded not guilty.

One witness was called but no evidence was given aginst the defendant.

Mr. Wood, County Crown attorney, announced that he would withdraw the charge The Inspector had searched the premises in Mr. Brault's absence and had found no liquor of any kind.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 8.—John Echeart was charged by Chief Cooper, yesterday afternoon, with having been drunk and disorderly in a public place.

The charge was proved and the defendant was assessed $2. He paid the amount and went his way.

Larceny.

A man was arrested this afternoon and escorted to the lock-up. He will be arraigned to-morrow on a charge of having stolen a watch.

Grand Junction vs. County.

Mr. E. B. Edwards has received a telegram from his agents in Toronto that the case of the Grand Junction Railway against the County of Peterborough has been dismissed with costs by the Court of Appeal of Ontario. The cause of the county is thus again sustained. Mr. Bickford talks of taking the case to the Privy Council.

Safe Blowers Arrested.

Towns along the Midland division of the G. T. R. have frequently been visited of late by knights of the jimmy. The Beaverton station was visited Tuesday night of last week, and the safe carried off to an empty freight car, where the door was blown off. Little booty was, however, secured. G. T. R. detective Spence followed the burglars to Lindsay, where he arrested two of them, who gave their names as Burns and McCloney. They are known to the police as O'Neil and Watson. The revolver of the Beaverton station agent was found on one of them.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA.

Would Return if Elected—Austria to Speak—Not Alone.

SOFIA, Sept. 8.—Prince Alexander, when asked whether he would return to Bulgaria if the Sobranje re-elected him, replied "Yes."

BULGARIA WOULD NOT STAND ALONE.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Standard says:—"If the Assembly recalls Prince Alexander he ought fearlessly to return. His cause is that of every power that objects to Russian dominance at Constantinople. He may assume with some confidence that if he decides to share the fortunes of his people he will not be left to his own unaided resources in the struggle."

AUSTRIA HAS NOT SPOKEN.

VIENNA, Sept. 8.—The Neue Freie Presse hints that Austria's action in the Bulgarian crisis is independent of Germany. It says:—"Everybody speaks of the impending Russian occupation of Bulgaria. Perhaps it is not so near as it is believed to be. Austria has not spoken yet."

A DESPISED RUSSIAN.

SOFIA, Sept. 8.—Great animosity is shown against the Russian partisan Zankoff, who is compelled to have a military escort to escape lynching. While a meeting of the army officers and notables were being held to-day M. Zankoff entered the room, whereupon the meeting was immediately adjourned.

TURKEY'S RESOLVE.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—On the definitive abdication of Prince Alexander a Turkish and Russian commission will be appointed to form a provisional Government to conduct Bulgarian affairs, pending the election by the National Assembly of a new ruler. The Porte has formally declared that Turkey will never consent to any proposal, contingent or other, that Russia shall occupy Bulgaria, Eastern Roumelia or any other part of Turkey.

RUSSIA'S THREAT.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—It is stated that M. de Giers threatened to withdraw from the triple alliance if Germany and Austria insisted upon the retention of Prince Alexander.

THE PRINCE'S DEPARTURE.

SOFIA, Sept. 8.—Prince Alexander has signed the deed of abdication, and has departed from Sofia. A compact mass of people witnessed his departure from the palace, and thousands lined the route taken by him through the town. The Prince stood up in his carriage, bowing to the people and saying "Good by my brethren." The populace were much affected, tears sprang to many eyes, and hearty wishes were expressed for the Prince's speedy return. Prince Alexander will go first to Lompolanka.

DISSATISFIED WITH M. DE GIERS.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—Soir says it is probable that Baron Mohrenheim, the present Russian Ambassador to France, will succeed M. de Giers as Russian Minister of Foreign affairs, the Czar being dissatisfied with the course of M. de Giers in Bulgarian affairs.

A NOTE TO THE POWERS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—The Porte has sent a note to the powers praying them to prevent the foreign military occupation of Bulgaria.

Another Fishing Schooner Seized.

HALIFAX, Sept. 8.—The Princeton fishing schooner Pearl Nelson, Captain Kempt, was seized at Arichat, C.B., to-day, on the charge of violating the Canadian customs regulations. She was released this evening upon Captain Kempt paying Customs Collector Fuller $200, the amount of the penalty imposed.

We are offering extra good value in every line of General Groceries. Call and inspect.

THE RIEL ISSUE.

Extracts from Hon. Mr. Thompson's Speech at Haldimand.

The following extracts from the speech delivered by the Minister of Justice at Jarvis, County Haldimand, on Saturday night, are taken from the Hamilton Spectator:—

Passing on to a consideration of the Riel issue, the speaker said it was the Reform party of this country which was now setting race against race and creed against creed. He asked the Reformers in the audience to consider whether the Reform press and speakers were not now endeavoring to secure a coalition with the French Canadian malcontents of Quebec, on the basis of the false charges that Louis Riel was executed because he was a French-Canadian and a Roman Catholic. We knew that the Reform party was circulating portraits of Riel throughout Quebec with an inscription under giving the date of his birth and the date of his "murder," and blazoning the names of the Members of Parliament who had voted for his execution, stigmatizing them as his "murderers." He appealed to the electors of Halimand to decide by their votes that the reign of strife, of passion, of Protestant against Catholic, of Frenchmen and Irishmen against Englishmen, should not be allowed to blast the peace and prosperity and retard the progress of this fair country. (Loud applause.)

With regard to the resolution of the Presbyterian Assembly with reference to the evil effects of immorality by Indian agents in the Northwest, Mr. Thompson said that as soon as Sir John Macdonald heard of these charges he telegraphed to those who had made them asking for the names of the agents charged with misconduct; but up to the present time the name of not one of these men had been supplied. An investigation had already been started, and if any of these men were guilty they would certainly be dismissed. But it was hardly fair to denounce the Government for keeping them in office when their accusers could not furnish the name of a single one of the accused. No, the rebellion should not be laid at the doors of these agents. It was solely the work of that man of blood, Louis Riel, who, seven weeks before the Duck Lake massacre, had received word that a commission was then on its way to the North-West to settle the claims of the half-breeds. (Applause.) But it was not the settlement of claims that Riel wanted; what he wanted was money, and power over the half-breeds and Indians. He was not insane enough to save him from being condemned, but too insane to be hanged. (Laughter.) The superintendents of the two asylums in which he was confined had declared that he was simulating madness. Was any genuine madman ever known to on record. He shammed prophet to dupe the poor ignorant half-breeds and Indians of the North-west, and he shammed madness when conscious of his guilt, he felt the rope tightening around his neck. Riel was called a a martyr to the cause of his race and religion. "If I were a French Canadian," said Mr. Thompson, "I would feel disgraced because Louis Riel had French blood in his veins. I am a Roman Catholic from conviction, and I abhor the idea that this bad man died a martyr to the Catholic religion." (Cheers.) The Reform party does not like to discuss these questions before a constituency in Ontario; but they glory in them in Chambly. In Quebec the people are told by the Reform orators and press that the Riel issue is the one issue before the people of Canada; in Haldimand they are willing to discuss any question rather than this. Mr. Mowat has said, to please some French Canadians in his audience, that the Government hanged Riel and the people would hang the Government. If this was not the great issue, then the votes which had been turned against the Government in Chambly had been stolen, and those who had received the stolen goods were as bad as the thief. (Laughter and cheers).

The party which in Ontario says that the Riel issue is not the principal issue before the country, and in Quebec that it is the one great issue, declares in Ontario that the secession movement is not a party question at all, but calls upon people of both parties to join in the effort to free the Maritime Provinces from the oppression of Ontario and Quebec. Mr. Fielding, the leader of the repeal movement, in a letter to the Young Men's Liberal Convention, said that while Nova Scotia remained in the Confederation the Liberals of that Province would feel honored to remain under the leadership of Mr. Blake, showing that the repeal movement is a movement with which the Liberal party of Canada is in close sympathy, and from which they expect to reap the same benefit which they are reaping from the Riel agitation in Quebec. It is necessary for the people of Haldimand, at this critical period, if they would serve the best interests of the country, to vote for a United Canada and for the principle that there should be one law for all the people of this Dominion.

PORT HOPE.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday night Brakesman Tobias, who was working on the Grand Trunk mixed train going east, was coupling a snow-scraper, which was to be taken to Montreal, to the engine, when he was caught between the engine and scraper, and his chest crushed badly. He was picked up and his injuries attended to.

MILLBROOK.

BURGLAR.—On Sunday night, Sept. 5, a first-class sneak thief was around town. Having visited the Dominion Hotel, and securing a few cents in change, a lot of cigars and some shirts, etc., about three o'clock, Monday, he was disturbed in the residence of Major R. Howden. He found his way upstairs—after entering by the west side window, and hearing the tick of a watch, entered the sleeping apartment of the Misses Howden, and took a valuable gold watch belonging to Miss Annie Howden, out of a watch pocket not a foot from the head of the bed. Just at this time Miss Howden awoke, and, hearing someone in the room, gave the alarm, when the thief was heard to run down stairs, through the dining room and out of the west window, thence across the green to the road. In his hurry to get away from expected iron hail, he left two parcels, one of which contained a new shirt and a pair of overalls, that he had stolen from a drunken Frenchman who works for Mr. T. Hutchinson, who, from an over-dose of Moxie or some other stuff, late on Saturday night could not find a sidewalk in town wide enough to suit his rambling nature. As yet there is no clue to the thief. Had he not been disturbed, there is no doubt he would have fared better.—Messenger.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

TERRIBLE MURDER.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—A man named Blanc was recently released from prison, where he had been confined for an attempt to murder his mistress. To-day Blanc forced his way to the woman's room and cut off her head, which he fastened by the long hair to one of the shutters of the house, to the horror of passers-by. He then committed suicide with a revolver.

THE RUSSIAN ARMY.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Czar, Czarine, Czarevitch and the Grand Dukes, accompanied by an imposing military suite, started to-day for Wilna and Warsaw to witness the forthcoming army manœuvre.

A SEDITIOUS PRINCE.

SIMLA, Sept. 8.—The Government suspect that Dhuleep Singh prompted the composition and circulation of the seditious proclamation recently issued throughout the Punjaub.

WORKS TO SUSPEND.

SWANSEA, Sept. 8.—Williams' tinplate works, the largest in the tin district, are about to suspend operations owing to depression in trade.

PAYING MEMBERS.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The British Trades' Union Congress, sitting to-day, adopted resolutions declaring it to be the duty of the State to provide for the official election expenses of regular candidates for Parliament and that it is the duty of the State to pay salaries to members of the House of Commons. The Congress also proposed that the workingmen of Great Britain and Ireland form a fund for use, pending Governmental action on the subjects of the resolution, to enable candidates representing the industrial interests to enter contests for seats in the Commons and to support themselves while sitting in Parliament. A labor electoral committee was formed.

GREAT FIRE.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—A great fire broke out in the town of Thorn to-day and destroyed many houses, rendering 200 families homeless. One woman was burned to death and many other persons were injured.

STATE OF KERRY.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Gen. Buller reports that County Kerry and the western portion of Cork are in a less serious state of lawlessness than he expected to find them in, although there is a widespread demoralization among the peasantry which will require an energetic and determined effort to correct. Gen. Buller adds that satisfactory progress is being made in the work of arresting the spread of demoralization, and that the local sources of crime and disorder are being appreciably checked.

MOONLIGHTERS.

DUBLIN, Sept. 8.—A party of Moonlighters are scouring the country around Kilrush for arms. The farmers maintain a strict reticence owing to Moonlighters' threats.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Mr. Parnell's Land Bill—Mr. Gladstone Opposed to it.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Since an interview between Lord Hartington and Lord Salisbury all hope of a compromise between the Government and Mr. Parnell has been abandoned. Lord Randolph Churchill is disposed to bargain with Mr. Parnell on the basis of Government support of the single clause of Mr. Parnell's bill relating to the suspension of evictions. The majority of the Cabinet are opposed to an Irish legislation until next year. Lord Hartington insisted that there should be no tampering with the Parnell bill, and promised Lord Salisbury the vote of the Unionists if the Government absolutely opposed the bill. The Chamberlain section will not vote on the bill. Mr. Chamberlain, who has gone to the country, says he will take no part in the debate. He adheres to his determination to do nothing to embarrass the Government in dealing with Ireland.

FACILITIES FOR SECOND READING.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Lord Randolph Churchill will offer Mr. Parnell facilities for the second reading of the bill on the 16th inst., on condition that the Parnellites offer no obstruction prior to the passing of the whole of the estimates. The Parnellites, aiming to retain control of the Government, insist upon the consideration of Mr. Parnell's bill before the estimates. The probable issue will be that Mr. Parnell will accept Lord Churchill's offer, knowing that the defeat of his bill is certain.

DRAFT OF THE LAND BILL.

Mr. Parnell has sent a draft of his measure to Mr. Gladstone. The first clause provides that lease holders may apply to the court to fix equitable rents, the second that tenants whose rents were fixed a year ago may apply to the court for a re-valuation, and the third that the court, pending decision on application, may suspend an ejectment on the payment of such proportion of the rent as the court may decide to be proper.

MR. GLADSTONE'S ATTITUDE.

The Standard says Mr. Gladstone has announced that he will not support Mr. Parnell's Land bill.

THE ADJOURNMENT.

The Government whips predict that the debate will be short, and that the House will adjourn on the 25th inst.

Arrival of Emmigrants.

One hundred and fifty-eight immigrants arrived at Bonaventure depot from the S. S. "Samaritan," on Tuesday. Of these sixteen remained in the Province of Quebec 99 went to Ontario and 43 left for the States. At St. Martin's Junction 76 arrived from the same vessel, of whom five remained in Montreal, 40 went to Ontario, 23 to Manitoba and 9 to British Columbia.

A Town Seized By Tramps.

ST. PAUL, September 8.—It is reported that a large party of tramps have taken possession of Campbell, Minn., and are sacking stores and houses.

FORCED TO PROTEST.

We believe we voice the feeling of English speaking Canadians when we say that their ideas were from the beginning repugnant to the race and revenge movement, and that they were not responsible for its inception; and now when it is being used as the only cry in the campaign they will not submit to it without recording their protest.—Montreal Star (Indap.)

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1886.

THE CRIMINALS' TACTICS.

THE Quebec section of the Rielite Reformers, as one method of carrying on their "race and creed" campaign, have been circulating widely in their Province portraits of Riel with a rope round his neck, with accompanying abuse of loyal Canadians as "hangmen." Speaking in Ontario, the Hon. Thos. White produced one of the portraits issued by the advocates of rebellion and murder to show the disgraceful nature of their tactics.

The Globe endeavours to neutralize the effect of this exposure and to turn, if possible, the tables upon Mr. White by the use of the grossest falsehood. It mendaciously accuses him of cowardice in triumphing over a fallen enemy by thus insulting his memory, when, in truth, he was exposing the baseness of this disgraceful effigy made by the friends and allies of the Ontario Rielites. This device just suited the Globe with its constant sympathy for criminals. The imitators of the Globe eagerly reproduced its calumny.

Almost comical is the effrontery of this Rielite organ in suggesting, that the Minister of the Interior dare not produce this portrait in Montreal. Why should he produce it there, where it is being circulated widely by his opponents, the Rielites, its use by them being well known to the loyal men as well as to the criminals? It was shown by Mr. White in Ontario because he wished our people to know the means used by the allies of Mr. Blake and the friends of the Globe in the Province of Quebec.

TWO-FACED REFORMERS.

THE Montreal Witness, like many other Reform journals, has disavowed and condemned the Rielites in Quebec for their appeals in the name of "race and creed," in behalf of their favorite murderer and rebel. It took an honorable stand in refusing to be a party to such degradation, and pointed out the evils of the course pursued by its old leaders.

The Witness sees and owns how tricky and dishonest are these leaders in their base tactics. As it puts it concisely:—

"The hope of the Liberals who are leading the party in this Province is that the French Canadians will be influenced in their favor by the Riel cry, while the Liberals of Ontario will not be influenced against them."

Yet the Witness proceeds to blame the Conservatives for repelling this crafty attack by exposing its dishonesty in Ontario. It really seems as though the Witness would rejoice in the success of these designs, the dishonesty of which it points out. True it condemns the raising of the Riel cry in Quebec, but it objects to Riel being mentioned in Ontario. This is, of course, the Rielite programme, as it admits, but it should not be favored by anyone who condemns the Rielites.

It is useless to attempt to show that there is a Conservative Riel cry in Ontario, as there is a Reform Riel cry in Quebec, and that both lead to ill-omened dissensions. This pretence is absurd on the face of it. There could be no Riel cry unless it were raised by the admirers, real or pretended, of Riel. The Conservatives and the honest, loyal Reformers are simply contending for the fair and impartial administration of justice, and are repelling the attempt to punish the constitutional authorities for the execution after due trial of a murderous rebel, though immunity may be demanded in the name of "race and creed."

Like our Rielites.

The Chicago Anarchists held a mass meeting the other night and declared that if the men under sentence are executed, "700,000 avengers will arise from their blood." Then a collection was taken up to pay the expenses of the appeal for a new trial, and the amount realized was $10. This is like our own Rielities, who have spent tens of thousands of dollars in "demonstrating" against the enforcement of the laws in the Northwest, but have not contributed half a farthing per head for the benefit of Riel's orphans. These are the sort of people who indulge in "soarings after the supernal and divings after the profound, but don't pay cash."—Toronto World (Indep.)

AROUND STONEY LAKE.

A SAIL AMONG ITS MAZE OF ISLANDS.

The Summer Homes That Have Been Built—More to be Built—Survey and Sale of Islands—Burleigh Hotel and Burleigh Works.

There are summer resorts and summer resorts, and nearly always each of these lays claim to being the most resortful of all resorts in the country. But here in our own county there is a place which possesses charms to the searcher of a quiet holiday. To the denizen of the dusty town and dinning city, or even to the dweller of the green and fruitful country-side, a visit to Stoney Lake, the name of which tells of the kind of scenery, cannot fail to be pleasurable. There is a something about the bluffness of the rocks and the encouraging smile of the merry waters which induces abandon—which makes one feel like casting off coat, collar and necktie, donning the belt and slouch hat and relapsing into a semi-barbarian (for a couple of weeks or so). People accustomed to pleasant walks in life, surrounded by flowers,

BRIGHT SUNSHINE AND PROSPERITY,

are at once impressed, on their first visit here, with the wild grandeur of the scenery. Toward Burleigh Falls and in that vicinity it is so rocky that the tree trunks are fairly squeezed for room as they rise from the clefts. But for a sight of the rotund personage who presides over the hotel at the Falls, one would carry off the idea that hard times had struck Burleigh and that even nature couldn't get enough to subsist on; but seeing Mr. Holmes' comfortable and prosperous looking figure that thought is promptly dispelled. He is a humorist in his own silent way. A guest of the hotel went to him one day while he leaned his elbows on the bar, looking through the clouds of smoke ascending from a big pipe bowl.

Asked the guest: "Landlord, have you a map of the lake?"

"Yes," he answered laconically.

"Might I have a look at it," pursued the guest.

"You may; look here," here he said bending his head forward and pointing to a bald spot.

The guest surveyed the shining pate and gazed intently for a moment as if expecting to find every bay and island

TATOOED IN INK.

Then he furnished amusement for the crowd. The landlord smiled, placidly through the smoke and remarked that he knew every point on the lake and he carried it all there, (pointing again significantly to his head). During the summer it has been quite busy around this end of the lake. There have been about a hundred men employed on the Trent Valley Canal Works, about a hundred yards from the hotel, and the campers all came over to see the sight. Truly it is a sight worth seeing. Where the Big Chute formerly plunged and tore through the gorge is now a scene of rare activity. The water is diverted to the other channel and in the bottom of the gorge scores of men are hard at work. Looking northward from the bridge the visitor sees between the towering rocks, to where the waves come glittering up to the enbankment which stops their progress. At the top each side of the gorge is lined with derricks, streching their long necks as if to spy what is going on below. Here a derrick has caught a broken rock never ceasing its grip till it lands it on a car to be conveyed to the stone cutting yard. Another derrick, with is placing a heavy stone in its place on the rapidly rising walls. At each end of the gorge a steam pump is employed to keep the drainage out and in the centre from end to end, there is a system of tramways which are constantly traversed by cars bringing in material and taking away refuse. A row of a mile up the stream brings the oarsman to Lovesick Rapids. Here the works consist in burrowing through a ridge of solid granite. The excavation surpasses that at Burleigh, though the sight is not so grand. Besides these, there are several dams being constructed by Mr. Joseph Filion, sub contractor, between Burleigh Falls and Lovesick Rapids and above the rapids. These are built, so Mr. King, the handsome young timekeeper on the works, says, to prevent the country from being inundated by the water which will be raised by the lock building. There will be a six foot rise at Lovesick to

GROANINGS AND CREAKINGS,

OVERFLOW THE RAPIDS

at Little Buckhorn. But besides these artificial wonders, there are some natural wonders—wonders of good nature and affability. They are the staff at the works, Messrs. Edward Wade, head foreman at Burleigh; Edward Dawson, head foreman at Lovesick; T. B. Brophy, keeper of the supply store; Wm. Loughren, foreman of the mason work; H. P. King, time keeper, and Joseph Timbers, paymaster. An idea of the duties of the latter two gentlemen may be obtained from the statement that there are about 150 men to look after, and the disbursements amount to about $600 per day. At the proper time an extended report of these works will be given in the REVIEW. As it is the locks are only about half built, and some of the dams are not yet commenced. Taking a trip down the lake on the fast sailing steamer Cruiser, presided over by that most genial of captains, Capt. Eden, a passing view of what is being done in the way of building is had. On Snake Island Messrs. Brownscombe and McWhinnie, of Peterborough, have built a cottage; near Fairy Lake Bay Messrs. Percy Strickland and Roland Strickland each own houses; on Grassy Island Mr. R. Graham, of Lakefield, has built, and on the Julian shore Messrs. S. Henderson and Dr. Bell, of Lakefield, possess a cottage. Over on Juniper Island Messrs. E. B. Edwards and J. Z. Rogers have a convenient lodge with pretty approaches. Down on the Smith shore of Clear Lake, near Sandy Bay, Messrs Aylmer and Rubidge, engineers on the Trent Valley Works, each have comfortable houses. Mr. A. W. Wright is about putting up a cottage on an island near Hurricane Point. Mr. T. Cox, of Lakefield, resides in a diminutive mansion at the east part of Horseshoe Island. It is likely that Mr. John Dinwoodie, who owns the island, will also build. A little house, owned by Mr. Jonathan Griffin, of Lakefield, sentinels Eagle Mount. The lodge owned by Messrs. A. Hall, R. Hall, W. G. Ferguson and Captain Stewart, of Peterborough (the Syndicate), situated at Boshink, commands an extensive view of the lake both northward and southward. Northward still, standing on the Dummer shore, overlooking a delightful prospect, is Mr. Zac. Burnham's pretty white painted frame house. Up here, where, except Mr. Burnham's, there is scarce a habitation, the scene is enchanting. The north shore, ruggedly rock-lined, is deep indented with many bays, in which rocks and trees mirror themselves in calm weather as distinctly as in the inmost sylvan pool. Stillness reigns. The echo of the loon's weird hoot and the faint whir of the labored flight of the crane intensify the silence. As the canoe glides quietly along through a maze of islands the eye dilates with pleasure. Every minute changes the scene. Emerging from behind an island now the south shore with its harvest fields shinning in the sun breaks on the vision. A moment later the curtain is drawn, and eastward the forest primeval, high waving, with a dim outline of the blue mountains beyond, lies before. Suddenly this spell is broken. Rounding a point at Eel's Creek a little village of white camps come in view. Who is this at the shore? Surely enough it's he—Tom Hewson, and as brown as hemlock bark. He gives a hearty camp welcome, and then wonders how real sane people can actually wear a coat or a collar in these regions, where everybody are allowed to dress just as they please. He explains that a scarf thrown around his neck and an old coat, together with his camp outfit, make up

ON A LITTLE PROMOTORY

HIS RECEPTION UNIFORM.

Mr. Hewson is here making a survey of the islands lying below the line of the old survey—that is, those lying east of the range line, between the sixth and seventh ranges of the township of Burleigh. The reader will surely understand this explicit explanation. There were 38 islands surveyed before and he is finishing up. He has about 30 already lined out. He received instructions from the Government to proceed with this work at the beginning of the summer, and at the same time to describe the physical features of the islands surveyed. The object of the survey is to permit of an accurate description being given to property sold. A number of these islands have been sold, and during the next year or two it is probable that numbers will be taken up. It has been argued that the islands will be all sold and that there will be no place for outsiders to camp. But there are, even if the islands are all sold, acres and acres of shore land; and an example as to how campers will be prevented (?) from using the islands is given by stating that at one time this summer there were nearly fifty people camping on Messrs. Edwards & Rogers' island, without even asking permission to do so. It will be to sell the lake property. The owners take an interest in their places, and the fires which pass over, leaving an island a blackened waste, will be in a large measure prevented. Messrs Barlee and Eden of Lakefield, intends to improve their island, near Clear Lake, in the spring. Among the improvements will be the erection of a house. Capt. Eden says it has to have a varandah all the way round and a convex roof sloping to the cone,—a chinese pagoda. And then there is to be a flag at the top. Dr. Bell is to do likewise near by. Just here a suggestion is offered. Would it not be better if the builders would display more taste in their summer homes? Instead of having a monstrous and anything but artistic dotting of rough-board houses, would it not be to the interest of all to vary the style of architecture—say, a rustic house here, a cottage there, and something after the Capt. Eden plan somewhere else. Now that there is talk of having part of the A. C. A meet at Stony Lake next year all should do their best to enhance its picturesqueness. There is a report current that a syndicate will build a large summer hotel at Fairy Lake bay, to have a line of small steamers running from Lakefield and a connective hotel at Lakefield. Should this idea be realized the number of visitors to health-giving, ease-inspiring Stony Lake will doubtless be much larger next year than even this.

A DECIDED BENEFIT

APSLEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BUSINESS.—Jas. Lindsay has procured the services of a first-class shoemaker. Mr. Thos. Eastland, our obliging P. M., is filling his store with a first-class stock of fall and winter goods.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—Our Agricultural Society is renewing its youth. Many new members have been received. Preparations are being made for the annual fall show; come and see us.

DIVINE SERVICE.—The Rev. Mr. Miller, Presbyterian minister of Wallliston, will preach in the Temperance Hall next Sunday afternoon.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Thos. Anderson, of Lindsay, is home on a visit to his parents. He looks well.

WELCOME VISITOR.—The REVIEW is a welcome visitor to our homes. Its politics are sound. Its news brings us up to date.

CROPS.—Our crops are above the average.

PERSONAL.—Dr. Campbell is again with us. He has been away some five weeks taking his summer holidays. We were glad to see his genial face once more and receive again the pressure of his manly hand. In the short space of one year he has endeared himself to all classes of the community by his gentlemanly deportment. As a physician he ranks high. In proof of this assertion outside physicians have not been called in, except in cases of consultation. Dr. C. has laid the foundation of an extensive practice. May he live scores of years and spend them all with us.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Hawley had the misfortune to receive an ugly gash in his hand from a saw which he was handling. In the absence of a gentleman entitled to append M. D. to his name, Mr. Grant (Organist of St. George's church) came to the sufferer's assistance and succeeded in drawing the severed parts together. Mr. Grant is certainly more at home before the keyboard than in a surgery, yet he must be congratulated on the nerve displayed by him on the present occasion. Mr. H. is doing well under Dr. Campbell's care.

FACTS
Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

Great German Hair Magic!

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

CHAPTER I.

GREYSTONE-ON-SEA.

Cuthbert raised his eyes, but they fell instantly. Still he answered quickly:

"I don't grow weary of it. Why do you challenge me! Has a single murmur ever escaped me!"

"What! Is discontent to be expressed by nothing but groans! Give me leave to tell you that a man can murmur with his face, sir, without opening his mouth. Pray, understand that—murmur with his face, sir."

"Well," said Cuthbert, with a little drooping of the head and a reluctant manner, "I will say that if I did not know how near your wishes concerning me lay to your heart, I——"

Here he shrugged his shoulders, smiled faintly and fell silent, beating the ground softly with his foot.

"Pray finish your sentence. You would correct a pupil, I hope, for stammering," broke in the irritable doctor.

With an expression in his eyes which made it very difficult to tell whether he was quite as much in earnest as his speech represented him, Cuthbert exclaimed, with a certain fastidious emphasis:

"I think no young Englishman who reads the papers but must sometimes feel a generous ambition to share in the glories and perils of the deeds which British soldiers and sailors are enacting in all parts of the world."

The doctor stared; his face hung between a scowl and a grin; then he burst out sharply:

"The world is before you! It is only your own legs hinder your generous ambition. What else stays you?"

"Your wishes."

The doctor sneered.

"Or I had better say my duty," said the young fellow, in a soft voice, looking for a moment at his father, and then turning his eyes aside and biting his lip.

"Duty!" cried the doctor, sarcastically. "Are you stopped by the duty you owe me, or the duty you owe yourself? If you want to illustrate fine thoughts, give me something better than brave words for proof. If your father's calling is too low a pursuit——"

"Low, sir!"

"I said low."

"Indeed, then——"

"Hold your prate! How dare you interrupt me, sir! I say that if your father's calling is oo low a pursuit to satisfy your vaulting mind, why, shake off the mean burden, loosen your wings, and leave your duty behind you. Tut! tut!" he cried, motioning with his hand; "if those are your fancies, I'll not balk your gratification of them, trust me! It is not for want of power" he continued with a bitterness he could not conceal, though he would imagine his satirical smile a good mask, "that for twenty years I should have been sturdily plodding on in hope of leaving you an established man of sound report and name, narrowly holding my earnings, with the blessed help of your dead and sacred mother, that I might give you an Oxford training; nothing my vigorous toil, my slow and painful reaches to competency, of which what should you know beyond what you have gleaned from your poor mother's tales of our early struggles! Pshaw! get you gone, my dear! There is glory abroad, indeed!—murder, lust and fire! Now go and add your mite to the general destruction, by the demolition of your father's hopes!"

This was high tragedy rant. Something to make a modern laugh. But old gentlemen used to spout somewhat in this way in those days; and sons who called papas "sir" listened respectfully to stronger stuff than this, as you may see in the comedies of the age and learn from the tales of your grandfather.

"Father," cried Cuthbert—and there shot into his face a sudden expression of deep appeal that made its beauty as touching and as soft as a woman's—"you are not just to me. I do not wish to leave you. I glanced very lightly at my fancies. Fancies they are—most trifling; without influence, indeed. If there is anything in my manner that causes you uneasiness, I will reform it."

But once more his keen glance went downward, and the keen gaze of his father's black eyes assuredly belied their owner's sagacity if he did not detect that something stood between him and his son's honesty.

Yet, divining no other reason that his son should not be honest with him than that he was smarting under youthful impatience of dull routine, he stuck like a man to the skirts of Cuthbert's own suggestions.

"I don't say," he remarked, in a softened manner, "that the business of educating boys is not tedious. But after all, name me the calling that has not something objectionable."

"I have said that I am content to remain as I am."

"Is that really so?"

"Truly so."

"Yet you are not yourself," said the doctor, gazing doubtfully at his son; "something is amiss. Just now Juvenal was under your nose and—let me see the book."

Cuthbert handed him the volume.

"Well, it is Juvenal; but that is mere luck, for you never looked at it. What distracts you?"

The young fellow folded his arms and remained silent, slowly swaying his foot.

"I date this change in you from the day of your return from London," continued Dr. Shaw, drawing from his pocket a small gilt snuff box, and taking a pinch ready to apply when anger should set him sniffling. "I put money into your hand for the holiday, and trusted to your discretion to make it a cheap purchase of enlarged views. What did you do in London? I need not ask you. You have told me—you went sightseeing—and I believe you."

Cuthbert bit his lip.

"That is enough, sir—I believe you," continued the doctor, answering with emphasis the brief glance that Cuthbert threw at him. "Now, am I to suppose that this holiday upset you? Come, come, you are not a yokel, that you cannot walk London streets without your ambition taking fire from every print shop."

He paused, his hand with the pinch of snuff in it suspended, and a light of angry triumph in his eyes, as though he should say, "The secret cannot elude me, but I hate the discovery."

Cuthbert rose and walked to the window, and looked out upon the green swell of cliff and the blue faint space of sea beyond.

That there was a secret in his mind might be known by the pain in his eyes and a contraction of brow which told of a sudden inward wrestle.

But these signs faded, leaving him not paler than he was before, and with a tranquil smile, sweet with the melancholy and docility in it, he turned to his father and said:

"Nothing is amiss with me in the way you suppose. Give me a day or two for reflection. I shall then have something to tell you, and God knows what indulgence you shall show me."

The doctor arched his eyebrows, and, with a stiffening of his back, made his frill project fiercely.

"I don't like your strong expressions, sir. And pray, what have you done, that you should hesitate to avow it?"

And he stuck his head back until the hollow of his throat showed above his white neckerchief.

But if Dr. Shaw could be averse so, too, could Cuthbert, his son, be obstinate; and the touch of the mule that is in the composition of most men shows nowhere more transparently than in a handsome face.

"Give me your permission to leave you, sir," said Cuthbert.

The doctor waived his hand, and Cuthbert walked out.

Isaac Shaw was doctor of laws; and this much could be said of him—that better blood than his did not flow in any man's veins in all that town of Greystone, and that more of the learning which is not so much wisdom as scholarship thickened no man's wits within the municipal area.

But Isaac Shaw's learning was more to his profit than honor, as it brought him pupils but gave him no social advance beyond fellow townsmen, inasmuch as not the rector, even, had weight of erudition enough to sink to the depths of his knowledge.

On the other hand, his blood was more to his honor than profit, as it made him haughty and exclusive, with a rattle of insolence sometimes so that he was an unpopular man at Greystone, which supplied him with one only of the forty pupils who studied and struggled on his premises.

This Dr. Isaac Shaw loved his son Cuthbert with that kind of love which makes a man unkindly critical, vicious in perception of small weaknesses, and a very strait-jacket unto the object of its affections, that it may walk with moral erectness all the days of its life.

For many a year the current of the boy's existence had flowed gently down the channel of academic routine, with never a break of froth in it, nor sudden hasting, nor sharp divergence.

Until suddenly—but the heavens know not without cause—there fell upon his moods a shadow so like melancholy that the doctor took counsel with himself and reasoned thus:

"He is mewed up here, and we take few holidays. Every man requires now and again a change of scene Ergo, Cuthbert requires a change of scene. He has asked for [illegible] and he shall taste it. I will furnish him with twenty guineas, and he shall go to London and see life for a fortnight."

But lo! concession, instead of casting out the one devil from his son's mind, merely liberated the imp to return with seven worse imps than itself.

"What is on his mind I cannot conjecture," the doctor mused, looking at the door which Cuthbert had closed. "He says he is not weary of this life."

With a gloomy brow and a puzzled wrinkle of the nose, he snuffed up the pinch he had held throughout the interview, and muttered:

"But then he may lie."

Now, Dr. Isaac Shaw hated strong expressions.

Some significent facts have been brought to light by the police in connection with the recent stage robbery and the murder of Scott at Galgary, N. W. T. They tend to show that Scott was implicated in the former, and that he was murdered in consequence of a disagreement with his fellow-conspirators.

The gloomy fears, desponding views, and weariness, that many complain of, would disappear were the blood made pure and healthy before reaching the delicate vessels of the brain. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies and vitalizes the blood; thus promoting health of body and sanity of mind.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

The value of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in the protection it affords from the dangers of pulmonary disorders, cannot be overestimated. Mr. C. K. Philips, Pittsburg, Pa., writes: "About three years ago I had severe Laryngitis, which resulted in chronic hoarseness. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I have since entirely regained my health." Mr. Henry Russell, Excelsior Printing Co., New York, writes: "Influenza became epidemic in my neighborhood. Several members of my family suffered severely with it, all of whom took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and were cured by it in a few days. It is a wonderful medicine for Influenza. Too much cannot be said in its favor."

E. M. Sargent, 41 Andover st., Lowell, Mass., says: "I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral about the year 1842, as a family medicine, for Coughs and Colds, and have always kept it in my house since that time. I consider it the best remedy that can be had for these complaints." Dr. J. B. Robertson, Clayton, N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, in my family and practice, for a number of years, and have no hesitation in recommending it. It is an admirable preparation, and well-qualified to do all that is claimed for it." E. J. Styers, Germanton, N. C., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best Cough preparation I ever saw. It gives instant relief."

has cured a Cough in a few doses. It always relieves irritation of the lungs or throat, and arrests the tendency to inflammation. It strikes at the foundation of all Pulmonary diseases, is without a rival as an expectorant, and is a sure cure for the most obstinate Coughs and Colds. L. Garrett, Texana, Texas, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years. For throat and lung diseases, I consider it a wonderful remedy."

BEWARE

OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS

As there are many inferior goods, corded with jute, hemp, etc., offered and sold as Coraline by some unprincipled merchants trading on the reputation of our genuine Coraline, we warn the ladies against such imposition by drawing their attention to the necessity of seeing that the name is stamped on inner side of all Coraline goods, Without which none are genuine.

'CROMPTON CORSET CO.'

FULLY EQUIPPED

For the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

Prize Drawing.

At the drawing of prizes in connection with the recent picnic held under the auspices of the St. Peter's Cathedral congregation the following were the lucky ones:—Mrs. James Duffis, Mrs. Tierney. Mr. Robt. White, of Peterborough, and Mr. Crowley, of Otonabee. The first two mentioned won cakes, Mr. White the set of harness presented by Mr. W. J. Devlin, and Mr. Crowley the dry goods valued at $20 presented by Messrs. Dolan & Co.

The Furniture Industry.

The goods turned out by the Lindsay, Seldon Furniture Company, of Peterborough, are meeting with much success in the Montreal and Toronto markets. Shipments are regularly made to these two points with a prospect of increased demand. The works of the Company situated in the large building just south of Messrs. Meldrum, Davidson & Co's flour mill are to be increased in size so as to embrace the whole of four flats and an additional dry house.

Fire.

At about ten minutes after eight o'clock on Wednesday evening the Fire Brigade was called out, but happily the services of the brigade were not required. During the evening the operation of moulding was carried on at the Stove Works and it is supposed that some sparks lodged in the roof. Mr. W. H. Watson and Mr. Jas. McNamara saw a little flame starting from the clear roof of the moulding department, and with great difficulty, after climbing ladders, doused it out with water. The brigade turned out remarkably quick. Not twenty seconds elapsed from the first tap of the bell till the reels were on their way to the fire. The engine went as far as Brault's hotel, where orders were given to return.

Hotel Burned.

The Port Hope Times says:—"This (Wednesday) morning about four o'clock., a young fellow called Burt who lives across the road from the Turner House, discovered that the hotel was on fire. He sounded the alarm, but when the firemen reached the building, the whole interior was a mass of flames. The fire seemed to have started in the south east corner in either the kitchen or the cellar as that section of the house is more badly burned than any other. The flames found a splendid flue in the hallways, and shot to the third flat in an incredibly short space of time. The fire was not extinguished until the inside of the building was in a sad state. Mr. J. Cornish and his wife, mine host and hostess, had only time to get out in their slumber robes, being awakened by the choking of their child with the smoke. None of the furniture or fixings were saved. They were the property of Mr. James Kerr, and were insured for $400 in the Royal Insurance Co. The building itself was insured for $1,700 in the Caledonia Co. The origin of the fire is a mystery." The property destroyed belonging to Mr. J. J. Turner, sail tent and awning maker, of this town.

DROWNED.

Frederick Madill Ventures into Deep Water at the Goose Pond.

At about seven o'clock on Wednesday evening, Frederick Madill, a young man of sixteen, employed in the Dickson Company's little saw mill, went in bathing, in company with several others, at the goose pond, opposite the company's mills. The space enclosed by two booms, in which the others were, is quite shallow, and bathing may be indulged in without danger.

Young Madill did not, however, enter from the shore. He ran along the boom quite a distance from the shore and then jumped in where the water was deep, He was not seen alive after.

His companions gave the alarm and soon a large number were searching for his body. At about nine o'clock it was found, swept around about twenty yards from where he jumped in."

The relatives of the deceased at Lakefield were notified of the accident by telephone soon after it happened.

The remains were buried in the Methodist Cemetery here this afternoon.

Haldimand Election.

The returns from Haldimand are still incomplete and the figures differs, but it appears to be certain that the Reformers have retained this constituency which is a stronghold of the party, never having returned a Conservative.

Mr. Parker's Class Rooms.

Mr. J. S. Parker, organist at St. Paul's church, has taken possession of his prettily appointed new rooms in Lynch's block. The new rooms, which take up the whole of the third flat, are much larger than the apartments formerly occupied, are well lighted and altogether are quite cheery in appearance.

Marriage.

The marriage of Miss Ida Greenwood, daughter of Mr. Thomas Greenwood, Port Hope, to Mr. Thos. Diamond, of Cobourg, was celebrated at the residence of Mr. F. J. Jamison on Wednesday evening, by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw. Miss Crozier, of Cobourg, was the bridesmaid, and Mr. Chambers, of Cobourg, the groomsman. The wedding presents were numerous and very pretty.

Personal.

The Rev. E. F. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's church, arrived home from England this morning at five o'clock. He was gone a little over two months, and spent nine Sundays abroad. He made London his headquarters and there heard all of the great Metropolitan preachers. Among the Nonconformists he considers Spurgeon by far the ablest. He heard, while in the city, Henry Ward Beecher deliver a lecture. He speaks well of the showing made by Canada at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition. He will resume his duties on Sunday.

Orange Blossoms.

At four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon Miss Ida Huston, eldest daughter of Mr. Joseph Huston, was given in marriage to Mr. Joseph M. Benson, of Winnipeg, son of the late John R. Benson, Esq., of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's father, Stewart street, by the Rev. G. H. Davis. Miss Hattie Johnston was the bridesmaid and Mr. Robt. Walton, of Rochester, N. Y., the groomsman. After the wedding the guests were entertained at lunch, and Mr. and Mrs. Benson left on the evening train for their home in Winnipeg. Among the varied and large number of presents sent to the bride was an elegant silver service given by the trustees and members of the George Street Methodist Church. Miss Huston has long been connected with the choir of this church and her valuable services will be much missed.

AGAINST THE SCOTT ACT.

W. J. Kearns, of Burleigh, Lectures in Bradburn's Opera House.

On Wednesday evening W. J. Kearns, a hotel keeper of Burleigh who was recently sent to gaol for non-payment of a fine imposed for an infraction of the provisions of the Scott Act, lectured to a small audiance in Bradburn's Opera House on "The Scott Act and honest Government."

The lecturer appeared on the stage at a few minutes past eight, but had scarcely began to read his speech when the fire alarm sounded and he was left with scarcely a hearer. He sat down and calmly waited the return of his hearers. The lecture was resumed at about half past eight.

He attacked the Canada Temperance Scott Act, as he called it, in a vigorous manner, said it was a measure enacted to rob honest men, blamed Mr. Geo. A. Cox and his "satalites" for having introduced it here, and entered spiritedly upon the alleged machinations of the Scott Act party. He criticised P. M. Dumble's decisions, and said that he was the only one, out of all the defendants in these cases, who was not placed on his defence. He charged the Scott Act party with twisting the Act to suit themselves, and not following out its provisions. Time and again had the charge been laid as a first offence when it should be a second or a third. He stated that he was of opinion that the Scott Act party was composed of politics, lunatics, heretics and infidels, and predicted that before the three years were out they would be "sick, sore and sorry" that the Act was ever passed.

The lecturer did not adhere to his subject of discourse as closely as is set down. Every now and then he drifted off to talk on the North-West rebellion, Irish Home Rule, the Sultan of Turkey, and interlarded his discourse with a harrowing description of an accident which happened to him nine years ago. He hinted vaguely several times of an act which he was going to introduce to the people of Canada, which, he said, he was willing to put up a thousand dollars that it would outstrip the Scott Act in efficacy of suppressing drunkenness, and several times he discussed the merits of the Trent Valley Canal.

Messrs. Flavelle and Kendry came in for their share of criticism, and even Pollard was not left untouched. He dubbed Pollard a "gutter snipe."

He wound up with the wish that the Queen would live to see the day that Ireland got Home Rule.

IRELAND.

The public entry of the Lord-Lieutenant into Dublin has been fixed for Sept. 19th.

The seaside resorts near Dublin are unusually crowded this season; the number of tourists who have flocked, and are still flocking, to Ireland being very great.

A teller in the Hiberian Bank named Moriarty, has pleaded guilty to embezzlement at the Dublin Commission Court, and has been senteuced to seven years' penal servitude.

A boat containing eleven persons was capsized while crossing the Sligo harbor on Aug. 15th, and all the occupants were thrown into the water. Seven were rescued with difficulty, but the other four were drowned.

The Lord-Lieutenant intends to do his best to bring about again in Ireland the love of hunting and sporting of all kinds, for which the natives were once so distinguished. He will not only patronize flat-racing, but also the kindred sports of steeplechasing.

On Aug. 12th in the Dublin Bankruptcy Court, the judge allowed proofs to the amount of £78,000 against the estate of Farquharson, the absconding president of the Munster Bank; and it was stated that there was £15,000 in court lodged to the credit of the estate.

"Suicide whilst temporarily Jeranged caused by worry over the tyrannical conduct of Lieutenant Carew." Such is the verdict of a coroner's jury respecting the death of a soldier of the 7th Hussars.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

NOT ITS DUTY.

A few weeks ago certain organs were censuring the Minister of Marine for displaying insufficient vigor in protecting our fisheries. Now the Kingston Whig blames him for making "a naval demonstration" in that behalf. An angel could not please some people, and he would be a weak minded angel who should try to. So far as the World is concerned it should not be necessary to remind the Whig that we deem it no part of our duty to embarrass our own government in its disputes with foreign governments, no matter which party happens to be in power at Ottawa.—Toronto World (Indep.)

A RIELITE SCREAM.

A sacrifice of one of our fellow-countrymen to please some party fanatics has at least opened our eyes to the sentiments which that man has ever cherished towards us. The murder of Riel sheds a far reaching light upon his whole past as the burning of the parliament buildings in 1845 (sic) lit up the earliest steps in his political career. Those two beacons will mark the two extremities of his public life, and what they will make especially clear from first to last, is the hatred of the Orange chief against the French-Canadians. Let us show him before he dies that we will pay it back to him. —La Justice (Rielite.)

STILL A FEW.

Some time ago the Cincinnati Enquirer threatened to gobble up this country because it thought that by means of the Canadian Pacific short line to Asia Canadians would be able to monopolize the Asiatic trade. Now the Francisco Daily Report is making similar threats. After declaring that unless a heavy rebate is offered by the American lines there is very little reason to believe but that the Canadian Pacific will command the greater portion of the Asiatic and ultimately the Australian trade, it finds consolation for the Americans in the belief that they may find an excuse in the fishery dispute to cross the border and seize the whole outfit from Vancouver to Montreal. While the Americans are thus casting envious eyes on Canada's national road there are still a few Canadians who believe or pretend to believe that the line will prove a failure.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1886.

THE ELECTRIC GIRDLE.

Cable Connection Between Australia, New Zealand and British Columbia.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—It is stated here that Mr. John A. Mackay, who is the principal owner of the Bennett-Mackay commercial cable to New York, is forming among capitalists in England and on the Continent of Europe a company to lay a series of cables from Brisbane or Sydney Australia, to North Cape connecting at the former with the Australiian telegraph system and at the latter with the telegraphs of New Zealand. From North Cape the line will be laid to one of the Fiji Islands, thence to Fanning Island, from Fanning Island to one of the Sandwich Islands, Sandwich Island to Barclay Sound or Port San Juan, Vancouver Island, Barclay Sound across Vancouver Island and the Straits of Georgia to Vancouver City, the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a total of 8,900 geographical miles. It is believed that the president and directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway are supporters of the enterprise.

DEGREES IN DIVINITY.

A Proposition that Three Colleges be Recognized as Having Power to Confer.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—At a meeting of the Provincial Synod to-day, Judge Armstrong of Montreal, gave notice of motion declaring that inasmuch as the newly elected clerical and lay secretaries were not delegates to the Synod their election was illegal. At twelve o'clock, the American delegation, composed of Bishop Harris of Michigan, Rev. Eugene Hoffman, New York, Rev. Mr. Converse, Boston, and Mr. R. M. Nelson, of Alabama, were introduced and warmly received in the lower house. The Metropolitan and other Bishops were also present. The Metropolitan Bishop of Fredericton and Rev. Mr. Langtry, Prolocator of Synod, both extended a hearty welcome to the delegates. The Bishop of Michigan warmly replied.

At the afternoon session a notorial protest was read from the Montreal Diocesan Theological College, notifying the House of Bishops of the Synod that they would pass the proposed canon on degrees in divinity, of which notice has been given by the Bishop of Quebec, at the risk of being made liable for costs and damages incurred by said college by reason thereof. The canon in question proposed that inasmuch as there were already three universities in the ecclesiastical province of Canada, viz., King's College, Windsor, N. S.; Bishop's College, Lennoxville, and Trinity College, Toronto, for the conferring of degrees in divinity, it be ordered that no degrees be recognized by the Synod unless conferred by these universities, and that the Metropolitan petition the local legislatures not to empower any college to confer such degrees. After some discussion the whole matter was left open till the next Synod.

The message of greeting adopted by the Methodist Conference at Toronto was read amid applause. A resolution was introduced declaring that the synod would welcome legislation securing members of the Church of England throughout the Dominion the principle of having their own school rates and receiving due assistance from the public funds, when other schools are so assisted, under regulations that would secure a degree of efficiency in secular subjects at least equal to that of other public schools, and that a committee be appointed to ascertain the feeling of the governments of the different provinces on the subject and report at the next synod. The discussion on the motion lasted till the synod rose.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA.

Enthusiasm for Prince Alexander—Russian Intrigues—Treaty Engagements.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Sir. J. Ferguson, Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, stated in the House of Commons this evening that the Government had no reason to believe that the action of Bulgaria or any power would be inconsistent with treaty engagements. He declined to become explicit in his statement.

GREETING THE PRINCE.

LOMPALANKA, Sept. 29.—Yesterday when Prince Alexander arrived here on his way out of Bulgaria the streets were crowded with triumphal arches. Everything was done to make the Prince feel that the populace wished to look upon his departure as transient. The Vice-President of the Assembly, in his farewell address to the Prince said the Bulgarians would never forget they owed him everything they had secured as a united nation, and that they would continue to consider him as their ruler, although he departed, and they hoped for his speedy return. The Prince said he was happy when the Bulgarians were content. He would be ever ready to assist Bulgaria when she might be in need. "I hope to see you all soon again," he said in conclusion. The school children strewed Prince Alexander's path through the city with flowers.

SIR EDWARD THORNTON.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Sir Edward Thornton's retirement from Constantinople is final. His appointment gave little satisfaction to a large section on the English people, who believe that the chief mission of an English ambassador at the Turkish capital is to detect and defeat Russian intrigues. Sir Edward was not sufficiently anti-Russian to suit his party. Sir Wm. White, who succeeds Sir. Edward, is master of the Eastern question, and perhaps better qualified than any other diplomatist to meet Russians and Turks on their ground.

RUSSIA GRUMBLING.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 9.—The Novæ Vremya says Prince Alexander appointed the regency without having first obtained the National Assembly's assent, which it contends, was a breach of the Tirnova constitution. Col. Mouveloff, one of the regents appointed by the Prince, and who commanded the loyal troops under the counter-provisional government after the recent coup d'etat, the Novæ Vremya says, is not qualified for membership in the regency, because he is not a member of the Bulgarian National Assembly. The Novæ Vremya says it fears the comedy of Prince Alexander's re-election to the Bulgarian throne will be played by the Sobranje.

OUR TRADE WITH THE EAST.

Vessels Coming from Japan—Cargoes Valued at Two Million Dollars.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—In an interview Mr Frazer, the tea importer, said that in addition to the W. B. Flint and the F. P. Stafford, which had already arrived with cargoes of tea, etc., from Japan for shipment across the Canadian Pacific Railway to the east, the third vessel, the Zorova, left on August 3rd and was now due at Vancouver. B. C. The Carrie Delop sailed on August 25th, and the German barque Bylgia would leave on September 25th. Another ship was also being arranged for, and the full particulars would be cabled from Yokohama in a few days. These vessels in addition to their cargoes of tea would bring rice, curios and other products of the east. Their cargoes would comprise 100,000 packages, and were valued at $2,000,000.

A Race in a Gale.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Gen. Paine, owner of the yacht Mayflower, called on Lieut. Henn yesterday, and offered to keep the Mayflower in commission in Marblehead Bay after the international races until a gale shall come up, then he proposed to race with the Galatea from Marblehead to Cape Cod. Lieut. Henn asked him to consider the matter. The general opinion in yachting circles is that the race across Massachusetts Bay in a gale of wind would be a much better test of the weatherly qualities of the American and English champions than a race round Bermuda. The race today is to be over the outside course 20 miles to the windward and return from the Scotland lightship, if a good course can be laid from there. If not the start will be made from Sandy Hook lightship. The start from the lightship will be made at 10.30 a.m.

The Frenchmen to Celebrate.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—At a meeting of the National Party chiefs to-day Mr. Prefontaine, M.P. for Chambly, was authorized to invite Dr. Colter the newly elected member for Haldimand, to a banquet in Montreal, to be offered by French Canadians of the province of Quebec in celebration of his glorious victory and as a demonstration against those who turned the national movement into a war of races.

Disastrous Battle With Indians.

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., September 8.—An American resident of Sonora, Mex., brings the news that two days ago Col. Torres with two huudred men engaged 2000 Yaquis and drove them back. Subsequently the Yaquis gathered reinforcements and three or four thousands strong attacked Torres' command. A serious battle ensued in which Torres lost the greater portion of his men, returning with but a small remnant.

Exhibition at Toronto.

TORONTO, Sept. 9.—The Toronto Industrial Exhibition was formally opened yesterday by the Lieutenant-Governor. Addresses were also delivered by Sir John A. Macdonald, Lieut.-Governor Aikins, of Manitoba, Senator Ferrier, of Montreal, Hon. A. M. Ross and Archbishop Lynch.

A Child Cut in Two.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 9.—A little child named McMullen, aged one year and seven months while sitting on the rails of the Grand Trunk city branch yesterday, was struck by an engine and cut in two.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

IRISH LAND GRIEVANCES.

DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—United Ireland says: No power in Great Britain can collect "landlords' tribute" in Ireland in the face of the organized, united and level headed people. The Catholic Bishop assembled at Maynooth have sent a memorial to the English Government urging the adoption of a temporary measure to relieve the Irish tenantry and prevent outrages, which they resort to in simple desperation.

TO COMBAT ENGLAND.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The Journal des Debats has information that Count Aubagny has been appointed French Minister to Egypt to combat English influence in the Khedive's dominions.

CONFERENCE AT MAYNOOTH.

DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—The conference of Roman Catholic Bishops at Maynooth has adopted resolutions declaring that the Irish people appreciated Mr. Gladstone's efforts on behalf of Ireland, and they still adhered to their demand for Home Rule, and indignantly denying the Tory assertions that if the Irish people were allowed to govern themselves in domestic affairs the Roman Catholic majority would abuse the power conferred on the Irish Parliament and harass the Protestants of the country. The resolutions further declare that the troubles and disorder in both Ireland and Great Britain will not cease until Ireland's right to administer her own laws is recognized. Archbishops Walsh, of Dublin, Croke, of Cashel, and MacEvilley, of Tuam, and 23 bishops were present.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—Mr. Louden, chairman of the Westport board of guardians, formerly a prominant member of the National league, accuses the league of investing American donations instead of using the money to help evicted tenents. He says the league has shamefully rejected appeals from Galway and Mayo tenants, saying they were only fit for emigration.

THE QUEEN OF SPAIN.

MADRID, Sept. 9.—The Queen of Spain is suffering from pulmonary disease, which is making alarming progress. The affection is similar to that which caused the death of King Alfonso.

SEEKING AID IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—At a meeting of Aldermen to-day Mr. Lusk read a cablegram from the Mayor of Charleston in which the latter said that the earthquake had left 5000 persons in Charleston in urgent need of assistance. From the Mansion House. Alderman Lusk in behalf of the Lord Mayor issued an appeal to the benevolent public for aid for the Charleston sufferers.

THE IRISH LAND COMMISSION.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—In the House of Lords the Earl of Leitrim moved that all leaseholders in Ireland have access to the land of commission for the adjustment of rents. The Earl of Cadagan, Lord Privy Seal, replied for the Government that it was impossible at the present crisis to accept the resolution of the Earl of Leitrim, which was thereupon withdrawn without further debate.

LAND REFORM.

HULL, Sep. 9.—The Trades' Union Congress to-day adopted a resolution declaring that the reform of the British land laws must include compulsory cultivation of waste land. A committee was appointed to prepare a bill for submission to parliament embodying the points embraced in the resolution. The congress also declared itself unable to approve of any schemes of emigration for relief of the poor and unemployed until land reform, with the same object in view, had first been tested and found ineffective.

RACING IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—Lord Londonderry, Viceroy of Ireland, accompanied by a brilliant party, will attend the races at Baldoyle. He has engaged Fred Archer to ride Mount Stewart, which Lord Londonderry has entered to compete for the plate.

SOLDIERS REFUSING.

DUBLIN, Sept. 9.—The troops engaged in the Woodford evictions on their return to the barracks at Birr, protested against the work of forcibly putting helpless, infirm and starving people out of shelter into the roadway, and declared they would in future refuse to perform such obnoxious duties. No effort on the part of their superior officers could quiet the determination of the soldiers, twenty of whom were placed under arrest on the charge of mutiny.

Yatch Race Postponed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—There are plenty of disappointed yachtsmen in New York to-night, for the second race of the international series has been postponed till Saturday. After sailing in a fresh breeze from eastward for four hours, and in a light breeze from the same quarter for two hours more, the Mayflower and Galatea, with an accompanying fleet of nearly a hundred vessels were enveloped in a fog ten miles east of Sandy Hook, and were compelled to abandon the race. When the Mayflower rounded the outer mark 20 miles east of Scotland lightship, at 4.26.22, the Galatea was not in sight from the point. The Mayflower had outsailed her on every tack from the start. Both were carrying the same sail in a breeze that was steady from about east with occasional rain squalls and moderately heavy swell from that quarter. The Mayflower could not have finished the race in the alloted time of seven hours even if the weather had remained clear.

Wholesale Slaughter.

FERGUS, Sept. 9.—Joseph Thompson of Upper Nichol was driving 160 lambs which he had collected in Luther, and when near Piercey's Crossing he heard a train whistle at Alma, and concluded the evening mail had passed. The lambs were as innocent of approaching danger as their owner, and walked on the crossing. Just at this moment the evening train came thundering along, ran into the middle of the flock, and killed fifty-two lambs. Mr. Thompson's loss is $220.

Fighting for Places at Table.

The drollest scenes, I hear, are daily enacted at the American legation, where, in consequence of the vast throng of Yankees who have come over this summer and who dare not go to Italy for fear of the cholera, there is constant trouble as a result of the inability of Mr. Phelps to seat the entire crowd of some thousands at his table. Every Yankee in England wants to go into society, and because Mr. Phelps cannot accommodate all their wrath is immense.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1886.

A REBEL PRIVY COUNCILLOR.

In reference to the news that Sir Charles Dilke's name had been removed from the Privy Council roll, we expressed the opinion that the name of Sir Wilfred Laurier should also be struck from the list of the Privy Council of Canada. The Ottawa Free Press hastens to the defence of its friend, the avowed rebel, perjurer and poltroon, and objects to our comparison between the two men. Sir C. Dilke was fittingly treated and was no longer allowed to disgrace the Imperial Privy Council. But in the case of Mr. Laurier there would be still greater fitness in such action, since his offence was directly connected with his position. As a Privy Councillor Mr. Laurier was especially sworn to maintain his allegiance to our Sovereign and to oppose rebellion. It is an absurdity that Mr. Laurier should remain on the list of Privy Councillors when he proves himself a traitor by avowing himself a rebel at heart, only abstaining from being a rebel in fact because he was not in a position where he could be one with comparative safety in the midst of other rebels.

There can be no fitness in retaining as a member of the Privy Council of Her Majesty for Canada one who supports rebellion against our Sovereign and the Dominion.

COST OF COLLEGE CONFEDERATION.

The Board of Regents of Victoria College estimate the cost of placing their college on an efficient footing where it is at Cobourg, of moving to Toronto or Hamilton as an independent institution, and of going into confederation, as follows:—

Comparative Results.

Independence in Cobourg	$300,000
" Toronto	700,000
" Hamilton	600,000
Confederation	450,000

If the adoption of Mr. Mowat's confederation scheme is to cost the members of the Methodist Church over a $100,000 more than they need raise to place their university in an equally strong position where it now is, what will be the entire cost of this great scheme to the people of this Province, both as tax payers and as members of the several churches which have colleges to be confederated?

The vile slander on the ladies in the Civil Service at Ottawa is revived by the Free Press of that city. It is falsely asserted by the Free Press that it is a Conservative charge, but it was made by a Rielite ally of the Reformers and was circulated and adopted by the Rielite-Reform journals, who care nothing for attacking the honor of innocent women, if thereby they can strike a blow at statesmen who have committed the offence of winning the confidence of the people of Canada.

Blake's Complicity.

Mr. Blake it is true, declined, in his London speech, to make a political platform out of the Regina saffold, but he either was not honest in his declaration then, or he did not know to what depths political necessities might drive him in the near future. But if Mr. Blake was honest in his declaration then, it is his duty since the Chambly election to either sever his connection with the Liberal party or publicly repudiate the Rielites. He must do one or the other, or stand convicted of an attempt to deceive the people, because the late election in Chambly would seem to set at rest all doubts as to whether the Liberal party are in sympathy with the Rielites or not, if the enthusiastic way in which they received the news of the defeat of the Government candidate is at all suggestive of their leaning. 'Down with the hangmen,' and 'Let us avenge the national hono,' were the cries of the Rielites, led by Mr. Laurier, and when victory crowned their efforts, Mr. Blake's lieutenant, J. D. Edgar, telegraphed on behalf of the Liberals of Toronto, of whom Mr. Blake is one, 'The Liberals of Toronto congratulate you on your splendid victory. Welcome to our colleague.' Could more convincing evidence be wanted to show the complicity of the Liberal party in this unpatriotic and disreputable Rielite movement—this holding up to the gaze of the public as a martyr the man for whose blood they cried?"—Prince Albert Times.

THE PROVINCIAL SYNOD.

Meeting in Montreal—Election of Prolocutor and Other Officers.

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—The triennial session of the Provincial Synod of the Anglican Church was opened here this morning with services in Christ Church Cathedral. The lay and clerical delegates met in the Synod Hall and proceeded in processional order to the church.

The Bishop of Algoma preached the sermon, and other prelates took part in the service. The Most Reverend the Metropolitan delivered his charge.

The election of prolocutor was then proceeded with, Rev. John Langtry, of Toronto; Rev. Canon Bagstock, of St. John, N. B.; Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, speaker of the House of Commons, being nominated. A vote was taken between Hon. Mr. Kirkpatrick and Rev. Mr. Langtry. Mr. Langtry received 100 votes and Mr. Kirkpatrick, 40. Rev. Mr. Langtry was then conducted to the House of Bishops and introduced to their Lordships. Returning to the lower house and taking the chair, he briefly thanked the Synod for having elected him, and named Dean Carmichael as his deputy. Canon Norman was elected clerical secretary and Dr. L. H. Davidson lay secretary of the Synod. Some discussion took place on the fact that neither gentlemen were delegates to the Synod, but they were both finally elected. Mr. James Hutton was elected treasurer, and Messrs. P. Butler and C. Garth auditors. The Prolocutor selected Mr. S. Bethune, Q. C., and Hon. Mr. Kirkpatrick as assessors.

WARSAW.

CHURCH RECOGNITION.—For the past two months the Rev. Mr. Orton, of the Baptist Church, has been at work in Dummer gathering up the members of the old Baptist Church which existed in South Dummer some years ago. He has succeeded in reclaiming the old members and is making a good many new converts to the faith. On Tuesday the 7th a meeting was held here to recognise the new birth of the church. A dinner was served by the ladies in the grove. The day was fine and there was a large turnout. The clergy present were: the Rev. E. St. Dalmas, and the Rev. Mr. Priest, of Smith and Lakefield; the Rev. Mr. Peer, Campbellford; the Rev. Mr. Kelly, of Kinmount; the Rev. E. Duff, of Peterborough; and the Rev. Mr. Orton, the Rev. Mr. Watt, Presbyterian Minister, of Warsaw; the Rev. Mr. Tozeland, Methodist Minister, of Warsaw, and the Rev. R. McKnight. After dinner addresses were delivered. The proceedings were enlivened by choice music by the choir. The ceremonies concluded by the reception of the new members of the church, about thirty in all. The proceeds at the dinner were about $40.

SCOTLAND.

The grouse-disease, which proved so destructive during a number of years, seems to have been exterminated.

A disease has broken out among the Shetland ponies in the island of Fetlar, and is causing considerable mortality and much anxiety.

Poisonous fluids which escaped from the chemical works at Crieff during the recent fire have had a destructive effect upon the fish in the Earn.

The Rev. Mr. Leys, who was lately committed to prison in Edinburgh for refusing to deliver up his grandchildren to his son to be trained in a Jesuit Institution, was on Aug. 18th liberated, his son having filed a petition relinquishing his claim to enforce the custody of the children by the imprisonment of his father.

The engineering trade of Scotland was seldom in a more depressed condition. The plant at Townsend Foundry Kirkcaldy, closed for some time, is now to be sold.

As showing the depressed state of trade in Port-Glasgow, the revenue at the harbor last July was £272 of a decrease compared with the same month last year.

A mournful affair has happened near New Bridge. On Aug. 12th a shepherd named Robert Oliver, whose wife committed suicide a few months since, was found to have hanged himself.

A rich prize was captured by a number of boats from the Isle of Westray, Orkney. The boats were in pursuit of a large school of whales which were disporting in the firth, and succeeded in killing about 130 of them.

The Comte and Comtesse de Paris and the Duc and Duchesse de Chartres have arrived at Glenspeau Lodge, Invernessshire, which they have rented, with the adjacent shootings, for two months from the Mackintosh.

A large flax-spinning mill belonging to Fergus and Co., at Prinlaws, Leslie, was on Aug. 14th totally destroyed by fire, together with the machinery and stock in the building. The damage will amount to £6000 or £8000, and about a hundred men will be idle.

ENGLAND.

It is stated that Her Majesty has sanctioned an extention of the Order of the Indian Empire so as to include the rank of knighthood.

The death is announced, at Braintree, Essex, of Canon Tarver, of Chester Cathedral. The deceased was tutor of the Prince of Wales.

The Earl of Rosebery contemplates making a journey through India during the coming cold season. He will probably start about November.

A farm laborer named Piggett, recently employed near Sevenoaks, in Kent, has just come into a snug little fortune of £70,000, by the death of a relative.

At a meeting of the Cleveland Ironmasters' Association, Middlesbrough, it was unanimously agreed to ristrict the make of pig iron by twenty per cent.

Carisbrooke Castle was lately the scene of the celebration of the jubilee of the introduction of total abstinence into the Isle of Wight. Over 7000 people were present.

The barque Alta from Cronstadt, which arrived at Berwick lately, reported having run down the German schooner Clito, off St. Abb's Head, on Sunday night. One seaman was drowned.

News has reached England of the loss of the barque Crownthorne whilst on a voyage from London to Brisbane. Three of the crew were washed overboard and drowned. The survivors were rescued by the Dunolly, of Glasgow.

A most destructive fire took place recently at Englefield, Mr. Benyon's place in Berkshire, which is one of the finest seats in that county. The flames raged for 12 hours, and the old wing, containing the famous Long Gallery and King Charles's room, was entirely destroyed.

Canadian Live Stock Not to be Scheduled in England.

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—The Department of Agriculture has received a cable message from London stating that Lord John Manners, in reply to Mr. Anderson, M. P., in the House of Commons, stated that the Government did not contemplate any prohibition of landing animals from Canada. In other words, there is no intention to place Canada on the Scheduled list. This reference has undoubtedly arisen from the fact of the importation of pleuro-pneumonia from Scotland at the Levis quarantine, and the statement of Lord John Manners implies that the protective measures taken have been so effective as to give assurance that the disease will be confined to the quarantine.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

MISSION OF THE SPIRIT.

DR. JOHN HALL'S NOTES ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Lesson XI of the International Series for Sunday, Sept. 12—Golden Text: "He Will Guide You Into All Truth"—John XVI. 5-20.

We have the New Testament and the history of the Christian Church, but we must remember the disciples had not. They had given up all for Christ. To find him gone, themselves alone and hated because of him (vs. 1, 2) might well make them doubt all he had taught them, or stumble. Hence our lesson was taught them (v. 1, Revision), "that ye should not be made to stumble." If on the other hand they could only remember and understand his words they would be all the stronger. "This is just what he told us; he is the faithful witness," they would say. So he says (v. 4), these things have I," etc. But how could they be made to remember and understand! The answer to that question we are now to get, and it is to be studied in the light of these facts. Let us put ourselves in the place of this little company and try to imagine their feelings, and we shall the better see the meaning.

I. Their situation (vs. 5-7). Jesus was going his way to him that sent him. He came from God and went to God. He was to go back when his work on earth was done, and it was soon to be "finished." "None of you," says he, "asks me, Whither goest thou?" This seems to contradict John xiii, 36, but only "seems." Reverting to the explanation given of that passage, it is seen that Peter was speaking of some place on earth, in Judea, to which he thought Jesus going. But Jesus is speaking here of going from earth and to be glorified in heaven, and none of them took in the idea clearly enough to ask about his destination and work when he left the earth. His meaning is, "You do not take in the great crisis, and what I am to effect after going away." They were not unnaturally dwelling with sorrow on their loss, and not thinking of the great gain that would come from His glorification in other forms. They were in this just what we are. God takes away known blessings, and we are filled with sorrow and brood on our loss, when we should think of what we shall gain in other ways through the loss, in graces, in experience and in fresh forms of help from God's hand.

He is telling them the truth: It was "expedient," fit, proper, a part of the divine plan, a necessary part, that He should go away. Why "expedient?" (1) He was to sit at God's right hand (Ps. cx, 1). (2) His ascension was to be the proof of God's being satisfied with His work (Acts ii, 30, 31). (3) The divine order was, first let law be satisfied, then this great gift of the Spirit may be given to "even the rebellious" (Ps. lxviii, 18). (4) It is needful that the church, the believers, should walk by faith, and not by sight. No. 3 is the great reason Christ here dwells upon. "If I depart, I will send Him unto you." How much they needed to have all this made plain the latter history shows. They counted all at an end when they saw Him buried. You do not find one of them saying, "Now, brethren, let us look for the Comforter," till Jesus came and told them what to do. (See Luke xxiv, 49, and Acts i, 4, 5.

II. What the Comforter was to do (v. 8-15). The word in Greek is that which we make Paraclete. It may mean also advocate. It represents one who explains, vindicates and so gives relief. Hence the word "reprove," or as it is better in the revision, "convict." The world, i. e., the men and women now in "the world," that is, not in Christ, not believing, have to be convicted of sin. So it is with all men naturally. "I am not a sinner; I am as good as others; there is an excuse for any little wrong thing I did; I can make all right and turn round when I please." So they reason. They only say, "God be merciful to me a sinner," when the spirit has shown them God's law, character, claims and their own badness. Especially (v. 9) have such to be shown their guilt in not believing in Jesus. This is to all who hear the gospel the sin of sins. This was the crowning sin of the Jews. Christ was rejected. But when sensible of sin the question is, What can we do? How can we get righteousness? And the first idea is, work it out. Stop sinning. Watch yourself. Do good. And, so influenced, men often go on and say, work righteousness by punishing yourself. First, go without sleep, clothes, homes, live in caves and dens, go into monasteries, and so lay up righteousness. But the Spirit shows that that is not the kind of righteousness needed. It is not perfect; it is not righteousness at all, and even if it were, it is needed for the present, and does not cancel the past. The Spirit shows that the righteousness—which is perfect—is Christ's, done and finished on the earth. That is the meaning of v. 10, which explains what is said in v. 8.

But one may say, How can this righteousness, of another, do us any good? That is where "judgment" comes in. He is not speaking of the great and general judgment. See the Revision on v. 11. It is a thing then past, i. e., when the Comforter is doing his work, "the prince of this world hath been judged." Put it thus: Satan could say of men, "They belong to me, they sinned, they are my servants, not God's. They have no claim to heaven. They are to be with me." His case was good so far. They were debtors, criminals, and justice demanded punishment. But Jesus came, paid the debt, bore the guilt and destroyed this plea, secured "judgment" against Satan. So God is "just, and yet the justifier of him that believeth." This is the substance of the gospel system, and men need the Holy Ghost to convict them of all this. Hence the need of prayer for the Holy Spirit. It is a remarkable thing that the bitterest foes of Christianity own the personal goodness, righteousness of Jesus.

When (v. 12), he says, "I have many..... but ye cannot bear them now," he is not speaking of more trouble on them, but of their inability to understand him then. The history of the disciples after his death, and before the Spirit came shows the truth of that. But

(V. 13) they would be guided into all truth; the Spirit would not speak of himself. He is a person, a divine person; but as in the plan of salvation Jesus forgets self for us, so the Holy Spirit leaves much about himself and about his ways of working (John iii, 8) in mystery, that he may reveal the things of Christ and show things to come, their duty, their position, their privileges and their prospects.

So (v. 14) He glorifies Christ, makes men understand His real dignity and honor and mighty saving work. Then they see that He is not only a matchless teacher and a holy man, not only rounding mind and giving men a new ideal, but saving them by satisfying law, making atonement, taking the plea out of Satan's mouth, and enabling saints to say, "Who is He that condemneth?" (Rom. viii, 34).

And this is not honoring the Son too much, and forgetting God the Father as it were, for (v. 15) "all things that the Father hath," etc. Could any mere creature say this truly?

III. Their perplexity. Jesus said, "Ye cannot bear," etc., v. 12. They prove that without meaning it. Now they take in what Peter did not in xiii, 36, that he is not speaking of going somewhere else on earth, but of going to the Father in a "little while." He tells them as much as they can bear. It will be sorrow in the first instance, and "the world will rejoice;" men will think, "now we have got rid of this troubler," but joy afterwards; darkness first, but light afterwards. We shall see the meaning of this as we proceed with the history of the crucifixion, the resurrection and ascension, and the scenes of Pentecost.

From this lesson we may see:

(1.) How slow man is to learn spiritual things, and hence we need "line upon line," books, lessons, teachers, classes, sermons, afflictions and with and after all the Holy Spirit. How sin has blinded the mind and deadened the heart! (Eph. ii, 1.)

(2.) How complete is the provision God has made for man! The Son stands for us; dies for us. But man does not understand, and so the Spirit—the Comforter—is given.

(3) We see why "we preach Christ." God the Father speaks in his works and in men's conscience and Christ is his image. The best way to make men know the Father is to preach Christ. Nor do we preach the Holy Ghost. The best way to lead men to seek him is to lift up Christ. He sends this gift and the Spirit in turn bears witness to him.

(4) So the way of life gives honor to the three persons in the one God. God gives the Son; the Son humbles himself and dies in our nature; the Holy Ghost, given from the Father and the Son, reveals him and his fullness to men. So all believers will give glory to the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost.—The Sunday School World.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

A brick of gold weighing 319 ounces and valued at over six thousand dollars was brought to Halifax, N. S., from the Oxford mines at East Halifax. It represents thirty days' work of three men.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of Infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Cheques for the balance of the claims for losses during the Northwest rebellion allowed by the first commission that went up to the Northwest last year will be issued immediately by the Auditor-General.

WONDERFUL is the effect of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment in rheumatism, sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. It stands without a rival. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. TULLY, druggist.

The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has received a cable message from London stating that the Imperial Government had no intention of placing Canada on the scheduled list with regard to the importation of live stock.

WEST'S PAIN KING acts promptly, cures quickly. Never fails to cure bowel complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera. Costs but 25 cents and is always ready. Enquire regarding its merits of J. D. TULLY, druggist.

Among the passengers by the Allan line steamship Corean, from Glasgow, which arrived at Quebec on Tuesday, were twenty-four Icelanders. They are bound for the Manitoba settlement, and went west by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

Rev. W. S. Rainsford, of New York, passed through Chicago a day or two ago with his companions, on their way home from a hunting tour of five weeks in the Rocky Mountains. Near Shoshone the clergyman shot eight bears.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St, Marys, Ont.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton, Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent proud flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

Over Cox & Co's Wires.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Feeling steady; crowd generally buying. To-day's noon cash quotations are as follows:—Wheat, 76¾; corn, 39½; oats, 25; pork, 10.37; lard, 7.32.

The visible supply of grain in America, according to the Chicago estimate, is as follows:—

	This week.	Last week.
Wheat	42,965,655	41,297,906
Corn	13,192,387	11,769,680
Oats	4,949,380	4,245,353

Cheese.

Montreal Gazette.

The boom and excitement in cheese makes excellent progress. The sharp advance of 1c@ 1¼c in Utica and Little Falls yesterday, which places these markets 2c higher than on the same day last year, was not expected, at least to such an extent, and it has been followed by reports from New York that the combinations sold at 11c, with that market strong and higher at 10¼c. Sensational reports have been received here regarding the production east of Toronto, which, it is alleged, is showing a very heavy shrinkage, but such reports are without any reliable confirmation.

RICHMOND Star and Easy Lawn Mowers, at cost for balance of 1886. GEO. STETHEM.

Declared Off.

The matched running race between Maggie Roach and Scott Act, which was to have been run in the Driving Park on the 17th of September for $100 a side, has been declared off by mutual consent. Maggie Roach has been laid up with a lameness in one of her legs for the past week, and was consequently in an unfit condition to be put into a rider's hands. The owner of Scott Act was willing to withdraw his stake. Mr. Wm. Clancy, of the City Hotel, gave the backers their money on Saturday.

Cattle at Large.

People owning open lawns in the west part of the town have been much pestered with the depredations committed by cattle running at large at night. If some remedy is not forthcoming the owners of these lawns intend to fence them in. It is a pity that the cow by-law is not rigidly enforced. If it were, there are many owning handsome grounds now shut in by fences who would throw their little parks open for the enjoyment of the public. As it is they are chary of doing so. Those who have charge of the enforcement of the by-law should attend to their duties.

Good Printing.

The Hastings Star says:—"Peterborough's lightning bill poster and REVIEW advertising agent, Mr. E. C. Hill, was here on Thursday last painting the town red with mammoth illuminated posters announcing the Grand Central Exhibition in that town on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th of October. The bills were printed at the REVIEW office, and would be a credit to any large city office, both in shading and typography. The price lists are from the Examiner office, and for neatness of design are superior to the Toronto or Provincial prize lists."

Trip on the Golden-Eye.

The first annual excursion under the auspices of the Riverside Lacrosse Club was held on Thursday, the members of the club, their friends and admirers taking a trip down the river to Idyl-Wild on the Golden-Eye. The boat left the Wolfe street wharf at about half past eight o'clock, after being stuck there for over half an hour. There were about 300 people on board, including a string band. The boat met with another detention just below the locks, when it got stuck again. From here all was plain sailing till Idyl-Wild was reached about noon. The usual picnic pastimes were indulged in till near four o'clock, when the party embarked on the return trip. There was one or two "sticking" delays which the pleasure seekers didn't mind in the least. The boat landed its cargo at the wharf at an early hour, all appearing well satisfied with the trip.

TARRED and Plain Building Paper, only 2c. lb. GEORGE STETHEM.

IN "YANKEE BONNET."

Mr. Ed. McFadden Narrowly Escapes Being Crushed by a Paddle Wheel.

When the Golden Eye was steaming up the river on Thursday night with its load of excursionists it grounded at "Yankee Bonnet," about two miles below the locks.

After several futile efforts to pull her off the captain ordered one of the boat hands to snib a rope to an adjacent pier, in order to assist in getting the boat away. The fireman, called for some one to accompany him. Mr. Ed. McFadden, one of the tailors at Habiliment Hall responded and got into the canoe. But no sooner had the canoe been freed from the Golden Eye than the current, which is very swift at this point, turned the bow around and crowded it against the steamer. Just then the paddle wheel commenced to revolve. The fireman seeing his imminent danger, jumped from the canoe and seized the railing of the steamer and pulled himself on board. When he sprang from the canoe it went over, depositing Mr. McFadden in the river just a few feet from the suction of the paddle wheel. He managed to grasp some of the paddle wheel box protuberances and held on till Mr. Harry Neil lowered a rope to him and drew him on board. The empty canoe was sucked in and smashed considerably.

OLD TIME BUILDING.

How the Cells in the Old Gaol Were Constructed.

Contractors, builders, or anyone interested in building, will see something to interest them if they take a walk up to the Court House. Mr. A. Rutherford is engaged in converting the old gaol into a dwelling house. The side facing the south is where the old cells stand.

The solidity of the walls is marvellous. Several loop holes have been made for the insertion of windows, and these penetrations were not made without some difficulty. The sappers first encountered two feet three inches of solid stone masonry, then they came across heavy sheet iron, lapped over each other six inches. This iron barricade was placed in an aperture between the stone wall and nine inches of brick wall, which had also to be burrowed.

The cells were arched over and fully seven feet of masonary, consisting of concrete, boulders and morter, lay on the arches. Out of these cells there would seem to be no possible escape for the prisoner.

The building was built by the late Edmund Chamberlen, and its style is but in accordance with that builder's ideas of solidity.

Liberal Offers.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, who is Bursar of Victoria University, spoke at the Methodist General Conference in favour of confederation. He offered to give $30,000 towards moving the university to Toronto, if the $450,000 required were fully subscribed. Afterwards, on Mr. Sandford offering $50,000 for a removal to Hamilton, Mr. Cox proposed to make his subscription applicable for Hamilton, if carried, on condition that Mr. Sandford reciprocated.

Personal.

Mr. Arthur Stevenson, law student at Mr. D. W. Dumble's office, has gone to Toronto, where he will enter the office of Messrs. Blake, Creelman, Boyd & Cassels.

The Rev. J. W. R. Beck, Rector of Peterborough, is in Montreal attending the Provincial Synod, having been elected a delegate by the Diocese of Toronto.

Mr. M. Tierney, of the firm of Morrow, Tierney & Co., is at present in Rochester spending a couple of weeks holidays.

They Are Not "Monstrous."

The compositer has been guilty of trying to make those who hav built lodges at Stoney Lake believe that the buildings erected are ill-shapen and horridly grotesque. What was questioned in the report of Stoney Lake doings was the effect which a sameness in the style of architecture of these houses had on the picturesqueness of the lake. Then the compositer inserts "monstrous" where "monotonous" should be.

Scott Act.

Judgment was delivered in the Queen vs. German case at the Police Court this morning. Mr. Moore, for the defendant, still contended that the amendment to include Inspector Cochrane's evidence was improperly made. He cited parts of the 116th section of the Act in support of his opinion, and also made several quotations. He held that the evidence submitted should belong to a new case. He claimed that a new summons should have been issued and a new case opened if this evidence be used. The Magistrate held that the prosecution waived its right to make such a claim when the cross-examination was entered upon. Mr. Moore, in a long argument, bringing in many parallel cases, contended that he did not waive his right. The Magistrate remarked that it would be simply a matter of costs. Mr. Cochrane's evidence would ensure a conviction either in this case or a subsequent one. Mr. Moore asked for the dismissal of the case. The case was dismissed, and the County Crown Attorney ordered another summons to be issued.

HEAVY FREIGHT TRAFFIC.

The Grand Trunk Midland Line Capturing Through Trade.

When the Midland Railway was extended to Midland one of the ideas of the promoters of the scheme was, that the line would be used to carry through freight from the west across from the Georgian Bay to Port Hope instead of its being taken around by Lake Erie. To this end an elevator was erected at Midland, and year by year the patronage of this route has grown in favor.

But in no former season has the Midland line approached the amount of business it has done this present one. Shortly after the transfer of the management of the Midland line to the Grand Trunk Company the company became the proprietors of the elevator at Midland, until then owned by a private company, whose members, however, were interested in the Midland line. The elevator and line now being under one management, together with their being two feeders to the main line instead of one, the trade has developed wonderfully. The volume of through freight consists chiefly of western corn, en route for the Eastern States and the old country. It is gratifying to see this route chosen in preference to American lines.

Of late the traffic has been very heavy, so much so that the two branch lines diverging at Omemee, have been employed to carry it on to the main line at Port Hope and Belleville.

Besides this there has been a considerable traffic in lumber from the Georgian Bay district, Parry Harbor, Waubashene and Midland being the chief shipping points.

HOSE, Couplings, Nozzles, Sprinklers, &c. at reduced prices for rest of 1886. GEORGE STETHEM.

The Temperature.

The following are the readings of the thermometer to-day at the hours mentioned:—8 o'clock, 65; 1 o'clock, 77; 3 o'clock, 72.

It Might be Remarked —That the Licet larceny case has been adjourned till three o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

—That it's doubtful, after all, that Licet did steal the watch.

—That the Etnas, of Edinburgh street, will play lacrosse with the Young Riversides in the park to-morrow.

—That Ed. McFadden will likely believe that its a good thing to "give a man rope."

—That the firemen had heard of the precept—"Self preservation is the first law, etc."

—That Mr. Moore argued the Magistrate into another Scott Act case at the court this morning.

THE EXHIBITION--A GRIEVANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Will you kindly allow me a small space in your paper to call the attention of the public and more so themanagers of the Peterborough Central Exhibition to a few plain facts. In looking over the prize list I see the handsome sum of $2,500 to be distributed in prizes varying in amounts, embracing all agricultural commodities and products of the farm, to compete for a prize. The only useful things that are left out (and no prizes given) are agricultural implements, machinery, carriages, buggies, wagons, sleighs, cutters, &c., whereas thoroughbred horses, cattle, pigs, &c., are subject to good prizes—animals that any well-to-do farmer can easily procure and take to the exhibition; but agricultural implements, and other articles named in class 38 in catalogue, being master pieces of workmanship, which the mechanic works at daily, weekly and yearly, doing his very best, and trying to work out in his brain some new improvement are left out in the cold, and not a solitary prize offered, which, to say the least, is very poor encouragement. The farmers' work now-a-days is nothing to what it was in years gone by when they had only the scythe, sickle and rake, now when their work is so soon accomplished, surely we ought to be taken notice of among the prizes. Certainly we are allowed to enter specimens of our work free of charge, which is very kind of the Agricultural Society, the said exhibitors have always to go to a very large expense getting lumber and building sheds to show off their goods. It is not the amount of the prize given, but as a rule when a prize is given for a certain article, that article in the eyes of the farmer, most decidedly has an advantage for good, and something to be proud of and give encouragement to the working mechanics and manufacturers, and would also lead to future improvements. I hope the members will peruse this letter and call a meeting among themselves and see if anything can be done before the days of the show. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space,

Yours,
A CARRIAGE TRIMMER.

OVER WORKED Women

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

DRESS LININGS.

We have much pleasure in announcing to Dress Makers and all Ladies specially interested, that we have imported direct from the manufacturers a full supply of which is now endorsed and used almost exclusively by the leading Dress Makers in Toronto and other principal Cities.

THE CELEBRATED GILBERT LINING

This lining is a pure Cotton, containing no dressing and sizing whatever, and consequently remains always the same. We are in a position to make favorable prices for this new fabric so much so that we expect to have an active demand for it at once.

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY.

TAKE NOTICE that every thread composing this fabric both in warp and weft, is Double Carded and Double Roved, a process never before adopted in any class of Dress Linings or bliesias, and which gives the same improvement in this cloth over all others that a six cord spool cotton has over the ordinary three cord, an improvement so patent that every consumer can at once detect it.

Every piece of these Goods is guaranteed perfect.

GILBERT MANUFACTURING CO.

Dress Makers are respectfully invited to call and inspect these Goods and satisfy themselves more fully as to their merits.

THE FISHERY DISPUTE.

Correspondence of the Customs Department With the U. S. Consul.

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—The customs authorities have had considerable correspondence with United States Consul-General Phelan, of Halifax, over the recent seizures made of American schooners by Canadian cruisers Consul-General Phelan wants the customs authorities to return the $400 fine deposited by the captains of the Gloucester schooners Howard Holbrook and A. R. Crittenden for alleged violation of the customs act at Port Hawkesbury. Both these vessels were seized for the crime of allowing a man to go on the shore to see his family and landing his baggage without first reporting at the customs. The consul general emphatically denies that the men from either schooner landed any baggage whatever. He contends that there is nothing in the Canadian customs laws to prevent a man from going on shore from an American fishing vessel, and that in neither law nor equity can the customs authorities construe this act into a crime for which the owner of the vessel should pay. He says the only ground upon which the vessel could be punished would be for a violation of the treaty in putting into port for some other purpose than that named in the treaty; that the vessels were not seized for any violation of the treaty, neither does the treaty provide for a fine of $100 for an infraction of its provisions, confiscation being the only penalty enacted for even the most trivial violation of the antiquated instrument. If the claim that no baggage was landed when the men went on shore can be proven, the fine will be returned by the department.

Under the Canadian Ensign.

All of the steamships of the Allan Line have been lately registered at this port, and the crews during the stay of the vessels in port have been changing the name of the registry port on the sterns of the life boats and the steamships themselves. Some of the older steamships of the line have always carried on their sterns the words: "Of Montreal," but the newer vessels, including the "Parisian" and "Sardinian," have been designated: "Of Liverpool," or "Of Glasgow." In future, all of the vessels of the line will be: "Of Montreal," and this change will add some 50,000 tons to the ocean tonnage registered in the port of Montreal. The object of the change is to obviate the necessity of paying the higher taxes exacted on shipping registered in Great Britain. In virtue of this change, the Allan liners now carry the Canadian ensign at the peak instead of of the British one, as heretofore.

A Murderer's Escape.

LUNENBURG, N.S., Sept. 10.—Some time ago an old tramp named O'Connell was thrown into a mill pond at Bridgewater by a gang of inhuman monsters and allowed to drown, the brutal ruffians enjoying the sport without making the slightest attempt to save him. One of the gang named Joseph Feener was committed to the Supreme Court for murder. During last night he made good his escape from gaol and is still at large. The Lunenburg Gaol is notorious for the facility with which murderers and other criminals escape.

No Mackerel For the Poachers.

CANSO, N. S. Sept. 10.—Reports from North Bay say that there is nothing but tinker mackerel outside the three mile limit, and Yankee vessels are sorrowfully turning their prows towards home.

IS IT CHOLERA?

Something Very Like Asiatic Cholera Causes the Death of a Young Lady.

TAUNTON, Mass., Sept. 10.—A singular case is puzzling the doctors here. Miss Minnie Clark was taken suddenly ill on Tuesday night and died last night. The symptoms were somewhat puzzling, and after her death Dr. James, of the State Board of Health, was called in. He is in doubt, but says if there was a single case of Asiatic cholera anywhere about he should call this a genuine case. In the meantime he will see that every precautionary measure is taken in case it should be cholera.

LOYAL AND PATRIOTIC UNION.

Addresses by the Delegates from Ulster —Vote of Sympathy.

The Rev. Dr. Kane, and Mr. G. H. Smith, barrister, delegates of the Loyal and Patriotic Union of Ireland, addressed a large audience at the Mutual Street Rink, Toronto, on Thursday evening.

The Rev. Dr. Potts occupied the chair.

The Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, formerly of Peterborough and Col. G. T. Dennison moved and seconded the following resolution, which was carried by acclamation:—

"Having heard the case of the Loyalists of Ireland stated by the gentlemen who have been sent as a deputation from the Ulster Loyalist Anti-Repeal Union, we hereby record our hearty approval of their cause, and assure them of our cordial sympathy; and in common, as we believe, with Loyalists throughout the British dominions, we tender them the assurance of our support in resisting the dismemberment of the United Kingdom."

JUVENILE INCENDIARIES.

Attempts by Boys to Burn the East St. Louis Stock Yards.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 9.—During the past two months repeated attempts have been made to burn down the National Stock yards in East St. Louis, and two of the fires started by the incendiaries caused considerable damage to the pens and sheds, but were extinguished before the flames had communicated to any of the large packing houses. The perpetrators of these outrages remained unknown until last Tuesday night, when John Colby, night watchman at Whittaker's pork-packing house, discovered several boys attempting to set the house on fire. He caught one of them, who proved to be his own son, John, 14 years of age. Yesterday the father took his boy to President Knox and made him confess. The boy acknowledged that he and two other boys had kindled the fires of June 7th and August 2nd and 6th, which resulted in a loss of $60,000. The boys say they attempted to burn down the yards because they were refused work.

IN THE SILENCE OF THE NIGHT.

A Canadian Tug Libelled at Buffalo Gives Her Detainers the Slip.

About four years ago the Canadian steam tug Harvey Neelon, which had in tow the schooner Gleniffer, ran her on to the horseshoe reef, in broad daylight. Gross carelessness was alleged against the crew of the tug in the matter. The schooner was insured in the Ætna Company, Hartford, and the damages, which amounted to about $1,000, were paid by the company. The case was then placed in the hands of Mr. Josiah Cook, counsel for the company, to take proceeding against the tug, with a view of recovering the money. The Neelon kept away from this port for a long time, but on Tuesday she came in. Mr. Cook was ready with libel, and the tug was duly seized by Deputy U. S. Marshall Donohue, who placed a ship-keeper on board. Some time during last night, or early this morning, the crew put the ship-keeper ashore, and started out of the harbor at full speed. The tug was probably safe in Canadian waters before daylight.—Buffalo Commercial.

CHARLESTON'S CONDITION.

No Lack of Food—Most of the Dwellings Uninjured.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Col. Batchelder, who went to Charleston to make an official report upon the condition of affairs there, says the people of Charleston are in mental distress, but otherwise not. There is plenty to eat and drink, and the people have everything in their houses they need. The loss will fall principally upon the owners of real estate, and not upon the people at large. He says:—"I did not see any pitiable cases of distress that the papers tell about. The business section of the city is in ruins, but the majority of the people of Charleston live up in the northern part of the city, and nearly every residence is wooden. These buildings remain intact. There is no reason why the people should not return to them, except that they are afraid, but no danger is to be apprehended in them. No one was killed in a house during the earthquake, but all those who died were killed in the streets. It would be a good thing for Charleston to have a storm, and make people go into their houses."

FOR THE NORTH POLE.

Col. Gilder Makes a Start From Winnipeg on His Expedition.

WINNIPEG, September 9.— Col. Gilder and his companion Griffith started for Selkirk on the evening train, where they will catch the steamer Princess and proceed to Norway house. From that point they will ascend the Nelson river and proceed to York factory. The outfit which the colonel takes with him weighs a ton and a half, and consists of hard-tack, pemmican and other food, guns, rifles, revolvers and ammunition, scientific instruments, a hand organ, baubles for the natives, etc. He also takes two sledges. They are after the Siberian model, and are 16 feet long and about 4 feet wide. There is no iron about them, being all made of wood and bound with withes. After leaving the Pork factory the colonel will take as little as possible with him owing to the difficulty of carrying it along. A couple of tents were also taken, together with a cooking outfit. He relies mainly for sustenance upon game secured along the route. The Esquimaux live on that, and he is of opinion he can do the same.

NOT TO BE CHECKED.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—The Novoe Vremya says: Of all the Berlin treaty England alone appears inclined to oppose Russia's Bulgarian policy. Russia must know whether England's intention is serious, in order to prepare herself to take measures accordingly as, Russia will not be brought to a stand still by England's vote.

A BOYCOTTED STEAMER.

DUBLIN, Sept. 10.—When Mr. Taylor, agent for the Marquis of Ely, boarded the Waterford Company's steamer at Waterford to-day to return to Dungannon, there was a repetition of the scene enacted at Dungannon on Tuesday. All the passengers immediately left the steamer, taking with them their cattle, goods, etc.

THE PRINCE'S POPULARITY.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Prince Alexander's triumphal progress is almost without parallel. At every village in Bulgaria through which he passed, peasants were awaiting his coming and he was every where greeted with enthusiasm. Similar scenes occurred on the Roumanian shore and in Austria. After the Prince had departed from Pesth a hostile demonstration was made before the Russian consulate, and the police had to be summoned to disperse the crowd. At Fresburg and other large places large crowds were assembled to do honor to the Prince. The Berlin correspondent of the Times says:—"The opinion gains ground that the Czar's action is due more to a personal than a political motive. That he only wanted to avenge himself on Prince Alexander."

A RUMOR.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—It is rumored that the Porte refuses to receive Sir William White as the locum tenens of Sir Edward Thornton the British ambassador to Turkey. This action is attributed to Russian influence, Sir William White being decidedly anti-Russian.

ALEXANDER'S POSITION.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Alexander, in an interview yesterday, said he would have to remain quiet for three months; that he would simply keep his lips closed and await the course of events. Germany, Austria and Russia, he said, had forbidden him to execute the plotters against him, thus depriving him of the very essence of power, and abdication was the only honorable mode of escape from such a position.

A BALLOON BURST.

The Lady Occupant Descends in the Basket Like Lightning.

CRAWFORDSNILLE, Ind., Sept. 10.—Miss Bula Bates, of Cincinnati, made an ascension in a gass balloon from the fair grounds to-day and came near losing her life. When five miles north and half a mile above the earth she attempted to descend and the grabbling hook caught, but the anchorage was broke by a strong wind which carried her among some trees, where the baloon was torn. The hook gave away again and she shot up 300 feet, when the balloon suddenly burst and the basket descended like lightning. She had the presence of mind to brace herself firmly against the top of the basket and this saved her life. She was badly jarred, however.

COLLEGE FEDERATION.

As our readers are doubtless aware, the subject of College Federation is a burning question at the meeting of the General Conference of the Methodist Church now sitting in Toronto. On Monday last this subject came up on the presentation of the report of the Board of Requests of Victoria College, and called forth a spirited debate, beginning on Monday evening and continuing throughout Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, when federation was adopted by a majority of 138 to 113. We have not, of course, room to give even an outline or summary of the debate, for that we must refer our readers to the Mail, which in marked contrast with the Globe gives a very full report of the arguments advanced on both sides while the latter practically suppresses Dr. Sutherland's able argument against confederation, while it gives that of Dr. Dewart in reply thereto at considerable length.

In the course of his speech on Monday evening, Dr. Sutherland advanced some arguments against confederation, which are of such general application, and which, in our opinion, are being so much overlooked at the present time in the educational policy of the Province, that we deem it our duty to reproduce them in our columns and to commend them to the thoughtful attention of our readers:—

It was said and repeated on every hand that some wonderful advantages to the higher education of the Province were to come from this scheme. No one had as yet distinctly pointed out what these advantages were to be, but they were there. (Laughter.) They were somewhere. The position reminded him of the Irish member who, struck with a brilliant idea, suddenly burst out, "I smell a rat, I see him floating in the air, but, sir, we will nip him in the bud." (Loud laughter.) Where were these particular advantages? Perhaps some could smell them, perhaps some were floating in the air. (Renewed laughter.) Let them try to get hold of any of them. What were these advantages to be? The advantage to be derived from the co-operation of all the denominational colleges was, to use a Western expression, "busted." (Laughter.) Three denominations had gone out, and the Methodists alone were left to face the results of this federation scheme. Were more advantages to be derived from a federation of the teachers in one college than there had ever been in the past? Did anyone think that superior teachers would be obtained and kept alive in the work by destroying all competition and allowing them full power to do as they pleased without any competition at all? It was not human nature. He was prepared to make this statement and bear it out by the facts of the case, that the Methodists could show just as able teachers in Victoria University to-day

"No doubt it is of great importance that a high standard of University education be maintained. But it should not be assumed that this end will be most effectually attained by placing one college where it will be the sole recipient of public money, and without any competition from similarly supported colleges. Neither does it follow that the existence of denominational colleges with university powers will lower the standard of education; for no college can expect to secure students and complete with other colleges if it does not keep up the standard to what prevails in other colleges. The efficiency of any college depends upon the scholarship and teaching ability of the professors, and not upon the amount of salary they get, or the kind of buildings in which they teach."
(Cheers.) That was the opinion of his esteemed friend the editor of the Guardian, (Loud laughter.) The Conference would see that the advantages of a higher standard were not to come from monopoly.

BUT FROM COMPETING COLLEGES.

and universities, who by the competition would keep up the standard. (Cheers.) Here was another point. Were they to expect any advantages from the wider curriculum, a wider range of studies? There was only a certain range of studies for a student to take. A wider range would be to allow an increased selection for the students. But as regarded the wider curriculum for students in Canada, he could not do better than give another quotation. He would not trouble his friend the editor just then. (Laughter.)

AS IN ANY UNIVERSITY

in this Dominion—(loud cheers)—men he would not hesitate to put side by side with any man in the other universities as teachers. (Renewed cheers.) If then it were not from the co-operation of the denominations, and if it were not from the employment of better teachers, perhaps it was because they were going to have a higher standard, of graduation, he supposed, and perhaps of matriculation, too. It was a good thing to have a higher standard. He did not think the colleges or universities were likely to err very much on that side, and he would rejoice in seeing a higher standard in all the colleges of the Dominion. (Hear, hear.) He wanted to say this further—it was the expansion and work of the denominational colleges that compelled Toronto University to raise its standard. (Cheers.) That was what did it in the past, and the idea that the standard was to be raised by destroying all competition and leaving one college and university the entire possession of the field was a thing no one believed. (Hear, hear.) With regard to this matter of a higher standard, he desired to quote the opinion of others, because they might take his as prejudiced. He found a well known and influential man using language like this:

Rev. Dr. Dewart—Go ahead, brother.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland—The quotation he would give was from an authority in educational matters. He said that in all seriousness—(renewed laughter)—he supposed he had put his foot in it, but if he had said anything offensive he withdrew it:—

"What Ontario really requires is thorough painstaking work upon the subjects of the B. A. course, with an alternative of the science course for those who may prefer it. Even the United States, with its fifty millions of people, gives but a meagre support to the three institutions which make a pretence of going beyond this. Canada may well allow those of her sons who wish profound attainments in special lines to go abroad, where they will enjoy what no money can impart, the advantages of contact with the intellectual life of the Old World. Meantime the foundations may be laid for the honest building up of a similar centre of intellectual life at home if our professors give their spare hours to original work; and when they can produce discoveries like those of an Agassiz, a Dana and a Marsh they will draw around a body of post-graduate workers who will not need to be paid by the State. But for the honest B. A. work, such as our country at present needs, we cannot see that the resources of Toronto University are not amply sufficient, even were the number of her students considerably increased."

That was the opinion about a year and a half ago of his highly esteemed brother, Dr. Burwash, who spoke as an authority on educational matters. Dr. Burwash's opinion about a year and a half ago was

THAT THIS FANCY UNIVERSITY

professoriate, with half a dozen subjects—which they would not find students to attend—was not a preparation for the ordinary business of life in this country. This fancy system had no encouragement from Dr. Burwash at that time. He would not wait to speak of the supposed advantages from the association of students more than this—that when they associate students in in limited numbers and under healthful influences they might make the association helpful, but when they associated them in herds, as was done in Germany, they might find but a succession of mobs, with all of a mob's fickleness and with more than average passion, and more than common liability to fall into grievous temptation. (Hear, hear.) When students got beyond a given number they did not get that attention and control in the classroom that was essential to sound and accurate scholarship. (Hear, hear.) A son of a Toronto Methodist, outing in Muskoka lately, met a gentleman to whom he spoke pleasantly. The gentleman said "I ought to know that face it is familiar, but I cannot recall his name," when the facts came out that young man was a student at a certain university and the gentleman to whom he spoke was the professor, in whose class he had been for three years. (Loud laughter.) That was one of the results of crowding students in masses. A professor did not know a certain member of his class when he met him a few miles from home. (Renewed laughter.) Another reason was the

CENTRALIZATION OF EDUCATIONAL WORK

for the Province of Ontario. Such a system had been tried in France. Under the First Napoleon the various provincial universities were abolished, and the University of Paris was constituted as the sole university for the empire. With remarkable unanimity French educational men to-day declare that the great cause of the abasement of France has been the centralization of university work and university administration, and they demand a return to the old system of independent universities through the provinces. That was the experiances of one great nation in this matter. (Applause.) He would cite another case:—Some years ago the English Parliament appointed a Royal Commission to consider a proposition to reduce the universities of Scotland to the position of colleges confederated in one university of Scotland. That commission, after carefully considering the matter, reported:—"It is impossible for us to report that such a measure would be practicable, and our deliberations have led us to the conclusion that it would not be expedient. After the most careful consideration we were unable to see that any important corresponding advantage is likely to be derived from so serious a step as is implied in reducing the ancient universities of Scotland from the position of universities and converting them into colleges of a new national university." Then this centralized teaching of course causes not only uniform teaching and examination, but what some people called

UNITY OF DEGREES.

Other people had considered that question, and a prominent Frenchman said, "The system of examinations and competitions on the great scale is illustrated in China, where it has produced a general and incurable senility. In France we have already gone in the same direction, and that is not one of the least causes of our abasement." Dr. Lyon Playfair who was well known, said:—"The imposition of uniform examinations, in every case where it has been tried, has not only restricted intellectual liberty, but ultimately has produced a mental paralysis in the nation which has adopted it." The proposed scheme was one that would reduce the higher educational system to a dreary monotonous uniformity, which would leave no room for individuality of thought or of mental structure. Whenever that appeared it had to be cut down to the limits of a single curriculum. The rising young men of this province would have to restrict investigation to the lines laid down in that one curriculum. Political economy would have to be learned from one whose text books would either be those of the Protectionist Carey or of the Free Trader John Staurt Mill, and who knew whether that professor would be the advanced Radical of the future or the fossil Tory of the past. (Laughter.) In any case the luckless student would have no choice. With the single university from this state of things. There was nothing but the principal of shutting the eyes and opening the mouth and taking what the Lord sent, or seeking in other lands that intellectual liberty denied in our own. (Applause.) Another observation he would like to make was that the scheme centralized all higher educational work in Toronto, that was supposing all were coming in.

THERE WAS NO ESCAPE

A VOICE—That is, into the scheme.

REV. DR. SUTHERLAND. This is to the scheme, or to the schemers either. (Loud laughter. Centralized in Toronto, it meant that all their laymen, from all over the province and beyond it, who desired college or university education, must seek it under the heavy expense and amid the overwhelming temptations of a great city like Toronto. That was a thought worth remembering.

* * * * * * *

The religious aspect was one which was somewhat serious, especially in view of the discussion in the Conference in regard to the religious element in the education of the country. This was an element which was practically ignored in the proposed basis. In the course for graduation there were certain subjects which were to be introduced, such as Biblical Greek, etc., but then it stated that provision should be made by a system of options that none of these shall be required of any candidate for a degree in arts. He was prepared to fight to the death any system of higher education which shut out the fundamental teachings of Christian truths, morals and evidence. It was merely saying in a hostile way that Christian evidences, morals and truths were well enough for weak-minded people, but were not necessary for students in arts. The impression would be created that they endorsed a scheme which put the teaching of Christian principles entirely secondary. The student was to study the beauties of heathen literature, but the Man of the New Testament was to find no place in which he could lay his head in this proposed scheme. He was prepared to take this stand before and accept their suffrages that the curriculum must include the study of Christian morals, truths and evidence. (Applause.) There was no sectarianism in the evidence or morals of the Christian religion. They did not want to introduce sectarian teaching into the arts course in the university. What they did want was the hand of Christ to touch their education and put life into it. That was the question which they had to consider at this juncture. It included the all-important guarantee for the general qualification of the teachers. The university professorate proposed to give instructions in Latin, Greek, French and German, moral philosophy and ancient history. The very subjects upon which it was most difficult for a professor to teach the belief of his students! That was the great risk of the federation scheme! With regard to the all-important matter of the religious element in higher education they had reached a point which they must decide, and who could over-estimate the far-reaching influence of the resolution which they would vote upon at the close of the debate?

THE PEOPLE OF THE PROVINCE

Once to every man and nation comes a moment to decide,
In the strife of truth and falsehood for the good or evil side.
Some great cause gives New Messiah offering each to bloom or blight,
Parts the goats upon the left and the sheep upon the right,
And the joy goes up forever 'twixt the darkness and the light.

(Applause.) And on how your vote at this Conference you decide that the religious element is of no importance in the higher education you can never restore it to its position again.

CHAPTER III.

CUTHBERT'S SECRET.

Utter silence falls never on a boys' school. Not even on the dormitories, wherein the snoring of dull stomachs and mutterings of young slumber, and the restless sprawling of limbs that makes the bedsteads creak and the bed clothes slide, are sounds audible throughout the night.

But there should be peace at prayer time.

That hour is arrived, and now we certainly find a tolerable stillness on the benches, young knees and fitful tendency toward laughter notwithstanding.

The resident ushers at the corner of each form, their fingers to their eyes, stand erect. Cuthbert kneels near his father. A breeze from the sea keeps the chestnut leaves at the windows shivering, and through the twinkling of them the faint gold-shine in the west comes and goes, with the large stars in the nearer sky and the growing whiteness of moonlight on the fields.

Then to bed decorously, as becomes the recipients of the benediction.

As the boys file out through one door, Cuthbert walks out behind his father through another door.

Though watched on the whole by his father more closely than he merited, seeing that he had long ago abandoned petticoats, Cuthbert enjoyed every evening an hour and a half of liberty, what time the doctor, having dismissed his scholars to bed, withdrew to his study to relax his mind in all ways that pleased him after the tension of the day.

His little spell of evening holiday was come, and as the tails of his father's coat fluttered through the study door, Cuthbert swung down his hat and left the house.

In the young moonlight, and the glimmering memories of crimson over the dark line of the cliff, the ocean breeze, snatching land fragrance from the nestling crops, was sweet as honey.

Down the broad white road Cuthbert went swiftly, pausing once to pull a watch from his fob.

The road led straight to the town.

Coming presently to the brow of the western slope, the town lay in a fog of moonlight at his feet, the lamps threading it in veins of fire sparks, and the sea creaming a wash of white foam on the semicircle of beach.

And so forward and downward, his shadow growing smaller in his wake, and the dusky crops on either hand rippling their ears on a level with his shoulders, until a row of noble wayside elms bury him in their heavy gloom.

Here he halts.

It is a weak-hearted love that is not punctual in its promises; and what should excuse delay, when the lover waits and the summer moon shines out her sweet invitation, and the soft wind sets the trees bending stately heads to resume the coming of [illegible]?

But lo! a figure steals around the bend of the road from behind the plumage of the fields, and in a moment lips are meeting.

The embrace is a warm one, wanting in coyness, and the richer in tenderness for the want.

Something to stiffen Dr. Shaw's frill into ferocity, and to rob the finest Scotch of all flavor in his nose.

"It is barely the quarter," the girl said in a low voice; and she clasped her hands upon his arm and strained her eyes at his face. "We are both before our time."

"Both impatient, Jenny."

"Ay; but I will take most credit, for the way is all up hill for me, dear."

"How long can you give me, pretty?"

"Not above five minutes."

"Indeed, then those minutes shall be long ones."

"Not above five minutes I say, Cuthbert; and I feel the pity of it this lovely night, when the moon is so pretty, that I shall cry to go to bed."

He kissed her hand.

"Mother thinks I am gone to see Kate Oliver," she went on. "So I must not stay, for fear she should ask father to fetch me. There are troops of fishermen in the market place, and the streets are full of people, and mother does not like me to walk alone."

"Would she think you safe with your husband!"

"Ah, would not she! If father had her heart——"

"Put away your hat that you may lay your soft hair on my shoulder. Here is a dry cushion of grass with a streak of moonlight on it for me to see you in. Have a little patience while I talk to you. Mother will not be wondering yet."

So they seated themselves on the verdure, where the moonlight fell in a lance of tremulous silver, and she, dutifully removing her hat, bent her cheek to his shoulder.

Thus they sat, with no other sound to disturb them than the moaning of the sea and the rustling of the leaves over their heads.

In the moonlight a lovely woman's face takes a sad and moving beauty.

Not a sweeter face ever smiled in the love of man's eyes than Jenny's, though marred by the moonlight as a mirror for the emotions, which, in the glory of the day, gave it color and archness, and a hundred turns of grace.

"My little wife," said he in his gentle voice, "I have been closely pressed to-day by my father. I put him on a scent that puzzled him; and really he went down to it greedily, for his anxiety to find out the meaning of what he chooses to call my altered behavior is perfectly wonderful. I hinted—merely hinted—that the news of our sea fights, and our battles ashore, had set my heart beating for higher feast than cramming boys with learning. Well, it was time he noticed some change in me."

Jenny counted with her fingers upon his shoulder, softly smiling and listening to him the while.

"He said to me," Cuthbert went on, "'I date the alteration in you from the day of your return from London.' He draws near, you see, dear. He is dreadfully close at my heels. Still his notion is odd, seeing that I have not moped since as I moped before I went that trip."

"How like our adventures at home are! Only to-day mother came up to me and took my ear in her hand, and said, 'Jenny, Jenny, I will squeeze hard if thou art not honest. I hear you sighing in your sleep just like my old schoolmate Sally Mattocks did when the silly wench brought trouble upon herself by listening to a gypsy woman's lies. Father watches you closely, and I know him very well as a man who never troubles himself to stare, unless there be something to see. What is it, silly?' I pulled my ear away and made it burn to run from her; and I laughed that she might think her talk nonsense. But oh, my dear, I could not help crying just two or three tears. I do not fear mother—indeed, she would be very proud of my own, and love him for his own sweet sake and make him her boast, as I know she would; for often father tells her that she has made her god-mothers sad fibbers, though what he means by that you shall tell me, as I have not one little bit of thy cleverness in my head, sweet—but father's eyes when he is angry make me shiver. What bold things a girl will do for love. And yet it does not make her brave."

She put her hand over her eyes and peeped at him through her fingers; not for the coquetry of it, but that she might not lose sight of him for a moment.

"Jenny, I will tell you what it is—there is no help for it but honesty. And that we need not be afraid of."

"Oh, no, indeed! The Lord forbid. We are both truly honest, I thank God."

"I will begin with your father, Jenny. That is my resolve; and one's own wishes are the easiest way, love. To-morrow evening I will see Mr. Strangfield and tell him we are married."

"To-morrow evening!"

It was a long way off for their next meeting, but very close for bitter business.

"It is not too soon!" he said, soothingly.

"No, it is not too soon," she answered, with a little shudder. "But I wish it were over—I wish he knew."

"Every moment of delay," he continued, "is a new wrong to you, my pet; and surely I am no loving husband, Jenny, if I wrong you. What excuse have I for delay? So far it has been cowardice. But I can end it if I choose, and to-morrow night it is done. Will your father be at home?"

"I dread to say yes. I shall not dare to face him."

"Jenny, you must not be so timid. You are not alone."

"But I can hear him crying, 'Jenny, Jenny, come down from your room!' with his face like wood, and the angry stoop of his head, which he will lift in flames, as I saw him once when he charged his niece Martha, who is dead, with an evil deed."

"This is no evil deed, my pretty."

"Did not I just now say we were honest? In my heart I feel we are; yet what should my conscience answer if father calls me deceitful?"

"But, you see, there are so many kinds of deceit. There is one kind that injures people and another kind that injures no one. Whom have we injured? Dearest, there is nothing to fear."

By taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla many a poor suffer who submits to the surgeon's knife, because of malignant sores and scrofulous swellings, might be saved, sound and whole. This medicines purges out the corruptions which pollute the blood and cause disease.

CATARRH Cured health and sweet breath secured, by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal injector free. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

Judgment was given in the Superior Court of Montreal declaring three ex-directors of the Exchange Bank responsible for the interest on a loan to an insolvent institution, for which they gave their personal security.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

WONDERFUL is the effect of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment in rheumatism, sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. It stands without a rival. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. TULLY, druggist.

A difficulty has arisen between a firm of wholesale stationers in Montreal and the customs over a consignment of lead pencils from New York alleged to be entered at an undervaluation. The matter has been referred to Ottawa.

WEST'S PAIN KING acts promptly, cures quickly. Never fails to cure bowel complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera. Costs but 25 cents and is always ready. Enquire regarding its merits of J. D. TULLY, druggist.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

McGregor & Parke of Hamilton, Ont., are the manufacturers of the greatest healing and purifying compound known for Sores, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Salt Rheum, Frost Bites, etc. It is called McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Be sure and get the genuine McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate sold by John McKee at 25c. a box.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent prond flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

FULLY EQUIPPED

For the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

TWO MEN GROUND BY CAR WHEELS --BOTH DIE.

Dennis McCarthy Falls From a Flat Car and Strikes his Head Against a Bank --The Fatal Accident Near Hastings.

At about four o'clock on Friday afternoon a ballast train on the Canadian Pacific Railway was running up to the gravel pit two and a half miles east of Peterborough. The train was under speed and the brakes were put on to slacken it as it approached the pit. Dennis McCarthy, one of the brakemen, placed himself at his wheel and, in order to get a greater purchase, applied himself to turning it with a stick. As he was forcing the wheel around the stick gave way and he FELL FROM THE CAR.

He went head foremost, striking against a steep bank, made by a small cut. As his head struck the bank his feet went backward to the track. He was so stunned by the shock that he did not drag his feet away. Thirteen cars passed over them. The train was stopped, the man was lifted on board and brought to town. Dr. King who was called to the station, did the preliminery dressing while a carriage was being brought to convey the victim to the Nicholls Hospital. On the arrival of the carriage he was carefully placed in it and taken to the Hospital. A consultation was held among Dr. King, the attending physician, Dr. Halliday and Dr. Bell after the examination. As the left foot was hanging by shreds of the muscles and pieces of the integuments it was decided to

AMPUTATE AND DRESS

that part of the injury first. He was placed under the influence of chloroform and the operation was commenced. But before it was near over the patient died. Besides the injury sustained on the left leg the lower part of the right leg was badly mangled. A strip of flesh about two and a half inches wide was taken off the foot commencing at the toes and extending up above the ankle. The immediate cause of his death was concussion of the brain. His head was livid with the bruises received by striking against the bank. It was about eight o'clock

WHEN HE DIED.

Mr. Dunn, the station agent, ordered a coffin and gave the body over to the charge of the undertaker. It was prepared for decent burial and sent over the Canadian Pacific railway to London, where the deceased's relatives live. The deceased was a widower, about forty years of age and had been on this section of the road for some months.

The sad result of this accident was scarcely known when intelligence of another of a similar character was received. A ballast train in charge of conductor B. Kelly was working on the Grand Junction branch near Birdsall's. At a few minutes after six o'clock the men quit work and George Fredricks, the drivrr, and Fireman McDonald started for Hastings. The train was engaged in filling up the approaches to the bridge over the Ouse the place where the accident occurred to Conducter Morris' train last winter. The two crossed the bridge and the engine was steaming along backward, with the tender first, at six miles an hour. At about a mile and three quarters east of the brige Fredericks spied a fallen tree on the track a little way ahead. He immediately reversed the engine and shouted to McDonald to jump off. Both cleared the cab, one on one side and the other on other. McDonald got away all right but Fredricks was less fortunate. He went to take a foothold on the steps. He missed his footing and his leg passed between the steps, impelling him forward. His right leg swung across the track and was immediately ground off between the ankle and knee by the large driving wheel. In falling his head came in contact with the heavy side rod and he received across the forehead above the right eye and extending to the back of his head. The bruise inflicted was so severe as to cause a fracture of the skull. He was cared for by his companion, taken to Hastings to Brennan's hotel and there attended by the local physicians. The foot, which was but hanging on, was severed from it and dressed. The injury suffered by the blow from the side rod was fatal. After till about eleven o'clock he succumbed.

The deceased was about 35 years of age and of much ability. He understood his engine thoroughly, was a careful driver, was held in high estimation by the locomotive department, and was respected by his fellow engineers. He was a member of good standing of the Masonic Order. A wife and three children residing at Belleville were acquainted of their sad loss on Friday night.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER

Tendered to Mr. T. Evans' Bradburn by the Lindsayites.

We copy the following from the Lindsay Post in reference to the removal of Mr. Bradburn and family from that town to Peterborough:—

On Wednesday evening a large party of gentlemen representing the professional and commercial interest of Lindsay met at the Benson House and sat down to dinner at eight o'clock. The occasion was a complimentary one, an expression of esteem and respect to Mr. T. E. Bradburn, who is leaving Lindsay after a residence of fifteen years. Mr. D. J. McIntyre, M.P.P., occupied the chair, having on his right the guest of the evening and Mr. J. R. Dundas, M.P. Mr. S. A. McMurty filled the vice chair. On the chairman's left was Mr. Brooks, of Memphis, Tennessee. An excellent and appetizing spread was provided by mine host Benson, to which full justice was done during a half hour of active wielding of knife and fork. Then the chairman took up the list of toasts and the usual loyal sentiments and national and local toasts were disposed of, brief speeches being made by Mr. J. R. Dundas, Mr. John A. Barron, Mr. J. H. Rainford and others. In proposing the health of the guest of the evening the chairman took the opportunity to speak in very flattering terms of Mr. Bradburn. Then followed the presentation of the following address:—

To Mr. T. E. Bradburn:—

DEAR SIR,—Your fellow citizens desire to express to you their deep sorrow that you have decided to remove from their midst and with your family to take up your residence elsewhere.

It is needless to mention to you a fact of which you must be fully conscious—that your departure will be deeply regretted by the community in general, and we beg to assure you that in leaving you carry with you the respect and confidence of your fellow citizens without an exception.

In proof of this assertion—if proof were required—we have only to refer to the public positions which your fellow-citizens have from time to time offered for your acceptance, without being aspired to by yourself, and in which you have acquitted yourself with ability, honor and integrity. As a member of the town council and as a member of the board of education you have rendered efficient and valuable services.

The interest shown by you at all times in manly sports—whether as guardian of our public hall or as actual competitor in the "roarin' game"—have brought out with lustre those qualities of head and heart which have secured you the respect and esteem of those with whom you have been associated.

We shall not attempt to conceal from you our strong suspicions that much of the cheerfulness of your social life is but the unconscious reflection in you of a home made happy by your amiable wife. Through you we wish to assure her of our regret that she and [illegible] among us.

Notwithstanding our regrets we are pleased to know that your future home will not be far distant, and that from time to time we shall have opportunities of renewing, in some measure, those pleasing associations to be partially interrupted by your change of residence.

On behalf of the citizens of Lindsay we heartily wish you continued health and prosperity, blessings which it is our earnest wish you, wife and family will share.

Signed,

J. R. DUNDAS, D. J. MCINTYRE,
S. A. MCMURTRY, A. MCDONELL,
J. D. FLAVELLE, and many others.

MR. BRADBURN acknowledged the compliment in a brief speech, and assured his hearers that he would always remember with pleasure his fifteen years residence in Lindsay and the friends left behind.... Mr. Devlin, Dr. Herriman, Dr. Burrows, Mr. H. B. Dean, Mr Thos. Stewart and J. H. Hopkins made short speeches in reply to "The learned professions." Messrs. J. D. Flavelle and A. McDonnell, responded to "The commercial interests." "The agricultural interests," were responded to by Mr. C. D. Barr, who in concluding proposed "The President of the United States and our neighbors across the lines," which elicted some brief remarks from Mr. Hamilton Brooks of Memphis, Tenn. For "The press" Mr. F. H. Dobbin made a suitable reply, while "The ladies" found an army of able and eloquent spokesmen in Messrs. A. Higinbotham, R. J. Matchett and J. McMillan. After "Auld Lang Syne" had been sung in choruses the gathering broke up....From remarks made by Mr. Bradburn it is not improbable that he will in the future return to Lindsay and again become an active and useful citizen.

Contract Let.

Mr. A. Clegg has been awarded the contract for the internal alterations in the George Street Methodist Church. The alterations include the remodding of the gallery above the tranceps and the preparation of the choir gallery for the reception of the new organ, besides the raising of the pews at the back of the auditorium and some re-cushioning.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held (D. V.) Monday afternoon, Sept. 13th, at 4 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. All ladies interested in benevolent and temperance work are cordially invited. Band of Hope will (D.V.) meet in the same place every Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Parents, as well as children, are welcome.

Church Notes.

The Rev. John Powers, of Janetville, will preach in the George Street Church tomorrow morning. The Rev. F. H. Wallace will preach in the evening.

The Rev. Mr. Wallace will preach in the Charlotte Street Church in the morning, and the Rev. Mr. Powers will preach in the evening.

The Rev. Mr. Torrance will resume his pastoral duties to-morrow.

The Rev. Mr. Peers, of Campbellford, will preach in the Baptist Church to-morrow at both services.

POLICE COURT.

UNRULY.

SATURDAY, Sept. 11.—Samuel Skilling, a young lad just past thirteen, was charged by his guardian, Mr. Hendry, with being incorrigible, being beyond his control.

The boy pleaded not guilty. As the act referring to this matter stipulated that boys coming within its jurisdiction must be under 13 years of age, and as the boy asserted that he was over that age, the charge was dismissed.

The Magistrate counselled the complainant to send the boy to learn a trade.

The Temperature.

The following are the readings of the thermometer to-day at the hours mentioned:—8 o'clock, 65; 1 o'clock, 77; 3 o'clock, 72.

We are offering extra good value in every line of General Groceries. Call and inspect. MORROW, TIERNEY & Co.

At Hazelbrae.

The success of the lawn social given at Hazelbrae on Friday evening in aid of the Home was hampered by several circumstances. The night was beautifully clear, the grounds were prettily illuminated, the display of articles on the sale tables in the school room unusually attractive, and the refreshments the most delectable; but the threatening weather in the evening kept many from coming, and others were afraid of wet grass, and the band wasn't there on account of having to fulfill an engagement. Nevertheless those who were there spent a very pleasant evening. Watching the long rows of chinese lanterns swing in the breeze from the branches overshadowing the main drive, strolling through the grounds, inspecting the fancy articles, and being victimized by the pretty little flower girls, were the amusements. The amount realized was discouragingly small, considering the efforts made by the promoters.

THE best Dress Linings are the Gilbert Linings, and can be had at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

DRESS LININGS.

We have much pleasure in announcing to Dress Makers and all Ladies specially interested, that we have imported direct from the manufacturers a full supply of which is now endorsed and used almost exclusively by the leading Dress Makers in Toronto and other principal Cities.

THE CELEBRATED

This lining is a pure Cotton, containing no dressing and sizing whatever, and consequently remains always the same. We are in a position to make favorable prices for this new fabric so much so that we expect to have an active demand for it at once.

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY.

TAKE NOTICE that every thread composing this fabric both in warp and weft, is Double Carded and Double Roved, a process never before adopted in any class of Dress Linings or Silesias, and which gives the same improvement in this class of goods that the Ring Spun cotton has over the ordinary three cord, an improvement so patent that every consumer can at once detect it.

Every piece of these Goods is guaranteed perfect.

GILBERT MANUFACTURING CO.

Dress Makers are respectfully invited to call and inspect these Goods and satisfy themselves more fully as to their merits.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S MEDAL.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In a late issue of the Educational Weekly a letter appeared bearing the signature "Peterborough" asking where the Governor-General's Medal was, and on what ground it was to be awarded. I at once telegraphed the editor begging him to delay his answer until he should have received a letter from me. In my communication to him I stated that some years ago Lord Dufferin began the distribution of medals to the various colleges. At that time no medals had been granted to any of the schools save perhaps, the U. C. College. On meeting with his Excellency at the time, he, without any solicitation on my part, offered me two medals, a silver and a bronze, for the Galt institute, stating that they were intended for collegiate students. When the other Collegiate schools saw what was done they also, in course of time, received them. They were put under my direction as head master and hence their awarding was left to the discretion of the head master, subject to the decision of the local boards, who are, of course, supreme in everything. The editor of the Educational Weekly, when thanking me for my "valuable information," stated that he had referred the matter to the Department and would be guided by its decision. He has, however, since written the Governor-General's Secretary and a reference either has been or is to be make to the university of Toronto.

On the 6th inst a letter made its appearance in your valuable paper from Gen Haultain complaining that the medal had been awarded through partiality to the boy second in merits while the one first had been unjustly passed over. This is the first time my judgment has been questioned and my sense of justice and honor impugned between boy and boy. The facts are these, the one obtained the second place in the first class in mathematics, and although we were aware of his proficiency in this subject, yet from his continuous neglect of all other subjects, and knowing that he was skaky in them, we had no certainty of his passing at all until the college lists appeared. The contest in my opinion had lain between the one whom I recommended, and who passed a brilliant examination in all subjects, gaining at Toronto University three first classes, one the second place in the first class, and one second class honor, with a strong pass in the remaining two, especially in honor Latin composition. The one who, as it has been alleged, has been unjustly passed over, has been awarded the silver medal, generously given to the Institute by Mr. Hampden Burnham. What, I ask, more does he merit? As for the claim for the two medals in his behalf, I have no hesitation in declaring it most unreasonable. The other candidate was a young lady attending the Institute, who passed most creditably, gaining second class honors in four subjects, and hers is a case deserving of recognition by the Board. With regard to rewards for the other pupils, I am exceedingly glad that the Chairman has pledged the Board for a medal for the one passing the best certificate examination.

The various references to the Department, the Governor-General, and the Toronto University, made without the slightest reference to me as Head Master, and as usual over my head, rendered it necessary for me to open communication in these three directions.

Believe me,
Yours very truly,
WM. TASSIE.

SHAKEN BUT NOT SWALLOWED.

Damage done by the August Cyclone In undation and Earthquake.

HAVANA, Sept. 10.—Further particulars of the damage done by the cyclone of Aug 20th 21st and 22nd have been received. in Manzanilla, Jucaro, Ciego de Avila, Moron and other districts hundreds of houses were overturned and destroyed and a large number of cattle drowned. Banana trees suffered greatly. The loss to the poorer class of people is very serious. It is estimated that the aggregate loss caused by the hurricane will reach five million dollars, and may exceed that sum. All danger of further inundation at Ceibadelagua is considered past. The residents of Sagua felt a light shock of earthquake on August 31st.

A LABOR BUREAU.

Proposed Commission of Enquiry—Names Sugested to Represent Labor.

The Toronto Mail announces that the Dominion Government intends to proceed at once with the matter of the establishment of a bureau of labor statistics at Ottawa, and that the Government will, no doubt appoint a Commision of Enquiry forthwith, composed of men interested in the labor question, to gather information and make suggestions based on their practical experience as workingmen so as to enable Ministers to ascertain the exact nature of the work that should be performed by such a bureau in the Dominion. The Mail commends Mr. McNab, Chief of the Knights of Labor there, and Mr. Heaks, the well-known Trades' Union representative, to the notice of the Cabinet as fit and proper proper persons to represent the interests of labor on the Commission.

SHE CHANGED HER MIND.

A Halifax Physician Loses a Pretty and Wealthy Bride.

HALIFAX, Sept. 11.—A sensation prevails in social circles over a marriage which did not take place yesterday. Some time ago a pretty young heiress, named Miss Moyle, belonging to Lunenburg, a niece of Senator Kaulbach and C. E. Kaulbach, M. P. for Lunenburg County, fell in love with Dr. Aitkin, a physician of standing and practice. Miss Moyle's friends did not approve of the match and sent her to Europe in hope of breaking it off, but absence only made hearts grow fonder and she arranged to steal back to Halifax and marry the man of her choice. She came as a passenger by the steamer "Milanse," which arrived Wednesday. Dr. Aitkin was on the wharf to meet her in alleged hilarious condition. She took in the situation but made the best of it, and arranged to get married in St. Luke's Cathedral early next morning by Rev. Mr. King. That night she spent with some friends moving in high social circles. At the oppointed hour the groom and his friends were at the church, but the bride was missing. Subsequently a note was delivered to the would-be groom from his betrothed, stating that she had changed her mind and had taken an early steamer for Lunenburg, where she would return to her friends a sadder and a wiser girl.

A VOYAGE TO GREENLAND.

Searching for Halibut—Americans not Allowed to Fish on the Coast.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 11.—The schooner "Herbert M. Rogers" which sailed from here last May for Greenland has just returned. Capt. Vele states that he reached Logitopie, Greenland, on July 3rd. This place is in latitude 65 degrees. His passage was much hindered by extensive and dangerous fields of ice. The weather was stormy owing to the coast being ice bound. Halibut was scarce. The "Rogers" next sailed for Geotthoab but the governor refused to let her stop and said a man-of-war was patroling the coast to prevent Americans from fishing or dealing with the natives. It was claimed that the treaty between the United States and Denmark forbade Americans from such traffic. The "Rogers" went further north to Nolesburg and met exactly similar treatment. There Capt. Vele was warned that his vessel would be seized if found there again. Halibutt was scarce in that vicinity also. The highest point reached was Cape Amelia, in latitude 68. There was no halibut there and being unable to enter the harbors and in fear of seizure Captain Vele decided to come home. He left Aug. 17th. On the way home he met many icebergs, and had some narrow escapes from collision with them, but on the whole had good weather. He reports no mackeral in the straits of Belle Isle. The cargo of the Rogers consists of 100 000 pounds of fletched halibut. Capt Vele saw nothing of the schooner Seth Stockbridge, which sailed from here June 1st for Greenland, and has not been heard of since. It is feared that she has been lost in the ice.

Death for Geronimo.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Mr. Atkins, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, is quoted by the Post as insisting that Geronimo must be put to death. "The President," he says "will probably acquiesce in whatever proposition General Miles makes for disposing of the murderer. This proposition will doubtless be a court martial, which will not fail to award the death sentence. There is no doubt that the public sentiment of the country demands the death of Geronimo."

A Daring Forgery.

SAN FRANCISCO, 10.—A daring forgery was committed at Hong Kong on August 28th by P. R. Beltram, a clerk in the Spanish consulate. He forged the name of Mencarini, the Spanish consul, to a bill of exchange for $30,000 on the chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, drawn in favor of the Manila Government, secured the money, and immediately disappeared. It is believed he departed for British Columbia on the Chinese bark "Kwongtong."

Earthquakes on the Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Captain Plummer, of the steamer Mary D. Hume, reports that sixteen miles northwest of Point Kings on Wednesday nine distinct shocks of earthquake were felt.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

THE KIDNAPPED PRINCE'S TRIP.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Capt. Kavaloff, of the yacht on which Prince Alexander was first conveyed from Bulgaria, has published an account of the journey to Reni. He says he would have killed Prince Alexander if the latter had tried to escape.

WHOLESALE MASSACRE.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The Italies publishes a telegram from the Bishop of Tonquin saying that seven hundred Christians have been massacred and forty villages burned in the province of Manhoa, and that nine thousand Christians are perishing of hungar.

PARNELL'S LAND BILL.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Mr. Parnell's land bill was read the first time. The second reading way fixed for Tuesday.

FRANCE AND MADAGASCAR.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Affairs in Madagascar are not satisfactory so far as French interests are concerned. The Government is sending reinforcements to Tamative.

THEY WILL TAKE THE STUMP.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain will address meetings during the recess of Parliament in opposition to Home Rule for Ireland. Mr. Chamberlain will probably visit Belfast.

ALEXANDER TO GO TO ENGLAND.

LONDON, September 10.—Prince Henry, of Battenberg, has gone to Darmstadt to bring Prince Alexander to Balmoral Castle.

PATRONAGE FOR PARNELL.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Standard hears that a report is being prepared showing that the patronage which would have been handed over to Mr. Parnell and his friends if the Home Rule bill had passed would have been worth $6,000,000 yearly.

RUSSIAN PRESS CENSORSHIP.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Press censorship is rigidly enforced at St. Petersburgh. All in-coming and out-going telegrams are mercilessly sifted and multilated.

REJOICING AT SOFIA.

SOFIA, Sept. 12.—Six Roumelian regiments were presented with new colours. The colours bore at the top the Bulgarian lion, on the borders the motto, "God with us," and on the corners Prince Alexander's monogram. After the presentation of the colours the troops were reviewed. They made a splendid appearance.

CABLE RATES.

LONDON, Sept, 12.—A circular issued by the French Cable Company announces an increase of 12.2 per cent, in traffic under the influence of the reduced tariff. The Executive Board, in the question of continuing the reduced rate at a meeting of shareholders. The board protests against the report that the French company had renounced its independence of the Anglo-American Cable Company, and charges the agents of the Commercial Company with exciting prejudice against the pool companies by statements that they will raise their rates to three shillings per word if they succeed in defeating the Commercial Company.

SHOT DEAD.

DUBLIN, Sept. 12.—A man named James Green was shot dead near Ennis last night. He had taken a farm from which the tenant had been evicted. General Buller is inquiring into the case. No arrests have been made.

PROTECTING THE CZAR.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 12.—Elaborate precautions were taken to protect the Czar during his journey to Poland to witness the army manœuvres. Soldiers armed with loaded rifles lined the railway. The train was divided into three sections. When passing stations the windows were closed and the blinds drawn down, in order to prevent the discovery of the carriage occupied by the Czar. After the manœuvres the Czar will go to Spala, Holland, when similar precautions will be taken for his protection, 50,000 soldiers being utilized for this service.

DISTURBANCES IN DENMARK.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 12.—A battle has taken place at Broendersleven, in North Jutland, between 2,000 peasants, armed with sticks and stones, and 60 gendarmes. The latter were soundly thrashed. It is feared this may lead to revolutionary outbreaks in other parts of the kingdom. The Government is concentrating troops at strategic points. The Estrups Ministry a few months ago created, contrary to the expressed will of the Danish House of Representatives, large corps of gendarmes, who in gaudy blue and silver uniforms patrol the country as if it were a conquered province. The most bitter feeling prevails between the population and the gendarmes.

THE AMERICAN CUP.

The Mayflower Again Victorious Over the Galatea.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—To-day's race has decided upon which side of the Atlantic the American cup will stay for at least another year. It resulted in a victory for the sloop Mayflower. When she finished this evening at 6.1.40 the Galatea was nearly two miles astern. The course was twenty miles to leeward and return from Scotland lightship. The race was sailed in a breeze that blew fresh from the northwest for three hours, then canting two points to the westward, it fell light, the last hour of the contest being little better than a drift. The Mayflower had only 8 minutes 20 seconds to spare when she crossed the finish line, as the limit was seven hours. The Galatea was defeated by 29 mins. 48 secs. actual, and 29 mins. 9 secs. corrected time.

The Daily Review.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1886.

"RULE OR RUIN."

The great Reform journal that is almost as much distinguished for its antipathy to the constitution as it is for its fondness for criminals, says:—

"One of the planks of the Liberal platform for some years has been that the veto power as now used shall be abolished."

To make its meaning quite clear, however, the Globe should explain that "for some years" means "since the Reformers were dismissed from office by the people of Canada," and that "as now used" means "while entrusted to Conservative statesmen." When Mr. Blake was Minister of Justice he used the veto power more freely than any other Minister before or since. He only objects to the people entrusting that power to his political opponents, and he hungers to be able to exercise it again, even sympathising with rebellion and murder in the hope of thereby crawling back to office.

THE GLOBE'S NEW VEIN.

THE chief Rielite organ in Ontario says with regard to Haldimand:—

"Money without limit was sent into the constituency, and men known to be peculiarly skilful in the acts of corruption were sent in to direct the expenditure of the money."

Though we can rarely believe the Globe, it is probably a good authority in this instance. Was it not from the Globe office that letters were sent to bankers and others for funds to make "a big push," the party corruption fund having then been exhausted by sending money without limit to the outside constituencies. And neither the Globe nor its friends have amended their ways since then, as witness their wholesale corruption in Lennox. As to the skilful Reform agents sent into Haldimand to direct the corrupt expenditure, we know that the Globe is correct, for were not Messrs. Edgar and Preston there? and we doubt if even Mr. H. H. Cook or Mr. Cameron (of Huron), or Mr. Mowat's dear but depraved friend Col. Walker, could teach them anything about corruption.

We must congratulate the Globe upon its frankness and new-born regard for the truth.

A RIEL-REFORM SUCCESS.

ONE lesson to be learnt from the Haldimand election is that there are a large number of Reformers who have followed Mr. Blake in his disgraceful traffic for votes with the Rielites, to be sure, to wreak revenge in the name of "race and creed." As Mr. Blake and other Toronto Liberals, through Mr. J. D. Edgar, welcomed Mr. Prefontaine, elected for Chambly on the sole ground of his sympathy with rebellion and murder, so the Quebec Rielites congratulate themselves on the election of Mr. Coulter at Haldimand, as a sign that the Ontario Reformers are ready to support them in their claim that their criminals shall be above the law.

In such a fanatical Reform constituency as Haldimand, which has never yet returned a Conservative, it appears that the Reformers are, with a few honorable exceptions, ready to follow their old leaders into any depth of infamy, but we still feel confident that honest and loyal Reformers will not prostrate themselves to be trampled upon by those who would impose on the Dominion immunity from justice on the part of their criminal friends, even if Mr. Blake has sold himself, his honour and the interests of his country in exchange for the assistance of such men in attaining place and power.

IN Quebec the Rielites distribute broadcast a portrait of Riel in the guise of a martyr, accompanied with gross insults to the authorities for permitting justice to be done to him. In Ontario the Rielites say that it is a dastardly outrage for Conservatives to expose this Rielite device in Quebec, or exhibit this Rielite work of art. These enemies of law are apparently a law to themselves, and are only consistent in adopting any means that may lead them to place, power and pelf.

THE ALASKA SEIZURES.

The United States Abandon their Claim to a Whole Sea.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 11.—It is said at the Treasury Department that the three British schooners seized by our revenue cutter for trespassing in Alaska will be released on their arrival at San Francisco. A vessel seized on similar grounds eighteen months ago was promptly released. That, however, will not prevent their owners from asking damages through diplomatic channels, and when the question is presented the only defence our Government can make is that the purchase of Alaska from Russia included its claim to the jurisdiction over a certain area of water known as "waters thereof" and waters "adjacent thereto." This has been the uniform ruling of the Treasury Department ever since the contract was made in 1870 with the Alaska Fur Seal Company, the object being to protect the fur seals and prevent disturbance, which would, it was claimed, scatter them and compel them to seek other breeding grounds. The contract with the present lessees expires in April, 1890.

Duty Charged on Fresh Fish.

EASTPORT, Me., Sept. 10.—Collector Nutt has notified fishermen in Eastport that hereafter all fish caught in Canadian ports and brought to Eastport will be subject to the payment of dues. Heretofore fresh fish were supposed to come in free on the ground that they were intended for immediate consumption. It is now claimed that our fishermen can supply all that is required by the fresh fish markets for immediate consumption, and that they, and not the Canadian fishermen should have the preference. This will probably increase the price of fish.

OUR FUTURE TOWNS.

Historical and Descriptive Notices of Villages.

THE VILLAGE OF NORWOOD.

IMPORTANT MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES OF VARIOUS KINDS.

The Business Places and Hotels—Public Buildings, Schools and Churches—Social and Sporting Societies.

The village of Norwood was incorporated in the year 1878. It was previously a part of the township of Asphodel, Peterborough County. It is a prosperous and steadily growing village, situated on the main line of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the small river Ouse. The township of Asphodel was surveyed in 1820, and found their way into the township, Mr. John Beckett being amongst the first. In 1825 twenty-seven families were added to the number already settled there. Norwood was first known as Keeler's Mill, Mr. Joseph Keeler having built a small saw mill and a grist mill there soon after the first settlers located in the township. In 1836 Keeler's mill was improved by the addition of new machinery. At this time Mr. Peter Pearce was in charge of the mill and was agent for Mr. Keeler. Mr. Pearce was long identified with the village and township's progress and affairs. There was no tavern in Norwood until 1842, when one was opened by Mr. Robert Hartley, and previous to that Mr. Pearce's house was generously and hospitably open to travellers, and religious services were held in his dwelling. Mr. Pearce was Reeve of Asphodel for six years, from 1852 till 1856, and again in 1858, and was afterwards Reeve of Belmont and Methuen for several years, after he had moved into Belmont. He also filled the position of Warden of the County. Mr. Richard Birdsall was the first District Councillor for the Township, in 1842, and the first Reeve in 1850. A regular was made in 1853, it having been previously roughly laid out in village lots. The first store in Norwood was opened by Mr. Jas. Foley in 1837, and the second store was kept by Messrs. Carr & Rose. The first resident shoemaker in the village was Mr. Thomas Mullens, and the first [illegible] was Mr. and joiner Mr. Thomas Kirk. The first post office in Asphodel was on the farm of Mr. Thomas Walker, near the present village of Westwood, of which Mr. Walker was postmaster, and Mr. James Foley was the first postmaster in the village. The first school house in the township was a log one built in Norwood. In 1832 the population of Asphodel was 265 and the assessed value of property $3410, and in 1866 the population about 3,000 and the assessed value $276,286.

SOON AFTER SETTLERS

SURVEY OF THE VILLAGE

NORWOOD WAS INCORPORATED

as a separate municipality in 1878. Since then it has steadily progressed, the population and value of property increasing. In the year of its incorporation the population was about 800 and the assessed value of property $103,760. The assessor's returns for the present year (1886) shows the population to be about 1,200 and the assessed value of property $147,690. The first Reeve of the village was Mr. J. B. Pearce, son of the late Peter Pearce, before referred to, who filled that position until he resigned in July, 1883. When Mr. Pearce resigned the Village Council unanimously adopted a motion giving expression to the general appreciation of his services and the regret felt on account of his resignation. Mr. Thomas Fraser afterwards filled the position, and Mr. W. H. Stephenson is the present Reeve. Norwood possesses five acres in extent. It is situated near the centre of the village, and is therefore convenient. It is used for agricultural exhibition purposes, and as a field for athletic sports. It is level, has a good track for speeding horses and is fenced. Considerable work has been done recently in improving the streets of the village. Norwood possesses several large manufacturing industries, fine business blocks and many beautiful residences, besides good public buildings.

A PUBLIC PARK,

MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES.

The list of manufacturing industries in Norwood includes several good factories, mills and mechanical shops of various kinds. They appear to be doing a good business, and in the aggregate employ a large number of hands.

FINLAY'S FACTORY.

Messrs. J. Finlay & Son's establishment is generally known as a hub factory, as wheel hubs is one of their most important articles of manufacture, but they also make all kinds of bent goods used by carriage makers. The business was established by Mr. Finlay in 1867. Nine years ago the factory was burned, and a new building 35 x 50 was erected, but this has been added to until it is now an extensive establishment. The firm get out in the winter season the timber they require for their business. The logs are sawed by themselves. The wing in which they are cut is 74 x 40 feet and two stories high. The lower story contains a circular and a cross-cut saw and a swing circular saw, besides a sleigh runner press for bending sleigh runners. Here the blocks are cut for the hubs and the lumber for other goods. There is a tramway through the building for carrying the logs to the saws, and another tramway to the second story for carrying up material. The first flat is also used as a storeroom. In the second story there are presses for bending cutter sides, a department added to the business this year, and a novel business, it is said, in Ontario. There are also a press for cart shafts, another sleigh runner press and other smaller presses. The main building is 35 x 50 feet and three stories high. The first story is devoted to the hubs. The blocks, after being sawed, go to a boring machine, which bores a hole through the heart of the blocks. They then pass to the rougher, a machine which cuts the bark off and leaves the blocks smooth. From the rougher they are sent to the turning lathe, and then to the mortiser, a power machine that mortises the holes for the spokes. In the second story there is a place for steaming the material, to prepare it for bending. There are also rip saws, a planer, and blocks for bending runners, fenders, etc., each style or shape requiring a different block. In the third story are presses for bending shafts. They hold forty shafts, and are filled every day. The packing room is on this flat. South of the main building are extensions put up at different times, making a building 160 x 35 feet, two stories high. In the first story there is a paint shop, a store room 35 x 50 feet filled with hubs ready for shipping, and another room filled with hubs. In one apartment in the second story material ready for use is stored. Below it there is a gangway through the building, and there is a door in the floor, by means of which waggons are loaded with a block and tackle. The second apartment in this story is a storeroom for bent stuff. There is also a detached storeroom for second growth blocks. Every foot of available space is utilized. A neat brick office stands beside the factory. Goods are sent from the factory to almost all parts of the Dominion, including New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and an order was received from British Columbia. Twenty hands are employed steadily in the factory and more are employed by the firm when they get out their supply of timber in the winter. They pay out to the factory hands between $5,000 to $6,000 in wages annually. The raw material used costs about $2,000. They have now from $10,000 to $12,000 worth of hubs, shafts, etc., ready for shipment. The output of the factory is about $20,000 worth a year.

COPE'S FOUNDRY.

In Mr. P. P. Cope's foundry, an old establishment industry, almost all kinds of iron work are done. The chief manufactures are stoves, gang and single ploughs, and harrows. He makes seven different patterns of box and cooking stoves, eight different styles of ploughs, and iron and wood harrows, and does mill machinery and agricultural impliment repairing. The [illegible] Workmen, and the [illegible] Workmen. There are also [illegible] 100 x 30 feet, two stories high, and a wing 40 x 22 feet, also two stories high. In one apartment are two lathes, a drill, emery grinder, etc., and a pot grinder, for hollow ware, a machine added this year. The wood work is done in the same apartment. In another is the moulding shop, filled with the flasks, moulds, etc. The second story of the front building contains the circular saws, and is used for a finishing room and show room. In the wing castings are stored, and there is a press for shaping the plough ovals, eight different dies being used for the different styles of ploughs. The engine room is also in the wing. A new boiler put in last fall and an eight horse power engine furnish the motive power for the machinery. The engine room also contains a "rattler," for cleaning castings, etc. The second story of the wing is used as a storeroom for lumber, patterns, etc. There is a large blacksmith shop attached to the foundry, and a small detached building with a brick oven for heating the iron plates. The foundry has done a good business this year, and has been very busy all summer. It is one of the most important of Norwood's industries.

Quebec Elections.

QUEBEC, Sept. 11.—The official Gazette contains the proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor disolving Parliament. The nominations will take place on the 7th of October and the general election on the 12th.

Be a Hero in the Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly say consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

Earthquake Prices

The City Clothing Store's
ANNOUNCEMENT.

The people of Charleston have had a multiplicity of earthquake shocks of late, while the good people of Peterborough have been enjoying comparative ease, and wondering what the sensation of earthquake shocks must be like.

H. LeBRUN

of the City Clothing Store, is going to give the people of Peterborough a shock, not an earthquake shock, by any means, but a real genuine shock in the Clothing line. His Autumn and Fall importations have been coming in for some time, and, now that the stock is complete, the citizens cannot but feel a genuine surprise at the quality and immensity of the same.

FORCED APART.

BY W. CLARK RUSSELL.

Author of the "Wreck of the Grosvenor," "A Sailor's Sweetheart," Etc.

"I cannot help fearing my father," she continued, in a trembling voice, "for though he is very stern, he loves me; and I dread the thoughts his love will fill him with when he hears that I have deceived him and mother."

"The worst is not so bad as the dread of it, dear."

"He is so terribly religious."

"Ay, a Baptist; and my papa is a Tory Churchman! And we are to be impaled on their prejudices! Thank the Lord, old men are scant of breath, and when their lungs are empty, young men may——"

"Hark! here are the coast guards."

The tramp of men, deadened by the smothering dust of the road, fell upon their ears; and soon a little company of dark figures, with the moonshine kindling silver stars in the polished points of their weapons, turned the corner and strode sturdily, in silence, up the hill.

"It should be half-past eight," said Jenny. "I must be going, Bertie. I must be going, indeed. Good-night; say good-night to me, Bertie."

They both rose, their hands clasped.

"To-morrow night, at half-past eight, watch for me at your window, Jenny. My mind is resolved. I will speak to your father first, and then tell mine the story. We shall sleep the sweeter for it. A clear conscience before all things, and that will come by honoring ourselves."

"Yes, it is right," she whispered with a little shiver. "Kiss me, and say good-night."

He strained her in his arms, and she went away, but slackened her pace and fled back to him out of the moonlight. Then, slipping from his lips, she ran across the road and was gone.

CHAPTER IV.

BREAKFAST TIME.

Out of his bed rose Cuthbert, to the tune of the school bell, swung by the man who cleaned the boots and thrived on pocket money errands to the destruction of youthful digestions.

His own mild hint yesterday, by which he had hoped to put his father off from grappling questions, had stirred him into perception of new sympathies in his nature. With thoughts of his wife, and the secret to be divulged before another night should come, had mingled impulses of freedom, a yearning for the shows and struggles of an outer world, and a placid weariness of spirit, when the school room rose in his eyes, with the tasks to be set and the ignorance to be corrected.

His resolution to proclaim his secret was a quickening spirit in the soil of his mind, germinating seeds there which he himself knew not of.

"Why need I fear my father's anger?" he thought, as he threw open his bedroom window, and stood in a stream of sweet warm wind. Fresh from the dale water, I have served him dutifully, and will yet justify all his fine thoughts of his calling by sticking to it, if he will love Jenny, and bear with me for marrying her. If not, the world is big enough to find me work, surely! What I am fitted for shall not trouble me; but what I can get to do, I'll do."

This honest soliloquy done, he betook himself to dressing.

Never a looking glass gave back a handsomer face than that into which he glanced. Such a picture of dark auburn hair, white brow and blue eyes, bright with mind, as would set a heartless beauty dreaming like a faithful sweetheart.

And now for the day's dry work, the first stage of which was the meeting of the boys in the schoolroom, to await, amid crackling of yawns and restless shuffling of feet, the arrival of Dr. Shaw in that academic gown of his, which he donned only to read the morning prayers in or to birch a boy.

Between prayer time and breakfast time there was a half hour, to employ which profitably to his spirits, that stood sorely in need of regenerating influences, and also to escape his father's eyes, the twist of which, when they all got off their knees, he did not relish, Cuthbert went into the fields before the house; and so, through the glorifying sunshine and the narrow footway in the barley, down to the short grass of the cliff edge, on the swell of which he stood within a fathom of the sheer fall.

A scene of summer beauty and morning splendor was this he overlooked.

But Cuthbert was toiling with a giant in his mind, and nature was only blue and green to him: for there is nothing dainty to a troubled mind but ease, and this our young friend could not get, neither by sitting nor by standing.

But no use standing moodily conjecturing trouble. So back again to the school house through the crops, which went whispering to the passage of the wind, as though they had snatched a secret from it.

To the ushers—this old-fashioned term is very meaning—was conceded the privilege of breakfasting with the boys. But Cuthbert would have been glad to exchange places with any one of them that morning, so little fancy had he for a tete-a-tete with his father.

It was his duty, however, to be in the room when the boys assembled, and observe that grace was duly said by one of the masters, and deliver the order for the boys to fall to.

Under the clock he stood, punctual to the hour, and in a hungry swarm the boys tumbled in.

Grace having been said by a bachelor of arts, and the order to begin given, out sprang forty hands from under the tables, and the pyramids lost their form and substance.

Then Master Cuthbert, with a pleasant smile around him, left the room.

Old Dr. Shaw, with his legs crossed, and showing no prodigy of calf, bent an eye upon his son as he entered the room that seemed to twist round and round into him.

Cuthbert took a chair and waited, with his father, for the servant to bring in the ham and teapot.

Until these things were forthcoming the doctor held his tongue.

Then, wheeling round, cup in hand and the saucer poised on thumb and forefinger, after an old-fashioned habit of drinking tea, he looked hard at Cuthbert.

"I have no right yet, I suppose," said he, in a level voice, "to ask you to explain your mysterious hints of yesterday?"

"It was understood, sir, that I should have a day or two for reflection."

"For reflection on what?" demanded the doctor, sharply.

"In asking that, you ask all, father."

"All!"

The doctor uttered the exclamation with a most embracing emphasis.

Cuthbert made no answer.

"I should be glad to have my doubts set at rest," continued the doctor, with a gloomy nod of the head, intended to serve as a challenge.

Still no reply from Cuthbert.

"Indeed!" exclaimed Dr. Shaw, with a great deal of the schoolmaster in his face and a flourish of the saucer, "I have a right to demand an answer from you."

"So you have, sir, unquestionably."

"Then give me, in a few words, the meaning of this change in your behavior."

"A few words will convey nothing."

"Then," shouted the doctor, "be elaborate. Give me prolixity if you will, so that you explain."

"Pray, sir, moderate your impatience. I pledge myself to be open with you shortly."

Dr. Shaw grew red in the face, and deposited his cup and saucer, that he might gesticulate unconstrainedly.

"What," said he, subduing the passion in his voice, "what I desire to know, is this matter—in your mind, that is—not yet ripe for confession?"

"I have promised to tell you."

"When, sir?"

"Possibly to-morrow."

"So, sir, it is a secret?" said the doctor, with his eyes full of exasperation.

"So you will have it," replied Cuthbert, scarcely smothering a smile.

This was stubbornness dreadfully mortifying to the doctor.

But, in any case, the best compromise to justify present anxiety and preserve his dignity in the future, was a dark brow and a chilly demeanor.

These were not hard to come at, and under their shadow breakfast ended.

To be Continued.

FROM ALL OVER.

It is suggested that the Alert should be fitted up with larger boilers and engines and put on the P. E. Island winter service in place of the Northern Light.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—Mrs. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway for the week ending September 4th were $367,005, an increase of $54,722 compared with the corresponding week last year.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

After being locked up all night, the jury in the trial of Havelock Smith for the murder of Marshall Piggott were discharged, having been unable to agree on a verdict.

WONDERFUL is the effect of West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment in rheumatism, sprains, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds and all diseases requiring external application. It stands without a rival. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. TULLY, druggist.

Fishermen at Eastport, Me., have been notified by the Customs Collector that hereafter a duty will be imposed at that port on all fish, including fresh fish, caught in Canadian waters.

WEST'S PAIN KING acts promptly, cures quickly. Never fails to cure bowel complaint, colic, cholera morbus, cholera. Costs but 25 cents and is always ready. Enquire regarding its merits of J. D. TULLY, druggist.

Messrs. Warner and Dakin, bicyclists taking part in the annual tour of the League of American Wheelmen from Buffalo to Harper's Ferry, took headers on a steep hill leading to Ithaca, N. Y., and were probably fatally injured.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became weak and ill. Finding no cure I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

Dun & Co. report a total of one hundred and seventy-eight failures throughout the country during the past week, twelve less than the previous week. Twenty-nine of the number were in Canada, five more than the preceding week.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

Rev. A. Beaudry, cure of Charlesburg, was found asphyxiated from gas in his room at the Seminary at Quebec. It is supposed that after turning off the gas the reverend gentleman accidentally turned it on again before retiring for the night. It was some hours before he recovered consciousness.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

The virtue of Carbolic Acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at John McKee's Drug Store.

Years of experience and successful trial have proved McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate the most complete and satisfactory compound for healing old Sores, Festerings, Ulcers, Cuts, Wounds, Burns, Frost Bites or Felons, and for keeping out the cold and to cleanse or prevent proud flesh, sloughing or decay. Insist on having McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate, sold at 25c. by John McKee.

A Frolic Ends in Murder.

HALIFAX, Sept. 10.—In a frolic at Orangedale, Cape Breton, yesterday two young men named McLennan and McDonald got into a quarrel. A fight ensued, during which knives were drawn and McLennan was stabbed to death. McDonald was arraigned at Port Hood to-day and committed for trial in the Supreme Court.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

OVER WORKED Women

For "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated school teachers, milliners, seamstresses, housekeepers, and over-worked women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all restorative tonics. It is not a "Cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent Specific for all those Chronic Weaknesses and Diseases peculiar to women. It is a powerful, general as well as uterine, tonic and nervine, and imparts vigor and strength to the whole system. It promptly cures weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. Favorite Prescription is sold by druggists under our positive guarantee. See wrapper around bottle. Price $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

A large treatise on Diseases of Women, profusely illustrated with colored plates and numerous wood-cuts, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

FULLY EQUIPPED

For the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

under the auspices of The Ladies aid Society George street Methodist Church will be held in the vacant store recently occupied by Mr. D. Smart, on 21st September. The [illegible] this in mind.

St. Peter's Cathedral.

In the REVIEW'S report of the St. Peter's Cathedral picnic an omission was made. It was not mentioned that Mr. R. H. Fortye had charge of the prize drawing. The fair and careful way in which he conducted it gave entire satisfaction.

Dismissed.

A charge of having committed an infraction of the provisions of the Scott Act was preferred against H. Ray, of Ashburnham, by Inspector Darling. The defendant pleaded not guilty. Six witnesses were examined, but no evidence of the infraction was obtained. The case was dismissed.

The Etnas Elated.

On Saturday afternoon the Etnas, of Edingburgh street, went over to Ashburnham to meet the young Riversides on their native heath. Mortal combat was waged in the park for nearly the whole afternoon. The Etnas left the battle ground with flying colors, good appetites and the winners of three straight games.

Peterborough Machinery.

The Lindsay Post gives the following testimony to the excellence of the work turned out by the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co:—"On Tuesday the new engine at Ingle & Co.'s new factory was started up and ran very satisfactorily. The engine and boiler form a part of the new plant being put in and will furnish sufficient power to meet all requirements. The boiler was furnished by the Hamilton Machine Works at Peterborough and is an excellent specimen of the careful and thorough workmanship that has given the Hamilton works a provincial reputation. The engine is probably the finest and most complete power machine to be found in the district, of 30 h. p., with a great many improvements on engines such as were manufactured in recent years."

Church Notes.

Mr. J. H. Roper announced on Sunday at morning and evening services at St. Paul's Church that a public reception would be tendered to the Rev. Mr. Torrance in the school room of the church on Wednesday evening, in honor of his return.

No services will be held in the auditorium of the George Street Methodist Church for the next five Sundays. Mr. Clegg commenced this morning at the alterations in the auditorium.

On Sunday next the George Street church congregation will hold service in Bradburn's Opera House. The Rev. Wm. McDougal, of the Northwest, assisted by three Indian Chiefs, will conduct the services. During the ensuing four Sundays the services will be held in the basement of the church.

On Sunday the Rev. Mr. Farncomb, of Lakefield, assisted in the services at St. John's Church.

A MAD DOG.

It Terrifies the West-enders — How it was Slaughtered.

On Sunday afternoon at about half past two o'clock a large, strongly built brown dog dashed along Rubidge street with eyes glaring and teeth snapping. As he bounded onward the froth from his horrid jaws flew in light flakes in the air. The people on the street and the little children on their way to the St. Andrew's Church Sunday School ran terrified out of its path, all knowing too well the signs of hydrophobia.

At opposite Mr. Geo. Edmison's house the brute came to a standstill, and then crept up the steps to the verandah. The family were very much frighted by the sudden aapearance of the wolf-like monster and quickly retired to the house as it approached. A crowd soon gathered around, most of the people discreetly standing on the opposite side of the street. Mr. Edmison made his exit from a side entrance and went out in eager search for a gun. He ran quickly from house to house, but in that law-abiding locality there was not as much as a flint-lock to be obtained. Axes and bucksaws were the only weapons offered to him.

Rejecting these as unfit for use in the present exigency, he quickly sped to a brother barrister, Mr. Stone, who, besides having a reputation for worrying witnesses, has also quite a name as a successful bagger of ducks and partridges. Mr. Edmison had calculated well. Mr. Stone was in. Mr Edmison hastily communicated the news, and in an instant both Mr. Stone and his double-barrelled gun emerged from the house. As the two lawyers strode along the street like soldiers on quick march, they were joined by Mr. Bert Cottingham, who, in his hurry to see the execution of the beast, forgot to put on his hat. However, that didn't matter. The three came on, and by the time they reached the expectant crowd, Mr. Cottingham was carrying the gun. He stood across the street, took aim at the maddened animal and fired. Where he was hit was not seen, but copious streams of blood issued and flooded over the platform. For a moment the dog seemed paralyzed. Then he drew himself up and started off at a trot down the lane leading towards the Protestant Home.

A crowd of over a hundred had gathered. Mr. Cottingham, who had not yet been supplied with any head dress, refrained from pursuing the animal. He handed the gun over to Mr. L. Sherlock and that gentleman traced the blood-stained track of the wounded canine, followed by the whole eager and excited crowd. The red trail led to Stewart street, thence northward. On nearing the bank of the creek the huntsman spied his game in the long grass, and fired as the dog started to cross the water. The charge had the effect of tumbling the dog over a couple of times, after which he shook himself and waded languidly and sorrowfully onward. Gaining the other shore he showed his preference of verandahs by again ascending another. The proprietor of the house attempted to dislodge him with a hoe, but he snapped and glared like a wild beast at bay. The gentleman with the hoe retired and awaited reinforcements.

In the meantime Mr. Sherlock had accused Mr. Stone with having loaded the gun with small shot, arguing that a dog could never have survived such a charge if it had been ammunition of decent calibre. Mr. Stone protested that he had loaded the gun with buckshot. To settle the matter it was agreed to pursue the animal and discharge the other barrel. Mr. Sherlock went courageously up to the fierce brute, being only a few feet from him. He aimed again and pulled the trigger. He pulled again and again, but the thing wouldn't go off. The dog quietly eyed him with apparent interest. Mr. Stone then came up and put a cartridge in the other barrel, and with that Mr. Sherlock fired. But as Mr. Sherlock had contended, it was small shot. It took no effect. Then Mr. Stone acknowledged the mistake, and put in buckshot. Mr. S. refused to be taken in again. He quietly handed over the gun and left Mr. Stone to finish the business, which was done a moment afterwards, and the satisfied crowd dispersed.

Mr. Anglesy, the baker, was the owner of the animal.

Sympathy.

The following resolution was passed at the regular monthly meeting of L. O. L. No. 80:—

C. W. Sawers, Esq., W.M. of L.O.L. No. 80:

DEAR SIR AND BRO.—We the members of L. O. L. No. 80 in lodge assembled, hereby tender you our heartfelt sympathy in your serious and trying circumstances caused by the sad accident which befel Mrs. Sawers, prostrating her for an indefinite period on a bed of suffering; may she be endowed with fortitude to bear up in this trying ordeal; and also your own serious illness which has incapacitated you from performing your onerous duties.

Dear sir, we have sadly missed your genial and brotherly presence at our fraternal meetings, where you were wont to cheer and encourage us, and ever ready to promote the interests of our noble order.

But we humbly pray that the Great I Am will speedily restore Mrs. Sawers and yourself to health and strength, and enable you to perform your several duties (social and otherwise) for many years to come, and crown your efforts with prosperity and happiness, health and strength in this life, and a crown of glory in that which is to come.

Signed in behalf of the brethren of L. O. L. No. 80.

POLICE COURT.

THE LICET LARCENY CASE.

SATURDAY, Sept. 11.—After frequent adjournments the Licet larceny case was heard this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Michael Licet was charged by John Reardon, with having stolen a watch from him on the night of Tuesday Sept. 7th. He pleaded not guilty.

JOHN READON, sworn, said that the last time he saw his watch before it was stolen was on Tuesday evening. He had gone to a wedding, and being a little "full" he sat down on the door step of Hall's Biscuit and confectionery works. There he slumbered till morning. He found when he woke, that his watch, $11 and two yankee cents had been taken from him. He notified Capt. Cooper and a search was commenced. They heard that Licet was showing a watch at Simpson's. They went there and were told that Licet had gone down to Freman's. He went first and the chief followed. He saw Licet. When he came near Licet put his hand over the chain. He went up to Licet and said "Here, that's my watch" "All right," said Licet, "take it." He took the watch. Capt. Cooper asked for it and he gave it over.

Licet was heard. He said that he found the watch in front of Hall's. He had shown it around, tried to find the owner, and several times refused to sell it. Witnesses corroborated the last part of Licet's evidence and the case was dismissed.

A BAD BOY.

Albert Clarke, a lad 14 years of age, of Lakefield, was charged by Samuel Griffin, with having stolen $3 from him. The defendant pleaded guilty.

Albert Clarke was charged by Capt. Ophelia Odley, of the Salvation Army, with having stolen $3 from her. The defendant pleaded guilty.

The MAGISTRATE said that even at such an early time of life the defendant had become a terror to the neighborhood in which he lived. He would sentence the defendant to five years in the Reformatory in Toronto with the hope that he would strive to profit by the lesson taught and examples held up at that place. He would get an education and a trade there and it was earnestly to be hoped that he would leave it a law-abiding citizen.

A LIQUOR CASE.

A charge of committing an infraction of the provisions of the Scott Act was preferred against Geo. German by Inspector Cochrane. The defendant did not appear. Evidence already submitted proved the case and a fine of $50 and costs, to be paid within five days, was imposed; in default of payment distress, and in default of distress imprisonment for two months.

ENLARGED.

MONDAY, Sept. 13.—Thomas Howden, of the township of Douro, was charged by Alex. Watts with having on Friday, August 13th, feloniously stolen one ram, the property of the complainant.

The defendant pleaded not guilty.

Mr. WOOD, for the Crown, stated that the witnesses had not yet been subpœnaed. He asked for an enlargement till to-morrow.

Mr. MOORE, for the defendant, declined to choose whether his client be tried summarily or by jury till the case came up before the court for hearing.

The case was enlarged till to-morrow.

A Clever Capture.

The Lindsay Post has the following in reference to the capture in that town of notorious burglars:—"On Friday evening of last week Mr. R. Matchett, station agent at Lindsay, received a telegram describing the appearance of two men who were supposed to have been the parties who broke into the station at Beaverton Tuesday night previous. On Friday night before leaving off duty Station Agent Matchett took a look at the cars switched on the different sidings just to see if things were all right. While walking along a line of flat cars loaded with lumber standing near the water tank he saw two man crouched between the lumber piled on the car and partly covered by boards pulled over. The glance afforded showed that the hat worn by one corresponded with the description of the supposed burglars, and the further fact was noticed that one had a red moustache. Mr. Matchett made a feint of taking the numbers of the cars, and presently walked off to the station and telephoned for Chief of Police Bell, who hurried down. Switchman Stanton was pressed into service by Mr. Matchett, and the three went off to the cars and on the way down Hugh Sinclair joined in the hunt. The car was surrounded and Chief Bell mounted the car and intimated to the surprised men that their time had come. They showed fight, but having four stout fellows to deal with soon subsided and submitted to be handcuffed. The men were searched at the station and were found to have been armed. When arrested one, who afterwards gave his name as McLone, threw away a revolver which was afterward picked up. The other man was armed with a revolver, a piece of soap, and a copy of the Midland Free Press. The prisoners were locked up in gaol by Police Officer Bell, and were brought before the magistrate on Saturday morning.... Detective Burrows of Toronto visited Lindsay on Tuesday and recognized prisoner McLone as Edward Kenny, a professional burglar and thief of considerable notoriety. In his day he has served two terms in Kingston penitentiary, once for burglary and again for robbery. Five years ago in a robbery he shot a fellow burglar named Crozier in mistake for a policeman. In his capture Chief Bell has rid the country for a time of a most dangerous character.

BULGARIA AND RUSSIA.

Warlike Signs—The National Assembly to Meet.

SOFIA, Sept. 11.—The regency has issued a decree convoking the national assembly for the 13th inst. The following despatch has been sent to Prince Alexander signed by 200 deputies: "We deeply grieve over your absence from your beloved country. We earnestly desire to see among us our hero prince, the defender of our national liberty and independence." The officers of all the garrisons have telegraphed similar messages to the prince. Metropolitan Clement and M. Zankoff are detained under guard in their houses, but are permitted to see friends.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

LONDON, Sept 12.—Great excitement exists Chatham by the unexpected receipt of urgent orders from the admiralty to expedite the completion of men-of-war. Relays of workmen are to be employed day and night if necessary. This activity is regarded as indicating possible complications.

RUSSIA AND ENGLAND.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The North German Gazette says there is no prospect of the re-enthronment of Prince Alexander; that even if the Sobrange re-elects Alexander the signers of the Berlin treaty will hardly consent to his return. It is not likely, the Gazette adds, that Russia and England will come to an agreement very soon regarding the throne of Bulgaria.

AUSTRIA READY.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Morning Post's Berlin correspondent says Austria has formally notified Germany that Austria will oppose any attempt by Russia to encroach upon the liberties of the Balkans. A special messenger has started for Strasburg with important dispatches for the Emperor William. The Austrian newspapers, while deploring the possible necessity of war, agree that it must be cheerfully restored to, if it will prevent great calamaties in the future.

RUSSIA'S POSITION.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 12.—The Novoe Vremiya says a great mistake has been committed if the double celebration of Prince Alexander's and the Czar's fete day contained an arriere pensee, or if the presentation of the colours to the Roumelian regiment was intended to flatter Prince Alexander. Russia, it says, will indicate her position precisely to the Sobranje at the decisive moment.

THE PRINCE'S FETE.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Prince Alexander's fete day was the occasion of great rejoicing at Philippopolis. The festivities were continued throughout the night. Bodies of troops headed by bands paraded through the town, and the streets resounded with the cheers of the populace. In the evening a brilliant display of fireworks was made at Varna, and prayers for Prince Alexander were offered in the churches. The Te Deum was sung at the Russian Consulate in honor of the Czar. Only fifteen persons were present. Troops were stationed around the Consulate to prevent disorder.

RUSSIA AND PRUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG Sept., 12.—Prince William, of Prussia, was met on his arrival at Brest-Litovsk by the Czar, the Czarewitch and the Grand Dukes, and was driven in the railway station to the fortress, where he met and saluted the Czarina. At a banquet given in his honour, Prince William sat at the right of the Czarina. He afterward witnessed the preparations for the defence of the fortress in case of night attacks.

RUSSIAN OFFICERS.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The Cologne Gazette says twenty Russian officers are going to Bulgaria to occupy the highest military posts.

THE PROVINCIAL SYNOD.

Religious Education — Conferring Degrees—Mission Work.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—A committee was appointed to reply to the greetings of the Methodist Conference.

There was some discussion as to Mr. Fords' motion in regard to Church of England seperate schools. Mr. Geo. Elliott of Guelph moved in amendment "that in view of the elimination of scriptual teaching from schools, it is desirable that the whole Scriptures be restored to the schools in a text book, and that all facilities be given to restore religious instructions, and that a small committee be appointed to consider the question, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Methodist Conference." The discussion was adjourned to allow of a unanimous expression of opinion being prepared.

The Prolocutor read the following message from the House of Bishops:

"Whereas the Bishop of Montreal has undertaken to say that he will not consent to the taking of any steps towards the renewing of the application to the Legislature to confer power on the Montreal Diocesan College to confer degrees before next trennial meeting of the Provincial Synod;

Therefore, be it resolved, that the consideration of the proposed canon on degrees of divinity be postponed until the next Provincial Synod and that the Metropolitan be requested to appoint, out of the House a committee to confer with a committee of the Lower House to decide on definite action;

The committee to be composed of their Lordships the Bishops of Nova Scotia, Montreal, Quebec, Toronto, Algoma and Niagara."

It was decided that the Lower House should appoint a Committee.

Mission Work was discussed at length.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1886.

SELLING HIS COUNTRY.

One reason why not only Conservatives but also independants and even the honest loyal section of the Reform party regret that the reformers have succeeding in keeping possession of their old stronghold in Haldimand, is the encouragement thereby given to the Quebec Rielite to persevere in their attempt to force their will upon the whole Dominion of Canada even to the extent of enabling their criminals to defy law and justice. The advocates in Quebec of rebellion and murder are pointing triumphantly to Haldimand as a proof that Mr. Blake and the Ontario Reformers are their allies or rather their vassals bowing to their claim to rule Canada. This is no political question, no more party issue, for it involves the peace and prosperity, nay the very existence of the Dominion, which must be torn to pieces if one of its constituent Provinces is to push a claim to empire over the others. A plain refusal to recognize the pretention to be superior to all other Canadians, and to have privileges not accorded to others, would have led these misguided men to pause, but now they are encouraged in their treasonable arrogance by finding that they can purchase allies even from among those whose very liberties they are attacking. There would have been no danger from the assault of the Quebec Rielites upon the rights of the people of Canada, but for the knavery of Mr. Blake and his associates in making a reciprocal bargain with these men to exchange Reform encouragement of crime and treason for Rielite votes. It is said that a member of the old Irish parliament, who at the time of the vote for Union, was taunted with selling his country, replied by thanking heaven that he had a country to sell. Surely his blood must flow in the veins of Mr. Blake, who is yielding to an hereditary propensity in thus selling his country for his own self-aggrandizement. Will his former supporters tamely acquiesce in his sale of them?

We have noticed at least a dozen Rielite journals speaking of the Haldimand election as "a crushing defeat" for the Conservatives. This is really very silly. A constituency which has always been a noted Reform stronghold, which has never once in its history swerved from its allegiance to the Reform party, has been barely held as it was. To call this "a crushing defeat" is such a misuse of language as a school girl indulges in when she tells her bosom friend that a freckle makes her pretty face look "awfully hideous."

The effort made in some quarters to prejudice people against the Hon. John Carling by representing the Methodists as opposed to him because he made some of his money by brewing beer is shown to be a mere political device by the fact that the chief church court of the Methodists in Canada accepted with cheers the offer of Mr. Gooderham of $30,000 towards the removal of Victoria College to Toronto without one word of protest on account of the money having been made by distilling whiskey.

THE PROVINCIAL SYNOD.

Greetings Exchanged—A Messenger of Peace.

On Saturday a reply to the greetings of the Methodist Conference was adopted, and delegates were appointed to the convention of the Episcopal Church of the United States.

Then came the consideration of the message from the House of Bishops, recommending that the question be postponed and a committee appointed to consider the whole matter.

Hon. Chancellor Henecker, of Bishop's College, took this as a message of peace—(applause)—and would move its concurrence in the postponement if the proposed canon, on the express understanding that the Bishops of Montreal will not consent to any application to the Legislature for degree conferring power before the next meeting of the provincial Synod. He said that all the teaching institutions should be represented on the Committee.

Dr. Bethune seconded the motion, which was carried.

The Prolocutor read a message from the Upper House, asking a joint committee to consider the best means of celebrating the completion of the first centenary of the organization of the church in Canada, and that the Metropolitan and the Biships of Quebec and Nova Scotia had been appointed to represent the Upper House on the Committee. (Applause.)

The discussion on the educational question was resumed, when a resolution was passed to the effect that members of the synod do everything in their power to influence the legislatures in their respective provinces to authorize the reading of the holy scriptures and other religious instructions. A committee was also appointed upon church and schools. A motion was also passed for the appointment of a committee on the relative rights and duties of bishops, rectors, and churchwardens.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

Rumoured Battles between Crow and Blood Indians.

The Leithbridge News says:—"A rumour is current in town that a party of six Blood Indians who left the reserve some time ago and crossed the line on a horse stealing expedition fell in with a party of Crows, with which they had a fight. Five of the Bloods fell victims to the superior numbers of the Crows, and one escaped and returned to camp. Another party of 75 who left here about the same time have not been heard from, and it is feared they have also been [illegible] it, as the treaty payments are over, which will be the latter part of this week, a party of 200 Bloods intend leaving for the scene of the late fight to have revenge. We got this information from a man just in from the Bloods' camp, and gave it for what it is worth, as we are unable at present writing to find out anything further."

The Seizure of the Moro Castle.

PORT MULGRAVE, N. S., Sept. 13—The third seizure of last week and the sixteenth to date was made at Port Mulgrave Saturday night. The American schooner Moro Castle had anchored here on her way home from North Bay with forty barrels of mackerel. During the evening a boat from the cruiuser Howlett with Collector Bourinet on board rowed up the Strait of Canso from Port Hawkesbury and the collector seized the Moro Castle for smuggling at Chester in 1884, and other violations of Customs. She was commanded by different captains then but the vessel herself is liable for the offence. The collector and an armed guard remained on board all night and yesterday morning took the vessel across to Hawkesbury. She is owned by Capt. Nauss who is now in Mulgrave on his schooner Belle A. Nauss on his third trip to Prince Edward Island for mackerel.

An Historic Figure Gone.

YARMOUTH, N. S., September 13.—The death of Simon Dentremont at Pubnico, aged 98 years, removes one of Nova Scotia's historic landmarks. He was a direct decendent of the scion of the Royal House of Bourbon, who was created Baron Pabomcoup and Duke of Pubnico and married a daughter of Latour so famed in Nova Scotian history. Simon Dentrement's grandfather and faimly were exiled from Nova Scotia in 1757, but returned in 1768 as the leader of the straggling band of French-Acadians who settled in Pubnico. The deceased at one time represented Yarmouth in the Nova Scotia legislature and was the first Acadian who ever sat in an English parliament. He was the oldest Arcadian in Canada and leaves 136 children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Hudson Bay Navigation.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 13.—Captain Markham, of the Alert expedition, arrived yesterday overland from Hudson Bay. The western end of Hudson Straits was reached by the Alert on July 20th, ice being encountered for nine days in the straits. It was ascertained that a whaler had passed up the straits a month previous without being seriously impeded by ice. Capt. Markham says the straits are navigable at least four months in the year. The straits are open to navigation in June.

Socialists Drilling.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—It is stated that a band of Socialists have been drilling on the banks of the Hae Kensack river every Sunday since last May. During March and April quite a number of Socialists from Germany and Chicago secured work in the silk mills at West Hoboken and Homestead. They had not been long at work before they began to sow the seed of discontent. A union was formed and a strike followed. The men say they are organizing for rebellion.

More Devilry in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Several attempts to destroy property of the Lake Shore railway were made last night. The watch tower at the intersection was blown up and a frightful disaster was narrowly escaped in which many passengers' lives might have been lost. Fifteen loaded freight cars were derailed by a misplaced switch and a switchman was arrested in another attempt to throw a switch and derail a freight train.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

EDUCATING THE PEOPLE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 12.—The Czar has bestowed the decoration of the order of St. Vladimia upon M. Michel Nekephorowitsch Katkoff, director of the Moscow lyceum and editor of the Moscow Gazette, the most influential and authoritative newspaper in Russia. The official statement is that the editor is decorated in reward for educating the people of Russia to a clear reception of the true foundation of the Russian political constitution.

BEACH, ROSS AND HANLAN.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Deeble, the Australian hotelkeeper, who is backing Beach in his coming race with Wallace Ross, offered to-night to bet £1000 to £800 that the Australian would win, but the offer met with no takers. Deeble subsequently offered six to four on his man, at which odds several bets were booked. Beach, in conversation respecting the merits of Hanlan, said: "Hanlan is a very good man in a boat, but a very big fool out of it. He won't come here to row against me. You may depend upon that, nor will anything induce him to row me on the Paramatta. I don't regard a match with him as among the possibilities."

BEATING A BAILIFF.

DUBLIN, Sept. 13.—Three moonlight raids took place last night, all of them close to the headquarters of Gen. Sir Redvers Buller. William Cuffe, a baliff, who had made himself very obnoxious by his cruel treatment of a woman whom he recently evicted, went early to attend mass in Celcarra chapel. When the men and women of the congregration who were in the chapel noticed Cuffe's presence they became very indignant, and the men dragged him from the building. When they had him outside they turned him over to the women, who were begging for a chance at him. Among these women were twelve whom Cuffe had evicted. These women were furious, and they fell upon the bailiff and beat him unmercifully. Subsequently, the priest, who is also president of the local branch of the National League, admitted the battered bailiff to hear mass, and this mercy for the unfortunate man has almost caused a rebellion against the priest.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

BELFAST, Sept. 13.—A desperate attempt was made last evening to assassinate District Inspector Cosgrove at the corner of Percy street and Shankhill. Two detectives were knocked down and kicked, but not seriously injured, while dispersing a crowd. Cosgrove ran up the street after a young fellow who had been the only member of the crowd who used bad language to the police. As soon as the fellow saw that he had separated Cosgrove from the patrol of police he turned and levelled a revolver over his left arm as a rest and snapped it [illegible] at Cosgrove. The caps exploded each time, but the priming was apparently damp as the pistol did not go off. A lunge of Cosgrove's sword prevented a fourth attempt, but did not disable the ruffian, who escaped.

CABINET COUNCIL.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Cabinet met yesterday afternoon and sat an hour and a half. The subjects under consideration were the Bulgarian question and Mr. Parnell's Land bill.

CHINESE AMBASSADOR.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Marquis Tseing has postponed his departure for China, and has started for Switzerland, his son being seriously ill.

A TE DEUM.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A grand Te Deum was sung in all the churches of Malta to-day in gratitude for the preservation of the island from the recent earthquakes

THE ITALIAN FASTER.

ROME, Sept. 12.—Succi, the Italian faster at Milan, is in the best of spirits and shows no signs of weakness. He fences and swims daily. All that causes fear is the rapid daily diminution of his weight. His task is nearly ended. He proposes to repeat the fast in Paris in November and afterwards in London.

MR. PARNELL'S LAND BILL.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The Parnell Land Bill as redrafted suspends evictions on payment into court of half the rent due. Many Gladstonians disapprove of the amount of the reduction asked. The Parnellites assert that the full values justify a demand of over fifty per cent. reduction. Mr Parnell, in conference with John Morley, urged a reduction of 75 per cent., but on Mr. Morley's advice he limited the reduction to 50 per cent. Leaseholds are included in the bill. The Government's response will be that Mr. Parnell's data are inaccurate; that the Dublin executive returns of market values for 1885-86 show that the reduction in prices in Ireland is less than in England and Scotland, ranging from 10 to 15 per cent. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Lord Randolph Churchill will deny that the bulk of the Irish tenants will be unable to pay their rents in November or a host of evictions are probable. The second reading of the Parnell Bill will take place on Friday. Mr. Gladstone has privately announced that he will return to London on Saturday and that he hopes to take part in the debate on Monday. It is understood that he will support the Parnell Bill. His promised presense is already rallying the Gladstonians. The Unionist whips have sent an appeal to Unionist members in the country to return to London and vote against the bill. The Government also insists upon the recall of absentees. Conservative attempts to curtail the debate to one night will be in vain. The debate will probably extend over four nights.

The Indian Prisoners.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept 11.—Official despatches received from Arizona say the War Department has disapproved of the action of Gen. Miles in removing the captured Indians to Florida, and has directed Gen. Stanley to take charge of Geronimo and other hostiles on their arrival at San Antonio and hold them there as prisoners.

Irish Loyalists.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept.—Dr. Kane of Belfast and Mr. G. Hill Smith, Loyalist delegates from Ireland, addressed a large meeting in the Central Rollier Rink here to-night. A Loyalist resolution was unanimously carried.

Be a Hero in the Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly say consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

OUR FUTURE TOWNS.

Historical and Descriptive Notices of Villages.

THE VILLAGE OF NORWOOD.

IMPORTANT MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES OF VARIOUS KINDS.

The Business Places and Hotels—Public Buildings, Schools and Churches—Social and Sporting Societies.

BUCK'S FLOUR MILL.

Mr. Thomas Buck's flower mill occupies a stone building 40x55 feet and five stories high. It is run by both water and steam power. A Leffel turbine water wheel, 48 inches with fourteen feet head of water, gives the water power, and the steam power is furnished by a new Wheelock engine, 55 horse power, put in last fall. The capacity of the mill is fifty barrels per day. It has three run of stones, for merchant and gristing work. The highest story of the building is occupied by shafting and gearing. In the fourth story are the seperator, grain bins, merchant bolts, etc. Bran, shorts and grain bins, are in the third story, as are also the custom bolts, purifier, etc. In the second story or ground floor, are the three run of stones, two being for wheat and one for chop, the hopper, scales, etc. The flour packer and smut mill are in the lowest story, which is also used for a store room. The engine room is in another building attached to the main building. There is a neat office in the front part of the ground floor. The mill is running at the rate of about 40,000 bushels of gristings, or custom work, a year. The mill received a general overhauling last fall, when the new engine was added and other improvements made. Mr. Buck is considering the question of changing to the roller system and enlarging the capacity of the mill. Mr. Buck also owns another flour mill in the village, which has two run of stones and is all complete, but it is not running now. He also deals in lumber at the mill, the saw mill being a few miles from the village. The mill is in charge of Mr. [illegible], a competent miller, who is a son-in law of Mr. Buck, and has for many years done good service in the mill to the satisfaction of the many patrons.

BROWN'S SAW MILL.

Mr. S. H. Brown's saw mill is the only one inside the corporation. It is a lumber and shingle mill, and also contains machinery for planing and turning. Mr. Brown suffered from fire a few years ago. He now occupies a building 60x80 feet and two stories high. Steam power is used, a fifty horse power engine being enclosed in a detached brick building. There are in the mill seven different kinds of circular saws, a planer, matcher, lathe, rip and gig saws, etc. Mr. Brown has done a considerable business this year in sawing cedar paving blocks for Messrs. Van Vlack & Co., of Toronto. The timber is procured in the vicinity of Norwood and is sawed at this mill. About 2,000 cords of the blocks have been sawn so far this season, and the prospects are favourable for a better season with them next year. Mr. Brown is preparing to erect another building, 20x50 feet and two stories high, which will be used for the planing and shingle mill. New machinery will be put in when it is completed, including a shaper, sticker and band saw.

CUMMING'S WOOLLEN MILL.

Messrs. J. & J. D. Cumming's are the Lessees of the Norwood woollen mill, and the firm has another mill in Hastings. This is their second year in this factory. They turn out white and gray blankets, tweeds, horse blankets, flannels, and full cloth, besides custom work in carding, etc. The main building is about 45x40 feet, three stories high, and there are an office, boiler house, dye house and storeroom attached. In the first story there are four looms—two broad and two narrow looms—finishing machinery, shearer, washer, fulling mill, scouring rollers, gig and press. The second floor contains the manufacturing set, consisting of the first and second breaker and finisher, a set of roll cards, a spinning jack of 200 spindles, picker and duster, winding machine and grinding frame. The third story is used for a storeroom. The dye tubs are in an attached wing, and the engine room contains a 35 horse power engine, which furnishes the motive power for the machinery. The Messrs. Cummings have done a good business in this factory and give employment in it to thirteen persons.

STACEY'S PUMP FACTORY.

Mr. W. H. Stacey manufactures force and lift pumps. The factory occupies a building about 70 x 26 feet, half of which is two stories high, and there is a wing attached 35 feet long for a store room. The motive power is furnished by a six horse power steam engine. There are in the factory a power boring machine, two lathes, a circular saw, etc. The kinds of pumps made here are cistern pumps, common pumps, cone pumps and force pumps, the manufacture of force pumps having been added this year. Turning for house furnishing and cabinet ware, and boring timber for drains, are also done in the factory.

NORWOOD CHEESE FACTORY.

The Norwood cheese factory, of which Mr. Hugh Spence is proprietor, is perhaps the largest in the county, and it is an industry of importance to the village. The building is 30 x 75 feet, with an engine room attached containing the engine and boiler. There are four 600 gallon vats and two gang presses used in the factory. The milk brought to the factory averages about 9,000 pounds a day, but in June the average was about 14,000 pounds. The number of boxes of cheese made average about fifteen a day, or 2,000 during the season. Three hands are employed in the factory, and nine waggons are engaged in drawing the milk, and the expense runs up to about $15 a day. Mr. H. Reynolds is salesman for the factory, and he generally has the largest number of boxes to place on the board at the Peterborough cheese market, while the cheese always brings the highest figure going.

SEARIGHT'S CABINET FACTORY.

Mr. C. J. Searight's cabinet warerooms and factory are on Peterborough street. The wareroom is next the street, and contains a good stock of furniture. The workshop is in the rear, where a great part of the goods he deals in are made.

MOORE'S CABINET FACTORY.

Mr. R. W. Moore deals in furniture and undertaking. His wareroom is very well supplied with furniture and coffins, and the workshop is in the factory also in the rear of the show room.

UNDERTAKING.

Mr. W. H. Minaker is an undertaker, and makes coffins and articles necessary for his business, and has two fine hearses. Mr. Minaker will soon remove to a commodious building being erected, in which also Morrow & Co. will have a cabinet factory and furniture store.

CALDER'S TANNERY.

Mr. John Calder's tannery occupies a two storey building 30x42 feet. Steam is the motive power. There are in the tannery ten or twelve vats and two leaches. The tannery is not being used at present, as Mr. Calder is giving his attention to his farm.

COOPER SHOP.

Mr. John Wood has a cooper shop on Belmont street, where he makes churns, pork barrels, tubs, butter firkins, etc.

CARRIAGE MAKERS AND BLACKSMITHS.

Mr. Thos Hendren's carriage and waggon shop occupies a two story building 36x50 feet. The first story is used for a show room, and the fluishing shop is in the second story. The wood working and blacksmith shops are in a two story wing attached to the main building.

Mr. Geo. Hendren, carriage and waggon maker, occupies a two story building. The lower story is used for the wood working and blacksmith shops, and the second story for painting and finishing.

Mr. John Herring occupies a three story building as a carriage and waggon and [illegible] The smith's shop are in the ground floor and the paint shop in the second story.

Mr. John McMillan does general blacksmithing, repairing, and carriage and waggon work.

Mr. George Jones, carriage and waggon maker, does all kinds of wood work necessary for turning out these vehicles.

Mr. Wm. Nicholl carries on business at horseshoeing, blacksmithing and general jobbing and repairing.

Mr. J. A. McNicoll occupies a large shop on Colborne street for horseshoeing, jobbing and general iron work and repairing, etc.

Mr. Wm. Sedgwick carries on the business of horse shoeing, carriage ironing, repairing, etc.

Mr. Wm. Bailey also does general blacksmithing, horseshoeing, repairing and iron work generally.

MERCANTILE.

There are several excellent business blocks in Norwood and fine stores. There are eight general stores in the village, and a number in special lines. Among the most important of the mercantile business is that carried on at

THE GRAIN ELEVATOR.

Messrs Roxburgh & Rork are the proprietors of the elevator. Its capacity is 32,000 bushels and horse power is used, but an addition is being built that will increase the storing capacity to 40,000 bushels and it is intended to add steam power. The facilities for shipping are good, as the elevator is close to the Canadian Pacific Railway line and a siding runs in to it. This will be the third season that Messrs. Roxburgh & Rork have handled grain, and last year they purchased 90,000 bushels. They also deal in coal, lumber, salt, plaster, etc. There is a telephone line between the elevator and Mr. Roxburgh's office in his block on the corner of Peterborough and Colbourne streets. The erection of this storehouse two years ago was an important addition to the business of Norwood and it is a convenience for the farmers in that neighborhood. Messrs. Roxburgh & Rork also deal extensively in cedar posts, having this season passed through their hands about 20,000 lineal feet of cedar. This industry has of late years developed largely in the hands of this firm, and has been the means of giving employment to a large number of extra hands in preparing the cedar for market, and a lot of which is prepared in Norwood for the block pavements in Toronto and other cities of the Dominion.

GENERAL STORES.

Mr. J. B. Pearce keeps a general store on Colborne street. Mr. Pearce is one of Norwood's oldest residents, he having been born in the village. He is postmaster in the village, and the post office is in the same building and united with the store by a door. The lines he deals in are dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, ready-made clothing, etc. He established this business last January, and carries a large stock. Mr. Pearce has a branch store at Havelock. He also deals occasionally in bankrupt stocks, a business separate from his general store.

Mr. W. H. Stephenson, the Reeve, has a general store on Peterborough street. He keeps dry goods, groceries, crockery and glassware, boots and shoes, and ready made clothing. He has a good stock, and there is a large storeroom in rear the store. Mr. Stephenson has also a branch establishment of a similar character at Havelock.

Messrs. Buck Bros.' general store is on Colborne. They deal in dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, stationery, etc. They occupy commodious premises and have well stocked shelves.

Messrs. Waters & Co. occupy a good stand in Roxburgh's block, corner Peterborough and Colborne streets. They carry dry goods, groceries, crockery and glassware, boots and shoes, hardware, stationery, etc. The telegraph office is in their store.

Messrs. Howson & Starr's store is in Mullins' block, corner Peterborough and Colborne streets. They have dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, crockery and glassware, and millinery, the millinery room being in the second story.

Messrs. Smith & Baldrick, a new firm in Norwood, have been in Mullins' block, Colborne street, for two months. They deal in dry goods, boots and shoes, groceries, ready made clothing, gents' furnishings, furs, etc.

Mr. J. D. Ackerman's store is in a very good stand on Peterborough street, where he sells dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, crockery, wall paper, etc.

Messrs. Clarke & McMillan, Peterborough street, deal in dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, crockery and glassware, and seeds. They have recently added 500 feet of shelving to the store.

DRUG STORES.

Mr. Wm. Rutherford, Peterborough street, sells drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, etc., and books and stationery. An addition to the premises, 16 x 24 feet, has recently been completed, and an archway cut between the store and dispensary. A very handsome dispensary case has been ordered, six feet long and ornamented by a large mirror. Mr. Rutherford has a very fine store, one which many towns could not excel.

Mr. J. F. Williams has just opened a store on Colborne street, for the sale of drugs, chemicals, dye stuffs, patent medicines, toilet articles, etc. It is a very neat and nice store.

JEWELLERY.

Mr. Geo. Duffield's jewellery and watch making establishment is in a brick building on Peterborough street. He keeps for sale jewellery, watches, silverware and fancy goods, and he has a very fine shop and a good stock of these costly articles.

STOVES AND TINWARE.

Mr. Thos. Fraser, Colborne street, has a fine store in which he deals in stoves, tinware, hardware, etc. Mr. Fraser is also Clerk of the Division Court. Mr. Fraser's store has recently been enlarged and otherwise improved.

Messrs. Phillips Bros'. store is on Peterborough street, where they sell stoves, hardware and tinware. Their workshop is at the rear of the store.

Mr. R. J. Stewart has very recently opened a store on Colborne street for the sale of stoves, tinware and copper ware. He also does roofing and evetroughing, and makes his tinware in a shop over the store.

HARNESS AND HARDWARE.

Mr. I. N. Ackerman keeps a hardware and harness shop on Peterborough street. The hardware business occupies the ground floor and the harness show room and workshop the upper flat. The premises were enlarged this year, making the store sixty-eight feet deep.

Mr. R. Wilson's store is on Colborne street. He deals in harness and saddlery, horse clothing, trunks, and baby carriages. Mr. Wilson is one of the old residents of Norwood, having commenced his present business there in 1862.

MILLINERY AND DRESS MAKING.

Miss Williams has a millinery, mantle making and dress making establishment on Peterborough street. Miss Williams has been in this business ten years in Norwood, and was six years in Hastings. She keeps a good stock of dry goods, millinery and fancy goods, and has a fine store.

Miss Glass keeps a millinery and fancy goods store on Colborne street, in which she has a good stock of goods in a neat store.

Mrs. Hill, Peterborough street, Mrs. H. Farrell, Colborne street, and Miss Udey also have dress making establishments.

GROCERS AND CONFECTIONERS.

Mrs. Brennan keeps a grocery, confectionery, provision store and bakery, in a new building on Colborne street, with which is connected an ice cream saloon.

Mr. Thomas McMillan commenced business in a new building on Colborne street last year, and deals in groceries and provisions.

Mr. W. H. Tucker, baker and confectioner, Colborne street, deals in groceries, crockery and glassware, provisions and fancy goods, and runs a bread delivery waggon.

Mr. James Radden, baker and confectioner, Peterborough street, keeps in addition fancy goods, toys, etc. He trades in cattle and sheep.

Mr. D. Mahony has started business on Peterborough street as baker and confectioner.

Mr. C. Brown keeps a grocery and confectionery store on Peterborough street, in the "City Bakery" stand.

TAILORING.

Mr. J. F. Perkins, merchant tailor, occupies commodious premises on Peterborough street, where he keeps a stock of tweeds, etc., and makes gentlemen's clothing.

Messrs. Gear Bros., merchant tailors, are on Colborne street. They carry a stock of cloth for gentlemen's ware and make them up. The Bible Society Repository is in their shop.

Mr. Wm. Eaton's merchant tailoring establishment is on Peterborough street, where he keeps a stock of cloth and does tailoring work.

CHAPTER V.

IMPRESSED.

Cuthbert might well be thankful that there would be no need for him to meet his father again that day in privacy unless summoned.

It was not quite clear to himself why he should choose to make his and Jenny's secret known to old Strangfield before he spoke to his father; but men in mental straits yield often to inclination without much inquiry; and that his father, to his way of thinking, was, of the two doses to be swallowed, the more ill-favored for his honesty to gulp at, was the only reason he could have given you for carrying his bit of news to Strangfield first.

I to the school room he went, with his nervous brooding and face of unpleasant thought, and mounted his stool, loathing the pantomime of his actions.

At ten o'clock, with the punctuality that invites awe, entered Dr. Shaw, up rose the forms and the desks to salute this head, as wigs in the law courts spring into a flourish of vegetation when "my lord" comes rustling to the judgment seat. With a short bow—for pomp is difficult to five foot six of stocking and tail, though swelling with frill—the doctor took his seat, and with a smart rap on his desk summoned the Grecians to their labors.

Noon was the hour for a frisk in the playground.

To escape his father, Cuthbert joined the boys, but had no heart to mingle in their sports, though invited by some of the elder lads.

The English master, a cautious, reddish-haired son of the Borderland, but of speech untainted by Erse, unhaunted by Runic germs, came to him with a trim politeness of air and extolled the sky.

"Sir," said the English master, clapping some book under his arm, "this is weather to make boys fat with pleasure."

Cuthbert smiled

"When I was a lad I ran most nimbly when the sun was hottest. It must please your father's son, Mr. Cuthbert, to see these boys so hearty and spirited."

"No doubt he is pleased," rejoined Cuthbert, listlessly.

"You will observe, sir, that health is a larger condition in the eyes of parents than education."

"It should be so."

"One should be a boy to lead boys, Mr. Cuthbert."

"Sometimes one gets tired of boys, though."

"It is plain, Mr. Shaw, that you find this business of teaching boys irksome."

"I need not deny it," replied Cuthbert, candidly, with a glance round the playground.

"But—pray pardon my freedom—you are a younger man than I, of bright parts. Mr. Saunderson gave me—and I credit, as I may fairly presume from your abilities. I sometimes respectfully wonder that your father does not give scope to your ambitions, and deliver you, with such opportunities as his position warrants, to the world you could not fail to grace."

"Ah, Mr. Saunderson, there is much to wonder at," replied Cuthbert, gently. "Time squares everything, if we have patience for the routine of phases. There is the little baronet crying—who has been bullying him?"—with which excuse he left the English master.

So the day wore away and the evening came, and when the boys had trooped to the dormitories Cuthbert went to his room to prepare his mind and person for the beginning of a difficulty. He had no acquaintance with Mr. Strangfield, but knew him well by sight, of course, as Jenny's father, and by hearsay as a mule of a man in prejudice, rancorous as a moslem in his manner of belief, and with those disdains of blood precedence and factitious rights which filled the pot-houses of the time with eloquence, and gave a strut to the low man's stride. So, as a tactician should who knows that big ends are often compassed by small provisions, Cuthbert dressed himself in his soberest apparel—a well-worn monkey jacket and dark small clothes—resolved, at least, with true world cunning, that the hard-eyed Baptist should find nothing foppish in his dress to smell rankly to prepare prejudice.

Then, with his lips twitching to the strength of his silent arguments, our hero went lightly down the staircase, and softly passed his father's study, and out by the house door.

He had hoped to get away unseen; but lo! in front of the garden gate stood Mr. Saunderson, smoking a pipe and contemplatively enjoying the strong evening breeze. The twilight was small, and the moon reddening behind the glowing foreland lamp. Had Cuthbert chosen to walk on Mr. Saunderson would not have recognized him; but in his embarrassment he must needs stop and speak, whereat the master whipped his pipe out of his mouth and stared ceremoniously.

"A fresh evening, Mr. Saunderson. Pray continue to smoke."

"It is, I may truly say, my only indulgence," replied Mr. Saunderson, giving his pipe a loving shake. "There is less chance of my being observed here by the boys, than were I to light my pipe at the back of the house. You are going for a stroll, sir."

"Ay; one cannot do without exercise." And with a nod Cuthbert went on his way.

Mr. Saunderson looked after him earnestly, and when the young fellow had vanished in the folding shadows, shook his head and betook himself to his pipe again, sucking strongly.

Mr. Strangfield's house was a long twenty minutes' walk from Greystone school, stepping it briskly; but even if the dust, when the curve was compassed, that drove full in his face had proved no hindrance to Cuthbert, the obnoxiousness of his mission, and the thoughts that it bred tweaking savagely at his nerves, would account for the frequent drag of his pace.

He had passed his trysting-place, and had turned the elbow of the road which laid the town broad under his eye, when the sounds of men's voices came up with the wind, and, in a few moments, he perceived a crowd of persons approaching him. The moon, stooping clear of a pillow-shaped cloud, threw out a full radiance, by which he saw that the crowd was a company of sailors—some ten of them at least—and that they walked in two gangs, one on either side three men, who strode abreast with heads dejectedly hung and their hands pinioned behind them.

"Deserters," thought Cuthbert, stepping aside.

"Stand!" shouted a youthful voice, "in the kings name! Thompson, here is a toe-and-heeler for us. He'll make the complement, and no more sweethearts to break our heads with frying pans."

The word "Stand!" though very forcibly delivered, produced no effect on Cuthbert, who could scarcely credit, indeed, that it was meant for him; and he was passing on when a young man in a cloak stepped in front of him.

"Now, my bantam, turn about! You're wanted."

"Do you address me?" exclaimed Cuthbert, so much amazed that he looked behind him, half persuaded that there must be some one there for whom the accost was intended.

"You or the man in the moon, my hearty; whoever is the nearest."

"Suffer me to pass you, sir."

"This is too bad," cried the young fellow, in a mock voice of consolation. "Oaths we are used to, but politeness in a son of a quid is fit for nothing but to get lush on tick with. Stand, I tell you! Damn it don't Don't you understand English!" for Cuthbert was pushing past.

"Make way for me. You are overstepping your duty, or laboring under an error."

"Ay, ay, we always do that. Thompson, give him a sheer to port. We'll argue as we walk."

A bushy-whiskered fellow approached Cuthbert, who sprang back a yard before the outstretched arm.

"Touch me at your peril!" he shouted.

"Come, come, take it coolly, man. All the argufication in the world 'll do no good. The sarvice wants ye, so give us your hand upon it?" With a bound the bushy-whiskered man grasped Cuthbert's arm.

The three pinioned men looked on with a dull interest; the sailors turned their tobacco junks unconcernedly, glancing back at the town or up at the moon, muttering over the wet pull before them.

Cuthbert had one of those nervous systems which, in a fury, make steel of the hand and steam engines of the muscles. His white fists sped, like a snow flake on a rush of wind right into the bend of the man Thompson's brow, and a bigtail wriggled in the dust, and a pair of boots tried to hit the moon.

Now, having done this, had he used his heels, he would have saved himself, for he was of the build for swift running; whereas sailors are bad runners, though decent dancers. But his chivalrous courage, not disdaining flight, for the honorable reason that it never thought of flight, held him rooted, with nostrils quivering and gleaming eyes.

Thompson of the bushy whiskers, gathered himself off the road, and rubbing the bridge of his nose, looked with a cast in his eye at the gentlemen in the cloak.

"We want no bloodshed," exclaimed that worthy. "Thompson, Jinkins, here, three of you make his hands fast and bring him along."

This was an order not to be disobeyed under pain of a whipping; willing backs must not be bloodily plowed for boyish obstinance. So they went with a rush; the dust soared in a cloud as from under the heels of a flying horse. It was a wild fight, a mad resistance, with the hardhitting which the age of Mendoza and the slogster Crabbe made free with. But a sudden blow must end the unfair contest. Down went Cuthbert like a snuff seller's Scotchman under the lurch of a drunken man. In a moment his hands were bound; but his legs declining to [illegible] themselves, he was hoisted on to the shoulders of a couple of stout seamen and the party proceeded smartly up the hill toward the gorge that led to the sea.

LINDSAY.

MASONIC AMALGAMATION.—The Warder says:—Last Friday night the union of the two masonic lodges in Lindsay was consummated, the new lodge retaining the name "Faithful Brethren." More than the usual number of members were present, and congratulatory remarks were made by several, including Bros. McMillan, Melville, Cullon, Graham, Willoughby, Kelly, Fowler, Hallett, Corneil, McBurney, Dobbin, Archambault, McGribbin, Sheridan, Brunker, Cliff, C. Britton, J. D. Graham, Cathro, Keats, S. Hughes and many others In the absence of the Worshipful Master, W. Bro. A. Mills, W. Bro. John McMillan had the honor of presiding over the first meeting of the amalgamated lodge, and W. Bro. Hallett of closing it. W. Bro. Melville, one of the oldest masons in the district, gave able assistance in the amalgamation and in the conduct of the meeting.

THE WHEEL.—Mr. W. Thomas, bank clerk, Uxbridge, started on his bicycle from there about 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and arrived in Lindsay a little after 7 in the evening, making the 34 miles in a little more than 5 hours.

CAMPING.—The Post says:—At present numerous camping parties are returning from trips of health and recreation to various localities on the back lakes, and with them they bring accounts of feats of endurance and skill in paddling. In this connection we may mention that Mr. S. Britton made the trip from Deer bay to Lindsay, a distance of forty-five miles, in twelve hours, leaving Deer bay at 7 a. m. and reaching Lindsay by eight p. m. The distance included seven portages and the usual stoppages for "grub pile." This is a record it will be hard to beat.

FENELON FALLS.

THE LOCK GATES.—The quantity of materials that will be used in the construction of the gates soon to be put in the locks here is almost incredible. Three weeks ago last Tuesday four carloads of sawn timber arrived at the Falls, next day the sticks, about fifty in number, were drawn from the station to the south bank of the canal, and since then ten or a dozen men have been busy preparing them for use. The sticks—some of which are pine and the others oak—run from about twenty to nearly thirty feet in length, and of various thickness and widths from six inches up. They were all finished, and the men are waiting for six carloads more, which are overdue, and will probably arrive before this is in print. The iron work, consisting chiefly of bolts and castings, is being made in Peterborough, and there will be enough to it to make a carload of eight or ten tons. When the finishing touches have been given to all the materials, the gates will be built up, a stick at a time, in their places in the locks, after which the component parts will be carefully and securely bolted together. The contractor, Mr. Charles Wynne, finds it necessary to spend the greater part of his time at Peterborough, where he obtains his supplies, but pays frequent visits to the Falls, and the work here progresses steadily under the superintendence of his brother, Mr. Henry Wynne.—Gazette.

Capt. Markham, R. N., who accompanied the Alert on the expedition to Hudson's Bay, arrived at Winnipeg on Saturday from New York Factory, having travelled by way of Oxford House, Norway House, and Lake Winnipeg to Selkirk. He reports favourably of the route, and considers Hudson's strait certainly navigable for four months, and in some seasons for five months in the year.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Township Council met in Warsaw on Tuesday, Aug. 28th. All the members present. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Mr. Kelly was instructed to give notice and sell the timber on the road between lots 10 and 11 in 5th con., in the usual way. Moved by Mr. Crowe, seconded by Mr. Kirk,—That the Clerk give the necessary notices that it is the intention of the Council, at a meeting to be held in their hall at Warsaw, on Oct. 2nd, 1886, to pass a by-law to close a portion of road on W. ½ lot 28, con. 5, Dummer, and one to establish a new road on said parcel of land in lieu of the one closed, in accordance with a report by Messrs. Drain and Robb, commissioners; and also a by-law to close a road on lot 29, con. 6, Dummer, known as Tamblin's road.—Carried. On motion, John Hunter, sen., was appointed collector for the current year. Orders confirmed by Council:

The Bigamy Case.

On account of Mr. C. W. Sawers' illness the defence in the Whiteman bigamy case has been handed over by him to Mr. W. H. Moore. The case comes up in November. On Monday afternoon Mr. Moore was closeted for several hours at the gaol with Whiteman. He has hinted his confidence of winning the case.

Withdrawn.

The auction sale of household furniture, etc., belonging to Mr. P. Kane, on Rubidge street, advertised to take place on Tuesday next, the 21st inst, has been withdrawn. A portion of the furniture, as well as a good milch cow, will be sold by Mr. Stapleton by auction, on Saturday next, on the Market Square, at 11 o'clock a.m.

Commenced Duties.

Miss Greenwood, of Cobourg, who was recently appointed by the Committee on Appointments to the position on the Collegiate Institute staff recently left vacant by the resignation of Miss Robinson, has entered upon her duties. Miss Greenwood is in enjoyment of the distinction of being the first lady graduate of Victoria University.

The Big Boiler.

Mr. R. Reeves, head boiler-maker at the Wm. Hamilton Manufactnring Co.'s works, has returned from Waubashene, where he has been engaged in putting in the huge boiler, made at the company's works, in the steamer Maganettawan, the property of the Georgian Bay Lumber Company. This boiler is the largest ever turned out of the Hamilton works. It is nine feet in diameter, twelve feet long, has one hundred and forty-seven three inch tubes, has two corrugated furnaces forty inches in diameter, and weighs forty-four thousand pounds. Though made to carry one hundred pounds of steam, when tested by the Goverument Inspector, 160 cold water pressure was put on thus giving it a capacity of carrying one hundred and six pounds of steam.

FLOURISHING INDUSTRIES.

In Which Mayor Stevenson has Interested Himself.

The two new industries which have been brought into life at Mayor Steventon's door—the lock works and the bridge works—are both prospering in a very satisfaction degree.

The bridge works, under Mr. Law's able management, are taxed to the outside compacity and still more orders comes in than can be filled. Among the contracts now completed and nearing completion are:—A bridge for Lambton county, one for London city, one for Perth county, one for Prince Edward county, one for Waterloo county, one for Huron county, and one for Kent County. Two gangs of men are now out putting up bridges which have been shipped The central bridge works has invaded even the limits of the city of Toronto and a gang of men are now at work putting on the sidewalks on the Don Bridge.

The Lock works have now 55 men employed, and their number is constantly on the increase. The Lock Manufacturing Company are making a more comprehensive list of door fastenings than even that embraced in their illustrated catalogue. Door pulls, floor bolts and many other articles allied with locks proper, are now being manufactured. If business keeps on increasing, as it has in the past, the company expect to employ over a hundred hands before a year is out.

The increase of business of both establishments will, of course, need more room for its transaction. Already Mr. Law asserts that the whole buildings now occupied by both factories is small enough space for the bridge works alone. Mayor Stevenson, who surveys the prosperous and steady growth of the industries with a fatherly eye and with inward satisfaction, has dropped a few remarks about building, with Mr. Brooks consent, a fine new block for the lock works. Probably the new building will be on Hunter street.

POLICE COURT.

CHARGE OF SHEEP STEALING.

TUESDAY, Sept. 14.—The charged preferred agains Thomas Howden by Alex. Watts was again read in the court this morning.

MR. MOORE, for the defendant, asked for an adjournment for a week, stating that several important witnesses for the defence could not be had just now.

To obivate the necessity of the witnesses for the prosecution appearing again, their testimony was taken.

ALEX. WATTS, sworn, said: On August 10th I left Warsaw with a herd of cattle and a flock of sheep intending to ship them at Peterborough to Montreal. When four miles from the town I left them in charge of two boys. Two sheep got behind the boys. One lay down by the side of the road and the other went into the field. I went to Montreal. When I came back the boys reported to me that they couldn't find the sheep that was left beside the road. I went to town the following day. I went out to search for my sheep but failed to find it. When I got home my wife told me that some one called and said that the sheep had been met by another flock and had been driven into town. The next Saturday I came in and made enquiries among the butchers. I found that Mr. Mervin had bought some from Mr. Howden brought in on that day. I then went to Mr. Webber's field in Smith, I saw a ram but couldn't say positively that it was mine; thought it was. Mr. Mervin told me it was there. I caught the sheep and examined it; did not think it was mine. On the following Tuesday Mr. Samuel Edwards, from whom I bought the sheep, came in to examine it. On getting information from Mr. Edwards that he thought it was my sheep I wrote to Mr. Webber to keep it for me. I came in the following Saturday and seized a ram, not the one I examined the last day. It had other marks on it. I took it to Denoon, the butcher, who has it now.

WARREN TAYLOR, called, stated that he saw a sheep on the road on more than one occasion. He saw two boys driving it to town with another flock. He saw a sheep in Mr. Webber's field this morning and identified it as the one he saw on the road.

JOHN MERVIN, called, stated that the sheep referred to by the last witness he bought from Mr. Howden.

The Court adjourned at 12 o'clock.

This afternoon the case was resumed. Mr. Geo. Webber stated that he bought the sheep from Mr Mervin. He did not see it till after he bought it.

All of the evidence for the prosecution is not yet, at three o'clock, submitted. No evidence for the defence has been submitted yet.

Fall Importations.

As is usual at this season of the year, Habiliment Hall is again to the front with its fine stock of fall and winter goods. The stock embraces some choice patterns, and the quality will be found decidedly first-class. Now that the cool weather is coming on again, it will be in order for gentlemen to don warm and more suitable clothing. The stock at Habiliment Hall is well worthy of careful inspection, and those who contemplate getting a fashionable fall or winter overcoat, or a nobby suit of clothes, made up in the latest city styles, will do well to place their orders for the same with A. McNeil, at Habiliment Hall, George street.

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY.

Important Extention of Their Lines in Western Ontario.

The Bell Telephone Company has just completed a number of new and important trunk lines, and others are under way, and will be finished very shortly. The following in a partial list of what has been done in this Province, viz:—A line from Walkerton through Mildmay, Clifford, Harriston, (taking in Mt. Forest), Arthur, Fergus and Elora and connecting with the rest of the system at Guelph. This will be also connected with London, etc., direct via Palmerston and Listowel, and extended to Brussels and Wingham. A new line has been run from Toronto to Barrie, giving splended connection between those points, and in a couple of weeks this will reach Collingwood via Stayner. A new line has been furnished and is now working from Collingwood to Owen Sound via Clarksbury, Thornbury and Meaford, so that the whole of this district will shortly be in communication with Toronto. In fact that the company is now using nothing put hard drawn copper wire, which is greatly superior to iron for these lines, and has already a copper wire from Buffalo to Toronto, the officials say they they could easily guarantee a satisfactory conversation from Bullalo to Owen Sound—about 290 miles—if any one ever required to use a line of that length. A new line has been strung from Wallaceburg to Sarnia, which will be a great convenience to the Company's subscribers in the district between Windsor and Glencoe, who can now transact their business with Sarnia by a short line via Chatham. A new exchange has also been opened at Alvinston, and a trunk line connection made via Watfort; also at Aylmer with a line to St. Thomas, and at Plattsville with a wire to New Hamburg.

Men are now engaged in building from Hamilton to Brantford by an entirely new route to relieve the pressure of business on existing lines, and this wire will be extended immediately to Waterford and Simcoe. Business is now done over the whole of the Bell Company's system, comprising many thousands of miles in the Province of Ontario and Quebec, at a uniform rate of five minute conversations, according to distance; and for dictated messages (in the very many cases where the sender has not time or does not care to speak direct to his correspondent), at a rate of 25 cents for a twenty word message to any subscriber within 150 miles of the sender, with an extre 12½ cents for each additional twenty words.

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S MEDAL.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—With reference to Dr. Tassie's letter to you of the 10th inst, inserted in your journal of last evening, I have a few words to say.

If the Govèrnor-General's medal were given to Dr. Tassie, or to the principal of any school, to bestow on the pupil he chose to select or recommend, the public could have nothing to say, his favorite might receive it without a word being said by any one; but if the medal is to be bestowed for "General Proficiency," as has been asserted by Dr. Tassie, then the public and the pupils have a right to know what that term means and to criticise the bestowal of it if they have reason to think that the medal has not been awarded in accordance thereto. To this end information was sought as to the Toronto University's ruling or rendering of that term, and the following paragraph appeared in the Educational Weekly of last week:—

"A correspondent has written to ask 'how the University of Toronto decides upon the question of 'General Proficiency' in the Junior Matriculation in Arts.' We reprint the following clause from the University Curriculum:—

"In awarding the Scholarships for General Proficiency, every subject in which a candidate has passed, is taken into account, and the Scholarships are awarded to such Students as have obtained the highest aggregate number of marks upon the whole examination of the year. A candidate who has gained special Scholarship shall not be entitled to hold a Scholarship for General Proficiency, but his name shall be ranked in the Class List with the scholars for General Proficiency according to his marks in all the subjects. In awarding these Scholarships, the comparative value of the several departments and sub-departments is estimated according to the following schedule:—

Greek	220
Latin	220
Mathematics	440
English	150
History and Geography	100
French	100
German	75"

Now, the question I submit to our School Board is this, Has the boy who "obtained the highest aggregate number of marks upon the whole examination of the year" been awarded the Governor-General's medal?

I make no allusion at present to the other points in Dr. Tassie's letter; they are beside the mark at which I am now aiming.

I am, dear sir,
Yours faithfully,
F. M. HAULTAIN.

Peterborough, 14th Sept., 1886.

Masked Robbers.

An outrageous case of highway robbery took place on the road to the Black River last Saturday evening. Two farmers of that locality, named Brunet and Lebrun, were quietly wending their way homewards seated in their waggons. They were about a quarter of a mile apart, and it was when both arrived in turn at the first bend of the road opposite the route leading to Berd a Plouffe that the robbery occurred. Brunet was the first to meet with the miscreants, and he only learned of their presence when his horse was suddenly caught by the bridle and brought to a stand-still. At the same moment two masked men leaped into the vehicle and, drawing revolvers, pointed them straight into his face, with the time honored demand:—"Your money or your life!" Brunet demurred at first, but seeing that the men were determined to do their murderous work if he delayed much longer, he pulled out his purse, containing $20, and handed it over to them. They grasped it eagerly, and leaping from the wagon disappeared into the bush. A few minutes afterward the same fate befel Lebrun, who gave up to the men five dollars, which was all the money he had. News of the deed spread about the Sault like wild fire, and all the inhabitants of that usually quiet little village were thrown into great excitement. The police were immediately telephoned for from Peloquin's, but even until late this afternoon no officer had appeared upon the scene.—Montreal Star.

BULGARIA.

Coldness Between the Czar and Emperor Francis Joseph.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Although Emperor Francis Joseph is at Przmysl, in Galicia, and the Czar at Brest-Letorsk, in Poland, not more than 250 kilometres apart, neither has given a sign of a desire or intention of meeting the other. In fact neither has sent the other greetings even by deputy.

THE CZAR WILL RECOGNIZE A REGENCY.

SOFIA, Sept. 13.—The National Assembly met to-day. The Russian agent has received the Czar's reply to Bulgaria's proposals. The Czar says Russia will recognize a Bulgarian regency, and assent to the union of Bulgaria and Eastern Roumelia on condition that no acts of violence be committed. Russia advises that public opinion in Bulgaria be allowed to calm down before a new prince be elected to the Bulgarian throne. Russia has not yet communicated the Czar's reply to the Bulgarian Government, because the relations between the present Bulgarian Ministers and him are very strained. During the sitting of the National Assembly today several of the deputies proposed that the Bulgarian Government send a telegram to the Czar requesting him to communicate with the Bulgarian Government direct instead of through the agent.

A BREACH OF COURTESY.

VIENNA, Sept. 13.—The Neue Freie Presse complains of the Czar's breach of courtesy towards Austria. It says it is noteworthy that the Russian military manœuvres are taking place at the precise corner of the Russian domain which would be the principal theatre of war in the event of a Russian conflict with Austria. Emperor Francis Joseph is at the same time reviewing an equal number of Austrian troops, the total being over 60,000 men, at a point which would naturally be chosen as the Austrian base of operations in the same event. "Thus we see," says the Neue Freie Presse, "two rival camps and two rival courts almost within sight of each other."

FRIENDSHIP RESTORED.

Emperor Francis Joseph was yesterday at the banquet given by the officers of the army participating in the manœuvres at the camp at Lubien, and proposed the health of the Czar, which was responded to with cheers, which the band re-echoed by playing the Russian anthem. The news of this reaching the Czar at Brest-Letorsk, in Poland, he at once telegraphed his thanks, and the telegram reached the Austrian Emperor during the night.

Diphtheria.

Recently the Provincial Board of Health, in view of the prevalence of diphtheria throughout Ontario, sent a circular to Dr. Clarke, the Medical Health Officer here, requesting him to inquire into the causes of such cases as appeared here of late. The Medical Health Officer has forwarded his report, in which it is stated that though there has been a good many cases here only eight deaths have been reported. As no new cases have been reported for some time, it is reasonable to conclude that the infection is dying out.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

DRESS LININGS.

We have much pleasure in announcing to Dress Makers and all Ladies specially interested, that we have imported direct from the manufacturers a full supply of which is now endorsed and used almost exclusively by the leading Dress Makers in Toronto and other principal Cities.

This lining is a pure Cotton, containing no dressing and sizing whatever, and consequently remains always the same. We are in a position to make favorable prices for this new fabric so much so that we expect to have an active demand for it at once.

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY.

TAKE NOTICE that every thread composing this fabric both in warp and weft, is Double Carded and Double Roved, a process never before adopted in any class of Dress Linings or Sliesias, and which gives the same improvement in this cloth over all others that Coats' cord spool cotton has over the ordinary three cord, an improvement so patent that every consumer can at once detect it.

Every piece of these Goods is guaranteed perfect.

GILBERT MANUFACTURING CO.

Dress Makers are respectfully invited to call and inspect these Goods and satisfy themselves more fully as to their merits.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1886.

A Rumored Lake Disaster.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—A special despatch published here this morning, says it is rumored that the barge Gracie Barker, with a large number of passengers onboard, has sunk somewhere south of Grand Haven-Michigan. The report is not generally believed, but some anxiety is felt regarding the safety of the barge.

Seized for Smuggling.

PORT HAWKESBURY, C. B., Sept. 12.—The sbhooner Moro Castle, of Gloucester, Edwin Joice master, was seized at Port Mulgrave last night by Collector Bourinet, assisted by men from the cruiser Houlette. She was brought to Port Hawkesbury this morning and is now in charge of the Customs. The offence for which she was seized in smuggling goods at Chester, N. S., in 1884.

A Fatal Family Fight.

ATLANTA, Ga. September 14.—W. Odor sometime ago married a sister of Francis Freeman. Yesterday he whipped her unmercifully, and turned her out of doors. She went to her brother who took her into the country. She was followed by her husband who opened fire on the party, striking Freeman on the shoulder. A fusilade ensued which ended by the men closing in upon each other. Odor fell dead with his grip on Freeman.

The Alaska Fishery Seizures.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—The Fisheries Department have been engaged for some days in preparing a statement of their case in the matter of the seizure of Canadian vessels taken by a United States cruiser off the Alaska coast, charged with sealing in American waters. A demand will be made upon the proper authorities at once for the unconditional release of the vessels so seized.

Small-Pox Again.

It is reported that quite a number of cases of this disease exist at present at Iberville, Que., just across the Richelieu river from St. Johns, a place directly on one of the lines of railway leading from this city. The Central Board of Health having been dissolved owing to the 38th chapter of the Consolidated Statutes having gone out of force, there is no authority over the municipality, which is without a local Board of Health. This is a serious state of affairs, and should the epidemic again spread, a heavy responsibility will rest upon the Government. It is understood that an effort will be made to have the Act renewed.—Montreal Witness.

The Alaska Seizures.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Secretary Bayard authorizes a denial of the report that the Canadian or British Government has demanded the release of the Canadian sealers seized by the United States revenue cutter Corwin and says no communication has been received on the subject. He says if the Treasury Department finds the seizures to have been improper or if that decision is reached by any other competent tribunal an international question of damages may arise which the diplomatic representatives of the United States and Great Britain would amicably adjust. If the question of the legality of these seizures arises it will be a new diplomatic question and will of course receive prompt attention at the Department, but this question has not yet been raised. The matter is as yet officially before the Treasury Department only. But at the State Department the rights and obligations of the United States in Canadian waters is the subject of study in view of the possibility of international discussion of the question.

THE BULGARIAN DIFFICULTY.

Rumors of an Agreement on the Basis of the Berlin Treaty.

VIENNA. Sept. 14.—The Czar's reply to the Bulgarian proposals is the chief topic in political circles here. It is remarked that the Czar makes no reference to the other powers and does not mention the treaty of Berlin, and the belief is general that Russia has not the slightest intention of maintaining Bulgarian independence.

A RUSSIAN VANGUARD.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 14.—The Novo-Sti says the Bulgarian army must be made a reliable Russian vanguard and the Bulgariarian foreign police must be identical with that of Russia.

The Novo Vremya urges the government not to lose a minute in taking into its hand the restoration of order in Bulgaria.

Strong efforts are being made to induce the Czar to send a strong military force with Prince Dolgorouki to Bulgaria. Dolgorouki is opposed to the idea.

NOT QUITE READY FOR WAR.

SEBASTOPOL, Sept. 14.—Russian military admirers of Prince Alexander rejoice at his abdication, feeling convinced that otherwise he would have been murdered within a few weeks. Russia will probably advocate a makeshift conference at Constantinople because she will not be prepared for war before Spring.

THE CZAR'S FETE DAY.

SOFIA, Sept 14.—The Czar has telegraphed to the Bulgarian Government his thanks for the observance of his fete day.

A RUMORED AGREEMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A despatch from Vienna says there are rumors in diplomatic circles at the Austrian capital that negotiations between the Emperors have resulted favorably, and there are now good prospects for an agreement between Russia, Germany and Austria, relative to common action in Bulgaria. In regard to the immediate future the despatch says: It is stated Russia has yielded her plan of proceeding alone in Bulgaria, and intends now to treat the whole question on the basis of the treaty of Berlin, and submit it to the consideration of Europe.

THE REPLY TO TURKEY'S NOTE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—The Powers replying to the Porte's protest against any foreign occupation of Bulgaria, declare that there will be no foreign intervention in Bulgaria. Russia gives guarantees to that effect.

IRISH LOYALISTS' PAMPHLET.

The Consumption of Liquor Said to Have Greatly Increased in Ireland.

"The Patriotic Pamphlet," just issued, shows in detail the amounts subscribed by Irishmen to different Irish funds since 1879 and says: "To sum up Ireland's tribute of hard cash to the Parnellite exchequer (of which the Irish in Great Britain subscribed something though inappreciated) since the founding of the Land League in October, 1879, to the present time, amounts to £360,714 or £52,000 per annum. It is difficult in face of the savings bank returns to contend that the Irish people are now in imminent financial danger. As a matter of fact there is now a larger reserve of money standing to the credit of Irish tenants than in any preceding year. Alongside of the repeated assertions of the poverty stricken condition of the Irish and their inability to pay rent it is interesting to notice that while the expenditure in intoxicants has fallen much in Great Britain in recent years it has apparently increased in Ireland. Taking into account the diminished population in 1885, the consumption of beer and spirits showed an aggregate increase of 341,384 pounds, while if 1884 be compared with 1881, the increase bulks out to the enormous total of 750,000 pounds. An incident worth noting is that the reduction in rents under the Land Act of 1884 was more than equalled by the increased consumption of beer and spirits in the same period. Finally, on the authority of the North British Ayricultural Gazette, in England rents were raised 23 per cent. between 1840 and 1880, in Wales 34 per cent., in Scotland 49 per cent., while in Ireland rental has decreased within that period and was further cut down by the Land Act of 1881.

LAY DOWN TO DIE.

Two Newfoundland Women Perish Miserably in the Woods.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Sept. 14.—Mail advices from St. John's, Newfoundland, give particulars of a sad affair that happened near that place. Four women and a girl—Mrs. Rose and her daughter, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Bright, and Mrs. Cole—left Victoria village and went to the woods berry picking. It seems that toward evening the weather became stormy. The women unfortunately missed their way and wandered far into the woods. There they kindled a fire and stayed all night. The next morning they left and got out into the open barrens, where they made another fire. They then travelled onward again, not knowing in what direction they were tending. After a time one of the women—Mrs. Rose—became weak. She gave out and lay down. Her companions stayed a while with her, and then made their way onward. Then another woman—Mrs. Clark—also gave out and lay down, completely exhausted from fatigue, hunger and exposure. The rest of the party remained with her until she expired. The party then made their way out to Western Bay, where they arrived the following afternoon. Search was made later for Mrs. Rose, who was found dead.

A Workman's Queer Revenge.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 14.—A strange occurrence took place in Perley & Pattee's saw mills at Chaudiere last night. The mills were in full operation with a night gang, when shortly before midnight a French Canadian named Gravelle, accompanied by an unknown man from Hull, entered the lathing mill. One was armed with an axe and the other with a hammer. These they brandished in the faces of the workmen and drove them from the building. They then entered the main mill and repeated this. After a while a constable entered the mill and after some struggling arrested Gravelle. The cause of the outrage was the firm's refusing Gravelle employment and forbidding his coming around. The result was the loss of nearly one night's work by the mill, which is valuable at this season of the year.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

A TORRID SPELL.

VIENNA, September 14.—Excessively hot weather killed a number of soldiers during the Austrian army manœuvres.

WHOLESALE EVICTIONS.

DUBLIN, Sept. 14.—Lord Annesly has issued one hundred ejectment notices against tenants on his estates in County Down. The tenants are suffering for want of money, owing to the lateness of their harvest.

OBSTRUCTION.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—In the House of Commons last night the Parnellites and Radicals caused a protracted sitting by obstruction tactics. They fought the Irish supply bills step by step, especially the items for the Viceroy's household and Chief Secretary's office. After an excited wrangle the House adjourned at 3.45 this (Tuesday) morning.

THE EVACUATION OF EGYPT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—It is stated that the Sultan demands the evacuation of Egypt by the English, and that Russia supports the Turkish demand.

PRESS OPINIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Standard says: "Mr. Parnell's bill is a most disappointing document. It would be more candid to label it a measure for the abolition of eviction and reduction of rents by one half. If it became law it would put every landowner in Ireland at the mercy of the local leagues. It is difficult to believe that Mr. Parnell framed the project in a serious spirit." The Telegraph says: "The most ultra-Parnellite follower of Mr. Gladstone has now no excuse for doubting that the so-called temporary relief bill is a project of the most unblushing kind. The House of Commons will see that it was never intended from the first as a serious proposal, and will deal with it accordingly."

TO SUPPORT MR. PARNELL'S BILL.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Liberal whips have issued a special summons to Liberals to support the second reading of Mr. Parnell's bill regarding evictions. The News thinks it would be expedient to adopt Mr. Parnell's bill with some equitable modifications.

ENVOYS TO CHINA.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—France has notified the Vatican that she is willing to recall the French envoy from Pekin in order to facilitate the progress of negotiations and smooth the way for mutual understanding concerning the appointment of French and Papal envoys to China.

RIOTS AT WOODFORD.

DUBLIN, Sept. 14.—In connection with the Fahey affair, eighteen persons have been arrested at Woodford, on a charge of assult- were taken to Galway under a strong escort. A mob, numbering several thousand persons, attacked the escort with stones and other missiles. After they had conveyed their prisoners to a place of safety the police charged the mob with fixed bayonets. Many of the rioters were felled to the ground but none of them were seriously injured. Some of the police were cut by the stones.

FLOODED BY A WATER SPOUT.

VIENNA, Sept. 14.—A part of the town of Kaschan with several villages near by has been inundated by a water spout.

BOATS RELEASED.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Sir J. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, replying to interrogations in the House of Commons this afternoon, stated that the eleven English fishing boats which were seized by the French authorities yesterday at Havre for violating the international fisheries laws had been released.

ROYAL MATCH MAKING.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 14.—The King of Portugal has arrived at Brussels. It is reported that he is arranging for the marriage of his second son, Prince Alphonso, to Princess Henrietta, daughter of the Count of Flanders.

AN EXILED PRINCE.

MADRID, Sept. 14.—Prince Enrique of Bourbon, who was banished to Majorca last December for insulting the Queen regent, is missing. It is believed he has escaped.

Earthquake in Ohio.

AKRON, Ohio, September 13.—People living in the coal mining regions embracing four towns and quite a large range of country were awakened at 3 o'clock Sunday morning by a low rumbling sound accompanied by shocks of earthquake so distinct that houses were terribly shaken. Several years ago the earth settled several feet without apparent cause and the people are now badly frightened fearing they will be swallowed up. A very large meteor yesterday morning passed over the shaken up portion of the country, travelling close to the earth and throwing off heated particles every few feet. The meteor illuminated the country for a great distance and is supposed to have struck the earth near the eastern part of the city, as a shock in that locality was distinctly felt immediately after the great fire ball passed. Sunday was one of special prayer here by many people.

Advance in Price of Coal.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—At a meeting of coal managers here to-day there was a long discussion on the advance of different sizes of coal. The ultimate decision was to advance chestnut 15c., and all other sizes 10c. per ton. The allotment committee meets on the 20th inst. to consider the October allotments, and the managers on the 30th inst. to consider further advances.

The Maine Elections.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 14.—The Republicans of Kennebec County will elect every county officer, both senators and every representative except one by about 3,200 plurality.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—The Democrates will gain in the house in equal proportion but the Republicans will have a handsome majority.

The High Commissioner.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—Sir Charles Tupper left for Amherst, Nova Scotia, this afternoon, having received word that his brother was sinking fast.

Be a Hero in the Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly say consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1886.

EDUCATION AND RELIGION.

Two great legislative and administrative bodies of religious denominations have been holding their sessions, the Provincial Synod of the Church of England in Canada, at Montreal, and the General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada, at Toronto. In both of these bodies a principal subject of discussion has been, more or less directly, the religious aspect of education. In both bodies there has been difference of opinion as to means and methods, times and seasons; there was, however, but one voice as to making religious teaching and training an essential part of education.

The importance of this subject is evidently attracting much attention. There is a very widespread feeling that, much reason as we have to congratulate ourself upon our public educational system, its grave defect is that it is so much divorced from religious teaching. It is felt, indeed, that education cannot rightly be so called that fails to include the most important of all branches of knowledge, the most essential of all means of training. Experience shows that so-called education, divorced from religion, instead of being beneficial, is absolutely hurtful. The spread of merely secular knowledge is found even to conduce to crime, instead of checking it.

This is a matter so all-important that it is not surprising that it is attracting so much attention. Some means should be devised for remedying this grave defect in our educational system. It is a matter with which party politics should not be allowed to interfere. Sectarian diversities should not be permitted to stand in its way. That, to take the case of the very young, the Sunday School, with its weekly teachings, valuable as it may be, does not fill the void, seems to be generally admitted. In what manner is the deficiency to be supplied?

WHERE ARE THEY?

It would be satisfactory to the people of Canada if the Globe, or any other journal that could speak with some authority for the Reform party, would tell us what the Reformers would do in regard to the sugar duties. We know where some Reformers and some Reform journals are on such questions; the Montreal Witness, the Hamilton Times, and Mr. Mackenzie, for instance, are consistent free traders, and would remove protective duties, even if by buying abroad we ruined every Canadian manufacturer. On the other hand, the Toronto Globe, the London Advertiser, Mr. Blake, and other Reform authorities, seem disposed to coquet with the National Policy, leading the manufacturers to believe that a change of Administration would not cause much change in the tariff. This is their unwilling tribute to the popularity of the National Policy. Yet the Globe and its imitators are constantly reiterating statements that the N. P. has raised the price of sugar, coupled with sneers at our fiscal policy.

Without at present discussing the accuracy of these exaggerated statements, or the question whether a duty on unrefined sugar, the raw material of the refiner, can be fairly called protective, we would ask these carpers where they are on this question. Would they leave the sugar duties unchanged, as they hint to the refiners, or would they remove the duties, as their present attacks would indicate, if they mean anything, thus closing our refineries and ruining alike stockholders and operatives?

Where are the Reformers on this question of the sugar duties?

A THREEFOLD COALITION.

The congratulations exchanged by the advocates in Quebec of rebellion and murder and their Reform sympathizers in Ontario have been made public. And now, the Globe gives us the contribution of the third party to the iniquitous conspiracy in the shape of a congratulatory telegram from the leader of the secessionists on the "victory at Haldimand and the general outlook." Mr. Fielding's "outlook" is secession from the Dominion, and he rejoices with Mr. Blake at their partnership success in this direction. In Quebec murder and rebellion, "race and creed"; in Nova Scotia secession and annexation; in Ontario Mr. Blake and his tools selling himself and his country to these men in exchange for their votes to place him in power. What a very reputable coalition. No wonder that life-long Reformers are struck with amazement and cannot recognize or support a so-called Reform party under such leadership. Blake, Laurier and Fielding make a triumvirate that no loyal or honest man could tolerate.

For Threatening.

DUBLIN, Sept. 13.—Father Fahey, a Catholic priest of Woodford, was arraigned to-day on a charge of having threatened the owner of property in Woodford, from which the tenant had been evicted. He was found guilty, and the court gave him the choice of giving bail for his good behaviour for six months or of going to prison for the same period. He chose the latter alternative.

English Fishing Boats Seized.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—The French authorities at Havre have just seized eleven English fishing boats for infringing the International and Maritime Fisheries Laws in the Channel. Le Paris says the boats were seized in reprisal for recent arrests by the British authorites of French fishing boats off Folkestone, on the other side of the channel.

THE VILLAGE OF NORWOOD.

IMPORTANT MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES OF VARIOUS KINDS.

The Business Places and Hotels—Public Buildings, Schools and Churches—Social and Sporting Societies.

BOOT AND SHOE MAKERS.

Mr. Robert Scott has a boot and shoe shop on Queen street, where he also deals in leather.

Mr. Thomas Armstrong, Peterborough street, has a boot and shoe shop, and also deals in leather.

Mr. Wm. Hutchinson's shop is on Colborne street, where he makes and sells boots and shoes, and sells leather.

Mr. Wm. Robb has a boot and shoe shop on Peterborough street.

BUTCHERS.

Mr. D. S. Sargent has a shop for the sale of fresh meats on Colborne street, in a convenient place.

Mr. Wm. Rogers occupies premises on Peterborough street for a butcher's shop.

DAIRY AND HOPS.

Mr. H. Reynolds supplies villagers with milk from his dairy. He has also a hop yard in connection with his farm.

Mr. Ellboon also supplies milk from his dairy, situated a short distance from the village.

LIVERY STABLES.

Mr. McConkey keeps a livery stable on Peterborough street, where he has a good stable and drive house, and where good rigs can be procured.

Mr. E. V. Gould's livery stable is on Pine street. It is supplied with good vehicles, and good horses to draw them, and everything complete.

TONSORIAL ARTIST.

Mr. A. Freeman has a hair-dressing and shaving parlor connected with the Norwood House.

PHOTOGRAPHY.

Mr. J. B. Fuller, of Toronto, is about establishing a photograph gallery in a new building being erected on Peterborough street.

NEW BUSINESS BUILDINGS.

Mr. W. H. Mullins is erecting a new building on Colborne street, for a store, which is 20 x 60 feet, and three stories high, with a mansard roof; also another new building 24 x 60 feet, two stories high.

Mr. W. E. Roxburgh is putting up a brick building on Colborne street, 22 x 60 feet, which is to be occupied by Mr. W. H. Minaker, undertaking, and Messrs. Morrow & Co., furniture. Mr. Roxburgh is also erecting a building on Peterborough street, which will be occupied by Mr. J. B. Fuller, photographer, and by the Mechanics' Institute library.

Mr. R. Metcalfe is erecting a building on Colborne street, constructed of brick and three stories high. It angles on a street in the rear, and is consequently 67 feet long on the north side and 62 on the south, and is 24 feet wide. It is intended for a place of business.

CONTRACTORS, BUILDERS, ETC.

Among the contractors and builders in Norwood are Mr. James Cummings, Messrs. Harper Bros., Mr. J. P. Brown, Mr. A. W. Dafoe, and Mr. John Baskin, who is a contractor for railway construction. There are also Messrs. Angus Marquis, mason; Robert Metcalfe, mason, Thos. Lallon, mason; M. Scott, mason; C. Vincent, carpenter; and James Penjelly, carpenter.

COAL AND LUMBER.

Mr. M. Nicholl deals in coal, lumber, sash, doors, moulding, builders' supplies, etc., having sheds and other facilities for storing and handling these articles.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND OFFICES.

The municipal building in Norwood, and other public offices, including the post office and telegraph office, are a credit to the village.

THE TOWN HALL

was built in 1870, previous to the separation of the village from the township, but it is now the property of the village. It is a red brick building ornamented with white facings, and it has a stone basement. The main part forms a hall used for a council chamber, Divison Court room and public hall and there is a lockup and hall in the basement. The building is 30x50 feet, and there is in addition a brick porch at the main entrance.

The village council for 1886 is composed as follows:—Mr. W. H. Stephenson, Reeve; and Messrs. John Finlay, John Harper, James Raddon and T. J. Howson, Councillors. Mr. W. H. Mullins is the Municipal Clerk, and Mr. John W. Clarke the Treasurer.

The following are the members and officials of the Board of Health:—Mr. W. H. Stephenson, Chairman; Mr. W. H. Mullins, Secretary; and Messrs. R. Wilson, Thomas Fraser, and A. R. Anderson. S. P. Ford, M.D., is the Medical Health officer, and Mr. Geo. Jones the Inspector.

THE BRASS BAND

practice hall is in the municipal building. The band was organized twelve years ago, Mr. W. A. Marshal being the first leader, who was succeeded by Mr. W. H. Mullins. Mr. A. Freeman is the present leader. There are seventeen players in the band, and it is a very creditable organization.

THE POST OFFICE.

The post office is in the same building as Mr. J. B. Pearce's store, Mr. Pearce being the postmaster. It is a very conveniently arranged office and thoroughly furnished. It has been pronounced by the Inspector the best post office in the Kingston district outside the large cities and largest towns. It occupies a room 24x30 feet, and the partition between the public room and the private apartments is made up of boxes and drawers, there being 205 call boxes and 93 drawers and lock boxes. There is ample space in the public part of the office and a handsome little nesk for the accommodation of the people, while there is room enough in the other apartment to allow of attending to the business of the office methodically and with comfort. The business of the post office has increased rapidly, the revenue in 1875 being $821, and in 1885 $1,936, an increase in 10 years of $1,115 or 133 per cent. Mr. Foley was the first postmaster, and was succeeded in 1864 by Mr. J. A. Butterfield, who filled the position until his death in 1885, when Mr. Pearce was appointed.

DIVISION COURT.

Mr. Thomas Fraser is Clerk of the Division Court in Norwood, and his office is in his store. Mr. A. R. Anderson is the bailiff of the Court. Mr. Foley was the first Clerk, Mr. Butterfield held the office next, and Mr. Fraser succeeded him.

JUSICES OF THE PEACE.

There are three Justices of the Peace in Norwood, Mr. Thomas Rork, Mr. Hugh Drain and Mr. W. H. Stephenson ex officio as Reeve.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

The Mechanics' Institute room is over Mr. W. Rutherford's store. The officers of the Institute are:—Mr. T. M. Grover, President; Mr. Thos. Burke, Secretary; Mr. W. H. Stephenson, Treasurer, and Mr. W. Rutherford, Librarian. The Institute has large library and receives a number of papers and periodicals. New rooms will be prepared for it in a building being put up by Mr. Roxburgh, and when they are completed the Institute will be reorganized and its library and reading room will be improved by the addition of books, daily and other papers.

DRILL SHED.

The drill shed, which was the armory of No. 4 Company of the 57th Battalion, is a frame building about 50 x 80 feet. It is used by the East Peterborough Agricultural Society and the Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer Agricultural Society for exhibition purposes. These societies also use the park, which is a short distance from the drill shed, for their exhibitions.

BUSINESS OFFICES, ETC.

Of the several business offices in Norwood, one of the most important is, without doubt, the

NEWSPAPER OFFICE,

from which the Norwood Register is issued every week. This paper was established by Mr. Thomas Burke. It is a very good village paper, and has recently been considerably improved by the addition of new type to the plant. Mr. J. A. Harper is the publisher of the paper, and conducts in connection with it a job printing business. The office is soon to be removed into more commodious rooms in the building in which the present office is situated.

TELEGRAPH.

The office of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company is in the store of Messrs. Waters & Co., and occupies a neatly fitted up apartmement at the rear of the store, with an entrance direct from the street. Mr. P. W. Reynolds is the agent of the Company. The telegraph office of the Canadian Pacific Railway company's line is at the station, in charge of Mr. Wm. Moore.

EXPRESS OFFICE.

The office of the Dominion Express Company is in the Canadian Pacific Railway station, and Mr. Wm. Moore represents the company in Norwood.

LEGAL AND MEDICAL.

Mr. T. M. Grover, attorney-at-law, etc., practices his profession in Norwood, and occupies an office near the corner of Peterborough and Colborne streets. The medical and surgical requirements of the people are attended to by S. P. Ford, M.D., whose office is over Mr. W. Rutherford's drug store, J. A. Pettigrew, M.D., and C. Moore, M.D.

AUCTIONEER, ETC.

Mr. A. R. Anderson, in addition to being baliff of the Division Court, is auctioneer, and has also other business connections.

AGENT, ETC.

Mr. W. E. Roxburgh is agent for the Canada Permanent Loan and Savings Company, and for the Phœnix Fire Insurance Company.

Mr. Hugh Drain is agent for the Gore District Fire Insurance Company for Norwood and vicinity.

VETERINARY.

Mr. P. W. Stevenson practices his profession as veterinary surgeon, and is also agent for agricultural implements and machinery.

HOTELS.

Norwood has at present three good hotels, and the accommodation travellers find in this village must be satisfactory to the most factidious.

BECKETT'S HOTEL.

Mr. Hugh Beckett's hotel is a large three story brick building on the corner of Peterborough and Colborne streets. It has good rooms, good stabling and sheds and all the accessories of a well conducted house of entertainment. A free bus meets travellers on the arrival of each train and also conveys them to the station.

THE NORWOOD HOUSE.

The Norwood House, on Colborne Street, is a commodious three story building. Mr. O. A. Brennan is the proprietor. It has pleasant rooms, a spacious yard and good stabling and sheds, and is a thoroughly furnished and well conducted hotel. A free bus runs to and from the station on the arrival of each train.

TEMPERANCE HOUSE.

The Temperance House, of which Mrs. John Martin is proprietor, though of less pretentious appearance than the other hotels, is a quite large two story house, with very good sheds and stabling.

EDUCATIONAL.

Norwood has good educational advantages, and in no particular is the advance of the village more marked since the first log school house was built, and in 1832 Mr. J. Wilkins reported 22 pupils in attendance.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Board of Education for the year is composed as follows:—Mr. W.E. Roxburgh, Chairman; Dr. Ford, Dr. Pettigrew, Messrs. T. M. Grover, R. Scott, Thos. Rork, Thos. Armstrong, H. Beckett, D. Campbell, P. W. Reynolds and Thomas Fraser, and Mr. W. H. Stephenson, Secretary-Treasurer.

THE HIGH AND PUBLIC SCHOOL.

The school building, used for the High, Model and Public Schools, was erected in 1884. It is a fine red brick building with white facings. It is two stories high, and the main building is 80x26 feet, with a wing 30x36 feet. There is one acre of school ground, but in addition to that the pupils have the use of the park, five acres in extent, for their sports, as the park is immediately south of the school grounds.

Norwood has had a Grammar or High School for over thirty years. The late P. M. Grover, who for a time represented the Riding in the House of Commons, was largely instrumental in having it established in the village. The school has an enviable reputation, and is very successful. The Principal of the school is Mr. J. Davidson, M. A., and Mr. H. Blewett is assistant instructor. The average attendance is about 50.

Mr. A. Hutchinson is Principal of the Model School and of the Public School. The attendance at the Model School is about 20, and the average attendance at the Public School is about 200, including a preparatory class for the High School of 20. There are four teachers in the Public School besides the Principal, namely, Miss L. Scott, of Norwood; Miss L. Lewis, of Baillieboro; Miss A. Gordon, of Uxbridge, and Miss M. Harper, of Norwood.

THE CHURCHES.

The people of this county are well supplied with church accommodation, as, indeed, is the Province generally. Norwood, however, excels in this particular, as its churches afford accommodation for hundreds more than the whole population of the village.

THE METHODIST CHURCH.

The first church built in Norwood was the Methodist Church, erected in 1836. It still stands, though enlarged, and is used as a Sunday school room. The present Methodist Church was built in 1856, and was enlarged in 1873, and again in 1876. It is a large frame building, the seating capacity being about 500. The Rev. Wm. Young was the first Methodist minister in Norwood and the first resident clergyman in the village. Other Methodist clergymen who were stationed there were the Rev. Geo. Carr, the Rev. Wm. McFadden, the Rev. Jonn Sanderson, who died in Norwood, the Rev. Mr. Slater, who was pastor when the present church was built, the Rev. Richard Clarke, who was pastor when the church was enlarged, the Rev. Thom, the Rev. Mr. Gee, and the Rev. James Anderson, the present pastor. Mr. W. H. Stephenson is the Superintendent of the Sunday school, and the attendance is between 150 and 175.

The Methodist parsonage is near the church, on the same lot, and has nice grounds around the dwelling.

ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

A Roman Catholic Church was built about a mile west of Norwood in 1839. It was the first Roman Catholic Church between Little York (Toronto) and Kingston. The builder was Mr. Thomas Kirk, father of Mr. Geo. Kirk, at present of Dummer. Mr. M. Mullins, a member of the congregation still, saw the church built, as he came to Canada in 1823 and settled in Asphodel in 1825, when there were only four families in the township. The church continued to be used until 1868, when St. Mary's Church was erected in the village. St. Mary's is a substantial and capacious stone structure, having a seating capacity of about 500 and a beautiful altar. The Rev. J. Quirk was the priest at the time the church was built and he still officiates in that office.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The first Presbyterian church was built about the year 1846. It was a frame building, and was used by the congregation until the present handsome edifice was constructed in 1878. The present church is built of white brick, with red brick and cut stone facings. It is 48x80 feet and has a brick basement the full size of the church, which is used as a Sunday school and lecture room. The first resident clergyman of this denomination was the Rev. D. McAleese, although the Rev. J. M. Roger held services in the village previously. Mr. McAleese was succeeded by the Rev. James Bowie, who who was followed in 1866 by the Rev. Mr. Young. The Rev. T. Fotheringham, M. A., now of St. Johns, N. B., was the next pastor and he was active in having the new church built, being ably assisted in that work by Mr. W. E. Roxburgh and others. The Rev. Mr. Carmichael is the present pastor. The Sunday school has an average attendance of about 100, and Mr. W. E. Roxburgh is the Superintendent.

There is a fine manse property connected with the church, including a good dwelling with nice grounds.

THE ENGLISH CHURCH.

The church in which the congregation of the Church of England worship was opened in 1860. It is a handsome red brick building on Queen street, and has a stating capacity of about 140. It was built during the incumbency of the Rev. John Hilton, mainly through the exertions of Mr. P. M. Grover, and Messrs. Robert Wigmore and Wm. Wigmore. The Rev. M. Burnham was the first clergyman of the denomination who held services in the village, and the Rev. John Hilton, who went there in 1852, was the first resident clergyman. Mr. Hilton remained a year or two, and then Mr. Burnham resumed his visits and continued the until 1863, when the Rev. M. A. Farrar took charge of the Norwood, Hastings and Westwood churches. The Rev. Mr. Gibson is the present incumbent, he having succeeded the the Rev. Mr. McCleary on Nov. 1st, 1883. The present Church Wardens are Messrs. W. G. Patterson and E. Willoughby. Mrs. Gibson has charge of the Sunday school, at which an average attendance is about 40.

A fine new Church of England parsonage was recently built, beside the church. It is a red brick dwelling, with good grounds.

THE BAPTIST CONGREGATION.

Religious services have for a short time been held in Norwood on Sunday's by visiting Baptist clergyman, but as yet the congregation has not built a place of worship, and hold their services in the Town Hall.

CHAPTER VI.

THE STRANGFIELDS.

Hard by an open space of yard, rudely railed, stood a house of wood; a fair-sized house, and strong as an oak-built hull.

The yard that adjoined this house was a shipwright's yard, and often as the tar caldron belched its smoky stench in the midst of it, the fumes could never kill the sweet-flavored smells that filled the air around from the white deals and shavings of the pine, and the blocks of red-hearted oak and teak from India.

And now even at this stagnant season, when the Frenchman's and the Yankee's love of small sweet pickings was so voracious, that the art of the British coasting trade was a plucky coquetting with wind and haven, even now in this yard were the skeletons of two vessels—a lugger and a schooner—to be finished, equipped, and afloat by August, under the signed contract of Michael Strangfield, who wanted neither pen nor witness to make his word binding.

On this evening of Cuthbert's impressment, the master shipwright sat in the parlor of his wooden home, filling the room with the mist of navy tobacco. In this matter of the pipe his flesh was weak.

Mr. Strangfield sat in a high-backed arm-chair near the table, and opposite to him was his wife.

Both of them were busy; the one with his pipe and a design on paper of the hull of the schooner—a skeleton yet in the yard—and the other with knitting needles.

On the table, at Mr. Strangfield's elbow, was a big horn Bible.

"I believe," said he, in a slow, hard voice, withdrawing his pipe, and speaking slightly through his nose to retain the flavor of the tobacco, "that the lines here laid down be those that'll give Mr. Wainwright the speed he looks for." He eyed the paper earnestly.

And as he said this he laid down the drawing, and looked at his wife through a pair of thick-rimmed spectacles.

The spectacles of those days were disfigurements, as all persons know who are familiar with old prints and paintings.

But neither the irresistible enlargement of Mr. Strangfield's eyes, nor the goblin circles through which they surveyed Mrs. Strangfield, could deform the stern and worn beauty of his countenance.

Fifty-five his age was, and ten years added would still have left his days behind his face—due to a half-weary expression of asceticism, and the puckering of an over-hanging brow, and an acidulated droop of the under lip. His dark hair, well laced with white, hung in decent profusion over the white collar of his coat, and his attire was gray, coarse stockings, stout broadcloth, furnished with dingy metal buttons, and square-toed boots, [illegible] enough to warrant him a shudder.

"If the moon wasn't so clean I should allow there was a gale of wind in the sound of the sea."

He yawned loudly.

"Wife, I've smoked enough, and enough is contentment to a thankful heart."

He rose to place his pipe on the mantel shelf, and reared a figure that brought his head close to the low ceiling.

"Jenny is in her bedroom, and there she sits and sits. What ails the girl? Hast thee noticed her, Michael?" said Mrs. Strangfield, who, though she put her questions with a touch of fretfulness in her voice, went on knitting very placidly.

This was a woman to be admired for her pretty hands, soft eyes, and rich brown hair, neatly smoothed beneath a full cap.

Otherwise, her face disarmed criticism by its vacant, good-natured and cheerful insipidity.

Strangfield turned to look at her, and resumed his chair.

"You have seen me watch her," said he. "Why, therefore, do you say, 'Hast thee noticed her, Michael?' You are apt to speak without care, wife. Your lips go one way and your mind another."

"Well, well, I have my faults."

"Truly you have, my dear."

"As gospel says, 'Who is without sin?' Unless it's thee, Michael; and that one should know by your readiness to cast stones."

Mr. Strangfield frowned, but was wise enough to hold his peace.

"What ails Jenny, then?" continued the mother. "You should know. You be a man of long sight. I never could hide a secret from thee."

Mr. Strangfield sat for a space behind his spectacles, pondering, while his wife laid down her needles to pass her hand over her hair.

"What should be the matter with her?" demanded Mr. Strangfield, presently. "Her health is sound?"

"I hope so!" cried Mrs. Strangfield, nervously.

"No one has been meddling with her heart, to my knowledge."

"Meddle! Certainly not. Should I not know?"

"Unless," continued Mr. Strangfield, "she be fallen into that state against which the Apostle warned the Corinthian damsels, putting it in this way—that the unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord; which was, doubtless, a true thing to say of those ancient people, but will not hold now."

Mrs. Strangfield shook her head softly.

"If she had a sweetheart she would tell me," said she, looking rather vaguely, however, at her husband, as a woman might whose conscience does not place her perfectly at ease.

"I could not imagine that she would not," said the husband, sternly.

"As to Mrs. Mead's gossip, it's idler than the wind. Being known to her somehow," continued Mrs. Strangfield, who was not very easily repressed, and who, when she had a point to get at, always traveled to it along the most roundabout paths—"for the chit will not explain how their acquaintance began—is it not proper that Mr. Shaw, who is a born gentleman and knows manners, should take off his hat to her and pass a pleasant word when they meet? Now, through some blockhead neighbor, Mother Mead hears of their talking on the beach, whither Jenny had gone for shells for a pin cushion. And to me she comes with a wise tossing of the nose. But, says I, 'Ma'am, I am my daughter's mother, and what concerns me shall be my proper trouble, under Providence, that our neighbors may have full time for their own affairs.' That was well said Michael, dost thee not think?"

"Let Mrs. Mead beware how she meddle with Jenny's name! But there should be no cause, neither for her nor any other gossip, to talk."

"Cause!" cried Mrs. Strangfield, opening her mild eyes, with a little toss of the knitting needles. "A pretty pass, truly, if Mr. Shaw cannot pull off his hat to Jenny, and praise the weather, without his politeness being called a cause. A cause to set Mrs. Mead's tongue going? You need not stand on your head to do that."

"I'll not have Mr. Shaw's name chimed with my wench's," exclaimed Strangfield. "Beelzebub himself is not harder on us than the doctor up at the schoolhouse."

"Dear heart alive, I know naught of Mr. Shaw," exclaimed Mrs. Strangfield, with a corner glance at her husband. "If Jenny has set him gaping, his mouth is not the only one her beauty has opened. I like to look at his handsome face in the street when I meet him, and his eyes never were matched for the blue of them. These are the Lord's doings, and a woman may admire the works of creation, I hope. But Jenny would not make a sweetheart of him without opening her heart to me."

"What does Jenny do in her bedroom all these hours?" said he. "These mopings have come upon her since her return from Sydenham. Did she leave her heart behind her there?"

"Now, how you talk! Were that so, would not Rachel have written?"

"Jane, Jane, I do not like thy habit of fleering. It is an old taint of sauciness."

"I'll go and call Jenny, and she shall argue with thee herself," said Mrs. Strangfield, quite unruffled by her husband's reprimand.

IS IT ANOTHER CANARD?

Reports of Harrowing Destitution in Labrador and Newfoundland.

HALIFAX, September 13.—All reports from Newfoundland confirm the intelligence on the utter failure of both the Labrador and Newfoundland fisheries. Newfoundland's fisheries have been going from bad to worse for many years and this year is declared to be the worst season experienced for a third of a century. In some places the catch has been so small that the men will not average $30 each for the whole year's work. This succession of bad seasons has brought affairs to a crisis, and the ancient colony is now on the eve of a catastrophe, which was thus pictured to the Star correspondent by Alf. B. Morine, a member of the Newfoundland Legislation for Bonavista, who has just arrived from St. John's. He says the Labrador fishery is an entire failure, the vessels which went there not averaging more than 200 quintals of fish as compared with 500 quintals for a fair catch. Thirty thousand people go down to Labrador from Newfoundland every year. At their best the Labrador fisheries afford but a bare existence and this year the failure has been so great that these 30,000 people have not caught enough fish to pay the cost of transportation and supplies. At least another 20,000 people are dependent upon the success of those who go to Labrador. Then there are 15,000 residents of the Labrador coasts who are in a similar position. These people exist solely by the fisheries. They don't know how to do anything else. Farming is unknown along these rockbound coasts. They make out an existence in huts and shanties. At least 65,000 people depending on the Labrador fisheries are to-day practically in a state of destitution, and during the autumn and winter will be entirely dependent upon the Government for subsistence. The deplorable condition of the fish market after a succession of bad years will make it next to impossible for the fish merchants to render much assistance. Then these 65,000 people are scattered over 3,000 miles of coast, though 50,000 are within 500 miles, so that it will be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, to reach them by relief steamers during the winter months, and unless immediate steps are taken to provide for their sustenance there is nothing left but inevitable starvation. This seems highly colored, especially after the recent fabrication of starvation among the Esquimaux at Labrador, but it is simply the plain English of the actual fact and inevitable consequences. The foregoing refers exclusively to the people depending on the Labrador fisheries. Besides these there are one hundred thousand other people directly and indirectly depending upon the Newfoundland shore and Bank fisheries, 90,000 on the former and 10,000 on the latter. The Bank fishing industry is rapidly increasing and our fishermen regard it as our only hope for the future. This little glow of hope disappears and burns into a cloud of almost impenetrable darkness when one turns to consider the condition of Newfoundland's shore fishery. Of the 90,000 people dependent on that special branch of industry only about 20,000 will be at all adequately provided for the winter by proceeds of this season's catch. The remaining 70,000 have been rendered destitute by the total failure of that fishery also. The chief districts of the island are inhabited by people who possess barely enough to meet their present necessities and who have not the means of earning a single dollar outside of the fisheries and are, therefore, without any means whatever of providing for their existence during the coming autumn and winter. In sections this terrible black picture is only relieved by the fact that the potato crop is turning out very well. Potatoes are the only crop they raise and the potato crop of Newfoundland is not more than equal to one peck per head of the people. He fears the Government will not realize the gravity of the situation in time to take adequate relief measures.

Fatal Panic in a Church.

VIENNA, Sept. 13.—During the celebration of early mass in the pilgrimage church in Radna, Transylvania, yesterday morning, a panic was caused by the accidental burning of the altar curtains, which were set on fire by the candles. The people rushed from the building, trampling the weak under foot, and numbers of the occupants of the galleries leaped down on the heads of the crowd below. Several hundred persons were injured, many of them seriously. Later particulars from Radna show that fifteen persons were crushed to death, and 30 were severely and 100 slightly injured during the panic in the pilgrimage church.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

A FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—MRS. Cyrus Kilborne, Beamsville, Ont., had what was supposed to be a cancer on her nose. She was about to submit to a cancer doctor's treatment, when she concluded to try Burdock Blood Bitters, internally and externally, a few bottles of which entirely cured her.

NONE BETTER.—There is no more wholesome or delicious fruit on earth than the Wild Strawberry, and there is no more effectual remedy for Cholera, Dysentery, Cramps, and other summer complaints of Infants or adults, than Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The monument erected in St. Catharines to the memory of Private Watson and his comrades who fell in the North-West rebellion was unveiled on Tuesday by Major-General Middleton.

IN BAD HUMOR.—"A year ago my head was covered with sores, and the eruption covered my face also, and spread even until the backs of my hands were sore. I became [illegible] and [illegible] I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. Two bottles perfectly cured me." Statement of Miss Minnie Stevenson, Cocagne, N. B.

OFF WORK.—"I was off work for two years suffering from kidney disease, and could get no relief, until advised by a friend to try B. B. B. I was cured by two bottles, and consider it a miraculous cure." The above is the substance of a communication from Wm. Tier, of St. Marys, Ont.

ON THE RISE.—"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallable remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

It is believed that the Canadian Pacific railway will probably be able to secure the transportation of the raw silk imported annually from Japan to the United States, an industry second only in extent to the tea trade, the freight paid amounting to about a quarter of a million dollars a year.

A WISE PRECAUTION.—During the summer and fall people are liable to sudden attacks of bowel complaints, with no prompt remedy or medical aid at hand, life may be in danger. Those whose experience has given them wisdom, always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for prompt relief, and a physician is seldom required.

FULLY EQUIPPED

For the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

Anniversary Service.

The anniversary of the Mark Street Methodist Church, Ashburnham, will be held on Oct. 3rd and 4th. Posters will be out in a few days.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of Mount Hebron Encampment will be held on Thursday evening 16th inst, at 7 o'clock. Members are particularly requested to be present. By order of the C. P. R W. ERRITT, SCRIBE.

Still They Come.

There does not appear to be any dimunition in the number of buyers who daily throng the Bon Marche store in search of bargains in Dry Goods, Millinery, Boots and Shoes, Teas, Sugars, Coffees and General Groceries. Call in and see for yourself.

DRESSMAKERS, give the Gilbert Linings a trial and be convinced that they are the best. R. FAIR.

The Hazel Brae Home.

The garden social held at Hazel Brae on Friday, notwithstanding the previous rain and the unavoidable absence of the Band, was so far a success that a sum of $63 was realized. The Superintendent takes this opportunity of thanking the ladies of the Committee through whose efforts this gratifying result was attained.

Something New.

We understand that the young folks belonging to the George Street Methodist Church with their usual enterprise have determined on having an Industrial Exhibition of their own. They intend holding it in the drill shed next Tuesday afternoon and evening September 21st. They expect great variety of exhibits comprising in young ladies and girls work, Painting, fancy needlework, plain sewing, patchwork, specimens of bread and cake, canned fruits, pickles etc., and the young men and boys will show miniature engines, sets of harness, boats and a great variety of the curious and wonderful. Judges have been appointed and prizes will be awarded. In connection with the exhibition the ladies of the congregation intend serving a substantial tea between the hours of five and eight o'clock. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance during the evening. Admission for exhibition and tea twenty five cents. Exhibition alone ten cents. Proceeds in aid of the organ fund.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held on Monday, Sept. 13th, at 4 p.m., the President in the chair. It was opened with singing, prayer and reading in concert Isaiah 35. Thirteen members were present. The usual routine of business was carried out. A communication was received from Mrs. Chisholm, of Ottawa, urging the advisibility of appointing a delegate to attend the convention at Owen Sound on Oct. 11th to 14th. After some discussion it was deemed wise not to send a delegate this year. Mrs. Wand and Miss Wood, of Ashburnham, were elected a committee to procure bandages for the Nicholls Hospital. Ways means were discussed for carrying on Band of Hope work, and it was resolved that each member of the Band of Hope pay 5 cents per year to defray expenses. The ladies of the Union desire to thank all friends who have so kindly donated boquets to the flower mission, and trust to their generosity for supplies every Wednesday while the flowers last. Boquets may be left at Miss Sanderson's store. Many sick people have been cheered by these bright mesengers and helped by the accompanying texts. The meeting dismissed in the usual form.

A Late Blossom.

Mr. W. Hoskin to-day found an apple blossom in Mr. A. Swinton's garden, blooming away as if it were balmy spring.

Chamberlain's Oyster Rooms Sept. 15th.

Chamberlain's Parlour Oyster Rooms are now open. New York Count Oysters in shell and can kept constantly on hand during the season. Fish, game, chops, steaks kidneys, etc., to order at all hours.

Re-roofed.

The main building of the Auburn Woollen Mills, one of the wings and the office have recently been newly roofed with galvanized iron. It took 10,580 feet to do the job. The work was entrusted to Messrs. Breeze & Bain and they did the work very satisfactorily.

Justin McCarthy.

At a regular meeting of the Mount Hebron Encampment, No. 56, I. O. O. F., it was decided to accept the terms upon which Justin McCarthy, the celebrated lecturer and writer, could be secured to deliver a lecture here. The date will be fixed for early in October.

Floral Offerings.

The pupils of the Collegiate Institute today sent the W. C. T. U. the largest donation of flowers they have received yet for the Nicholls Hospital. Miss Sanderson, in behalf of the W. C. T. U., desires to thank them for their gifts, and hopes to see an equal profusion on every Wednesday.

Market.

The attendance at the market this morning was not large. Butter sold for 19 and 20 cents per pound; eggs, at 13 cents per dozen; turkeys, at 80 cents to $1 each; chickens as 40 cents per pair; apples, at 70 cents to $1 per bag; potatoes, at 60 to 65 cents per bag; onions, 25 cents per peck; tomatoes, 75 cents per bushel.

Personal.

Mr. Chas. Paisley, formerly of Peterborough, now of the firm of Paisley & Ross., Montreal, is in town.

At the temperance convention under the auspices of the Dominion Temperance Alliance, held at Toronto on Tuesday, Mr. James Kendry, of Peterborough, was placed on the Committee on Political Action.

Army Notes.

Capt. Bertha Smith, recently of Peterborough, now in command of the Lindsay corps of the Salvation army, was arrested some time ago for praying in the streets. She was tried and sentenced to fifteen days imprisonment in default of the payment of fine imposed. She did not pay the fine and went to gaol. The next day a soldier near Toronto paid the fine and she was released.

An Army funeral took place at Lakefield on Tuesday, when one of the soldiers was buried with Army honors.

A Word in Season.

The above caption may at first glance appear to some to have little or no significance beyond a passing thought, and in consequence the item may, in some cases, perhaps, be passed over, but it is invariably the case that the paragraph following such a heading is well worthy of the careful perusal of the reader, and it is for this reason that the following is appended:—It has again been the good fortune of Ontario, through a kind Providence, to be blessed with an abundant and fruitful harvest, and the golden grain is now securely stored away in the barns of the thousands of those who are successful tillers of mother earth. The season just closing has been a prosperous one in many other respects; business has been fairly brisk in every line, and everybody is correspondingly contented. The cold season is fast approaching, and there is general hurry and bustle in every conceivable quarter in preparing for the advent of Jack Frost. A. McNeil, at Habiliment Hall, has taken time by the forelock and placed on his shelves goods suitable for the season. Call and examine his suitings, overcoatings and gents' furnishings. POLICE COURT.

CHARGE OF SHEEP-STEALING.

TUESDAY, Sept. 14. — The Queen vs. Howden case was continued this afternoon.

ALLEN KIDD, who helped to drive the sheep in, and who went out to the field to see the ram, recognized it as the one which lay down on the road coming in.

EDWIN WATTS also identified the ram as being the same which became tired while being driven in.

FRED BARKER, who formerly worked for Mr. Mervin, remembered having taken a ram to Webber's field. He took the same ram as was given into his charge by Mr. Mervin.

SAMUEL EDWARDS, from whom the ram was bought by Mr. Watts, stated that he had it for nearly three years. He could distingeish it from among a flock readily by its general appearance. It had scratches in its face and marks in its ears. He identified the ram in Mr. Webber's pasture field this morning.

HENRY EDWARDS also identified the ram at Webber's as being the one sold to Mr. Watts.

LEVI PAYNE, who owned the sheep when a lamb, also identified it by a hole in its ear, the top of one ear cut off, and by general appearance.

ROBT HOWDEN, sworn, said: I am a cattle dealer, a brother of the prisoner. I remember my brother buying a ram about a month ago. He bought it on the Warsaw road about four miles from town. Geo. Howden, my brother rode out with me. The ram was a medium sized one. I only noticed a blue mark on his back. I did not observe any marks about its head. My brother and I went to buy cattle. We met my brother Thomas driving a horse. We met him about 4 mile out, at King's corners. He told me he had lambs coming behind, and he said, "There is a fellow coming along with a sheep and I offered him $3.50 for him, but he wants $5." The man then came up with the sheep. I don't know who he was. He was about 30 years of age, in his shirt sleeves, and wore dark whiskers. He had this ram only. My brother said to him: "I will give you $4 for the sheep." He thought for a while and said, "I guess you may have him." My brother paid him with two $2 bills. The blue mark is a very common one. I saw Mr. Watts with a similar ram with a similar mark, a similar sheep, about the same size, in a waggon at Mr. Mervin's door.

Geo. Howden gave substantially the same evidence as his brother.

Further minor evidence was entered upon at the court on Wednesday.

The counsel for the prosecution and defense addressed the court. Mr. Wood for the crown, asked the leniency of the court should the prisoner be found guilty.

The MAGISTRATE held that it lay on Mr. Watts to prove that the sheep was his and that he lost it in such a way as to constitute larceny. This had been proved to his satisfaction. The identity of the sheep had also been proved to his satisfaction. Then the very fact of Mr. Howden's disposing of that sheep as his own threw the burden of proof as to how he came by it on himself, was a satisfactory explanation made? The defence consisted of the evidence of two brothers, which though acceptable, was more open to suspicion than if it were given by strangers. Geo. Howden was a man of very bad memory, so bad that he didn't know how old he was, what time he came to this country or scarcely anything of his past history. Yet he remembered the whole circumstances of the alleged buying of the sheep. He even remembered what kind of money was paid. Was not this, rather than evidence for the prisoner, a proof that the defense had been concocted and that the two brothers had agreed upon what to say. Then the prisoner was said to have bought the sheep from a man on the road—a coatless tramp. This circumstance alone should have led him to inquire his name and whereabouts, but it appeared that the prisoner knew nothing of him—that no attempt had been made to bring this man to Court. No trace, either, of the boy who drove the sheep in from Warsaw was to be found. The defence, to make their statement coherent, should have summoned these two. Also, the prisoner sold the sheep to Mervin at the same price he was said to have paid for it; this was not business. Altogether, he was satisfied with the statement of the prosecution as to how the article was lost, but the explanation made by the defence, he must say, was wholly unsatisfactory and most improbable. The mode of buying was not the mode pursued by butchers, and the fact of this man offering an animal for sale on the road would be sufficient to make any ordinary person suspect the means by which it came into his possession. Yet, Mr. Howden had bought the sheep, it was said, without even knowing who he was buying from. He found the prisoner guilty. And while he did not deem the sheep of much value, he did hold that the crime committed was a serious one. Both the farmers and the butchers were interested; the former when leaving animals on the highway were to be protected from selfish persons, and the latter, who he regarded as a very honorable class of men, were not to have their reputations sullied by any of their number. He sentenced the prisoner to three months in the common gaol of the County of Peterborough.

ASSAULT.

In the evening a session of the court was held in the office of the Chief of Police. The charge of assault preferred by Richard Roberts against Geo. Brumwell, both of Harvey, was heard. Mr. Wood appeared for the complainant, and Mr. Edwards for the defendant. Several witnesses were examined, but as it appeared that the assault, if there was one at all, was trivial, and that there was strong provocation, the case was dismissed. The complainant did not appear. Several neighbors testified as to the irreproachable character of the defendant. The Magistrate pointedly commented on the absurdity of bringing so trivial a matter so far for a hearing.

NON-PAYMENT OF WAGES.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 15.—R. G. Hall charged D. Faucher with non-payment of wages due him.

R. G. Hall was called. He stated that D. Faucher engaged him on May 19th as engineer on the steam yacht Pearl at $1 a day and board. He had worked 110½ days and had received an account 66.45, leaving a balance due of 44.05.

A contra account was put in of considerlength but the items were not allowed, except one for a hotel bill. Judgement was given in favor of the complaint for $42.55, to be paid within five days. The costs amounted to $4.85.

Mr. Stone, for the camplainant and Mr. Moore for the defendant.

A CARNIVAL OF CRIME.

An Epidemic of Desperate Murder Sweeping Over France.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The outburst of crimes and violence, marked with savagery, increases throughout France. Last week's record, besides the beheading of the woman Lee, includes the murder of M. Claude Faure by his sister-in-law, whom he had convicted of theft. While visiting his brother's house he was given a drugged drink, from the effects of which he died. His brother's wife confesses that she boiled the remains in pieces, afterwards throwing them into the river Ardeche; and burying the bones. She also admits using the same vessel in which the fragments of the body were boiled to prepare the family soup.

Paris is excited over the death of a young man named Dufentielle, who, while walking along with his sweetheart in the woods in the vicinity of Paris, was shot by a gendarme. The authorities are accused of trying to shield him, and witnesses in other cases accuse the gendarme of lying in wait for and extorting money from young men and women visiting the woods. It would appear that Dufrentelle, refusing to submit to blackmail, after some angry words, struck the gendarme in the face. The gendarme retaliated with his revolver, killing the young man instantly.

A compositor named Rehon, after being discharged from an English printing office, in the Rue Honore for some dereliction of duty, shot the foreman dead and wounded an apprentice.

M. Leon Bayard became involved in a quarrel with a comrade named Marius at a ball in the Barrier Casino and fired two shots at him. Marius is in a dying condition.

A laborer named Jean Julia, residing at Villeneuve, beat in the skull of his mistress, Marie Forestier, on the public highway and afterward cut open her body as it lay on the street.

A hotel owner named Barthe, whose house is located on the Boulevard St. Germaine, having become depressed from losses in business, shot his wife and then committed suicide.

The English and the French press are discussing the cause of the murder epidemic. It is variously attributed to the increased use of alcoholic stimulants, the excitement caused by the political turmoil, the want of moral guidance, and the spread of atheism.

IN COMPLETE COMMUNITIES.

French Canadians Returning From the United States en Masse.

Two French-Canadian communities in Massachusetts are reported to be returning to Canada en masse. It is said that 25,000 or 50,000 acres of land will be prepared for them in La Lievre and La Rouge valleys by clearing, building, planting and sowing, and that then they will all return together, farmers, doctors, merchants, traders, etc., forming complete communities to take possession of their new home in their old country. This interesting experiment is full of promise for this Province. We can imagine nothing more likely to promote the progress of our own province than a large influx into the Province of French Canadians who have resided for some time in the United States.—Montreal Star.

Fatal Railway Accident.

QUINCY, ILL., September 14.—Last evening a freight train on the "long line" was thrown from the track by a misplaced switch. Engineer Jack McCarthy was caught beneath the engine and crushed to death. Fireman Mike Keefe was so badly scalded that he died an hour later. Lee Piggott, the brakeman, was also fatally injured. The blame of the accident is not located.

DRESS LININGS.

We have much pleasure in announcing to Dress Makers and all Ladies specially interested, that we have imported direct from the manufacturers a full supply of which is now endorsed and used almost exclusively by the leading Dress Makers in Toronto and other principal Cities.

THE CELEBRATED

This lining is a pure Cotton, containing no dressing and sizing whatever, and consequently remains always the same. We are in a position to make favorable prices for this new fabric so much so that we expect to have an active demand for it at once.

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY.

TAKE NOTICE that every thread composing this fabric both in warp and weft, is Double Carded and Double Roved, a process never before adopted in any class of Dress Linings or Silesias, and which gives the same improvement in this cloth over all others that a six horse power cotton mill over the single cord, an improvement so patent that every consumer can at once detect it.

Every piece of these Goods is guaranteed perfect.

GILBERT MANUFACTURING CO.

Dress Makers are respectfully invited to call and inspect these Goods and satisfy themselves more fully as to their merits.

The Daily Review.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1886.

GERMANY DEMANDS A PLEDGE.

The Czar Asked to Guarantee Non-Interference in Bulgaria.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—This morning the Post says that Germany has asked of Russia a pledge that the latter will not interfere in the affairs of Bulgaria and will take no action that will have the effect of causing irritation in the Balkan country. Russia has agreed to refrain from interference as requested, but stipulates that Germany and Austria shall refuse to sanction the re-election of Prince Alexander the Bulgarian throne should he be chosen by the other powers.

WOULD NOT CONGRATULATE THE CZAR.

SOFIA, Sept. 15.—During the session of the Assembly, yesterday, the President proposed to send a telegram to the Czar congratulating him upon the recurrence of his fete day and thanking him for his proffer of protection. The idea was abandoned because a number of deputies threatened if such a despatch was sent to issue a manfesto hostile to the Czar.

AUSTRIA AND RUSSIA.

VIENNA, Sept. 15.—The engrossing topic of conversation here is the wording of the toast to the Czar proposed by the Emperor Francis Joseph at the army officers' banquet at Lubien. The Emporer simply said "I drink to the health of His Majesty the Czar." In former years he has always used these words: "I drink to the health of my friend and august ally the Czar." The difference in phraseology is taken to indicate that the alliance is ended. In diplomatic circles it is admitted that the tension between Austria and Russia has increased.

Catholic Convention at London.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 15.—At the afternoon session of the Supreme Council of the Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association yesterday the annual reports were read and referred to the appropriate committees, after which the report of the committee on laws was discussed at great length and many alterations made from the suggestions of the grand councils. In the evening the delegates were entertained to a grand banquet at the City Hotel, the first toast on the programme being, "His Holiness the Pope" and the second "The Queen."

The Labor Congress.

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—The labor congress at this morning's session passed resolutions that petitions be circulated by all the labor organizations in Canada praying that the qualification of $800 be exempt as regards income tax, that the Torren's land system be applied to the whole of Ontario and that a petition be presented to the legislature asking that municipalities be compelled to publish the annual assessment tolls in the press.

Municipal Officers Organize.

Toronto, Sept. 15.—The municipal clerks and treasures of Ontario met here last night for the purpose of forming an association foa mutual benefit, &c. It was decided to form such a body to be konwn as the "Municipal Officers association of Ontario," and a committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws.

U. S. Indians Must Pay Duty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The Treasury Department has decided that Indians living in the United States near the Canadian frontier are not entitled to the privilege of purchasing horses and cattle in Canada and importing them into the United States free of duty.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

THE QUEBEC REFORMERS.

If the Globe is bent on splitting up the Liberal party it is taking a very good way to do it, for there are thousands of life-long Liberals who will not do violence to their consciences by joining in censuring Sir John Macdonald for sending to the gallows a villain who they are convinced richly deserved the rope. To get into power and office by uniting with the Rielites is what they will not do, let the Globe stigmatize them as it pleases. While on the subject, we may inform the Liberals of Ontario that the course pursued by their organ since the 16th of November last is alienating the English-speaking Liberals of Quebec from the Reform standard.—Huntington Gleaner (Reform.)

PREDICTIONS FALSIFIED.

The sixth tea-ship with freight for the Canadian Pacific Railway, will soon be due at British Columbia. Thus early is falsified the prediction of those who assured us that two ships a year would carry all the tea that could be coaxed to take this route. —Monetary Times.

REFORM JOURNALISTS.

The Atlanta Constitution recently published the following card signed by George Jackson a newspaper correspondent of Millen, Ga: "I this day, August 25, 1886, state and give my signature in the presence of wellknown citizens of Millen that I have proven myself a liar and a man who communicates lies to northern journalism for a support." It must not be supposed that then Mr. Jackson made this public parade of his abilities as a liar he yielded to the promptings of egotism. Far from it. He yielded to the promptings of a gun in the hands of a fellow-citizen. There are some correspondents of United States papers stationed at Ottawa and Winnipeg who are entitled to go and do likewise.—Toronto World.

WHO ARE RESPONSIBLE.

While we feel as kindly as Mr. Weir or any other politician, the fatal meaning of such cries in our midst, we, and we believe with us the vast majority of English-speaking people in this province, feel just as keenly that to represent the English-speaking peotle as in any sense responsible for that cry is a dishonesty and an injustice which fro n an English-speaking man come little short of treachery to this country.—Montreal Star

LOCAL FAIRS.

A very practical step has been taken in Muskoka district for the promotion of the sale of cattle and live stock. A series of local fairs have been arranged to follow each other in regular succession, and at such dates as will permit the Toronto and Montreal cattle dealers to attend. It is now suggested that the same plan should be adopted over a back country, and fairs arranged at Lakefield, at Kinmount, at Haliburton, and at Minden, on three following days. It is further suggested that there should be two fairs at each place; the first during the first week in September, and the second during the first week in November. The plan would probably be found of great advantage to the farmers in the back country. The suggestion comes from some of the Toronto cattle dealers, and if there were fairs appointed to be held, say at Kinmount on Tuesday Nov. 2, at Haliburton on Wednesday Nov. 3, and at Minden on Thursday Nov. 4, next ensuing, they would probably be attended by several extensive dealers in live stock. The plan is well worthy of the consideration of our back country friends.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

NORWOOD.

FINE PAINTING.—Mr. Jas. Kerr, of this village, has just completed, on the interior of Mr. Thomas Fraser's hardware store, as fine a job of painting as we have ever had the pleasure of seeing. The work is of such superior excellence as to draw forth comments of the most favorable nature from all who enter the shop. It requires to be seen to be appreciated.

A SHOOTING ACCIDENT.—Master Frederick Woods, son of Mr. John Woods, of this village, narrowly escaped death while out shooting on Friday last. It appears that in attempting to get over a fence he slipped and fell, one of his feet striking the hammer of the gun, which was heavily loaded, and discharging it, the contents passing close to his head and through the rim of his hat. His face and neck are badly burned and blackened by the powder. It was a decidedly "close call," and Frederick, no doubt, will be more careful in future.

HORSE STEALING.—Mr. Thos. Newall was committed to goal on Monday evening on a charge of horse stealing, preferred against him by his father. It appears that the family occupy two separate houses, the father living in a house by himself and Mrs. Newall and her sons and daughters also occupying a separate dwelling. Tom, who has been wasting his substance is riotious living for some weeks past, was beginning to feel that his purse required replenishing, and thinking that the "old man" had more of this world's goods than was absolutely necessary, he captured his horse and locked it up in one of the hotel stables in the village preparatory to disposing of it. The "old man," however, heard of the theft and before Tom could sell or make his escape, Constable Hill had him placed in durance vile.—Register.

BLAIRTON.

BASEBALL.—A match game was played between the Rockdale and Blairton baseball clubs on Saturday, which resulted in a victory for the Rockdale boys by 15 runs. A fine level ground in the vicinity of Blairton was selected. The umpires announced the game one of the most agreerble and best played they had witnessed this year. A large crowd of interested spectators was present. The Blairton boys behaved in a right royal manner, treating their opponents to a sumptuous repast at the close of the game. The boys purpose playing another game at Rockdale in a few weeks. —Norwood Register.

An Elopement.

KINGSTON, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Smith, of Ballin's Bay, fell in love with the hired man while her husband was away, and yesterday eloped. In this city Smith ran the pair down, assaulted the hired man and recovered his penitent wife.

A Schooner Breaks in Two.

MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 15.—The schooner Alaska went on the blocks at Hopewell Cape for repairs. When the tide receded she fell off the blocks and broke in two. She is a total loss.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

THE ST. LEGER STAKES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The race for the St. Leger stakes to-day was won by the Duke of Westminster's "Ormonde," Mr. Fanton's "St. Mirin" second, and Mr. Jenning's "Exmoor" third. There were seven starters.

CHURCHMEN ORGANIZING.

LONDON, September 15.—A meeting of members of the Commons interested in church defence was held yesterday to devise means for counteracting the efforts of those who favor disestablishment. Strong feeling was expressed in favor of forming an organized party in the Commons, with "whips," whose objects may be summed up in the phrase "churchman first, politicians afterward."

CABLE PROTECTION.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The House of Commons last night passed a bill entitled the Submarine Cable Amendment Bill. It ratifies the international convention for the protection of the submarine cables of the world.

REQUIRES PROTECTION.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Sept. 15.—Mr. Chamberlain had an interview with the Chief of Police yesterday, with reference to obtaining police protection during his tour abroad. It was arranged that Inspector Van Halden should accompany Mr. Chamberlain throughout his travels. Mr. Chamberlain met with an ovation on the streets He will start on his tour on the 25th inst.

FRIENDS AGAIN.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—The French Government, during the last few days, has given Germany satisfactory assurances that the tension caused by the actions of Gen. Boulanger and the French Chauvinists has almost entirely vanished and the relations between the Paris and Berlin Governments are consequently more cordial than they have been for a long time past.

CHOLERA IN ASUTRIA.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The cholera is gaining ground in Austria. It is worst at Lic, a village near Agram. Of nine hundred inhabitants of the village ninety have been stricken and twenty-eight of them died almost immediately. The people distrust the doctors and conceal the sick as long as possible. Doctors are frequently stoned in the streets. In one house a mother and her daughter were found on the bare floor in the agony of death and in another room lay the body of the father, upon which had been thrown the corpse of a son. The villagers are too much frightened to help one another.

FATAL COLLAPSE OF A BRIDGE.

BELFAST, Sept. 15.—The Albert bridge, spanning the Lagan river at Belfast, collapsed to-day. Twenty persons were thrown into the river, four of whom were drowned.

DILKE RETURNED.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Sir Charles Dilke has returned to London. It is announced that he will re-enter public life as proprietor and editor of a London daily newspaper.

CHURCHILL'S ANSWER.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Lord Randolph Churchill, replying to the directors of the Scottish Protestant Alliance, who recently severely critized his answer to their remonstrance against the appointment of Mr. Matthews, a Roman Catholic, to the Home Secretaryship, says he must decline to enter the field of polemic theology in regard to the position of Catholics in a Protestant state. He adds that if the views of the Alliance were pushed to a logical conclusion they would involve the repeal of all of those acts of Parliament removing political disabilities of Catholics, and the re-enactment of penal laws, which the vast majority of British people are anxious to forget.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

An Excursion Train Wrecked—A Terrible Scene—List of the Dead.

BUFFALO, Sept. 15.—Yesterday afternoon a frightful railway catastrophy happened at Silver Creek. A special train started at Ashtabula, Ohio, for Niagara Falls. The train drawn by engine 158, was composed of a baggage car and eleven excursion coaches, heavily loaded. East of Silver Creek, at a sharp curve, the excursion train was going at a speed of eight miles an hour, when engineer Brewer was horrified by the sight of a freight train coming at the speed of 30 miles an hour. The engineer at once reversed, put on air brakes and jumped for his life, followed by his fireman. The engines came together with a crash.

The driver and fireman of the freight train also jumped and escaped. The baggage car was thrown squarely on top of the smoker, crushing it and filling it, the following cars being damaged but escaping escaping with a shake up. As the smoker was filled with men the result was terrible People crowded and jostled to get away while escaping steam, mingled with the cries of wounded and dying, made a scene that was at once awful and horrible. Harrison, of the freight, made claim that he had orders to pass at Silver Creek, while Engineer Brewer, it is thought fearing arrest, made good his escape.

Messages were at once sent for wrecking trains and medical aid. Crowds began releasing the imprisoned passengers. Sides of the smoker were laid open, disclosing bruised and mangled bodies, doubled up in every conceivable shape. They presented a horrible sight, many of them being mangled beyond recognition. The coroner impaneled a jury and began to investigate where the blame of this terrible calamity should rest. Strange to say, seven coaches of excursionists went on to the Falls as if nothing had happened. William Heidt, of Erie, Pa., one of the few in the smoking car who escaped, said all he realized was a crash, and one car crowded in the other amid shrieks and groans of the dying. He found himself outside the car, but how he got there he hardly knew.

The list of the killed is as follows Henry Huck, Sterrittania, Pa., legs ground to a pulp; Stephen Cuthbertson Burgess, Waterford, Pa., a prominent merchant, remains terribly mangled; Henry Gebhard, Pittsburg, and his son John, embraced, their bodies crushed and mangled; David Sharp, Erie, Pa., crippie, and his son found crushed together; William W. Loomis, Erie, shipbuilder, head crushed, dead in his seat; Jacob Roslatter, Erie, remains almost beyond recognition; John Feeder, Pittsburg W. T. Reynolds, Dunkirk; Aaron Parkhurst Mayville; Adriel Heidler, John Seifert, John Meyers, Erie.

Alfred W. Cahoon, Bradford, Pa., right leg broken below the knee, internal injuries likely to prove fatal.

THE PLOT CONFESSED.

For the sake of novelty and to give a little variety to its readers the London Advertiser for once abandons its usual practices and tells something that is true, about a political or party question. But with the inexperience and awkwardness of a novice in a new and unaccustomed field it makes a suicidal blunder, confessing the nature of its plot with its allies. The Advertiser says:—

"Our esteemed Tory contemporaries seem to derive a great amount of consolation in remarking that Reformers merely held their own in Haldimand. This, we are constrained to confess, is true. But we gained a seat in Chambly. Now, let us give away a great secret. The way we expect to defeat the Government is just like that—by holding our own where we already elect Reformers and defeating the Tories where they have heretofore had majorities. But don't mention this to any one."

The way in which the Rielites "expect to defeat the government" is thus exposed by an undoubted authority in all the naked deformity of the base conspiracy. So far the plot has been a success in the two elections at Chambly and Haldimand, and the hopes of the criminal-lovers have been raised. They have gained, according to the plan as thus divulged by the Advertiser, a seat in Chambly, on the sole ground of revenge on the constitutional authorities for bringing a murderous rebel to justice, and such gains they hope to make wherever the "race and creed" cry has influence. They have held their own in Haldimand, by ignoring as far as possible and keeping in the back ground the cry by which they have planned to make gains in Quebec. They hope to continue to hold Reform constituencies in Ontario by thus blinding their supporters to their bargain to abandon in favour of their new allies in Quebec the system of equal justice and of the submission of every Canadian to the law.

The Advertiser does not allude to the similar device in regard to Nova Scotia, possibly because no election has yet taken place to show how it will work. But Mr. Fielding, the leader of the Secessionists and Annexationists, by his message of congratulation to Mr. Blake on the success of their joint cause in Haldimand, supplies this deficiency by showing that the Rielite Reformers have made a similar bargain to secure the Secession vote in Nova Scotia, while shamming loyalty to the Dominion in Ontario.

The enemies of our country and our constitution are to be found in the Grit camp under the standard of Mr. Blake; advocates of rebellion and murder in Quebec, and advocates of Secession in Nova Scotia. Hence it is that rather than act in union with such allies an increasing number of the loyal and honest Reformers are banding themselves with the Liberal Conservatives to resist such attacks upon our very national existence.

FISHERY REGULATIONS.

Disputes as to fishing grounds seem to be quite the fashion at present. Within the last few months and most of them within the last few days, there have been seizures by the United States of Spanish fishing vessels, by Canada of United States, by England of French, by France of English, by Denmark of the United States, and by the United States of British. In the Mediterranean also Italians, French and Spaniards are disputing over fishing rights, if not actually as yet seizing each others' vessels. It appears as if there were an epidemic of poaching at sea, or a general resolve to protect fisheries, or both combined.

In the case of the seal fisheries in the Pacific the United States have evidently withdrawn from their untenable claims to monopolize a portion of the high seas because on one shore it washes their coast and they possess some islands in it. Though those fishing on the high seas cannot be controlled, it would certainly be advisable that the nations chiefly interested should adopt in common such regulations as will preserve as much as possible the seals and prevent their extirpation by unthrifty and shortsighted methods.

The same necessity exists even more strongly in regard to our fisheries properly so called. The New England fishermen by their wasteful practices have ruined their own fisheries, and now they wish to have the right to ruin ours. This should not be permitted to them nor even to Canadian fishermen, and whatever agreement may be reached between the two countries, the preservation of the fisheries by judicious and well-enforced regulations should be carefully kept in view.

We are much afraid that the Reformers are starting another "Big Push" fund, for when, as now, their cries against corruption are unusually loud, it has always been proved afterwards in our law courts that they have been engaging in the wholesale buying of votes. The Montreal Herald has an article headed "Down with Bribery." Mr. H. H. Cook, Mr. Cameron (of Huron), Col. Walker, and other friends of the Herald, can tell it all about coming down with bribery on the most magnificent scale. Mr. Cook has been partially recouped by the Hon. Mr. Mills with trust money filched from the Indians, and Col. Walker has been rewarded for his judge-condemned corruption by Mr. Mowat with a fat office, so it seems to be a method regularly recognised and approved by the Reform leaders. The records of our courts show the extent of this Reform practice amid Reform boasts of purity.

OUR FUTURE TOWNS.

Historical and Descriptive Notices of Villages.

THE VILLAGE OF NORWOOD.

IMPORTANT MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES OF VARIOUS KINDS.

The Business Places and Hotels—Public Buildings, Schools and Churches Social and Sporting Societies.

THE CEMETERIES.

There is one "city of the dead" in Norwood and another, used by people of the village and neighborhood, about a mile from the village.

THE NORWOOD CEMETERY.

This cemetery lies in a most picturesque spot in the north-wertern portion of Norwood, secluded from the main part of the village by a mountainous range of hills that passes through that locality. Though called the "Norwood Cemetery," here are entombed very many of the early pioneers of Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer, as well as of Norwood. Recently the cemetery has been enlarged by four acres, making eight acres altogether, and the additional grounds neatly laid out in plots conve g ng towards a central portion laid out for walks and driveway. Great care has been bestowed upon many of the graves of departed ones by surviving friends and relatives, and altogether the cemetery is one Norwood people have every reason to be proud of. The cemetery is under the control of a regular appointed Board of Trustees, of which, for a number of years back, Mr. Thomas Burke has been chairman, and Mr. W. H. Stephenson has been the Secretary-Treasurer.

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CEMETERY.

The Roman Catholic Cemetery is about a mile from the village, beside the old church, is a central part of Asphodel township. It is four acres in extent and occupies a pretty site. There are several elegant mor uments and pretty tombstones in the cemetery. It was laid out about the time that the first Roman Catholic Church was built.

SOCIETIES.

Two Agricultural Societies have their headquarters in Norwood and there are four social or benevolent societies in the village, the Masonic, Order of Foresters, Union Workemen and Orange.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

The Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer Agricultural Society, the local association, was organized over nineteen years ago, and its success has been largely due to Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, who has been its Secretary since its organization. The present officers of the Society are Messrs. C. O'Reilly, President; W. E. Roxburgh, Secretary-Treasurer. Directors—Messrs. John Breckenridge, J. P. Brown, Wm. Burgess, W. S. Patterson, George Elliott, John Fitzpatrick, Chas. Nicholl and James Flemming. Auditors—Messrs. J. B. Pearce and W. H. Stephenson.

The East Peterborough Agricultural Society holds its exhibition now in Norwood every year. Of it Mr. A. R. Kidd is President, and Mr. W. E. Roxburgh is Secretary-Treasurer, a position he has held in this Society, also since its organization.

MASONIC.

Norwood Lodge No. 223, G. R. C., meets every Tuesday on or before the full of the moon in each month, and on the festival of St. John Baptist and St. John the Evangelist, in a well furnished hall over Mr. W. H. Stephenson's store, Peterborough street. It was instituted in 1870, and W. Bro. W. E. Roxburgh was the first W. M. The officers for the present year are, W. Bro. W. H. Stephenson, W. M.; W. Bro. W. E. Roxburgh, I. P. M.; Bro. A. McMillan, S. W.; Bro. John Harper, J. W.; Bro. Daniel Wigmore, Chap.; Bro. Thos. Burke, Sec.; W. Bro. W. E. Roxburgh, Treas.; Bro. Thos. Rork, S. D.; Bro. J. A. Harper, J. D.; Bro. F. H. Birt, D. of C.; Bro. Thos. Fraser, S. S.; Bro. W. H. Minaker, J. S.; Bro. John Powell, I. G., and Bro. Geo. Powell, Tyler.

FORESTERS.

Court Rob Roy, No. 114, Canadian Order of Foresters, was organized on December 29th, 1885. It meets in a nicely furnished hall, on the corner of Peterborough and Colborne streets, on the first and third Wednesday of each month. The following are the officers:—Bro. James Kerr, P. C. R.; Bro. James Calder, W. C. R.; Bro. J. F. Perkins, V. C. R.; Bro. Wm. Bailey, Chaplain; Bro. Jas. Kerr, R. S.; Bro. Wm. Foster, F. S.; Bro. W. H. Breathen, Treas.; Bro. J. D. Ackerman, S. W.; Bro. Geo. Philips, J. W.; Bro. K. Kemp, S. B.; Dr. Pettigrew, Court Physician. Bro. James Kerr is also D. D. H. C. R.

UNITED WORKMEN.

Norwood Lodge No. 237, Ancient Order of United Workmen, was organized last February. It meets in a hall in the municipal building on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. The officers of the lodge are Bro. W. H. Stephenson, P. M.; Bro. Thomas Fraser, Master; Bro. W. H. Breathen, Foreman; Bro. W. H. Minaker, Overseer; Bro. T. W. Howson, Rec.; Bro. R. W. Reynolds, Fin.; Bro. H. Reynolds, Receiver, and Bro. E. Cronk, Guide.

ORANGE ASSOCIATION.

Norwood has had for some years a lodge of the Loyal Orange Association of British America, with a good membership. Its officers are Bro. W. Hutchinson, W. M.; Bro. Samuel Adams, D. M.; Bro. J. D. Ackerman, Sec.; Bro. H. Beckett, Treas.; Bro. Geo. Kirk, Chaplain, and Bros. John McMullen and Robt. Leeper are Committeemen.

BIBLE SOCIETY.

There is a branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Norwood. Its officers are the Rev. Mr. Gibson, President, and Mr. W. H. Stephenson, Secretary-Treasurer. The repository is at Messrs. Gear Bros.' tailoring establishment.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

There are several sporting societies in Norwood, and considerable attention is given, especially by the younger men, to field sports, the park being used as practice grounds, for which it is admirably adapted.

LACROSSE.

There is a good lacrosse club in the village, which has given a good account of itself in its matches. The officers are, Mr. M. McGregor, Hon. President; Mr. A. J. Eaton, President; Mr. T. J. Howson, Vice-President; Mr. J. A. Harper, jr., Captain; Mr. C. W. Waters, Sec.; and Mr. Joseph Jory Treasurer.

CRICKET.

The cricket club includes several good players, at the bat, bowling and in the field. Its officers are, Dr. Ford, President; Mr. W. H. Mullins, Vice-President; Mr. J. Harper, Captain; Mr. W. Rutherford, Secretary-Treasurer; and Messrs. E. Willoughby, J. Harper and J. R. McKelvie, Committee.

FOOTBALL.

There is a Football club in connection with the High and Public Schools. The officers of this club are, Mr. J. Davidson, M. A., President; Mr. A. Hutchinson, Vice-President; Mr. H. Pearse, Secretary-Treasurer, and Mr. H. Bewell, Captain.

BASEBALL.

A baseball club war organized this summer of which Mr. C. W. Waters is Secretary, and Mr. W. Rutherford is Treasurer.

BOATING.

Considerable money has been spent last year, and again this summer, in cleaning out the mill pond in order that it would be better adapted for boating exercise. The funds were raised by private subscription. A boat house has been built by a syndicate.

ROLLER RINK

Mr. John Hendron is the proprietor of the roller skating rink, which was opened last year. The floor is about 40x30 feet, and there is a gallery at the end of the building for the band and for spectators

TRAVELLING FACILITIES.

One of the most important requirements for a flourishing village is good travelling facilities. Norwood was long hampered in this way, but it is now, in this particular, advantageously situated. It is on the main line of the Ontario Division of the

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY, which places it within comparatively easy distance of the centre of the Dominion and of the Province, and gives from it easy access to the leading markets of the Dominion. The building of this railway gave an impetus to the business and growth of Norwood, and one of the advantages it affords is the market for grain that has been established in the village. Norwood is also a short distance—about five miles—from Hastings station on the Grand Junction branch of the

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

It has stage connection with Hastings, and with other villages in the neighborhood.

RESIDENCES.

There are several very fine private residences in Norwood, and commendable zeal has been shown in the planting of shade trees on the streets. Mr. W. E. Roxburgh's residence is one that would do credit to a city. It is a fine dwelling and has magnificant grounds. Mr. I. N. Ackerman has also a very fine residence, and Messrs. Thos. Fraser, Joseph Jory, P. W. Reynolds, John Finlay, J. B. Pearce, W. H. Mullins, H. G. Buck and others possess attractive homes.

NEW DWELLINGS.

There are several new dwellings being erected in the village. Among them is a fine new residence on Queen street, being built by Mr. J. Davidson, M. A. Mr. Thos. Hendron is also putting up a house on the same street, and Mr. F. H. Birt is building a handsome residence on Belmont street. Mr. H. G. Buck's dwelling was built last year, and there are other buildings in course of construction.

CONCLUSION

Norwood has everal natural advantages in its favor which have assisted in building it up until it is the flourishing village that it is at present. It is surrounded by a good populated by industrious farmers, which extends on each side of it. Although it has not as good water power as other places in the county possess, the Ouse furnishes very good power during the greater part of the year, and water to supply the steam boilers with which the factories are provided. The progress of the village demonstrates that it possesses

AGRICULTURAL DISTRICT,

ENTERPRISING CITIZENS, who have pushed forward its business and interests. It is still growing, as is shown by the business buildings and fine residences being constructed, and the additions made of late years to its factories, and by the good business which its industries are doing. With the additional advantages afforded by the that Norwood now enjoys, the establishment of new manufactories should be a profitable undertaking, and new industries are projected. Among others about to be established is a factory for chair frames, to be carried on by messrs. Geo. Vennator and A. Davidson, an enterprise which, on account of suitable timber for raw material being easily obtainable, will no doubt be successful and remunerative. As has been shown, the village has steadily progressed, and the outlook for it is very favorable, so much so that Norwood may be classed among the most prosperous villages and among our future towns.

RAILWAY FACILITIES

HALIBURTON EXHIBITION.

A Splendid Collection of Fruit, Fine Vegetables and Good Grain.

In its report of the exhibition at Toronto the Globe gives the following account of the exhibit from Haliburton, showing the capabilities of the Provisional County:—

One of the most prominent features in the building devoted to agricultural products is the Haliburton exhibit. The fruit, grain and roots shown here give most emphatic evidence of the fertility of this northern county. They were not grown for exhibition, but were hurriedly gathered by the committee appointed for the purpose from the farmers, who took the specimens from their ordinery crops. As a practical evidence of what can be accomplished in the grant districts of the county of Haliburton this exhibit tells a marvellous tale. The fruits are something remarkable, and there is not a really poor display in the lot. Mr. George Smith, of Anson township, shows some Hesper Rose crab apples which would be difficult to equal, not to say surpass, anywhere. He also has three large Duchess apples on one stem

WHICH ARE SPLENTID SPECIMENS.

Mr. Fred. S. Burt, of the same township, shows several monster Duchess apples in the pink of preservation. Mr. James Turnbull, of Minden, has a remarkably fine collection of various kinds of apples. Mr. Jas. Cockburn, of the township of Anson, shows some excellent red plums. It is said that the Fruit Growers' Association will specially inspect these plums, as they are of a new variety. Mr. D. Galloway, of Miner's Bay, con. 7, lot 18, township of Lutterworthy, has 6 Duchess apples on exhibition, which may truly be said to be a great half dozen. A unique apple of no known variety is shown by Mr. T. C. Robson, of Minden township, con. 4, lot 17. It is a large green winter fruit, and Mr. Robson says it is a seedling. If so the apple is a valuable one. Mr. Michael Brown, of Minden, shows some wild plums which are very fine specimens.

AN EXCELLENT COLLECTION OF FRUIT

is credited to Mr. W. H. Robertson, of Minden, and some seeding apples to Mr. Howard, of Anson township. Mr. William Murray has the reputation of being the possessor of one of the very finest orchards in Haliburton, and his collection of apples, including snows and others, does him much credit. Mr. Thos Moon, of Dysart, has some excellent apples, including some very fine russets. Mr. Wm. Miller, of Haliburton Village, comes to the front with some great Duchess apples, also other varieties. Mr. Thomas Ransom shows an excellent lot of fine winter apples. Some plums also raised by Mr. W. Murray deserve mention. Mr. T. Leary, of Moore's Falls, Township of Lutterworth, shows a remarkably good exhibit of Duchess apples, and some fine small yellow and red crabs. The Haliburton fruit display altogether will compare favorably with the productions of any other section of the Province.

THE VEGETABLES ARE GRAND,

and no agriculturist should miss looking them over. An enormous cauliflower raised by Mr. R. Walling, of Haliburton village, will probably not be excelled in the whole exhibition. Mr. Wm. Pearse, a gentleman 81 years of age, shows a cauliflower of almost equal size, which he raised by the work of his own hands. Mr. Pearce also has some magnificent potatoes. Some fine potatoes can also be credited to Mr. J. L. Brown, of Dysart Township. Mr. John Martin, of Lutterworth, exhibited some very excellent red and white carrots. Mr. Michael Brown has some

LARGE SOLID HEADS OF CABBAGE,

which speak well for the soil in which they were raised. Messrs. Walling & Howary, previously mentioned, show a fine squash each. Mr. Felding, Crown Land Agent, who in charge of the exhibit, contributes some fine beets and some extra good parsnips. An excellent, healthy lot of beans on the vine are shown by Mr. J. L. Brown, and Mr. Walling's hops, also on the vine, are fine specimens. Mr. M. Rodgers contributes a few remarkably good potatoes. Judging by the garden stuff, there can be no doubt about the FERTILITY OF THE HALIBURTON DISTRICT.

If the fruits and the vegetables speak volumes the same can be truthfully said of the cereals. In fact anyone who could find fault with the grain, both in the ear and shelled, which is shown here, must be very hard to please. The specimens of wheat, oats, rye and barley compare most favorably with anything grown in the great grain-producing portions of this continent. One specimen of oats, raised by Mr. R. Walling, is 6 feet 1 inch in height, with full, large ear, the grain being plump and in splendid condition. Messrs. Garret & House, of Quaker Hill Farm, Snowdon, show some remarkably fine spring wheat.

THE STRAW IS LARGE AND VIGOROUS, and yet it has not run to stalk, but the grain itself has filled out to perfection. Mr. James Mortimer, of Anson, shows some shelled specimens of fall wheat which is first class. Every grain is perfect, plump, and well formed. Mr. Mortimer also exhibits some large and excellent peas. Mr. F. Wilson has some peas which would do credit to any grower, and Mr. Geo. Dixon's peas on the straw are especially worthy of mention. One of the best specimens of oats to be seen is that of Mr. Bryan Sharples. The grain is very large, the stalk being about 5½ feet in height. These oats are of the Egyptian variety, and no better samples could be found. A sample of spring wheat shown by Mr. Henry Coukell, Reeve of Monmouth, is first class. Mr. John Stoddart, of Dysart, has some fine peas in the collection which should not be overlooked. Besides what has been mentioned, Messrs. Walter Smith, M. J. Rogers, Thos. Hoyle, of Snowden, Thos. Cox and Richard Checkley show a number of excellent specimens of cereals.

FORCED APART.

BY W. CLARK RUSSELL.

Author of the "Wreck of the Grosvenor," "A Sailor's Sweetheart," Etc.

She put down her knitting, and leisurely rising, with a pretty waddle left the room. Up the staircase, wide enough for a big house, she went, and, with a smart turn of the door handle, entered a bedroom. Here all was dark, until a few moments' gazing exposed Jenny's figure seated at the window, with the windy moonlight streaming upon her and the summer gale tossing her hair.

"Jenny, Jenny!" exclaimed Mrs. Strangfield, advancing quickly, "what sickness art thou courting at that open window, foolish child!—letting the cold wind fill your bones! Come away from the draught, and shut the window. Father wants thee down stairs."

"It is past nine, mother. What does father want? I like this cool wind, and the stars are pretty to watch, running among the clouds."

"Father does not understand your moping. Here have you been sitting for above an hour. We have been talking about thee, and he has some questions to ask."

"What questions?" exclaimed the girl, quickly. "Let me stay here, mother. It will be time for bed soon. What questions has father to ask?"

"Why, you speak as if you were scared! Jenny, if you would fly in the face of the Lord, the way to do it is to flout thy mother. What ails you? A dozen times I have asked, and you say nothing ails you. Are you not well? Is there some secret to trouble you? Are you weary of home? Come down, come down, and open your heart to your parents." And saying this she took Jenny's hand, but finding it cold as stone, cried out, "See, now, if this wind will not put thee in a sick bed!" And in a little passion of anxiety and annoyance, she closed the window sharply.

The sweet and faithful heart, bidden to watch for her husband's coming, felt the closing of the window to be the true ending of her hopes and fears for that night. It was a reprieve that left deep yearning and faint heartedness and sorrowful wonder. Never had he failed her before. It could not be fear that made him shirk the interview he had himself planned; neither fear of her father, nor want of passionate love for her. With ears straining to catch at every sound, she gazed through the closed window at the vision of dancing lights without, and the flare of the moon sweeping beyond the clouds and silvering the tossing tops of the bay trees.

"What questions has father to ask, mother?"

"Why, what these mopes signify. He doubts if you brought your heart back with you from Sydenham. But I say it was your spirits you left there."

"Mother, let me be here. I am low in me cry, and what would he think to see me in tears!"

"Jenny, just tell me this, then, that I may answer him when I go downstairs—hath Mr. Shaw talked soft things to thee? Come, come, peak up, my child. Surely, I need not be angry, if your beauty has pleased him, and he has saddened you with foolish fancies. Is that it? We will make you smile again when we know what troubles you, sweetheart!"

"Why do you say I mope and am low hearted, mother? Is not my laugh merry? Am I not a cheerful help to you in the house? One cannot always be glad. The noise of the sea, and the cry of the wind to-night, and the struggling of the sweet moon with the clouds have—have—" She faltered, and continued, in a voice as soft as a flute's—"Sometimes one has pleasant sorrows which one likes to nurse. There is no reason that I should mope. I can feel very happy. Ah, dear Lord! would that he had come and saved me from another day of fear!" And breaking out thus, she threw her head upon her mother's breast and cried.

But Jenny wept rarely—at least, in her mother's sight; therefore, the honest bosom on which her face was hidden was rent by the unaccustomed sobs, and anxious, plaintive sympathy spoke in the poor woman's voice, as she exclaimed, with her pretty fingers tenderly kneading the girl's rich hair:

"Oh, my child, my dearie! you will break my heart with your misery! What is your fear? Has any one wronged you? Kind Lord, what trouble is this that hath come upon you? Jenny, Jenny, raise up your eyes—see how bright the moon shines in the room; it makes thy hair like yellow silk. Oh, my pretty lamb, who is he that hath not come! and what is thy fear, Jenny?"

Now, the door of the bedroom and the door of the parlor both standing open, and the staircase measuring but a small space betwixt the low floor and the passage, it was scarcely possible that Mr. Strangfield, sitting in expectation of his daughter's arrival, should fail to catch his wife's words. When, therefore, in her clear, pained voice, she cried, "Who is he that hath not come?" and "What is thy fear, Jenny?" up rose the master shipwright, and the staircase groaned under his boots.

Jenny, hearing him coming, drew away from her mother with a quick movement of terror, and backed through the glare of moonlight into the shadow near the bedstead.

"Wife," exclaimed Strangfield, in his strong voice, "how is it that Jenny does not come to me?"

To which no reply was vouchasfed. He advanced by a stride and said, "What has the girl been saying and what is her fear, Jenny, come forth. I can see you standing there, give me thy hand, foolish wench, and now down stairs with us all. If there be aught to fear, pray that the lord may deliver us from evil."

So speaking he held forth his hand, and the shrinking girl, not daring to disobey, came to him fearfully and dropped fingers of ice in o his palm.

As they went down stairs there was a lifetime of suffering in Jenny's thoughts. For what now was she to do? Must she confess under the crushing gaze of her fathers eyes? Beyond her strength of voice beyond control of passionate weeping, would the confession take her. Cuthbert would be here anon—to-morrow, surely—and shift the heavy load of her secret upon himself. And with him at hand those stern eyes would not be terrifying, nor the anger unbearable.

"Now, my girl," said he, his voice insensibly softening under the beauty of his only child, "speak boldly, and acknowledge the trouble that has come to you. I will tell you," laying a forefinger on his thumb, "when this habit of moping first became visible to me, that was a full month before we sent you to your aunt Rachel. That visit did not improve thee, but, on the contrary, has made thee worse. Now you have your date, and so you shall not be at a loss for the reason.

The girl tried to meet her father's eyes, whereof the severity appeared intensified by the spectacle rings that concentrated their forces of fire and feeling; but to stand to them hardily was an impossible feat; her gaze went downward, and in a scarcely audible tone she replied: "I do not mope, father; sometimes I like to be alone."

"Be honest, wench, be honest!" exclaimed Strangfield, harshly. "What was the meaning of those words your mother was repeating just now?"

"Jenny, they were, 'Would that he had come and saved me from another day of fear!'" whispered Mrs. Strangfield. "Have no fear, my pretty. Thy father is stern, but he loves thee."

APSLEY.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—It very rarely happens that a person who is allowed the honor of acting as a reporter for a respectable newspaper uses his position maliciously. Yet so it is in the items furnished to the REVIEW of the 10th September, under the caption "Apsley," the paragraphs "Personal" and "Accident."

I shall state two or three facts, and leave those interested to judge. "Outside physicians" have not been called in but under exceptional circumstances. When Dr. Campbell has thought it necessary to have a consultation, he has generally sent for Dr. Grant; so Dr. Grant has done the same by Dr. Campbell.

As to Mr. Hawley, the cut was an ugly one, and is doing well under Dr. Grant's care, and I have it on the best authority that Dr. Campbell has not attended to it at all.

The man who is mean enough to write such paragraphs, knowing the facts, is quite capable of the little pettishness of refusing Dr. Grant the courtesy of his professional title; M. D. is an honorable degree, and I have not the slightest reason to think that Dr. Campbell has used it otherwise than honorably in his profession. But Dr. Grant's position is also honorable. He is a Member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, and has full power to practice as physician and surgeon in Ontario, and to collect all fees which medical men are entitled to.

I think it likely the reporter knows as much about music as he does about medicine and truth.

These two medical men have hitherto been good friends, and worked together with every appearance of cordiality, and I am extremely sorry that anyone should be so ill-advised as to wish in such a way to sow discord between them, and in this underhand way to injure Dr. Grant in his profession.

They are both Churchmen in whom I take great interest, therefore I beg you will allow this to appear in the next weekly REVIEW.

Yours faithfully,
P. HARDING.

Apsley, Sept. 13, 1886.

BELLEVILLE.

WOOLEN AND GRIST MILLS BURNED.—On Monday night at 11.15, fire was discovered in the upper part of Mr. John Lazier's woollen mill, on Reed Street. The fire brigade was prompt in responding to the alarm; but were unable to check the advance of the flames. The building was of rough-cast, and the men labored at every disadvantage. The woollen mill and grist mill were both totally consumed. Their original cost was about $25,000. Insured for $5,000. Loss on stock $1,000. A number of pieces of goods were saved. Mr. Lazier had the contract for suppling the Kingston Penitentiary with cloth, and had an order about ready for shipment. It was saved. This fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.—Intelligencer.

AN EAGLE CAPTURED.—Harry McIntosh, in the employment of M. & J. Battle, contractor for the Morrisburg canal, wounded and captured one of the largest bald-headed eagles ever caught in America, at Ox Point, one day recently. It measured 10 ft. 3 in from tip to tip, and was one of the finest specimens ever seen in this country. It was exhibited at the Queen's for several days by Mr. Tunnicliffe, who has sent it to P. T. Barnum's "greatest show on earth." Mr. McIntosh was employed for a number of years by Buffalo Bill's wild west show,—having competed with all noted shots, viz., Bogardus, Carver, B. Hostage, of England (a noted shot). Harry would still have been with Buffalo Bill, but on account of ill health had to retire from sporting life, and returned to his old trade, in the employ of M. & J. Battle. The gun used was a 10-bore, given him by the employees of the firm.—Intelligencer.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALMOST DROWNED.—On Friday morning the youngest son of Mr. P. P. Young narrowly escaped drowning above the locks at this place. Mr. F. J. Young, Mr. C. Young and Mr. J. Godfrey were soon in the water and the latter gentleman succeeded in bringing the little fellow out just in the nick of time.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE.—On Friday, before P. A. Kearney, J. P., a woman in Burleigh, was charged by Mr. P. Kearns with having used grossly insulting and abusive language towards him. She was taxed $2 and costs.

DISAPPEARED.—The friends of Mr. James McManus, an old resident on the Burleigh road, are becoming alarmed at his prolonged absence from home. He was in the habit of leaving home and wandering around the country, but no traces have at last accounts been found. A searching party is organized for Sunday.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FOUND DEAD.—The body of James McManus of the Burleigh Road, who has been missing for two weeks, was found floating in Clear Lake near the Two Sisters Islands. The body had apparently been in the water for some days, no inquest was deemed necessary and the body was interred at Young's Point on Tuesday.

Be a Hero in the Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly say consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

The Irish Loyal and Patriotic Union has issued a pamphlet to prove that the status of the Irish tenant farmer has within the past sixteen years undergone a marked amelioration and is not nearly as bad as represented by Parnellites.

At the Methodist General Conference on Tuesday it was decided to retain the two General Superintendents, as at present, but to have only one editor of the Christian Guardian. At the evening session, Rev. Dr. Carman was elected General Superintendent for eight years and Rev. Dr. Williams for four years.

Ayer's Ague Cure acts directly on the liver, expels the poisons, and drives out the malarial poison which induces liver complaints and bilious disorders. Warranted to cure, or money refunded.

The route of the Canadian Pacific short line to the Atlantic has been decided on, and the part of the road from Lachine to Granby, Quebec, will be built this fall. The plans for the section running through Maine to New Brunswick will shortly be submitted to the Government, and if approved of construction will begun next spring.

By taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla many a poor suffer who submits to the surgeon's knife, because of malignant sores and scrofulous swellings, might be saved, sound and whole. This medicines purges out the corruptions which pollute the blood and cause disease.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites,

Possesses in the fullest degree the tonic and stimulating properties of the Hypophosphites combined with the healing, strengthening and fattening qualities of the Cod Liver Oil in a perfectly agreeable form, of wonderful value in Consumption, Debility and Wasting Diseases.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

NATURE'S CURE FOR CONSTIPATION, A Reliable Remedy For Sick Stomach. Torpid Liver. Bilious Headache. Costiveness. Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient. It is certain in its effects. It is gentle in its action. It is palatable to the taste. It can be relied upon to cure, and it cures by assisting, not by outraging nature. Do not take violent purgatives yourselves, or allow your children to take them, always use this elegant pharmaceutical preparation, which has been for more than 40 years a public favorite. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength, and soundness of constitution will be established.

Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst Scrofula, or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing Salt-rheum or Tetter, Fever-sores, Hip-joint Disease, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Enlarged Glands, and Eating Ulcers.

Golden Medical Discovery cures Consumption (which is Scrofula of the Lungs), by its wonderful blood-purifying, invigorating, and nutritive properties. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, Asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. It promptly cures the severest Coughs.

For Torpid Liver, Biliousness, or "Liver Complaint," Dyspepsia, and Indigestion, it an unequalled remedy. Sold by druggists.

FULLY EQUIPPED

or the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

Stock complete this week.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Immense.

The big picnic to be held at Bridgenorth on Tuesday, Sept. 28th, by the Ennismore people, should not be forgotten. Be sure and attend. The baseball and aquatic events promise to be immense.

Not Coming.

A despatch was received from the Norwood Lacrosse Club stating that they could not come to play the match arranged with the Riversides to-morrow. The match thus stands off.

How They do in Port Hope.

The Port Hope Guide of Wednesday says:—"The Chief of Police as we understand shot seventeen or eighteen dogs to-day, not having tags. They have had quite sufficient warning, and every well regulated dog should see to it that they secure a tag, or most assuredly they will get a ball."

Trotting Horses Matched.

The Hastings Star says:—We learn that a trotting race has been arranged between Simpson's Lapidist Cheif and Bibby's Captain Jnks, for $500 a side. $100 deposit has been made with Mr. John Peters of this village, and the race is to come off in Belleville on the 12th of October.

A FULL stock of the Gilbert Linings at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Fall Importations.

As is usual at this season of the year, Habiliment Hall is again to the front with its fine stock of fall and winter goods. The stock embraces some choice patterns, and the quality will be found decidedly first-class. Now that the cool weather is coming on again, it will be in order for gentlemen to don warm and more suitable clothing. The stock at Habiliment Hall is well worthy of careful inspection, and those who contemplate getting a fashionable fall or winter overcoat, or a nobby suit of clothes, made up in the latest city styles, will do well to place their orders for the same with A. McNeil, at Habiliment Hall, George street.

Army Notes.

A jubilee was held on Wednesday evening in connection with the local corps. The visitors present were: Capt. Alberts and Cadet Thurston, of Omemee; Capt. Mathews and Cadet Dilworth, of Millbrook; Capt. Ogilvie, Lieut. Barber and Cadet McGinty, of Lakefield, and soldiers from several outside corps. There was a street parade, in which there were four drums, a meeting on the market square and service in the barracks. Staff. Capt. Eadie was to have been here, but owing to sickness he was unable to be present.

An excursion from Peterborough to Toronto, under Army auspices, at the time General Booth visits that place is on the list.

An effort will be made to bring Gen. Booth to Peterborough.

The Rifle.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Rifle Association was held in the orderly room of the 57th Battalion on Wednesday evening. The attendance was not as large as the occasion certainly deserved, there being present just the few who annually take sufficient interest in the Association as to keep it in working order. It was decided to hold the annual matches on Monday and Tuesday, the 11th and 12th of October, and a committee, composed of Dr. Bell, W. H. Hill, D. Cameron, Dr. Brennan, T. Fitzgerald and D. Belleghem, was appointed to collect subscriptions for the prizes to be competed for at the coming matches, the programme for which, as far as the matches are concerned, will be about the same as carried out in that of last year, with the exception, probably, to encourage crack shots from a distance, that there will be an increased number of cash prizes. The last monthly match of the Association will take place on Thursday, the 30th instant. Arrangements will be made with the officers of the 57th for competitors to obtain rifles.

C. P. R. TELEGRAPH LINE.

Opened Ready for Business—An Extension Connection.

The Canadian Pacific Railway telegraph system is now opened, and the branch office here, during yesterday and the day, before has been doing a good business.

This line has a very wide connection. Its own line runs where the railway runs, and touching points near to it. It extends from Quebec, through Ontario and the Northwest. Its connection in the United States is the Baltimore and Ohio system. This system has lines cobwebing the following named states and territories:—Arkansas, Arizona, Kansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Indian Territory, New Hamshire, New Jersey, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, New York, Nevada, New Mexica, Newbraska, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennesee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington Territory, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

With the Macay-Bennitt cable line, it gets connection with the Maritime Provinces and across the ocean with Algera, Arabia, Anstralasia, Austria, Belgium, Beloockistan, Bulgaria, Burmah, Canary Islands, Cape Nevada Islands, China, Corsica, Cyprus, Denmark, Egypt, Grecian Archipellago, India, Persia, Spain, Sweden Switzerland, Britain, Germany, France, Holland and Italy. In South America: Brazil, Argentine Republic, Chili, Peru, Ecuador, Columbia. It is connected with North, South and West Africa.

The following circular has been issued;

September, 1886.

To the Cabling Public of the Dominion of Canada:

The Commercial Cable Company (Mackay-Bennett cables) desires to announce that it has completed arrangements for the interchange of cable business with Canada through the extensive telegraph system of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Henceforth, cable message to and from all parts of the world will be received at and delivered from all Canadian Pacific telegraph offices, or other lines connected therewith, throughout the Dominion of Conada, including the Northwest.

Enlisted in the couse of anti-monopoly, the Commercial Cable Company respectfully asks the support of the Canadian public who favor the opening of an independent cable service at reasonable rates. On the opening of its lines to the public in America, in December, 1884, it reduced the cable rates twenty per cent. on the previously existing tariffs. This reduction was maintained despite the strongest pressure brought to bear by the combined opposition companies to increase the rate to sixty cents per word. It refusal to join in raising the tariff to the point indicated has brought about a bitter war of rates which aim at its destruction. The encouragement and support, however, which it has received from the best business men in Europe and the United States, who are opposed to monopoly, have enabled it to withstand the attack and strengthened its determination to preserve a competitive trans-Atlantic cable system and to extend the area of competition.

The cabling public of the Dominion of Canada heve already been largely benefitted by the reduced rates inaugurated by this Company, and maintained through the operation of its cables, and we feel assured that it only needs this notice of the Company's direct Canadian connection to insure from them a generous and continued support.

WELCOME HOME.

A Reception to the Rev. E. F. Torrance by His Congregation.

The public reception to the Rev. E. F. Torrance, on his return home from Europe, was held in the spacious school room of St. Paul's Church on Wednesday evening.

The reception commenced with a sumptuous tea being served by the ladies. At eight o'clock the evening's programme was entered upon. The first number on the programme was a welcome address, "Welcome Home," composed by one of the ladies of the congregation, and sung by the choir. The words of the address are as follows:—

We greet our friend and Pastor,
With joy and thankfulness,
And to our gracious Master
Our gratitude express,
For all the mercies given,
On land and ocean wide;
Through dangers seen or hidden,
His hand did safely guide.

In health and strength returning,
To do the Father's will,
From God the Spirit learning
"To feed the flock"—" until He comes"—the Great and Holy,
To gather young and old,
"To be with Him" in glory,
In yonder heav'nly fold.

We welcome thee with pleasure,
And fervently do pray,
That God with heavenly treasure
May fill thy soul alway,
And whilst to others showing
The path of life divine,
May Jesu's peace o'erflowing
In plenteous streams be thine.

And when thy Lord returning,
Shall claim "His own" from thee,
Thy loyal work discerning,
Shall say, "'twas done for me;"
May He on that blest morning
His faithful servant own,
With "crown of life" adorning,
And a glorious "Welcome Home."

After the singing of the welcome ode, the pastor rose and came foreward.

The Rev. Mr. Torrance said: Dear friends, I am touched with the kindness which you have showed in coming together to welcome me in this way to-night. If there is one thing which I value highly is the respect and affection of those to whom I preach. Without this I could not carry on my labor for any length of time at all; but with it I can assure you that it is a great pleasure to work among you. Looking back over the ten years which I have spent here I have been thinking of how many changes have taken place during that time. You know that in our Presbytery there are twenty-four congregations. How many changes do you think have been made in the pastorates? No less than seventeen. I was looking after the number of changes that have taken place in Montreal. In that city there are fourteen congregations and during the last ten years there have been eleven changes. And during the same ten years I have labored here. I am persuaded that I still have the sympathy and affection of this congregation. This, I can assure you, I value more than thousands of gold and silver. In undertaking the pastorate of this church you met me at a welcome reception similar to this. There are two or three words uttered by me on that occasion which I remember. I said that I came to you young—I was only 23 years of age then—and unexperienced, but that there were two things which enabled me to undertake the work with confidence: first, I felt persauded that I had been called by God to preach the gospel, and in the second place I loved the work of the ministry more than everything else. After ten years my feelings are still unchanged. It is my meat and drink to preach the gospel. In looking at the congregations of the church and hearing of dissatisfaction, I have sometimes wondered that satisfaction, so far as I know, has prevailed in this congregation. Somebody has said that you must be pleased yourself in order to please others. This I can say; I have been pleased with my work in Peterborough, and I love those to whom I minister. I only hope, with God's help, to carry on His work in the time to come better, far better, than I have done in the past. I shall devote all my energies to the opening out of His word and the declararion of His message.

A delightful programme of music, arranged by Mr. Parker, was then entered upon. It consisted as follows: A glee, by the choir; a violin solo, "La Reve," Gollermann, by Mr. Macduff; a piano duet, "The Fire Fly," Blake, by Miss A. Hall and Mr. Parker; a glee, "Hail, Smiling Morn," by the choir; a song, "Titania," by [illegible]; a piano duet, by Mrs. Ferguson and Miss Grey; a violin solo, Scotch airs, by Mr. Macduff; a glee, "Good Night, Beloved," Pinsuti, by the choir; and a violin solo (by special request), melodie, Rubenstein, by Mr. Macduff. The latter was recalled after filling his second number.

This closed a very pleasant evening gathering.

Crushed to Death.

Waupun, Wis., Sept. 15.—An accident occurred last evening on the Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, close to Waupun, by which at widow named Dacey and two little girls lost their lives. As the train came round a curve the engineer saw walking on the bridge a woman and two children. He whistled and put on brakes, but the distance was too short and the engine ran over the unfortunate trio mangling them terribly. The trafu was pulled up and the bodies taken to the depot. The parents of the girls had gone out of town and had left the children in charge of Mrs. Dacey, who did washing for families. The girls, who were between eight and nine year old, had gone on the track to play, and Mrs. Dacey had gone after them to bring them back, when they all met their deaths.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Mr. Rowse Remembered in Oshawa When Leaving for Peterborough.

The Oshawa Vindicator of Sept. 15th says: "Last evening, the teachers and officers of the Simcoe Street Methodist Sabbath School, were invited to attend the residence of Mr. J. W. Higginbotham, to spend a social evening together, and to make a presentation to one of their number, Mr. O. C. Rowse, before his departure from town. The object of the meeting was kept an entire secret and Mr. Rowse was taken completely by surprise. The present was a beautiful Bible, purchased by the Rev. Mr. Manning, while in Toronto, for the occasion. The remainder of the evening was spent in games, singing and having a good time generally, in which Mr. and Mrs. Higginbotham did their utmost to make their guests comfortable. The following is the address, which was read by Mr. J. E. Ellis, Secretary of the School, after which Mr. Rowse made a suitable reply:

"OSHAWA, Sept. 9th, 1886.

"To O. C. Rowse, Esq:

"DEAR BROTHER,—We, the teachers and officers of the Simcoe Street Methodist Sabbath School, on this the eve of your departure for a new sphere of labor, feel to express our regret that you are called upon, in the order of Divine Providence, to sever your connection with us, and take the present opportunity of conveying to you our appreciation of your earnest efforts in behalf of our school. Your zeal has been commendable, you have always been found at the post of duty, and we shall miss you from our councils. We ask you to accept this Bible as a token of our love and esteem for you, and pray that He who is the rewarder of all good deeds will ever keep and prosper you.

"We remain on behalf of the School.

"Rev. T. Manning, Pastor; J. W. Higginbothan, Superintendent; Fred. E. Ellis, Secretary; J. R. Biette, S. H. Wyatt, Teachers."

FACTS

Great German Hair Magic!

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

☞Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

DRESS LININGS.

We have much pleasure in announcing to Dress Makers and all Ladies specially interested, that we have imported direct from the manufacturers a full supply of which is now endorsed and used almost exclusively by the leading Dress Makers in Toronto and other principal Cities.

THE CELEBRATED

This lining is a pure Cotton, containing no dressing and sizing whatever, and consequently remains always the same. We are in a position to make favorable prices for this new fabric so much so that we expect to have an active demand for it at once.

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY.

TAKE NOTICE that every thread composing this fabric both in warp and weft, is Double Carded and Double Roved, a process never before adopted in any class of Dress Linings or Silesias, and which gives the same improvement in this cloth over all others that a six cord spool cotton has over the ordinary three cord, an improvement so patent, that every consumer can at once detect it.

Every piece of these Goods is guaranteed perfect.

THE PROVINCIAL SYNOD.

Sacramental Wines — Overtures for Christian Union.

The following motion by the Rev. Dr. Carry was discussed at length:—

That whereas, of late years, in different quarters and under various pleas, other liquid than wine have been employed in the sacrament of the Holy Communian, and the lawfulness of wine, as usually understood, denied for the same, thereby affecting the reality of the sacrament, and greatly endangering the peace of the Church, this Provincial Synod feels bound to express its strongest disapprobation of such unauthorized acts, and does hereby admonish the clergy of this ecclesiastical province to make no innovation in so sacred a matter as the elements divinely ordained in this holy sacrament, and to adhere faithfully to the custom and tradition of the Catholic Church in the same.

This was carried almost unanimously only eight and six voting for amendments for a committie, and to strike out the reference to Catholic custom and tradition.

After discussion, the following motion was carried unanimously.

"That the resolutions on Christian union passed unanimously by this synod be forwarded to the mederator of the General assembly, the president of the Methodist conference and the presiding officers of other Protestant bodies."

Some resolutions as to mission work, to closer relations with the province of Ruperts land, and other matters were passed, and Synod was prorogued.

RACE BETWEEN STEAMERS.

They Collide, Causing a Terrible Panic —Disgusting Cowardice.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 15.—A scene of great excitement occurred on Monday afternoon above Star Island, a hundred miles from Detroit. The Star Line steamer Greyhound and the Detroit and Cleveland Steam Navigation Company's City of Cleveland are the two fastest steamers on the lakes. On Monday the City of Cleveland left her dock about twelve minutes behind the Greyhound, bound for Oakland. When the Greyhound entered the canal at the flats the City of Cleveland was about two miles astern but following up with a rush. Greyhound stoped at Bedore's to discharge some passengers of whom there were about nine hundred aboard, a majority of them being ladies and children from Detroit. While the Greyhound lay at Bedore's dock the City of Cleveland came up and stopped in the stream almost abreast. When the signal for starting the Greyhound was given the wheels of the two boats started almost simultaneously. The boats drew closer and closer together, and in five minutes after leaving Bedore's they collided with frightful violence. In a moment all was confusion. A rush was made for lifepreservers. One woman seized a life-preserver and bound it to her feet, evidently under the impression that she would be able to walk on the water. Another woman was about putting on a cork jacket when it was snatched from her by a man, who said she could get another. A score of women fainted. One man on the hurricane deck at the moment of collision coolly stepped on the City of Cleveland, leaving his lady companion, Mrs. Reynolds, to her fate. The lady received such a shock that she barely recovered consciousness when the vessel reached Detroit last night.

Many of the passengers were prostrated by the shock to their nervous system. The Greyhound was damaged considerably above the water line, but the City of Cleveland escaped with slight damage.

We are offering extra good value in every line of General Groceries. Call and inspect. MORROW, TIERNEY & Co.

A DANGEROUS LUNATIC.

Murderous Attack on a Keeper by an Inmate of the Kingston Asylum.

KINGSTON, Sept. 15.—There came near being another tragedy at the asylum yesterday afternoon. Keeper Dickinson was sitting down in one of the wards, and near by him was an inmate named Benjamin Ryan. Suddenly Ryan rose, and seizing a stick made a blow at Dickinson, which he warded off with his arm. The stick broke, when Mr. Dickinson, feeling that he was becoming weak from the effects of the crack he received on the elbow, started for the door, Ryan following and striking him several times on the head. In two or three places the scalp was laid open and on the forehead was an ugly gash. After the keeper had passed through the door Ryan threw the stick away and returned to his room as quietly as if nothing had happened. At the time of the occurrence Keeper Lawlor, Dickinson's associate in the ward, was engaged in attending the dumb waiter at the other end of the ward. As quickly as possible the wounded man was removed to his home. He had a narrow escape from being clubbed to death. As it is his wounds will incapaciate him for duty for some time.

CYCLONE IN INDIANA.

Immense Damage to Property by a Furious Wind and Rain Storm.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 16.—A despatch from Terre Haute says, at 11.30 to-day a cyclone struck the city, coming from the south-west. The storm was confined to the central portion of the city. Numerous large buildings were unroofed, and the rain which followed did great damage. The canvas of King, Burke & Co.'s circus was blown down, and the large audience left in the storm. Many of the actors were in the dressing-room half nude, and they made a brisk movement up the street for the nearest hotel. Several thousand people were at the Fair grounds. An eating house was blown down and the wreck caught fire, severely burning a woman and a boy. No fatalities occurred. A special from Newport, Vermillion county, reports six or eight buildings destroyed, but no lives lost. The damage reported along the Wabash valley is great. The storm struck Montezuma, Park county, unroofing a number of houses and uprooting trees.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Sept. 16.—A rain and wind storm of unequalled severity swept over the lake and city this morning. Large trees, sheds, out-houses, lumber piles, etc., were levelled. The wind capsized a small fishing smack which was a few miles out on the lake, but the occupants were rescued. The telegraph and telephone lines are down. The damage to the surrounding country is very great.

THE REIL-REFORM MOVEMENT.

A Letter from Riel's Late Secretary—Rielites Rejoicing with Reformers.

The Montreal Star publishes the following letter sent some days ago by Riel's late secretary, P. H. Garnot, to a lawyer at Manitoba, who is now in Montreal on a flying visit:—

ST. BONIFACE, Man., 9th August, 1886.

MY DEAR FRIEND,—Our friendship dates only from my leaving the penitentiary some days ago, but this friendship is already deeply rooted. We two are going in opposite directions; I to poor Batoche, and you towards dear Canada—to Montreal, where there is shown so much fine spirit and generous sympathy in our behalf. You are going to see the very dear faces of of noble friends. Say to your friends, who are also mine—say to the Liberals—say to the Nationalists—that I, Garnot, thank them from the bottom of my heart; I thank them in my name and in that of all the Metis.

Riel dead is more powerful than Riel alive. The victory of Chambly has shown it; it is the prelude to other victories still more brilliant. May all Canadians (those sincerely Canadian, not traitors or those famous hangmen) remember that the blood of one of them has flowed for the national cause. I would have been proud to share the fate of that man, but God willed it otherwise.

I will come to see you in several months. In the meantime I extend my hand to you cordially and subscribe myself,

Your friend,
GARNOT,
Ex-Secretary of Riel's Council.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Obstruction Tactics to Be Moderated—Mr. Parnell's Land Measure.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Mr. Gladstone is expected to return to take part in the debate on Mr. Parnell's Land bill, and will speak on Tuesday next.

PARNELLITE OBSTRUCTION TACTICS.

The Parnellite members of Parliament, at an informal meeting to-day, agreed to abate their obstructive tactics after a full debate on the vote for the Irish police and permit the Government to conclude the consideration of the estimates. The object of this decision is to enable Mr. Parnell's Land bill to reach the second reading on Monday. The plan of the Government is to pass the Appropriation bill also before allowing a division to be taken on the Parnell bill.

THE GOVERNMENT WHIPS.

The Government whips will muster as many members as possible, and it is thought that the attendance of Conservatives will be larger than at any time since the opening of the session. No special call has been issued for the Gladstonian members, 80 of whom have paired.

MR. GLADSTONE'S RETURN.

It was stated in the lobby of the House of Commons this evening that Mr. Gladstone would return on Saturday, and that he approved of the principle of Mr. Parnell's Land bill and will speak in its favor and vote for its second reading, but that he objects to several minor details, which will be rectified in committee.

NEW RULES OF PROCEDURE.

At the opening of next session the Government intends to introduce new rules of procedure to prevent the obstruction of business.

DRESSMAKERS, give the Gilbert Linings a trial and be convinced that they are the best. R. FAIR.

RECALL DEMANDED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—The Bulgarian government has sent a note to the authorities at Constantinople, demanding the recall of Mgr. Clement, Metropolitan of Tirnova, who was at the head of the revolutionary government.

A BRUTAL MOSCOTIVE.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—The appointment of General Kaulbars as Russian agent at Sofia is not regarded with favor here. The Tageblatt says General Kaulbars is a brutal Muscovite whose doings when Russian Minister of War in Bulgaria soon caused prince Alexander to dispense with his services.

FRANCE AND THE VATICAN.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Vatican has notified France that the Pontiff, considering all the circumstances of the case, and taking into account the latest information on the subject, will suspend the departure of the Envoy, whom he thought of despatching to Pekin, but reserves the right of the Holy See to take such future actions as may be deemed necessary.

THE LATEST FASTING FRAUD.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Signor Succi, the Italian faster at Milan, will not divulge the secret of his African herb liquor as he intends to take out a patent for it. He claims that the liquor will become a staple drink among the poor. He says it will be sold cheap, so that a large family may subsist for a week on a franc's worth of liquor. Succi is visited daily by dukes, princess, senators, deputies and hosts of foreign doctors. His strength is unimpaired.

GOVERNMENT INTENTIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—S. J. Clancy (Parnellite) in the House of Commons this evening charged the Government with refusing to pay the slightest attention to the Irish members when they urged remedies for the local grievances of the people of Ireland. Lord Randolph Churchill replied that the accusation was unfounded. He declared that the Government was eager to remedy "Every reasonable Irish grievance," and intended for that purpose to develop the functions of the local Government Board of Works in accordance if possible with the views of the Irish members. The Government, he adds, would make proposals to Parliament at the earliest moment possible for placing all questions of local government and public works in Ireland in the hands of the Irish people. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chief Secretary for Ireland, also complained of the recent retention of the Irish subjects in debate. He was he said, unable to conceive why this was done unless for the purpose of wasting time.

PARNELLITE OBSTRUCTION.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—In the House of Commons last night, while the appropriation for the Irish constabulary was being debated, a great uproar was caused by the filibustering speeches of the Parnellites. The debate lasted eight hours, and the House was like a beer garden. The full amount was finally voted. The obstruction tactics of the Parnelites have led the Government to insist that the debate on the Supply Bill he concluded before a day be granted for the discussion of Mr. Parnell's bill. It is almost certain that the House of Commons will be asked to sit on the remaining Saturday of the session. Even so, in view of the present temper of the Parnellites, it is improbable that the House will be prorogued before the end of the month. Assuming that Mr. Parnell's bill is already defeated, it is almost certain that every stage of the Appropriation Bill will be made the occasion of a prolonged discussion of Irish matters.

CHINESE PIRATES.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Daily News referring to outrages by Chihese pirates, urges that a patrol of English and American gunboats be established to prevent further piratical acts.

DEATH OF A CARDINAL.

ROME, Sept. 16.—Cardinal Carmine Goumerosi is dead. He was born at Subiaco, February 15th, 1810, and was made a cardinal on November 10th, 1884. Cardinal Jacobini, the Pontifical Secretary of State, is seriously ill.

MCCARTHY AND HOME RULE.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 16.—Mr. Justin McCarthy delivered a farewell lecture here tonight, on the eve of his departure for America. There was a large attendance. His subject was "The Irish cause of to-day." He said he was not going to America on a political mission. He had heard, however, that educated Americans did not believe in Home Rule, and he would try to find them out. He thought that on his return he would be able to give a list of them in a very small compass indeed.

THE OSTRAN DISASTER.

VIENNA, Sept. 16.—It is feared that a dozen school children was drowned through the falling of the suspension bridge at Ostran, yesterday, in addition to the casualties already reported.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—It 's now understood that after further talk on appropriations for the Irish constabulary, the Parnellites will cease their exhausting labors in the debate, and that the remaining appropriations will be readily passed. It is expected that the discussion of the Supply Bill will be finished on Saturday, and that Mr. Parnell's Land Bill will be discussed on Monday and a division be taken at a late hour on Tuesday. Parliament will probably be prorouged a week from Saturday.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Miss Charlesworth, whose enlistment in the Salvation against the wishes of her parents, and detention in the ranks despite the protests of her father led to such an outcry against Gen. Booth some time ago, was married to-day at Clapton to Gen. Booth's son. The marriage ceremony was witnessed by thousands of persons. Miss Charlesworth's sisters were present but her father was not. The Salvation army had a great torchlight demonstration in London to-night in Honor of Gen. Booth, who departs to-morrow for the United States.

A DEADLY RIFLE.

VIENNA, Sept. 16.—Specialists declare that the Newmann-Licher repeating rifle, now being manufactured for the Austrian army, is the most perfect rifle ever invented It fires forty rounds a minute. Yesterday's edition of the Tagblatt was seized for publishing a description of the mechanism of the breech of the new rifle.

The Daily Review.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1886.

MR. BLAKE'S OWN LAW.

Mr. Blake has joined the pack of slanderers in full cry. He is now vilifying Mr. Burns, M.P. because being a business man he is interested in a local railway which has received government aid. Yet Mr. Blake has no word of rebuke for his own parliamentary supporters who are in precisely the same position. But the presence of Mr. Ex-speaker Anglin, stumping with Mr. Blake, might remind the Rielite leader that he was responsible for the change of law permitting Members of Parliament as shareholders so to act, the change being necessitated by the hiring of Speaker Anglin by Mr. Blake and his colleagues, under the false pretence of a printing contract. As the law, passed by Mr. Blake and his colleagues, now stands, Mr. Burns is legally justified just as Messrs. Burpee, King and Weldon are. Does Mr. Blake mean that the law is wrong, that the legislation of his own Ministry should be repealed, and that the Conservative statute which he abrogated should be re-enacted? If this is what he means, if he has seen the error of his way and acknowledges the superiority of Conservative legislation, let him say so, and let him desist from cowardly attacks upon honester men than himself in their absence, while he has nothing but praise for his own supporters in similar circumstances.

SUPPOSING that Mr. Blake as a ratepayer of Toronto, found that the policy and administration of the City Council was not to his taste, and aspired to the Mayoralty with a view to effecting a change, would he be justified in treating, through an agent, with a set of burglars and murderers who were attacking the property and lives of his municipal opponents? Would he be justified in encouraging these criminals, in declaring them to be coerced into wrong doing by the authorities, in condemning their punishment after a fair trial, in defending their cause and sympathising with their friends, on the understanding that these friends should vote for him as Mayor and for his supporters as Aldermen? Yet this is precisely the policy of Mr. Blake in connection with his "new allies," the friends of the murderous rebel Riel.

ALL the little Rielite journals are clipping from each other and republishing as their own an editorial condemning the Review for objecting to the Hon. Mr. Laurier, rebel and perjuror, being retained on the roll of the Privy Council. They wish us to include Sir Geo. Cartier in the same category. The cases are very different; Sir Geo. Cartier, like Sir Chas. Gavan Duffy and the Hon. Darcy McGee, lived to do good public service, and they were not retained on the list of Privy Councillors while boasting of being rebels. If Mr. Laurier in the future becomes an honest, loyal man, and ceases from efforts to break up the Dominion unless his friends are free to commit any crime, we would have no objection to see his name on the Privy Council roll. But a rebel Privy Councillor is worse than an absurdity.

THE disgraceful fabrications as to disasters in Labrador, which have been exposed, and, in part at least, traced to the Ottawa Free Press staff, have been renewed either by the same or some other hand. This time it is the Newfoundland, as well as the Labrador fishermen, who are represented as being threatened with starvation. Reports on good authority from Newfoundland concur in stating that these sensational despatches are unfounded or grossly exaggerated. The catch of fish has been somewhat short, but this is partly compensated for by higher prices, and there is not the slightest danger of starvation. From Labrador last winter is reported as being exceptionally mild. It is a pity that the miscreants who circulate such falsehoods cannot be adequately punished.

IN a recent speech at Moncton, N. B., the Hon. L. H. Davies said they would see the white plume of Edward Blake dancing on the fray. This is the poetical Reform version of Mr. Blake's showing the white feather by slandering Mr. Hickey in his absence and then refusing to discuss the subject with the victim of his slander except at a specially packed meeting of the friends of Mr. Blake.

THE Y. M. C. A.

Annual Meeting of the Association—A Crisis in its Affairs.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Young Men's Christain Association was held in the Association rooms on Thursday evening. Although the night was a very disagreeable one there were about fifty members present. In the absence of the President, the Vice-President, Dr. Fife, presided. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises.

The SECRETARY read a letter from the President, Mr. J. W. Flavelle, who had been called out of town by pressing business, regretting the circumstances that called him away. He referred to the financial difficulty which the Association had to face, and attributed it to the inactivity of members. He believed that if the Secretary was energetically assisted by three or four business men, and these backed by the members working enthusiastically, the Association could be placed and maintained in a good financial position. He hoped that they would be able to continue the work.

Mr. I. RICHARDSON, Chairman of the Devotional Committee, read his report. The meetings held by the Association were each noticed. They had all been interesting and beneficial. The number of meetings held and the average attendance were as follows:—

	No. Mt'ngs.	Av. Att.	Total.
Saturday night	48	19	916
Sunday afternoon	34	19	661
Sunday night	47	65	3,038
Bible class	27	20	546
Training class	10	10	104
Boys' meeting	36	18	634
Open air meeting	9	150	1,350
Noon prayer meeting	34	34	1,159
Meeting special prayer week			110
Thanksgiving Day			35
Christmas Day			15
New Year's Day			35
Auburn mission (est.)	45	30	1,350
Total Attendance			9,953

The attendance had been larger than during the previous year, mainly owing to the meetings held by Mr. Schiveres. The report acknowledged the services of Miss Stevens and Mr. T. Walton as organists. Notwithstanding the good work that had been done much remained to be done.

The report was adopted on motion of Mr. G. J. Early, seconded by Mr. Bannell Sawyer.

Mr. BANNELL SAWYER, Chairman of the Lecture and Entertainment Committee, reported verbally. They had engaged the best talent and the proceeds had been almost enough to pay the cost. Such entertainments as they had held were the best of education.

A MEMBER asked what the total loss was on lectures and entertainments?

The SECRETARY said that it was about $150.

Mr. D. B. GARDNER, Chairman of the Finance Committee, read the financial statements. The report of the Treasurer (Mr. J. C. Turnbull) showed that the receipts during the year, including a balance of $52.31 from the previous year, had been $1,364.11, and the expenditure $1,363.36 leaving a balance on hand of 75 cents. The statement of liabilities and assets showed that the liabilities of the Association amounted to $566,78, and the assets, made up of subscriptions due and renewable and membership fees unpaid, $414.00, leaving an excess of liabilities of $152.78. The latter figures represented the debt of the association, supposing that all the subscriptions could be collected. Mr. Gardner said that the position of the Association was $167.00 worse than last year. He expressed their warmest thanks and gratitude to many friends for their support and sympathy, but the endeavor to carry on the work during the year had brought them face to face with the question, which would now have to be met by the Association, whether it was possible, in view of all the circumstances, to continue its existence. It was regrettable for many reasons that the Association had been brought to this position, but so far as he could see there was no other course open to them but to close up. There were at present subscription lists amounting to $1,050, which was the basis of the financial affairs. Theoretically this was enough to get along with, but practically it had been found to work differently.

The SECRETARY said that the whole difficulty was that the work fell upon a very few, who were unable to give the time necessary for soliciting and collecting subscriptions.

The Rev. E. F. TORRANCE said that steps should be taken to see whether subscriptions could be obtained to wipe off the debt and to carry on the affairs of the Association.

The SECRETARY had not a particle of doubt that the money was in the town and held by those who were willing to give it if they were only spoken to.

Mr. BANNELL SAWYER made an effective speech in favor of continuing the Association.

After further discussion Mr. Sawyer moved that the Association be continued, and that a committee be appointed to solicit subscriptions. The motion was seconded by Mr. F. Wesley and carried nem con.

Mr. GEO. E. WILLIAMS, Secretary, read his third annual report. During the past year they had much to discourage them and much to rejoice in. The religious work had been very successful. They had received 84 new members and lost 30, chiefly through removals. The present membership was 219, the number of active members being 160 and associate members 59. The average attendance was 53 per cent. better than during the previous year. He reviewed the work of the Association in its different branches, and referred to the valuable assistance given by ladies. He suggested the formation of a ladies' auxiliary. The state of the finances had crippled the work. They should depend more on God and in prayer, while doing all they could themselves. He acknowledged the kindness of the officers and committees, the Provincial and International Secretaries, the subscribers to the funds, the press and the clergy, and all who had assisted them.

The report was received.

A motion to proceed with the election of officers was negatived, and an amendment to defer the election until after the anniversary meeting was adopted.

The following committee to solicit subscriptions was then elected:—George street Church—Messrs. S. H. Griffin, W. F. Hilliard, Dr. Fife, G. A. Schofield, W. G. Yelland and F. Wesley. Charlotte Street Church—Messrs. E. W. Cox and F. Brownscombe. St. Paul's Church—Messrs. W. W. Johnston, G. M. Roger, D. B. Gardner, C. M. Brown, J. Masson and W. H. Hill. St. Andrew's Church—Mr. C. W. Beal. Baptist Church—Messrs. H. Grundy, J. E. Burgess, G. Matthews, E. Elcome and J. C. Turnbull. St. Luke's Church—Messrs. W. Wallbrook and J. Chrow. St. John's Church—Mr. Geo. Browne.

The meeting then adjourned.

For Nursery Walls.

An expert writes that an ingenious way of decorating nursery walls, and one which gave eminant satisfaction to the children, was thus devised by a thoughtful mother: She made panels of unbleached cotton a yard long by eighteen in width and mounted them upon tailors' paper, finishing them upon round sticks at either end. On these panels she pasted colored pictures or prints which she painted, and bordered the panels with gold paper. These were hung up about the room and changed from time to time. Whenever it was possible verses or discriptive texts were appended. The children were devoted to their panels, and often asked for a special selection to be hung. As there was a goodly number of these decorations the changes could be made as frequently as desired.

FACTS

Concerning Dr. Dorenwend's

It is the only prepration in the world that will do what is claimed for it. It has produced luxuriant growths of hair on bald heads where baldness has existed for years. It has restored the color and vigor to numerous crops of gray and faded hair. It has relieved hundreds of persons of disagreeable Dandruff and has saved many when hair was falling, from becoming bald.

☞Remember these facts and if your hair is falling out and becoming thin, get a bottle at once and save the growth, or you may lose it for ever. Ask your druggist for HAIR MAGIC and take nothing else.

JESUS INTERCEDING.

DR. JOHN HALL'S NOTES ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Lesson XII of the International Series for Sunday, Sept. 19—Golden Text, "He Ever Liveth to Make Intercession for Them."—John xvii, 1-26.

Never was a prayer like this offered on earth. No wonder that the committee selecting the lessons could not divide this chapter. Jesus had instructed the disciples as they could understand him. His hour was at hand. He set them an example by calling upon God in trouble. He sets all of us an example by making his prayers so scriptural. There is not a petition in it that has not its elements in foregoing Scripture. To show this we have taken all the Scripture readings from the Old Testament, and we ask study for them. We can thus employ New and Old. The prayer is exactly fitted to the circumstances, and while addressed to the Father, like all other true scriptural prayer, it taught the disciples and teaches us.

No teacher can put all the truth in it into a lesson. We can only take the outstanding points and set them in the light of other Scripture and of the situation. His attitude is not stated. It is a small matter. His look is described, "eyes to heaven." His appeal is to his "Father." So "our Father" is for us, in his name.

I. Jesus prays for himself (v. 1-5) on the eve of his agony and death (John xviii, 1). "The hour is come." (See John xii, 27, 28). The glorifying of the Son by sustaining, vindicating, raising him from the dead is in order to the Father's being glorified by an innumerable saved multitude knowing God and serving him. Christ's eye is on his great mission. Matt. xxvii, 51-54 is the best illustration of this. God is owned as sending the Son with "power over all flesh." (See John iii, 14-16). Daniel (vii, 14) says this. Christ says it in Matt. xi, 27. The great interest is in men's salvation. (See John vi, 37-40.)

God is sovereign in this matter, "as many as Thou hast given him."

The way to eternal life is by knowing God, and this through the sent One. Paul taught that (Rom. x, 14), and to the Corinthians (II Cor. iv, 6). Jesus taught it (John xiv, 6-7). Education, civilization, humanity, are all good, but they are not "eternal life."

Man's chief end is to glorify God. So it was with the Son of man (v. 4). His meat (John iv, 34) was to do the Father's will. The way to glorify Him was to "finish the work He gave to be done." It is so with us also. (See John xix, 30.)

V. 5. Jesus speaks as mediator to the Father, and asks the glory he had before creation. Can this be understood if he was a creature? "The second man is the Lord from heaven" (I Cor. xv, 47). To read Heb. i, 3-10 is the best way to set forth the meaning of this. (See John i, 1.)

So far the shortest part of the prayer. Jesus speaks for himself, but as mediator and God's "righteous servant" (Isa. xlii, 1). Now his view widens. The intercessory prayer proper begins. He prays for the disciples. How they must have remembered this in later days! We now come to the second section.

II. Jesus prays for the disciples (vs. 6-20). The description of the disciples is, "the men thou gavest me out of the world." (See v. 2.) So it is with all disciples. They are God-given and taken out of the world. He often points this out (John x, 29). Paul explains it in Eph. i, 4, 5. They had learned from him that he was, all through, doing God's will, speaking God's words, executing plans (vs. 7, 8). From v. 4 to v. 8 the imperfect tense is better than the perfect. The "have" is left out. How He taught this we saw in John xii, 49; xiv, 10. For them He now prays (v. 9), not for the world. They now needed his intercession. At a later time His prayer becomes more comprehensive, as on the cross (Luke xxiii, 34); now He is thinking of those whom God had given Him. "They are thine;" they are mine; they are an interest common to the Father and the Son, and they are the means of glorifying the Son. They showed by following Him how worthy they thought Him, and would show it later, as his apostles. Can Jesus say this of us? Paul did this (Phil. i, 20). Titus and his associates did this (II Cor. viii, 23). (See II Thess. i, 10).

Their position, as He had often told them, would now be changed. He was not to be longer in the world in visible form, but they were to be in it, with all its dangers, temptations, opposition. He appeals again by name to the Father to keep them, in His name (not through), as His own, so that no enemy could seize them. So Jesus had kept them by teaching, influencing, directing and leading (v. 12), and all are there, and so far safe, "but the son of perdition," Judas, and this was according to Scripture. (See for fuller statement of this Acts i, 16-17; ii, 23.) The Scripture seems to be Ps. xxxxi, 9. He desires that they may be one in aim, object and feeling, as He and the Father were. Whatever may be said of "brotherly love" and catholicity among churches and denominations (and too much cannot be said), this relates to the immediate band of fellow workers, and should be studied by all such. It is easy to feel kindly to the saints in Asia or Europe, of whom we know only by books. It is a different thing to bear with the infirmities of brethren in the same schools, committees, congregations, with us. Many profess wide catholicity who are lacking in this oneness.

Jesus recalls that He is going to the Father (v. 13), and says that this audible prayer is uttered thus by Him that the disciples, by and by, realizing all it means, might have His joy—i. e., the strength and comfort He had from trusting God—fulfilled in them. He wished them to rely on the Father as He did. One cause of their needing divine keeping (see I Pet. i, 5) is that they, having received the word He gave them and followed Him, had the hatred of the world. So all will have. When we say to the world, "We obey the word, not you," the world dislikes us. They were to be preachers of the word and would be hated. (See Acts iv, 29.) They would be treated in a degree as he was. But he does not ask their removal by transfiguration, or seclusion, or death, but protection from the evil in it—from doing it, or from suffering from it. Satan, who tempted Jesus and employed Judas, represents the evil, and so the revision reads "from the evil one." Like Him, they are not of the world; all Christians should remember this. To be His witnesses, they needed to be made holy. So He asks for this (v. 17). To make men holy, the first step is to teach them the word. Science is good, but it cannot fill this place. (See I Pet., i, 22-23; I Tim., iii, 16.) They go to represent Him among men as He represented the Father (v. 7). He is the "sent of God." They are the sent of Jesus Christ. That they were so much to Jesus Christ is an argument he can urge on their behalf. "For their sakes I sanctify"—that is, set apart, consecrate—myself, that they also might be consecrated through the truth, or "in truth." Heb. ix: 13, 14 will give the explanation of this in full. (See also Titus ii, 14.) Jesus meant his prophetic work to be continued in the world, and these men were to be teachers of men in his name. So are all true ministers. They have the Master's spirit.

III. Jesus prays for the church universal (vs. 20-26). We now come to a wider view still—all the church to the end of time. Not for "these alone," but for all who should believe, etc. (v. 20). Men naturally are selfish. Jesus unites them by overpowering this selfishness and teaching love. He desires all believers to be one in aim, character and purpose, as the Father (mentioned here a third time) and He are one. This would prove the reality of His work, the power of His spirit, the efficiency of His word. "The glory" (v. 21) is first, the knowing God, the likeness to him, and at length presence with him in a resurrection body. This was given in the covenant to Christ; it is given by Christ to all his people. (See in proof, II Cor. iii, 18; I John iii, 1-3.) On this spiritual union he dwells (v. 21) as affecting, by the display of it, the race. See how John felt this oneness (I John i, 3; how Paul felt it (Gal. ii, 20).

V. 24 expands the idea of v. 22 in peculiar language, "I will." This is his testament, and the Father is in some sense his executor. He will have his people at length with him, that they may see his glory. How Stephen saw this we learn from Acts vii, 55, 56. (See also 1 Thess. iv, 17.)

When we are earnestly and tenderly beseeching a loved one, to repeat the name is natural. So he says "Father" again, recalling also His righteousness, which the world did not value, did not know Him, in fact. But His righteous servant knew Him, and the disciples—representing all the church—knew Him as sending the Saviour. (Again, the imperfect is better than the perfect.) It is not a work completed Jesus describes, but one in progress. (See Rom. iii, 26.) Jesus (v. 26), as He had declared the Father's name would continue to declare it. It is like our doxology at the close of a prayer; and this for the revealing and maintaining of divine love in the hearts of men by his being there enthroned. Let there be the love of Christ set up there, and it will be a new affection, expelling other and unworthy desires. It is needless to define points to be emphasized where they are so many and so great.—The Sunday School World.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—To-day's noon cash quotations are as follows:—Wheat, 74½; corn, 38¾; oats, 25; pork, 10.45; lard, 7.20.

The visible supply of grain in United States according to the Chicago estimate, is as follows:—

	Last week.	This week.
Wheat	42,965,655	44,870,283
Corn	13,192,387	13,627,299
Oats	4,949,380	4,628,087

THE MARKET REPORTS.

British Live Stock.

Montreal Gazette.

Although there has been no quotable improvement in the British cattle markets, a steady tone has been preserved and the outlook for some gain on values has grown more promising, but no great advance is expected. Receipts from Canada and the United States have been light, but as supplies from elsewhere have continued heavy sellers had to accept former prices. Our special cables of to-day report the market steady and demand fair. At Liverpool transactions were based on steady prices. Prime Canadian steers were at 11½c, fair to choice grades at 11c, poor to medium at 10c, and inferior and bulls at 7½c @9c. Sheep have been in good supply and steady.

Grain.

The Chicago Business says:—

The early movement of the new crop of spring wheat promises to be heavy through the fall months—fully up to last year. * * Expectations that Europe will can upon America for every bushel that call be spared "later on," and that higher prices can be obtained, though well grounded, are not sufficiently powerful to induce grain growers to go to extraordinary lengths to carry their stocks for the rise that is to come, and railroad officials, elevator men, millers and grain handlers generally do not look for restricted deliveries, except in those sections where serious damage to the crops resulted rom unfavorable weather conditions last summer.

Cheese.

The New York Commercial Bulletin describes the situation as follows:—"Cheese has made another advance, but the full measure of the improvement was not sustained, and it became necessary to set back somewhat in order to put matters in working order. Recent successes in fact seem to have created an over sanguine feeling among receivers, and they went into the country with higher bids than the market was prepared for, and found themselves at a decided disadvantage when it became necessary to make an effort to realize. Early in the week it looked pretty strong, but as shippers failed to obtain responses from the other side that would permit them to invest at the rates asked, business for a time came almost to a deadlock, and it was not until to-day that trading amounted to anything, and results are shown in our regular report. Of course, even at 10 c. there has been a large quantity of cheese that would not show a clean margin, and some if sold at that rate must have made a oss; but receivers do not appear to have become badly demoralized over their poor success for the current week, and, with the exception of a few consignments direct, have ordered into store all surplus fine goods and fully anticipate that the cheese so placed will pay well. Indeed, as matter of fact, the average run of views as expressed is of a more confident character, and a great deal of the old hesitation is gradually disappearing. The backwardness of the English buyer it is admitted may act as a breakage to check any undue inflation of values; but on the other hand as the preventive of a decided falling away from the plane already reached is suggested the very close shipment of the product, bringing the factories down to middle of August, and then showing a large deficit in the output for the season in comparison with last year, and also the great expectations regarding the home trade, signs of improvement in which have already commenced to appear and proved an important factor in helping receivers out this week. The great danger will be trying to get the meat out of the kernel all at once, and this week is a fair sample of what may be expected under such efforts. Speculation here appears to have really become tame, but contracting in Canada is understood to be going on upon a very full basis of valuation."

THE COOK'S BEST FRIEND

FULLY EQUIPPED

For the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

Stock complete this week.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

A Social

will be held in St. John's School house, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 22nd, in aid of the Organ fund. The public are cordially invited to attend. Admission 15 cents, refreshments extra.

A Meeting in the Mud.

The Salvation Army officers were not satisfied with merely parading in the mud and rain on Thursday evening, but also held an open air meeting at the corner of Hunter and George streets. A large crowd collected and a policeman was kept busy keeping the crossing clear. Officers and members of the Army exhortated the crowd.

Withdrawn.

The auction sale of household furniture, etc., belonging to Mr. P. Kane, on Rubidge street, advertised to take place on Tuesday next, the 21st inst, has been withdrawn. A portion of the furniture, as well as a good milch cow, will be sold by Mr. Stapleton by auction, on Saturday next, on the Market Square, at 11 o'clock a.m.

Private Excursion.

On Thursday morning a party of about forty started from town in busses for Lakefield. There they boarded the steamer Cruiser and sailed up to Burleigh. They had dinner there and afterwards went to inspect the canal works. After a pleasant sail down to Lakefield they again took the omnibus train and arrived here about ten o'clock.

A Seasonable Quartette.

Messrs. J. S. Parker and D. B. Macduff will shortly announce the giving of a series of four concerts to be given during the winter. Their stellar attractions will probably consist of Mrs. Martin Murphy, soprano, of Hamilton; Mrs. Caldwell, soprano, of Toronto, late of Hamilton; Miss Maggie Barr, the celebrated interpreter of Scottish song, and others.

THE best Dress Linings are the Gilbert Linings, and can be had at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Horses and Cows.

Last night a horse, and the night before a cow strayed into the grounds of St. John's Church and caused some disfigurement and damage. There should be more attention paid to the by-law prohibiting horses and cattle being thus turned out to feed on other people's property, or it is evident that the increasing custom of opening ornamental grounds to the public view will soon be discontinued. The police should also look out a little more sharply.

Enlarged.

Mr. H. Quirk has fallen into line with other manufacturers and has recently enlarged his cigar factory to double it former size. The place now embraces two flats in the town buildings. The drying and shipping departments are on the top flat, and the workshop, office and showroom on the next flat. The proprietor reports a steady increase in outside orders. Shipments are made daily to Midland district points from Barrie to Cobourg. Recently the number of hands has been considerably increased and the output is correspondingly larger.

A Convention.

It is probable that a Lodge of Instruction for the Central District officers, in connection with the Independent Order of Oddfellows, will be held at an early date in Peterborough. The Grand Master in a communication to the District Deputy Grand Master, here, inferred as much. The Lodge will be under the directorship of an instructor appointed for the occasion and between fifty and seventy delegates are expected to be present. It is needless to add that the Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges give their hearty support to the proposal. At a meeting of the peterborough lodge held on Thursday night it was endorsed in the most unanimous manner.

RICHMOND Star and Easy Lawn Mowers, at cost for balance of 1886. GEO. STETHEM.

The Temperature.

The following are the readings of the thermometer to-day at the hours mentioned:—8 o'clock, 60; 1 o'clock, 68; 3 o'clock, 60.

Successful Sale.

The auction sale of Mr. W.H. Rackham's household furniture on Thursday, conducted by Mr. C. Stapleton, was very successful.

Chamberlain's Oyster Rooms Sept. 15th.

Chamberlain's Parlour Oyster Rooms are now open. New York Count Oysters in shell and can kept constantly on hand during the season. Fish, game, chops, steaks kidneys, etc., to order at all hours.

Harvest Home Festival.

The annual Harvest Home Festival in connection with St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, will be held on Friday, Sept. 24th, in the school room. The ladies will hold a sale of articles in the afternoon and there will be a tea meeting in the evening.

Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting of Orangemen and True Blues will be held in the Orange Hall, corner of George and Simcoe streets, on Saturday evening, at 7.30 o'clock, to complete arrangements for the reception of the Irish Loyalist orators.

Three Indian Chiefs of the North West to Visit Peterbocough.

Rev. I. Tovell, after an absence of several Sabbaths, will resume his pulpit labors next Sabbath morning in the school room of the George Street Church. In the evening, the George street congregation will meet in Bradburn's Hall when addresses will be delivered by three Indian Chiefs of the North West, their addresses to be interpreted by Rev. John McDougall, who for many years has labored as a missionary in in the vicinity of the Rocky Mountains.

Weather Wise and Otherwise.

Most people at times are forced to fall back upon the milk and water of conversation, and discuss the weather and kindred subjects. "Do you think the rain is all over?" asked a man of a friend to-day. "No, I don't," was the cool answer, "I think it is all under—what has come." He was weather wise yon see. Men who are otherwise wise and show their windom by purchasing their clothing and furnishings where they can get good articles well made at moderate rates, and gentlemen in Peterborough know that for nobby suits, overcoats and gents' furnishings generally one of the best places to go is ANDREW MCNEIL'S Habiliment Hall, George street.

A New Occupation.

Mr. H. LeBrun has returned from Madoc, from which place, with [illegible] the Marmora picnic, held under Father Davis' auspices. There was a big turnout, and the whole affair was a decided success. Chief among the many attractions was the baby show. There were in all twenty-one infants "on the list." And who, above all others, pacing with the other judges up and down through rows of wondering babies and proud mothers, and wearing profound criticism on his brow, do you suppose Mr. LeBrun saw? No less a personage than the illustrious James Dolan, formerly of this town. This is certainly a suspicious circumstance. When a bachelor commences to be a judge in a baby show it is surely a sign that his icy heart is beginning to melt before some fair pair of orbs.

Personal.

Mr. M. Sheehy, formerly employed at the Lindsay office, is the new night operator at the Central Telephone office here.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson has returned from Montreal,

Dr. Coulter, of Lindsay, is in town.

Mr. Geo. Munro, of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., has gone to Milwaukee on a visit.

Mr. W. E. Sherwood and his two sons, Messrs Earnest and Frank, have returned from a trip through the British Islands and a short stay on the continent. They passed through the channel, put into one of the Holland ports, went on into Germany and took a delightful trip up the beautiful Rhine, fringed with vines and grape clusters, almost as far as navigable. Coming back they crossed to England, went right through Scotland, sailed from Glasgow, touched Ireland, and crossed the Atlantic on the homeward voyage in eleven days.

Peterborough Prices.

When people go to Toronto and other outside cities for their goods they very often get badly sold. An instance of this is given by Mr. John Braden, whose word no one who knows him will doubt for a moment. Toronto has the name of being a place for cheap fruit, and yet, according to Mr. Braden, prices are much lower in Peterborough. He was up to the city yesterday and priced lines of fruit. On the wharf he found peaches selling from $1.75 to $2.50 per basket; here they sell from $1.65 to $1.75 per basket. Blue plums he could not buy lower than from $1.00 to $1.25; and the same line sells here for from 95c. to $1.10. There is a proportionate difference in other lines. The only way "cheap" fruit is bought there is this: When a dealer finds that his fruit is beginning to spoil he covers it up, shows another sample to the customer, and, knowing that he will rarely see the customer again, palms off the bad fruit. The reason why prices are lower here is, that the Peterborough retail dealers get their goods direct, and have not, like Toronto retail dealers, to lose by buying from wholesale men. Perhaps it will be found the same way in other lines besides fruit. The more citizenlike, besides the more businesslike, way, is to patronize home merchants who have an interest in the town and who would hardly like to risk duping the buyer.

The Finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at ANDREW MCNEIL'S.

THE D. J. ADAMS SEIZURE.

Taking of Evidence Commenced by Commissioner McLellan.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 16.—The first evidence in the David J. Adams seizure case was taken this afternoon by Mr. W. W. McLellan, the commissioner appointed by the Vice-Admiralty Court. The only parties present were Mr. N. H. Meager, the United States counsel, and Messrs. Wallace Graham and P. L. Borden, representing Canadr, and a number of newspaper reporters. A number of witnesses have been summoned to appear on behalf of the Dominion Government. The examination of only two witnesses, Officer Hill and Capt Dakin, was completed to-day.

NAMES OF STREETS.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In these days of refinement and at this stage of local improvement not the least jarring element afflicting society is the inappropriateness of some names of streets. Now, why is Water street called so? Is it because it is generally wet and muddy? It would be a matter of little effort and great improvement to call it say Princess Street or Dufferin Av., and thus satisfy a primary law of concord.

GLORIA MUNDI.

Peterborough, Sept. 17th, 1886.

BOBCAYGEON.

CATTLE.—Mr. Boyd sent a delegation of his Polled Angus cattle to the Toronto Show, where they formed one of the most attractive objects. The sheep which accompanied the cattle were very fine.

CHEESE FACTORY.—The season is approaching a close, and has been very successful. It is now nearly five years since it was open, and has been a great advantage to the neighborhood, notwithstanding the exceptionally low price of cheese in England.

CLEARING THE CHANNEL.—For the past couple of weeks a diver has been constantly employed exploring the river channel and removing boulders. The diver is Andy Read, and he remains under water several hours at a time without inconvenience, air being pumped to him from above. He walks about the bottom of the river, and when he comes to a boulder he signals for the iron grab hooks. Having adjusted the grabs, the stone is hauled up and carried to the shore. In this way the channel is being entirely cleared of obstructions. The old piers above the upper steamboat wharf have also been removed. The works have been done under the superintendence of Captain Bottum, who also superintended the works at the lower wharf. The new esplanade is to be covered with soil, and then seeded with clover, timothy and lawn grass. It is a great improvement.—Independent.

The Premier in London.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 15.—A large crowd assembled at the Grand Trunk Railway station to-night to welcome Sir John A. Macdonald and party. The train arrived at 8.45 p. m. and the visitors were at once driven to the residence of the Hon. Mr. Carling.

U. S. Freight Over the C. P. R.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Consul Stevens at Victoria, B. C., in his report to the department of State calls attention to the fact that merchandise in considerable quantities from San Francisco destined for Chicago and New York is being shipped over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A New Bishop.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A cablegram sent to Archbishop Corrigan from Rome annoucing that a new diocese had been constituted at Syracuse, and that the Rev. P. A. Ludden had been selected as bishop is creating a good deal of interest among Roman Catholics all over the state. Syracuse at present belongs to the diocese of Albany, and the territory comprising the new diocese includes about 75,000 Roman Catholics.

A Steamer's Escape.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Hudson steamer Catskills, of Catskill, narrowly escaped being run down early this morning by the Pennsylvania railway ferry boat Baltimore. A hole 25 to 30 feet was knocked in her hull below the guard rail. The water rushed in threatening to sink her. The steamer was on a few hundred yards from her pier. The crew succeeded in keeping her afloat until she made her berth under a full head of steam. There were at the time more than one hundred passengers on board.

Conservative Demonstration.

The demonstration on Thursday by the Liberal-Conservatives of the city of London and the County of Middelesex in honor of Sir John Macdonald and the Hon. John Carling, the Hon. J. A. Chapleau, and the Hon. J. S. D. Thompson was a magnificent success. The afternoon meeting in the Queen's park was attended by over five thousand people, but was unfortunately brought to a premature close by a violent thunderstorm. The meeting in the evening was attended by immense numbers, the speeches of the Premier and his fellow-Ministers eliciting frequent and vociferous applause.

Hudson Bay Railway.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—Cable advices were received yesterday from Mr. Hugh Sutherland, President of the Hudson's Bay Railway Company, that financial arrangements had been completed for the immediate commencement of the construction of the Hudson's Bay Railway, that the shipment of rails for the work was then in progress, and that he will sail for Canada on Sunday accompanied by the Chief Engineer of the road, Mr. Shelford. This is said to mean, by those in a position to snow, that the actual construction will begin at once, and be carried on with all possible vigor to the close of the season. The news has been received with great satisfaction in Winnipeg.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LACROSSE MATCH.—The Excelsiors played a return match at Centreville with the Bensfort, or South Monaghan, Club, on Tuesday. The ground was extremely rough, as nothing had been done to it since a first crop of hay was taken off, and consequently shinny was much more prominent that lacrosse. The Excelsiors won, thus leaving them with two wins, two losses and one draw. They are trying to arrange a match with Norwood on or before Sept. 25th.

CROPS.—Farmers have thrashed part of their grain and as a rule are well pleased with the yield.

SCOTT ACT LICENSE.—A license is absolutely required here as it is impossible to go to Peterborough at all times.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. T. McDonald is very ill. Several residents have taken a trip to the Toronto Exhibition.

CURIOSITY.—Mr. J. H. Cruckshanks, one of our blacksmiths, has an ordinary Canada thistle growing in his shop and is now over six ft. high. Who can beat that?

NEWSPAPERS.—ATTENTION!—There is an Otonabee family of ten whose births range from 1810 to 1834. Their united ages come to 653 years. There has been no deaths, and all are in very good health. The name of the family is Hope. We have another old lady who has over 75 grand children, and the total number of her descendants amount to over 120. We have several old and hearty men who range in their ages from 85 to 96 years. This is a fine healthy township. The following are the names and ages of the Hope family:—

		Yrs.	M.
Thomas Hope	born Dec. 1810	75	9

MARRIED.

REHILL—REDMAN.—On the 14th September, 1886, in Grace Church, Toronto, by the Rev. J. P. Lewis, Rector, MR. THOMAS A. REHILL to MISS JANE ELIZABETH REDMAN both of the town of Peterborough, Ontario.

PROBABILITIES

Light to moderate winds, mostly west and south; fine pleasant weather.

DRESS LININGS.

We have much pleasure in announcing to Dress Makers and all Ladies specially interested, that we have imported direct from the manufacturers a full supply of which is now endorsed and used almost exclusively by the leading Dress Makers in Toronto and other principal Cities.

THE CELEBRATED GILBERT LINING

This lining is a pure Cotton, containing no dressing and sizing whatever, and consequently remains always the same. We are in a position to make favorable prices for this new fabric so much so that we expect to have an active demand for it at once.

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY.

TAKE NOTICE that every thread composing this fabric both in warp and weft, is Double Carded and Double Roved, a process never before adopted in any class of Dress Linings or Silesias, and which gives the same improvement in this cloth over all others that a six cord spool cotton has over the ordinary three cord, an improvement so patent, that every consumer can at once detect it.

Every piece of these Goods is guaranteed perfect.

GILBERT MANUFACTURING CO.

Dress Makers are respectfully invited to call and inspect these Goods and satisfy themselves more fully as to their merits.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1886.

OUR SPECIAL EDITION.

ELSEWHERE we announce the publication of a special edition for free distribution, under circumstances which, to many, must seem much like throwing good money after bad. Well, it may be so, but we are hopeful of a different result. In doing this thing, we have a double object in view. In the first place, to be plain, we think we can benefit ourselves thereby. True, we don't expect to grow rich out of this particular transaction, but if we can make it pay in its own way we shall be satisfied, inasmuch as we have sufficient faith in the REVIEW, to believe than we cannot distribute 6,000 copies thereof among the intelligent yeomandry and business men of the surrounding townships and villages without reaping a considerable addition to our subscription list—that is object number one.

And the second object is not unlike to it. We desire the success of our Central Exhibition and the progress of our town. Indeed, neither can do so without some of the advantages accruing to ourselves. Now, without in any way belittling the advantage to be derived from the distribution of special or other editions of newspapers on our own show ground, it must be obvious to every one that such a distribution can bring no one there, and that the recipients of such papers at such a time have little or no opportunity to peruse their contents until after their return home, which means until after they have, in a greater or less measure, lost the opportunity of availing themselves of the information which has been conveyed to them at so much expense to the advertiser, and possibly to the publisher. But by persueing the course we have laid out for ourselves, these drawbacks will be turned to our advantage, and that of our advertising patrons. By employing so experienced and efficient a distributor of advertising literature as Mr. E. C. Hill, and visiting the exhibitions which are to be held in the surrounding districts during the week preceeding that of our own Exhibition, we believe we will be able to place our Exhibition Number not only in the hands of those whom it is most desirable to reach, but in their hands at a time when they will have time to take it home and read it, but not time to forget its contents, before coming to Peterborough, and thus materially aid in increasing the numbers attending our Exhibition, and in directing them just where in Peterborough, to find that which they want on as favourable, if not on better terms than they can obtain it in any city or in any other Town in the Province, and in this way secure for our patrons, an immediate return for the money expended with us for their advertisement. At least, that is the way we look at it, and we are hopeful that our Merchants, Manufacturers and Business Men, will look at it in the same light. If they should not, we shall be sorry for more reasons than one, but, nothing venture nothing win.

A Minister's Libel Suit.

MONTREAL, Sept. 17.—An action for $10,000 damages has been entered in the Superior Court by the Hon. Thos. White against Mr. J. P. Whelan, on account of an article published in the Post, some time ago, and alleged to contain libellous statements.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

A Grand Trunk Freight Train Wrecked —Fatal Results in Each Case.

TORONTO, Sept. 17.—A special from South Lyon, Mich., says that a special freight train on the Grand Trunk road, Conductor Ducker, left there at three o'clock yesterday morning, and half a mile east of this place the engine and six cars were thrown from the track into a ditch by the removal of a rail. The engine was smashed to atoms, and all the cars which left the track were badly wrecked. Engineer Thos. Davis and Fireman Newman stuck to the engine when it rolled over in the ditch. The engineer escaped with only trifling injuries, but Fireman Newman was killed, his body being terribly crushed. He lived at Fort Gratiot where he leaves a wife, two children and a widowed mother. Brakeman Campbell also fell under the wreck and was injured internally and so seriously that it is feared he cannot recover. Examination of the track showed that a piece of rail about three feet long had been removed. Marks showed the use of a spike and maul plainly indicating that the disaster had been caused by a deliberate purpose to wreck the train. There is great excitement there over the affair and could the train wreckers be caught they would undoubtedly be lynched.

AN ENGINE GOES THROUGH A BRIDGE.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Sept. 17.—A freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio railway at Independence to-day struck a horse on a bridge. The shock broke the bridge in two and the locomotive fell into the creek below. The engineer was killed and the firemen injured. Before the accident a while, a dove is said to have perched on the Engineer's cabin window. He drove it away several times, after which the crash came.

COLLISION ON THE UNION PACIFIC.

OMAHA, Neb., Leptember, 17.—Two Union Pacific trains collided at Gilmore yesterday, demolishing both engines and several freight cars, two of which were burned up. E. J. Jones, a fireman, was killed, and Engineer Meeley had his arm broken. Engineer Bolan who overlooked his orders has been arrested.

LOOKS LIKE A WRECK.

Fears That an Ocean Steamer Has Been Wrecked.

ST. JOHN, Nfld., Sept. 17.—News received from Belle Isle indicates that a large ocean steamship has probably been wrecked, or has had her decks swept in a heavy gale. Much wreckage has been washed ashore in the straits. It consists of cabin doors and bedding, spars and other material. A number of dead cattle have also been thrown up by the sea, but nothing has yet been found by which to discover the identity of the wrecked vessel. Several steamships have sailed from Quebec for Liverpool and London within the last few days, and all, or most of them carried cattle. Among them were the Lake Superior, Dominion, Oregon, Parisian and Erl King.

RUSSIA'S PROMISE.

Will not Occupy Bulgaria—Eighteen Officers to be Court Martialled.

SOFIA, Sept. 17.—The Sobranje has resolved to prolong the state of seige in Bulgaria, also to court martail eighteen officers concerned in the kidnapping of Prince Alexander, in order to restore the discipline and morals of the army. England, Austria and Italy has recognized the Bulgarian regency.

LONDON, September 17.—The authorities of London contemplate presenting the freedom of the city to Prince Alexander.

In an interview with Prince Bismarck, M. DeGiers, the Russian Foreign Minister, distinctly promised that Russia would not occupy Bulgaria.

COBOURG.

ACQUITTED.—L. U. C. Titus came before Judge Clark on Saturday on charge of inciting to commit arson, and after hearing the evidence and address of the prisoner and the council for the Crown, the Judge entered a verdict of not guilty and aquitted the prisoner.

Transferring British Troops.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 17.—The flagship Bellerophon arrived yesterday. The troopship Himalaya leaves Portsmouth on the 28th for Halifax and Bermuda, and will bring out Admiral Lyons and suite, also the 22nd Batallion 1st Brigade North of Ireland Division, R. A., for Bermuda. Thence she returns to Portsmouth on the 7th with the families of the Royal Irish Rifles, Halifax. The Orontes will leave Portsmouth on the twenty-fifth with the 76th Regiment and the 27th Company Royal Engineers for Bermuda. Thence it will bring the 84th Regiment to Halifax, and from here it will take the Royal Irish Rifles to Alexandria. Thence it will take the 79th Regiment to Gibralter. From there she will take the 1st Battalion 15th Regiment to the West Indies. From the West Indies she will take the 64th Regiment to Natal, and from Natal she will take the 83rd Regiment to the Straits Settlement, and from thence she will take the 1st Battalion 3rd Regiment to Bombay.

The Bomb Thrower.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 17.—H. F. Schffer, an ex-Conductor of the Mexican Central Railway, arrived from Mexico a few days ago. He claims to have seen in the City of Mexico a man corresponding exactly to the published portraits of Schnaubelt, the bomtbhrower. Schnaubelt was working as a jeweller in a shop on the Grand Plaza. The police have communicated with the American Consul in Mexico.

A Cyclone.

TOLONO, Ill., Sept. 17.—A distructive cyclone swept over Tolono yesterday afternoon. The steeple of the Catholic Church was badly damaged. A new livery stable was cut in two. The Methodist Church at Savoy was demolished. The damage is very severe, but heavy rain prevents receipt of particulars.

"Blood-food" is the suggestive name often given to Ayer's Sarasparilla, because of its blood-enriching qualities.

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

PRESECUTION OF JEWS.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—An anti-Jewish riot broke out at Krajouva, in Roumania, yesterday. The mob plundered and distroyed a number of houses belonging to the Jews. Several rioters were wounded and 100 arrests were made.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The House of Commons was in session until four o'clock this morning, considering the Supply bills. The chairman frequently called upon the Parnellite members to observe the amenities of debate. Mr. Gladstone has notified his friends that he will arrive in London at six o'clock on Sunday morning, and that he will be present in the House of Commons on Monday.

SUBMARINE EARTHQUAKE.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Lloyds' agent at Saute, writing in regard to the earthquake along the coast of Morea, says:—From what we have been able to ascertain from captains of steamers and other crafts in their waters at the time of the shock, it appeared to originate from the sea. This is not unlikely as a steamer belonging to the Eastern Telegraph Company, which proceeded some months ago to repair the cable below the coast of Navarino, found on sounding a subsidence of soil of—if we are not mistaken—a thousand fathoms. We are further indirectly informed that the soundings on many parts of the coast differ materially from the charts of 1864-65 and suggests that an early survey be made of all waters in the vicinity of and some distance from the coast.

CHOLERA IN JAPAN.

TOKIO, Sept. 16.—The Japan Gazette says the total number of cholera cases throughout the country since its first appearance this year is 59,000, of which 37,000 ended fatally. Cholera is still raging in Seoul, Corea. Official return state that the fatal cases for July were 38,600, and that out of a population of 250,000. At Shinshee, in the Province of Keishodo, 5,000, and at Toral 6,000, deaths in one month are reported.

IS MR. CHAMBERLAIN IN DANGER?

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Henry Campbell, an Irish Nationalist, gave notice last evening that he would ask whether the statement was true that Mr. Chamberlain had arranged for police protection during his tour on the continent and whether Mr. Chamberlain was in danger of attack and if so from what quarter.

NO ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

DUBLIN, Sept. 16.—The corporation of Dublin, by a vote of 27 to 6, has rejected a motion to present an address to the new Lord Lieutenant of Ireland on the ground that he represents a Government opposed to the restoration of the Irish Parliament.

RESISTING LANDLORDISM.

DUBLIN, Sept. 16.—United Ireland suggests that, in view of the probable rejection of Mr. Parnell's Land bill, all the distressed tenants in Ireland resort to the workhouse. "While it is disgraceful," says United Ireland, "to enter the workhouse as a loafer, it would be in the highest degree honorable to occupy a workhouse as an encampment against landlordism."

PARNELLITE TACTICS.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Morning Post says that there is a tension in the Parnell party, and that Mr. Parnell has strongly condemned the obstructive and dilatory tactics of his followers, being anxious to expedite his land bill.

SAILED EOR AMERICA.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Mr. Justine McCarthy sailed to-day on the Britannic for America.

A NEW RIFLE.

VIENNA, Sept. 16.—Specialists declare that he Newmann Licher repeating rifle now being manufactured for the Austrian army, is the most perfect rifle ever invented. It fires forty rounds a minute. Yesterday, s edition of the Vienna Extrablatt was seized for publishing a description of the mechanism of the breech of the new rifle.

A COLD WELCOME.

DUBLIN, Sept. 17.—The Freeman's Journal urges the citizens of Dublin to refrain from all manifestations of welcome to the Marquis of Londonderry when he arrives here to-morrow to assume the office of Lord Lieutenant. "He bears Castlereagh's hated name," says the Journal, and it adds, "let the troops parade that represents eviction and coercion. A cheer from a single citizen would be a great humiliation."

A RUSSIAN DEMAND.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 17.—Russia has demanded of the Corean Government the harbour of Kankyck for a naval station.

THE CARLISTS.

MADRID, Sept. 17.—Three officers belonging to the Spanish army at Barcelona have been arrested and imprisoned for leading a band of soldiers to join the Carlists.

GERMAN OBSTRUCTIONIST.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—A feature of proceedings in the Reichstag yesterday was the obstructive tactics of the Socialists similar to those adopted by the Parnell party in the English Parliament. Herr Hassenclever opposed the re-election of first President Von Wedell, because the latter had expelled a socialist workman from Magdeburg under an antiquated police regulation. Finally last year's president, vice-presiaent and secretaries were elected. The other parties unite in condemning the tactics of the Socialists.

ATTEMPT TO KILL BRATIANO.

BUCHAREST, Sept. 17.—M. Bratiano, the Roumanian Prime Minister, was shot at last evening by an assassin. M. Bratiano perceived the man's intention in time to spring out of the path of the aim. The bullet struck M. Bobesco, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, and wounded him. The assassin was arrested. He confessed that he intended to kill the Premier for political reasons.

ENGLAND AND TURKEY.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Porte has renewed the complete entente cordiale with England and the two nations have once more agreed to act in harmony with an appearance of a tacit alliance against both Russia and France. England is treating with the Sultan's government for the occupation of a group of islets near the entrance to the Dardanelles, and this arrangement is likely to be amicably agreed upon. Since the apparent surrender by Prince Bismarck of his independent diplomatic position to the schemes and persuasions of Russia the Porte has been expediting its preparations for war, so as to be ready for action at once if Russia, being no longer held in check by doubts of Germany's position, should advance on Pera. The defences are now ready on the line planned by the engineer, Vonder Goltz, and troops are incessantly arriving at Pera and advancing towards Roumelia.

FULLY EQUIPPED

For the Fall Trade.

Encouraged by the warm approval hitherto attending our efforts to make our Dress Department one of the most prominent features in our business, we again venture to present our Lady friends with our views for the ensuing Fall and Winter, Dress Goods being the most anxious item in the economy of every properly constituted Dry Goods Establishment. We have this Season devoted more than our ordinary attention to that Department.

During the Season the demand for Self Colored Goods will be very great, among the most popular will be

Jersey Cloths, Habit Cloths, Ottoman Cloths, Nigger Head Cloths, Tweed Effects, Plaids and Combinations in Checks and Stripes.

An excellent variety of Trimmings and Buttons to match.

MISS WINTER, our Milliner, has just returned from Toronto with the Newest Goods in Millinery and will be glad to see all her old friends, and as many new ones as possible.

Stock complete this week.

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1886.

WILL THE DOORS BE CLOSED?

It was made plain at the annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association on Thursday evening that a crisis in its affairs had been reached. The trouble is not in connection with the religious work of the Association, because it has been and is doing a good work; but, as is too frequently the case with such institutions, its finances are not in a prosperous condition.

As the Association is now carried on it takes over a thousand dollars to pay its way for a year. Last year, as shown in the treasurer's report, the expenditure was $1,364. This included some expenses properly belonging to other years, while debts incurred during the year were still unpaid, and the society at the end of the year found itself in a worse position by $170 than it was twelve months ago. The Secretary stated, and there appears to be good grounds for the statement, that the Association can be carried on for less than $1,300 a year. The expenses should not exceed $1,000, and no doubt could be kept within those figures, and would be if the Association is continued. The subscriptions received last year amounted to $1,002, and the membership fees to $75. These subscriptions and fees renewed, with an extra amount raised to pay off the debt, would carry on the Association. The liabilities of the Association, as shown by the statement presented, are $566.78. Against this amount there are subscriptions due and renewable and membership fees unpaid amounting to $414, leaving a balance of $152.78. It would, perhaps, be useless to count all subscriptions as available, and, so far as collections to meet the requirements are concerned, the whole amount might be included. This would make it necessary for the friends of the Association to raise $1,600 to place the society in a good position to carry on the work.

Is the Association worth that much to the people of Peterborough? That is the question that should be plainly asked and honestly answered. If it is, there should be no difficulty in obtaining the funds necessary.

There is no room for doubt that the Association is a benefit. It labors on behalf of the young men, a class of the population who should have all the support that can be given to lead them into and keep them in right and moral paths. Influences of a moral tendency are none too plentiful even in a town of the good moral status of Peterborough, and this Association has been of assistance, and is a help, to many young men of the town. The churches should feel a particular interest in the Association, as it is a training school for church workers, and in this capacity it does a work that the Sunday schools do not aim at or accomplish. Its sphere is different from any branch of regular church work, and it does not interfere with church work, while it does assist the churches. Further—and this is an important point that cannot be too strongly emphasized—the Association is the only religious institution that keeps its doors continually open for these young men every day of the week. Would it be prudent, would it be right, would it be safe to close those doors upon the young men of the town and the young men who may come as strangers into the town?

The people upon whom the members of the Association will call during the next few days to give an answer to these questions, by giving or withholding support, should seriously consider the matter in all its bearings before deciding that the Association should be abolished and its work discontinued. A great difficulty has been felt, in the past and during the past year, in collecting subscriptions promised or sums subscribed. There is considerable work in doing this, and there are few who can give the time to do it. It should not be necessary for any to be called upon to sacrifice their time as well as give money to maintain the financial portion of the Association. Subscriptions given should be promptly paid. Liberal subscriptions and prompt payments will carry on this worthy work. It is to be hoped that those who desire that the Association should be continued will bear this in mind and will come forward.

THE HUDSON BAY ROUTE.

The news that Mr. Sutherland, M. P., has been successful in London in his financial arrangements for the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway is very satisfactory. Mr. Sutherland, with commendable public spirit, has devoted his time and energies to this work and has thereby rendered a service to his country. If our great inland sea is open for navigation as long as some believe, this route must infallibly become the outlet for a large portion of Canada. Even if it should prove to be navigable for a few months only each year it would still be a useful alternative route for a considerable district as settlement extends. The Russian White Sea, though far less favourably situated, has a commerce of no slight importance.

As to any feeling of rivalry on the part of old Canada or objection to the opening of a competing route, there is no just ground for such paltry jealousy. Our great North-West Territories are so extensive and their produce is certain to be so large, as population increases, that every available route will be fully taxed. There will be plenty for all. This is indeed one of the strong arguments why the Trent Valley Canal should be pushed forward to an early completion, and why next year, the present section being completed, there should be a substantial appropriation to place another section under contract.

In reference to this Hudson Bay Railway, we may be allowed to remark that we do not find the Reform press vilifying Mr. Sutherland for his connection with a company bonused with public money, nor calling him a boodle hunter, a dishonest trader upon the influence of his position, and other choice flowers of rhetoric so freely bestowed upon others. But perhaps this is because Mr. Sutherland is a Reform member of Parliament. The virtuous indignation of these hypocrits only means that they dislike to see political opponents serving their country.

The Quebec Rielites committed such a detestable outrage in distributing portraits of the executed criminal Riel, represented with a halter round his neck, and accompanied by vile abuse of the constitutional authorities of Canada for administering impartial justice, that the Rielite journals of Ontario are censuring the Hon. Thos White for even telling what their Quebec allies are doing, and showing their handiwork. This is strong evidence of the atrocious nature of this Rielite attack upon the administration of justice.

THE WAYFARER AND WANDERER.

SERMON BY LAYMAN.

To the Editor of the Review.

It is hard to be without a home. But it is harder still to be obliged to lead a wandering life, separate from country and friends, wandering on and on, over the face of the earth, always among strangers, trusting to chance for a night's lodging, knowing that the next day would be like the last, and that there is no rest for the weary in the time to come. Hard is the lot of the forlorn and poor, but harder still to think of the past. To think of the happy childhood and the mother's care. To think of the harsh and unforgiving father as he puts his boy from the door, to see the mother's tears and to hear her kind voice as she pleads for pardon and mercy. The boy, ignorant of the world's ways, goes forth, often looking back while he can to the old home, always seeing his mother standing and looking after him until he is lost to sight and she can see no more, then straining her eyes to have one more view of him who is now gone, but it is in vain. Sad and dreary she enters the house with a feeling of desolation and pain which no one but a mother can understand, and when the dark night has settled down upon the earth she sits and thinks of her absent boy and prays for God's protecting care over him, and prays that he may soon return. But the days lengthen out into years, and still the same unforgiving father and the weeping mother, and the boy, now a man, is far away in other lands. Few people, not accustomed to the change, can properly understand the feelings and position of a young man among strangers in a strange land. Few consider the difficulties which he meets with in his efforts to obtain employment and friends. How often he tries and is disappointed. How his spirit sinks within him at his many failures, and how often discouragement overtakes him, and how he resolves to try again. His means may be all gone and starvation stares him in the face, and he feels like one without hope, and he is almost ready to lie down and die. But the thoughts of his mother and of his old home rise up before him, and he does not want to add to her sorrow. He feels that there is a great world before him, and that there is a reward for him who never despairs. And so he goes forward, trusting that in other lands and among other people he may at last secure success. And so he wanders on, always a stranger, always hoping always striving. He sees strange people and stranger things. Great cities and misery and sorrow lie before him, all is bustle and confusion and hurry. The great human tide, in which poor and rich are mingled together, crowd on their way, and yet amidst all that mass of people he feels more lonely than he would feel if he were in the midst of a great wilderness. He is there a poor man and a stranger without hope. He feels that this is not the place for him. Brought up in the pleasant and quiet country he longs for some place where there is peace and he will have time to stop and think. He goes forth once more and he leaves the crowded city behind, and after he has wandered far he sees the green fields and the quiet country homes once more. He can now rest and think, and his first thoughts are of his old home and of his mother. He thinks of these by day and dreams of them by night. The father and mother are now getting old and feeble. The mother's hair has turned to gray, and every night when she retires to rest she prays for the welfare and happiness of her absent son. The father, in his old age, begins to feel lonely. He thinks more kindly of him whom he drew forth so many long years ago. Sometimes, in the darkness and solitude of the night, when the storms rage and the winds blow cold he looks back upon himself, back to the time when he himself had no money, and then he wonders where that boy is now, and whether living or dead. He looks forward to the time when he may be called hence, to the never ending eternity, when he will have to give an account for the deeds done in the body, and where he and the poor boy, whom he so harshly drove away, will meet face to face, and he can be harsh and unkind no longer. His days and nights are now being filled with thoughts and dreams which were never there before, and he now wishes that he had been more forgiving. He reads the letter which has come from a far off land. He reads of the sickness and troubles of his son, and for the first time the tears come and his heart grows sad and weary.

Take this letter to my mother, far across the deep blue sea,
It will fill her heart with pleasure—she'll be glad to hear from me.
How she wept when last we parted, how her heart was filled with pain
When she said "Good-bye; God bless you; we maynever meet again."

Take this letter to my mother, it will fill her heart with joy;
Tell her that her prayers are answered, God protects her darling boy;
Tell her to be glad and cheerful, pray for me where'er I roam,
That ere long I may turn my footsteps back towards my dear old home.

Take this letter to my mother, it is filled with words of love;
If on earth I'll never meet her, tell her that we'll meet above,
Where there is no hour of parting, all is peace and love and joy;
God will bless my dear old mother and protect her darling boy.

Go where you will you find the presence of the wayfarer and wanderer. They become such, some from one cause and some from another; some from loss and misfortune and some to escape the claims of justice. But whatever the cause, disappointment and sorrow follow them wherever they go. Their lives are often passed without hope, and their days and nights are dark and gloomy. The thought of friends and home is ever present with them, and, good or bad, they feel the tediousness and sorrow of being wanderers over the earth, always among strangers and alone. They have no certain abiding place and they go wherever necessity calls them. There is no one so bad that he does not sometimes feel the want of friends and home, and does not sometimes wish he had been better. There is no one so bad that there is not away down in his breast some of the better feelings of humanity, which may at last lead him to a life of usefulness and good. When a man has cut himself off from the restraints and comforts of his fellowmen, and is thereby driven out upon the world to become a wanderer, far away among strangers, and when the moment comes for his departure, no matter how bad he has been, he still must feel the pangs of parting from all his former associates and friends, and must wish he had lived and had been a better man. There are also instances of persons becoming wayfarers and wanderers from foolishness and an ill temper, who have renounced friends and home simply because of some refusal or disappointment which should have been overlooked and forgotten; but these, rather than curb their hasty tempers have suddenly turned their backs on home, trusting to chance to even get a home again. Such persons will not consult their better judgment nor will they listen to reason. They never consider the trials and difficulties and troubles which are before them. Apparently they never look forward at all. But when they have gone away, travelling over a long wearisome road without friends and all alone, when they look in the far distance and see nothing but earth and sky, and have to pass the long lonely nights far away and among strangers, when the wintry storm overtakes them and the wind blows hard and cold, then it is that they look back upon themselves and wish it had never been. The have to meet and bear with difficulties and disappointments and troubles now, to which the old ones are as nothing, but they dare not complain, and complaint would be in vain. Their sorrows they dare not express. When sickness and want overtake them they miss the sympathy and care of a kind father and mother. They have but to suffer and endure, and their trials, and the unkindness and neglect of those around them have to be endured in silence and without complaint. Hope has well nigh forsaken them. All around is darkness and misery and despair. Some again become wayfarers and wanderers from sheer wickedness and folly. They imagine they are tired of the restraints of a quiet life and they think they want a change. They listen to the voice of the tempter and are deceived. All that was noble and good in their lives they cast to the winds. They perhaps know little of the vices of the world, but think the scene without is like the sunshine within. They never appreciate the kindness of their friends as they ought. Their chief happiness appears to consist in deceiving their friends and listening to the falsehoods of those who are seeking for their destruction. Because they feel well to-day, surrounded as they are by happy homes, they imagine that they will feel better to-morrow, surrounded by the scenes and the bad. And so they go away and give themselves over to their worst enemies, never thinking of the misery to others whom they have left behind, and never thinking of the misery to themselves that lies before them. But a day of repentence will surely come, when, in sackcloth and ashes, they will moan over their hard lot, and when they will give worlds for a return to the old home once more. Their poverty will be great their hardships and wrongs will be more they can bear. With health gone and constitution ruined they will wish for death as a happy release from all their sufferings. They know now what a wayfarer and wanderer means. There is no peace this side of the grave. Verily the way of transgressors is hard.

A Practicle Question.

The Peterborough Review makes a very palpable hit when it remarks that it would be satisfactory to the Canadian people if someone with authority to speak for the Grits would tell us what that party would do in regard to the sugar duties. This is one of those practical questions affecting the prosperity of the country, which is not to be settled by any amount of eloquent generalizing. The Grits have frequently of late assailed the sugar duties under the N. P., and it is perfectly fair and reasonable to ask what change, if any, they would make if they had the power. But while denouncing every single feature of the government's policy, they carefully refrain from saying what ought to be done. Doubtless they consider this astute political strategy, but we doubt it. In common justice, the man or the party who objects to any particular course ought to be prepared to say what should be done instead. Failing this, criticism and denunciation lose their point and go for nothing.—Toronto News.

Be a Hero in the Strife

says America's favorite poet. All very well Mr. Longfellow, but how can you, when half your time you feel sick, and do not feel well the other half. Men of noblest principles and highest aims find their efforts thwarted by disease. Night sweats, a hacking cough and other symptoms only too plainly say consumption. Heed good advice. Try Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and the bloom of health will return to your cheeks, soundness to your lungs, and you will be a hero yet.

AYER'S PILLS

CURE HEADACHE.

Headaches are usually induced by costiveness, indigestion, foul stomach, or other derangements of the digestive system, and may be easily cured by the use of Ayer's Pills. Mrs. Mary A. Scott, Portland, Me., writes: "I had suffered dreadfully from Sick Headache, and thought myself incurable. Disorder of the stomach caused it. Ayer's Pills cured me entirely."

CURE BILIOUSNESS.

John C. Pattison, Lowell, Nebr., writes: "I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice. I was so dangerously ill, that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor. I feel certain that I owe my recovery to your invaluable Pills."

CURE INDIGESTION.

Ayer's Pills act directly on the digestive and assimilative organs, influencing healthful action, imparting strength, and eradicating disease. G. W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T., writes: "I have suffered from Dyspepsia and Liver troubles for years past. I found no permanent relief, until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, which have effected a complete cure."

CURE RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is among the most painful of the disorders arising from vitiated blood and derangement of the digestive and biliary organs. Ayer's Pills relieve and cure Rheumatism when other remedies fail. S. M. Spencer, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I was confined to my bed, with Rheumatism, three months, but, after using a few boxes of Ayer's Pills, became a well man."

CURE GOUT.

S. Lansing, Yonkers, N. Y., writes: "Recommended to me as a cure for chronic Costiveness, Ayer's Pills have relieved me not only from that trouble, but also from Gout. If every victim of the disease would heed only three words of mine, I could banish Gout from the land. Those words would be, 'Try Ayer's Pills.'"

CURE PILES.

Piles are induced by habitual constipation, debility, indigestion, or a morbid condition of the liver. A cure is best effected by the use of Ayer's Pills. John Lazarus, St. John, N. B., writes: "I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only cured me of that disagreeable disorder, but gave me new life and health."

LINDSAY.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—The burglars now in prison here were up on Saturday to stand trial for the burglary at Beaverton. Several witnesses from the latter place identified the prisoners as the men they had seen skulking around there for a day or two. Mr. Dover, G. T. R. agent at Beaverton identified the revolvers found upon the person of one of one of the prisoners as the one stolen from the station. The prisoners will stand their trial at the fall assizes.

VANDALISM.—Several complaints have been herd of the breaking of windows in vacant houses in town and in many cases doors have been unbolted from the inside and left opened. In one instance this week a family had just moved their furniture into a house and were suddenly called away to Peterborough when on their return they found everything turned about and much harm done. In all probability this has been done in mischief by boys, of a few of whom an example should be made.

BRUTAL ATTACK.—On Friday last Thos. Henderson of Omemee attacked Geo. Kent of Lindsay with a club, breaking his left arm, and cutting and bruising his face and head in a ghastly manner. It seems Henderson claimed Kent had told some yarns about him, and after the dispute said to Kent, "Come on in and have something; there is no use of us quarreling," when they went into the Bradburn House. After remaining a short time Henderson invited Kent outside, and on reaching the door Henderson struck him, first on the head with a heavy club, and on Kent rising to his feet was struck on the arm, which laid him out; after which he was struck several times about the head and left for dead, Henderson saying, "I guess that will finish him." Medical aid was at once called in and Kent's wounds bround up. Henderson boarded the train and came to Lindsay. We believe this is the second person who has been treated in this manner by Henderson, and it is likely he will receive the full length of justice.—Warder.

ARM BROKEN.—On Tuesday afternoon a young man named Kent from Lindsay, had one of his arms broken while scuffling with a friend.

AN OLD SETTLER GONE.—On Wednesday last Mr. Thomas Dewan, who has been a resident in Emily for upwards of 63 years, died at the advanced age of 88 years.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

General Booth to Make a Tour of Canada and the United States.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—In an interview yesterday with General Booth of the Salvation Army, he said:—"I am not going to America to make money. The Yankees are a trifle too cute to allow any one to make money out of them especially in the line of religion. I am going over to enquire into the state of their Salvation Army organizations and to see if they are really working on our line. The American Army has not yet had time to perfect itself. We were of course obliged to send them officers, but the soldiers there now are rapidly coming to the front and will soon make good officers. The Americans have the right sort of grit to prosecute this splendid war against drink, sin and the devil." "Is there any truth, general, in what some people say about your leaving England because you don't like the financial outlook here?" "No, certainly not. The devil is always working to put such things in evil mouths. It is a wretched lie. I do not go to America for pleasure, but for work and will be home again before Christmas. The Americans and Canadians have fought bravely against tremendous odds, and I want to go over and encourage them. Upon arriving in America I will proceed to Toronto, where a week's war council of the salvationists will be held. From there I will journey through New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia, and then visit Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, London and other Canadian cities. After finishing my tour through Canada I will visit the principal cities in the United States.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL.—The Council met on August 30th pursuant to adjournment. All the members present. The minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed. A By-law levying 3 mills on the dollar for County purposes and 1¼ mills for Township purposes passed its several readings; also a By-law to levy certain sums of money on the several school sections of the township for scholastic purposes. Messrs. McIlmoyle and Garbutt were appointed a committee to examine a culvert at Young's Point with power to take such action as may be necessary. The following claims were ordered to be paid:—J. R. Stratton, printing, &c., $18.75; D. W. Blewett, work on road, $8.00; John Stothart, work on road, $4.00; Jos. Wallace, work on road, $2.00; S. Doyell, work on road, $2.25; R. Grant, work on road, $4.00. The Reeve and Clerk were appointed delegates to attend the meeting of the American Public Health Association. The Council then adjourned till Monday, the 29th November.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We beg to announce that we have decided to issue on TUESDAY, Sept. 28th

6,000

copies of a special

Exhibition Edition

of the

REVIEW

(same size as Weekly) and that we have secured the services of MR. E. C. HILL with necessary assistants, for the proper and judicious FREE DISTRIBUTION of the same at the exhibitions about to be held at the following times and places, viz :—

Central Exhibition at Lindsay, Sept. 29th.
Madoc do do Madoc, Sept. 30th.
Smith, &c. do do Lakefield, Oct. 1st.
South Monaghan, do Centerville, Oct. 1st.
North Hastings do West Huntington, Oct. 1st.
Manvers Exhibition at Bethany, Oct. 2nd.
Central do do Peterborough, Oct. 5, 6, 7 and 8th.

and that, notwithstanding the largeness of the issue, the expense necessarily involved in their proper distribution over such a wide area of territory, and the fact that the said issue will contain not less than 25 columns of interesting reading matter largely prepared for this special edition, the following moderate rates will be charged for the insertion of advertisements therein, viz.:

Up to 25 lines (12 lines to an inch). 5 c. per line
For 25 lines and upwards.....4 " "
" half column (10 inches).....$ 4 00
" One column (20 inches)..... 7 50
" Two columns..... 14 00
" Three columns..... 20 00

Advertisements now running in the Daily or Weekly REVIEW will (if unchanged) be inserted at fifteen per cent. less than the foregoing rates.

Advertisements inserted in the Special Edition may (if unchanged) be inserted upon payment of :—

IN THE WEEKLY REVIEW:
An additional rate of 2 cents per line for 50 lines or less, or of 1½ cents per line for 50 lines and over for the first insertion, and 1 cent per line for each insertion after the first.

IN THE DAILY REVIEW:
An additional rate of 1 cent per line for the first insertion, and of ½ a cent per line for each subsequent consecutive insertion after the first.

Persons desiring to avail themselves of so favorable an opportunity of bringing their merchandise or manufactures under the notice of so large a constituency, will confer a favor upon us, and probably save themselves from disappointment, by handing in their order for the space they require at once, as upon no account will the reading matter be curtailed below 25 columns, or below three columns on a single page, except when a single customer requires a larger space than three columns.

P. S.—Ordinary reading notices will be inserted in this edition at the above rates.

The Daily Review.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1886.

THE CITY AND SUBURBS

Of Course he Is.

The Port Pope Times of Thursday says:—"Mr. E. C. Hill, of Peterborough, is in town, and is as energetic and pushing as ever in the discharge of his multifarious duties."

Mandarin Tea

has just arrived at The Peoples Tea Store, pronounced by all to be the finest ever imported. Try it and you will use no other. HAWLEY BROS, Hunter St. East.

Chamberlain's Oyster Rooms Sept. 15th.

Chamberlain's Parlour Oyster Rooms are now open. New York Count Oysters in shell and can kept constantly on hand during the season. Fish, game, chops, steaks kidneys, etc., to order at all hours.

Industrial Exhibition.

The Industrial Exhibition promises to have many interesting features. The ladies' department and the boys' and men's work will be well worth seeing and will be of interest to all. Do not fail to be at the drill shed Tuesday evening. Tea served from 5 to 7 p. m. Band in attendance.

Indian Spear Head.

Mr. Edward Hawthorne found on his farm in Dummer a very fine specimen of an Indian copper spear head. It bears all the marks of the patient hammering by which its fine edges and point were produced. As native copper is not found in this neighborhood it no doubt was obtained by barter or perhaps as a spoil of war from Indians visiting the north shore of Lake Superior. Probably it has been lying for centuries where it was found.

Three Indian Chiefs of the North West to Visit Peterbocough.

Rev. I. Tovell, after an absence of several Sabbaths, will resume his pulpit labors next Sabbath morning in the school room of the George Street Church. In the evening, the George street congregation will meet in Bradburn's Hall when addresses will be delivered by three Indian Chiefs of the North West, their addresses to be interpreted by Rev. John McDougall, who for many years has labored as a missionary in in the vicinity of the Rocky Mountains.

Building.

Ground has been broken at the corner of George and Dublin street for the erection of a block of red brick buildings, consisting of one store and three dwellings, all two stories high. In addition to this the block of dwellings to the south will be remoddled and the whole built into one compact block with one architectural design throughout. This will show three dwellings and a store on the George street front and two dwellings on the Dublin street front. Mr. Richard Hall is the builder, Mr. Blackwell, the architect, and Mr. A. Rutherford, the contractor. The block will cost about $5,000.

MOUNTED Grindstones for Hand or Foot Power. GEORGE STETHEM.

Weather Wise and Otherwise.

Most people at times are forced to fall back upon the milk and water of conversation, and discuss the weather and kindred subjects. "Do you think the rain is all over?" asked a man of a friend to-day. "No, I don't," was the cool answer, "I think it is all under—what has come." He was weather wise yon see. Men who are otherwise wise and show their windom by purchasing their clothing and furnishings where they can get good articles well made at moderate rates, and gentlemen in Peterborough know that for nobby suits, overcoats and gents' furnishings generally one of the best places to go is ANDREW MCNEIL'S Habiliment Hall, George street.

Anniversary and Conference.

The public anniversary of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association and the conference of the Association in the Midland District will both be held next week. The anniversary will take place in St. Andrew's Church next Friday evening, and the public should show their interest in the Association by appearing in large numbers, more especially as a good programme has been provided. The conference will be held in the Association rooms on the 23rd and 24th, the opening session being Thursday afternoon. The Association will be glad to have the presence of any one interested. A full programme of the proceedings will be published next week.

The Saturday Market.

Seldom has a bright sun shone a busier scene than that which animated the market square this morning. The waggons, carts and drays laden with the abundance of "the perfect year" closed in on the sidewalk bordering the square until not a space was left on either side. Between these motley rows of fruits, vegetables, flowers, meats, and the hundred and one things which go to make up a genuine "Peterborough" market, surged a constant throng of buying citizens. The butter and egg market was crowded, and the three broad entrances were none too large to accomodate the ingoing and outcoming people. Over on the western side the grain buyers stationed themselves, each on the alert when succeeding loads of well filled white bags hove in sight. The grain was picked up as fast as it came in at fair prices and despatched to the various warehouses. The Peterborough market is one which Gotham should be proud to have. For quotations, see page three.

The Finest lot of Gent's Furnishings in Peterborough at ANDREW MCNEIL'S.

Signal Corps.

The signal corps in connection with the City Battalion will commence regular drill on Monday evening, and thereafter drill once every week. Two officers will be appointed to fill vacancies in the corps at the first meeting.

Bird Thieves.

Those who are in the habit of letting their bird cages hang out on verandahs are warned to keep watch on them. On Friday evening a valuable canary was stolen from a cage hanging outside of a door on Aylmer street.

A FULL stock of the Gilbert Linings at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

Big Fruit.

At the bar of Morgan's hotel, which is presided only by Mr. John Jay, there is on exhibition a Alexandria apple of hugh size. It was left at the Hotel by Mr. Richard Stewart, of Otonabee, and it measures 13 inches in circumference and 4⅛ inches in diameter.

The Ennismore Picnic

The large double royal posters announcethe date of the Fnnismore picnic and setting forth its many attractions have just been issued from the REVIEW job department. The picnic is to be held on Sept. 28th. Everything points to its being the most successful gathering of the season.

Dynamite Accident.

This forenoon while Albert Tivey, son of Mr. R. Tivey, Ashburnham, was playing with a dynamite capsule, it exploded striking him on the right arm and right eye. A small piece of flesh was torn from the arm but the eye is in a critical condition. It is feared that the lad will be blinded from the effects of the explosion.

Personal.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox has been reappointed Busuar and a member of the Board of Regents of Victoria University by the Methodist Conference.

The Rev. I. Tovell was appointed, at the recent session of the Central Conference, to the positions of Statistical Secretary of the Bay of Buinte conference and a membership of the Board of Directors of the Ontario Ladies College.

Mr. Frank Hughes has gone to fill a position in the city of St. Paul's.

Gough's Big Show.

A Central Exhibition of clothing was inaugurated at Gough's Arcade buildings this morning. The stock of ready made clothing laid in, consisting of every line found in a first-class establishment, is simply immense. Piles of coats, vests, trousers, overcoats, and heaps of fall and winter goods, rise almost ceiling high. Gough bought these goods last summer at rock bottom prices and he is determined to clean them out the way he bought them. To-day the clerks have been kept flying to attend to the crowds of customers. See Gough's advertisement in this issue. It won't take long to find it.

THE best Dress Linings are the Gilbert Linings, and can be had at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR.

The Town and Oddfellowship.

The Dominion Oddfellow says:—"Bro. E. E. Henderson, of Peterborough district, is the first Deputy District Grand Master to make a report to the Grand Master. He states that the decision of the Grand Lodge to hold its next session in the town of Peterborough has caused quite a boom in initiations. Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, has added some twenty new members to its roll since July 1st, while Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, is taking in two or three candidates at every lodge meeting. Peterborough is perhaps the most rapid growing town in Ontario, and with such energetic lodges at work it must soon become one of the strongholds of Oddfellowship."

The Churches.

The following is a list of services in the several churches to-morrow:—

ST. PETERS CATHEDRAL.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a. m., the second at 8 a. m., and the third at 10.30 a. m. Vespers at 7 p. m.,

ST. LUKE'S.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted, as follows: Morning Prayer, sermon and Holy Communion, at 11 a. m.: Evensong and sermon at 7 p. m.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.—The regular services at St. John's, Church of England. Holy Communion at 8.30 a. m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and Holy Communion at 11 a m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p. m.

ST. PAUL'S.—The Rev. Mr. Torrance will preach at both the morning and evening services.

BAPTIST CHURCH, Murray Street.—The pulpit will be occupied in the morning by the Rev. Mr. Duff. It is not decided whether there will be a service in the evening.

METHODIST CHURCH. George Street.—Services will be conducted in the morning in the school room by the Rev. I. Tovell. In the evening the services will be held in the Opera House, when the Rev. Mr. McDougall and his Indian Chiefs will be in charge.

METHODIST CHURCH, Charlotte Street.—The services will be conducted both morning and evening by the pastor, the Rev. F. H. Wallace, B. D.

METHODIST CHURCH, Mark Street, Ashburnham.—The usual services will be conducted.

ST. ANDREWS CHURCH.—The usual services will be conducted.

Try Ayer's Pilis, and be cured. Misery is a mild word to describe the mischief to body and mind caused by habitual constipation. The regular use of Ayer's Pills, in mild doses, will restore the torpid viscera to healthy action.

NORWOOD MODEL SCHOOL.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I have observed that your contemporary the Examiner reported the Model School of Norwood as opening with "only a fair attendance." As this is rather indefinite, even to a man of very comprehensive intelligence, I would inform the public that there is an attendance of twenty students at the Norwood Model School.

Yours, etc.,

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

IMPORTANT AUCTION SALE OF RIVERDALE PARK

BETTER KNOWN AS

Crawford's Grove, Monaghan

I have received instructions from ALFRED CRAWFORD, ESQ., to sell by Public Auction

On Wednesday, Sept. 29th,

that very eligible property known as "Riverdale Park," situated on the banks of the Otonabee River, formerly well known as Crawford's Grove and situated in the Township of North Monaghan, and containing 73 acres. This property will be offered en bloc, and if not thus sold, will be offered in parcels or lots, as may be determined at the time of sale, which can be seen at any time.

This property is only two miles from the business centre of the Town of Peterborough. It can be laid out either for a summer park, picnic grounds or summer residence resort, its situation being admirably adapted for these purposes. An excellent opportunity is here opened for building summer cottages. Business men in town could domicile their families at the park, attend to their business by the day, and spend the evening with their families—thus enjoying the delights of the country life without neglecting business. No more beautiful park lots could be obtained than those contained in this property. The soil is composed of a sharp rich loam top with clay bottom, possessing excellent virtues for garden purposes. Its proximity to the Otonabee River affords ample opportunity for pleasure or boating, camping, fishing and other recreations.

THE HOMESTEAD

which adjoins the above property to the north, will also be offered at the same time. It is composed of about 13 acres of excellent land, on which there is a good Brick Dwelling House, outbuildings and water privileges. It has a road on two sides, and the river on its front. It may be sold en bloc, or in three parcels—extending from the road to the river.

TERMS.—Ten per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at the time of sale, and sufficient to make one-third in ten days thereafter, when title deeds will be prepared, and a further sum, together with the above, sufficient to make one-half and interest, to be paid in one year from date of sale; the balance in three equal annual instalments, with interest at six per cent. per annum.

☞ Further particulars and conditions will be made known at time of sale, or may be had on application to Mr. A. P. Poussette or Mr. A. Crawford, Proprietor.

Sale to take place on the premises and to commence at two o'clock p. m. sharp.

A sketch of the property may be seen in the windows of Messrs. John McClelland, A. L. Davis, and Rush Bros.

BEWARE

OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS

As there are many inferior goods, corded with jute, hemp, etc., offered and sold as Coraline by some unprincipled merchants trading on the reputation of our genuine Coraline, we warn the ladies against such imposition by drawing their attention to the necessity of seeing that the name is stamped on inner side of all Coraline goods. Without which none are genuine.

'CROMPTON CORSET CO.'

DRESS LININGS.

We have much pleasure in announcing to Dress Makers and all Ladies specially interested, that we have imported direct from the manufacturers a full supply of which is now endorsed and used almost exclusively by the leading Dress Makers in Toronto and other principal Cities.

THE CELEBRATED GILBERT LINING

This lining is a pure Cotton, containing no dressing and sizing whatever, and consequently remains always the same. We are in a position to make favorable prices for this new fabric so much so that we expect to have an active demand for it at once.

MANUFACTURERS WARRANTY.

TAKE NOTICE that every thread composing this fabric both in warp and weft, is Double Carded and Double Roved, a process never before adopted in any class of Dress Linings or Silesias, and which gives the same improvement in this cloth over all others that a six cord spool cotton has over the ordinary three cord, an improvement so patent that every consumer can at once detect it.

Every piece of these Goods is guaranteed perfect.

GILBERT MANUFACTURING CO.

Dress Makers are respectfully invited to call and inspect these Goods and satisfy themselves more fully as to their merits.

FOUR LIVING EPISTLES.

TESTIMONY, IN THE CREE LANGUAGE, IN THE OPERA HOUSE.

The Rev. John McDougal Addresses a Great Gathering of People—The Indian Chiefs Speak.

On Sunday night Bradburn's Opera House was densely packed with people to hear and see the Indian chiefs who are now on a tour through Canada, accompanied by the veteran Northwest missionary, the Rev. John McDougal. Long before seven o'clock not a seat was to be had—the gallery, the lobbies, and even behind the scenes was crowded.

As this was the regular service of the George Street Methodist Church congregation, the pastor and the choir were present. On the platform were also a number of others.

During the preliminary devotional exercise the old missionary hymn "From Greenlands Icy Mountains" was sung.

The Rev. Mr. McDougal, Chief Sampson, or in Indian, Coh-Nah-Tuh-Kah-Saw, who comes from Bears Hill, 35 miles west of Battleford, Chief Pakan, of White Fish Lake, and Mr. R. Steinhaur, a young Indian who is now studying at Victoria University, Cobourg, had entered and taken seats. Chief Jonas, of the Stoney tribe, being ill, was not present. All four appeared in civilian suits.
